20,000 Japanese Reds Stage Riot Against US

PLANE WRECKAGE was strewn over a wide area when an R.C.A.F. training plane nosed into the muck of a swamp about 16 miles northwest of Trenton and flipped over killing its two passengers, an experienced pilot and a cadet. The underside of one of the wings and one of the wheels can be seen in the foreground with twisted parts of the fuselage separating it from the tail assembly with one of the fins sticking into the air in the background.—(W. Two Fliers Killed Near Trenton

Locate Wreckage In Swamp As Plane Overdue

TRENTON, May 1. (CP) — Two R.C.A.F. airmen were killed Wednesday when their training plane crashed into an isolated, swampy area 16 miles northwest of the air station here.

They were identified as FO. Victor Herbert Morgan 20, of Toronto, and Flight Cadet R. G. Emmett 23, of Oakville.

R.C.A.F officials said they knew of no witnesses to the crash. The Harvard craft was on a routine training flight with one qualified pilot and one passenger.

Sight Wreckage

A search was started in the early afternoon after the plane was reported overdue. The wreckage was sighted from the air about three hours later in a large swamp known as Percy Reach, seven miles northwest of the village of Wooler.

One wing of the craft had apparently dipped into the soft ground of the swamp and swung the plane around. Fuselage and wings of the plane were reported badly wrecked.

Cpl. G. W. Murphy of the Trenton Station and three district youths were the first to reach the crash scene. Murphy, Jack Gruyea, Fred Gavourie and Don Barr had heard the plane was missing, and when they saw search planes circling the area, set off through the swamp.

An investigation will be held R.C.A.F. officals said.

Marines Get Taste

LAS VEGAS, Nev., May 1. An atomic bomb blast over the Nevada desert today gave the United States Marines their first experience in nuclear warfare manoeuvres. The detonation came at 9:30 a.m. PDT (12:30 p.m. EDT). It was a weapon dropped from a United States air force bomber. The flash was seen in Las Vegas, 75 miles southeast of the site.

Exports Show Increase In First Quarter

OTTAWA, May 1 (CP).—Canadian exports did a cool $1,000,000,000 business in foreign markets in the first quarter of 1952. It was marked by fairly sharp increases in buying by Britain, including a 70 per cent jump in March over March, 1951.

Export figures both for March and for the first three months of the year outstripped comparative totals for 1951 by better than 20 per cent. March kept up the pace despite a drop in American buying from Canada partly because of foot and mouth disease.

The Dominion Bureau of Statistics also reported Wednesday that for all three months Canadian exports outstripped imports whereas imports outstripped exports in all the first three months of 1951. Here are the figures:

1. In March Canada sold $353,800,000 worth of goods abroad, 21 per cent above March 1951. The three-month total of $987,200,000 was 22 per cent above the same 1951 period. Added to this was $12,800,000 worth of foreign-made goods which Canada bought and sold, raising the three-month export total to $1,000,000,000 even.
2. Estimated imports for the same three months totalled $916,600,000. Thus Canada had a favorable balance of trade in the first three months of $84,000,000, compared to an unfavorable balance of $124,000,000 in the first three months of 1951.

U. S. Buying Drops

Notable in the export figures for March were a drop in Canadian buying by the U.S. and a rise in Canadian buying by the United Kingdom despite her financial difficulties and restrictions.

Exports to the U.S. decreased to $185,000,000 from $190,000,000 with a sharp reduction in the animal and animal products group as the main reason. The U.S. has a ban on shipments of meat and cattle because of the foot and mouth outbreak.

However, the U.S. buying made up more than half of all Canada's selling—52.3 per cent. In March 1951 the U.S. bought 65.5 per cent of all Canada sold.

Exports to the U.K. climbed to $67,757,000 from $39,655,000 mainly because of sharp gains in farm and vegetable products, wood and paper and non-ferrous metals. For the three months U.K. total was $154,600,000 compared to $113,200,000 last year.

Police Use Gas, Clubs To Halt Mobs

Armed U.S. Troops Guard Foreigners Living In Tokyo

TOKYO, May 1. —(CP)— Twenty thousand Communist-led anti-American rioters today fought police with clubs and stones in front of the imperial palace.

United States troops armed with machine-guns fanned out through the city to protect foreign lives and property in the worst riot in Japan since the end of the Second World War.

The tumultuous May-Day demonstrations came only three days after Japan formally regained her independence.

Americans were attacked, stoned and mauled. But none was seriously hurt.

Club-swinging rioters charged 1,000 steel-helmeted police. They clubbed 218 officers to the ground, injuring 51 seriously. But each time the police beat back the human waves with tear gas, clubs and guns.

TOKYO — (Reuters) — The United States Army radio here said tonight Tokyo police had intercepted a copy of orders from underground Communist leaders ordering an attack on Japanese factories making munitions for United Nations troops in Korea.

Hundreds Injured

Uncounted hundreds of rioters also were injured. One was reported killed by gunfire.

Riots also broke out in Kyoto, former capital of Japan 230 miles southwest of Tokyo. There 3,000 Koreans stormed city offices and fought with police. They were halted by tear gas.

U.S. Gov't Regains Control Of Steel Industry

WASHINGTON, May 1. (AP)—Commerce secretary Charles Sawyer today called for new peace efforts by the steel industry and the C.I.O. and urged that Congress provide a clear legal basis for the government to deal with big industrial disputes such as the steel strike. In a statement, Sawyer said the union "certainly did not strike against the government" in Wednesday's renewal of the industry shutdown. But the situation now is so confused, he said, that he does not plan immediately to grant a wage boost.

WASHINGTON (AP). — The U.S. Court of Appeals by a 5 to 4 vote refused today to bar the government from raising wages of steel workers while it holds the seized mills.

Sawyer, government manager of the mills, added:

". . . we are now facing up to a situation which has long been impending where a titanic struggle between giant industry and giant labor results in a paralysis in which our whole economic and social life may be at stake.

"It is time for Congress to meet that situation calmly, wisely and promptly."

Ask For Ban

Meanwhile the steel companies today asked the U.S. Court of Appeals to bar the government from raising wages while holding their seized plants.

The companies took their plea to the same court which Wednesday acted to continue the government seizure, temporarily in effect until the Supreme Court says whether it will rule on the question of whether President Truman had authority to take over the mills.

Most of the mills were closed up.

The steel firms were concerned that at some point the government

Says Gardiner Fooling Around With Commons

OTTAWA, May 1 — (CP) — John Diefenbaker (P.C. — Lake Centre) charged Agriculture Minister Gardiner today with "fooling around" with an order of parliament.

He told the 60-member Commons Agricultural Committee that a departmental file dealing with foot-and-mouth disease correspondence appeared to be incomplete, even after Mr. Gardiner produced a new batch of papers which the minister admitted should have been inserted in the file.

Even with the new papers, the file showed that there had been no official correspondence between agricultural officials on foot-and-mouth disease between Jan. 4 last and Feb. 23.

"I simply ask the minister," said Mr. Diefenbaker, "to go down into bottom drawers and dig up top-secret documents."

Not Fooling

He intended, he said, to charge Mr. Gardiner with "contempt of parliament" unless he obtained assurance that there actually had been no correspondence during that period.

Mr. Gardiner said the documents already made available and those he was making available today included all correspondence on the subject.

He noted that newspapers mentioned delay in the minister being informed of the outbreak. Dr. J. G. Taggart, his deputy, had said Wednesday that he was informed of the possiblty that the disease n South Saskatchewan might be foot-and-mouth on February 2 or 3, but had not informed Mr. Gardiner until February 18. Mr. Gardiner was on the West Coast.

He also noted that Dr. Thomas Childs, Federal Veterinary-General, was absent on holidays for a week during February.

Naturally, he added, there would have been more correspondence between officials if the Veterinary Director-General had not been away.

But he emphasized that no one had suspected the disease to be more than vesicular stomatitis.

Hope New Bridge To Eliminate Bad Bottleneck

HAMILTON, May 1—(CP)—Destruction of the Bascule bridge across the Burlington ship canal, will result eventually in a solution of the long-lasting highway bottleneck across the Burlington Beach acting Highways Minister Dunbar said Wednesday.

The minister said work will begin as soon as possible on a new high-level bridge to replace the lift bridge which was smashed Tuesday when rammed by a freighter.

"There is no doubt now is the time to make a start on the construction of a new span that will wipe out the traffic bottleneck over the canal," Mr. Dunbar said in Toronto following a Cabinet meeting.

The beach strip has long been considered the worst stretch of the Queen Elizabeth Way between Toronto and Niagara Falls. Cars were often delayed by operation of the lift bridge to permit vessels to enter Hamilton's landlocked harbor.

May Cost 12 Million

Cost of the new bridge has been estimated at between $8,000,000 and $12,000,000.

Meanwhile, plans were laid for a temporary bridge. Federal Works Minister Fournier told the Commons at Ottawa Wednesday that Bailey bridges can be installed in three or four weeks. The bridges could connect the damaged lift bridge spanning half of the ship canal.

Hamilton traffic officers are planning special routes through the city to handly highway traffic detoured from the Burlington Beach. The city got through Wednesday's rush hour with only one traffic tie-up.

Dynamite Blast Starts Bush Fire

TORONTO, May 1—(CP)—A truck load of dynamite exploded on the Red Lake highway in northwestern Ontario today and sent fire sweeping over 60 acres of bush, the Ontario Lands Department said. The driver was not in the vehicle at the time.

The truck was hauling explosives to a Red Lake mine. The blaze was brought under control several hours later.

Twenty-five other fires were burning in various parts of the province. The largest, covering 750 acres, was in the Roderick Lake are near Sioux Lookout. It was reported out of control.

Fires by districts today were: White River, 1; Sioux Lookout, 3; Kenora, 4; Fort Frances, 1; Sault Ste. Marie, 1; Sudbury, 9; North Bay, 3; Parry Sound, 1; Algonquin Park 2. All but that of Roderick Lake are under control.

Commit Louis Cote To Insane Hospital

HAMILTON, May 1 (CP)—Louis Cote, 27, shackled and accompanied by four policemen, today was committed to the Ontario Hospital for the criminally insane at Penetanguishene. Cote had been charged with attempted murder in the shooting of Const. Ray Houlihan.

Dr. J. N. Senn, medical superintendent at the Ontario Hospital here, testified that Cote said everybody was trying to steal inventions which he believed he had made. Cote also believed a number of persons were "Communists" including most policemen.

Cote was quiet but looked wildly about the court room during his brief appearance.

M.P.'s Appoint Committee To Investigate Film Board, Fraser Sees Improvement

OTTAWA, May 1. (CP)—After a long debate Wednesday afternoon, the House of Commons decided to set up a committee to examine operations of the National Film Board for the first time since it was created in 1939. The board's foremost critic, Gordon K. Fraser (P.C.-Peterborough West), had a good word for W. Arthur Irwin, film commissioner since 1950 and for the board's improved work. Members of all parties commended the board, though some disagreement developed over whether the praise should go to Reconstruction Minister Winters, who has charge of it now, or should be shared by Mr. Winters with Revenue Minister McCann, his predecessor as minister responsible for the N.F.B.

Fraser, frequent critic of the board in the McCann regime, said it has improved since it was placed under Mr. Winters in 1950.

Mr. McCann entered the discussion to tell Mr. Fraser that present policies of the board were started before Mr. Winters took office.

Not Justified

Mr. Winters agreed with his predecessor, and he added criticism of the board while it was under Mr. McCann was "not justified."

Mr. McCann also took issue with Mr. Fraser's statement that the board in the past was a "hot potato" that no minister wanted and that an earlier committee investigation into it would have embarrassed the government.

The minister retorted that Mr. Fraser's ability as a critic was based on a couple of visits a week to the movies. The board never had been a "hot potato," and neither it nor the government had anything to fear from the most minute inquiry.

M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, praised the board as having brought Canada much valuable publicity. He hoped it would be established on an "independent" basis similar to the C.B.C.

Solon Low, Social Credit leader, commended the work of Mr. Irwin. He suggested the committee might look into criticism that the board has been encroaching on private enterprise.

Approves Inquiry

Mr. Fraser said he is glad the government has at last consented to an investigation of the board's activities. The committee was about five or six years too late. He was sure that the finding of any earlier committee would have been embarrassing for the different Cabinet ministers who were in charge of the Film Board.

Mr. Fraser added:

"For some years the board has been what one might call a hot potato, and the different ministers have tossed that potato from one to the other, saying, 'I don't want it, you can have it, it doesn't belong to me.'

"If there had been an inquiry by a committee in those early days, I am quite sure the findings of the committee would have embarrassed the government as well."

Missing Plane Believed Sighted

BELEM, Brazil, May 1 (AP)—Brazilian and American planes combed a vast stormy area early today for fireworks signals from possible survivors of a Pan American stratocruiser which vanished Tuesday with 50 persons aboard.

Among the passengers were Mrs. Lucy Geils Wood, 37, formerly of Montreal and a sister of Edmong Joly de Lotbiniere of the Eternal Affairs Department at Ottawa; Mrs. Wood's husband, John, 42, a British engineer; Marcel Francois DeMueller of Toledo, O., president of the Willys-Overland auto export company of Canada, Ltd.; Dagmar Seelig, 24, a German citizen living in Montreal, and Lockett Coleman of Boston, a grandson of the late Chief Justice Charles Piers Davidson of Quebec.

MIAMI, Fla. — (AP) — Pan-American Airways reported here today that their missing luxury strato-cruiser was believed sighted near Carolina, Brazil.

Pan American officials said they believe the plane is lost in the plateaus.

A company spokesman said the plateau region is dotted with horse trails, trading posts, mining camps and cattle ranches. He said it was possible that natives could have rescued survivors, but it might take them several days to reach a settlement.

New Effort Under Way Decide Mediterranean Boss

By STAN. SWINTON.

ROME, May 1 — (AP). — A new effort is under way to solve an old question between Britain and the United States: Who will boss Allied naval power in the strategic Mediterranean?

Admiral William B. Fechteler, U.S chief of naval operations, is sounding out the views of French, Italian and other Allied naval leaders.

Informed circles were pessimistic that his talks will hatch a solution. Other effores to solve it have failed repeatedly.

Britain wants all Mediterranean naval forces under a single command, with a British commander-in-chief. The British envisage this command as autonomous, reporting directly to the military standing group of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization rather than to supreme headquarters of the Allied powers in Europe.

Britain argues she has long experience in Mediterranean operations, that during the Second World War it was a British command and that since the Atlantic command went to an American admiral, it is her turn.

Italy, Greece and Turkey are reported to view the British position coldly.

The Americans answer Britain with three arguments:

1. The bulk of the Allied naval power in the Mediterranean is American.

2. The British plan would separate Mediterranean forces from the overwhelming important S.H.A.P.E. command. Americans feel Mediterranean naval power should be part of S.H.A.P.E. so it can work with land armies in defending Southern Europe.

3. There is no need to change the present command setup. One of the U.S. navy's most gifted admirals, Robert B. Carney, is Allied commander in Southern Europe and also has direct operational control of the U.S. sixth fleet, the most powerful striking force in the Mediterranean.

Travel Banned To Red Countries

WASHINGTON, May 1 (AP).—The State Department today banned all travel to Iron Curtain countries by United States citizens unless they have specific permission.

The department said that because of the "risks of travel" in Soviet-bloc countries, all new passports will be stamped: "This passport is not valid for travel to Albania, Bulgaria, China, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Poland, Romania or the Union of the Soviet Socialist Republics unless specifically endorsed under authority of the Department of State as being valid for such travel."

Officials said permission will be granted to travel in all these countries except Communist China, Czechoslovakia and Hungary for "legitimate reasons."

Travel to China, Hungary and Czechoslovakia has been forbidden for some time.

Reporters Have Rough Time

TOKYO, May 1—(Reuters)—At least eight foreign correspondents were attacked while covering today's riots. They included three Reuters News Agency men, Sydney Brookes, Rowland Gould and Warren White.

Brookes was twice cracked over the head with placards while interviewing rioters on the Imperial Plaza.

Gould dodged soft-drink bottles hurled at him in a taxi near the riot area. White was knocked off the pavement and hit on the head with placards as he reported from in front of the Radio Tokyo building.

Life photographer Mike Rougier was knocked unconscious when rioters cought him in the stomach with a big rock. Time reporter Dwight Martin was showered with rocks as he jumped from a station wagon to pick up Rougier.

Gene Zenier, Warner-Pathe cameraman, suffered cuts to his head from hurtling stones. A Mutual Broadcasting reporter, Richard Kallsen, also caught a hail of stones.

The Internation News Service's Ray Steinberg took refuge in a police box as 40 students chased him from the Imperial Plaza.

US Ambassador Talks With Oatis In Prison

WASHINGTON, May 1—(AP)—The state department said today the United States ambassador to Czechoslovakia talked with William Oatis in a Czech prison Wednesday and found him in good health.

Oatis, an Associated Press reporter, was sent to prison April 23, 1951.

The department said the visit from Ambassador Ellis Briggs marked the first time since Oatis' arrest that Czech authorities permitted any American embassy official to talk with him.

The state department has denounced his conviction on espionage charges as trumped-up. He was sentenced to 10 years with a promise he could be released in five for good behavior.

In disclosing the meeting, the department said:

"Mr. Oatis said that his health was good and this was supported by his appearance. He said he had recently received mental care; that he is allowed to read and write and that he gets sufficient exercise."

Pair Had Gold Jailed One Year

KIRKLAND LAKE, May 1 — (CP)—Charles Mingo, 38, and Louis Rouillard, 32, of Bourlamaque, Que., today were each sentenced to a year in prison when they pleaded guilty to a charge of illegal possession of gold.

They were arrested after their car was stopped at a police road block 10 days ago. Police said they found a briefcase containing a set of scales and melted gold.

Counsel for Mingo, father of three children, said the accused needed money for his family. One child was being treated in Montreal for cerebral palsy and Mingo's wife was expecting another child.

Magistrate S. Atkinson said: "I must protect the public. I am satisfied this was no case of casual theft."

Monkey On Spree

LOS ANGELES, May 1.—A Java monkey named George may have earned himself a trip back to the jungle. At least the owners of the pet shop where he lives are seriously considering deportation. George got out of his cage Wednesday, freed a horned owl and five guinea pigs, ate $25 worth of tropical fish, kicked over five cages of canaries and two of parrots, scattered flower pots, boxes and pet supplies in all directions. He was giving a parrot an airplane spin when owners Ralph Helfer and Irvin Freeman got him in tow. Surveying the damage, they said they were only thankful the monkey didn't free Cleo, an 11-foot boa constrictor.

NULLIFIED STEEL SEIZURE—Federal Judge David A. Pine is shown in his Washington office after handing down a decision nullifying President Truman's seizure of the steel industry. Less than nine hours later, the government had regained control by obtaining a stay to Pines' injunction. C.I.O. president Philip Murray ordered an immediate strike by his 650,000 United Steelworkers.

Boy 4, Drives Father's Truck

SMITHS FALLS, May 1—(CP)—Four-year-old Philip Paul went for a ride in his father's truck Wednesday—alone.

He climbed into the parked truck, turned on the ignition, let out the hand brake and pressed the starter.

By alternately standing on the seat to steer and on the floor to feed the gas, he rolled down the driveway past a startled neighbor, ripped a corner off the garage, rammed the back garden fence and nosed through the wall of the barn.

When his father asked him later if he knew how to stop the truck, Philip replied: "Yes, I tried to turn the key off but it kept jiggling and I couldn't catch hold."

U.K. Demands Egypt Pay Compensation

CAIRO, Egypt, May 1. (Reuters) —Britain today demanded that Egypt pay "adequate compensation" for the loss of British lives and property during the "Black Saturday" riots in Cairo Jan. 26.

The claim for loss of life, personal injuries and loss of property by Britons is expected to total about £2,000,000.

A claim for £200,000 has already been made on behalf of nine Britons killed when rioters set fire to the British Turf Club, and for several others injured in the riots.

One of those killed was J. MacLeod Boyer of Victoria, N.B., Canada's trade commissioner to Cairo.

Civil Servants Under Fire In Commons

OTTAWA, May 1 (CP).—Two federal civil servants came under fire Wednesday in the Commons agricultural committee for the handling of the early stages of foot-and-mouth disease in southern Saskatchewan.

Opposition and government members of the 60-man committee criticized Dr. J. G. Taggart, Deputy Agriculture Minister, and Dr. Thomas Childs, director-general of veterinary services.

Dr. Taggart said during his testimony that he might have been "guilty" of delay in advising Agriculture Minister Gardiner of the outbreak which first was suspected of being vesicular stomatitis. There was a lag of two weeks in his report to Mr. Gardiner.

Dr. Childs gave an outline of the outbreak and was told by Percy Wright (C.C.F.-Melfort) that he hoped Dr. Childs would make a written statement which the committee could scrutinize. John Diefenbaker (P.C. - Lake Centre) said Dr. Childs told "a rambling story . . . full of hearsay."

Phileas Cote (L.-Matapedia-Matane) said he believed "civil servants" showed inefficiency in handling the outbreak and he would like to see them "all fired."

Side-steps Questions

During the committee's hearing Dr. Taggart side-stepped some of the many questions. He said they would be answered by Dr. Childs.

He said the outbreak at Weyburn, 75 miles southeast of Regina was "serious" since some of the cattle from the infected herd were sent to a community pasture before foot-and-mouth disease was diagnosed.

He received a verbal report about the disease from a departmental official Feb. 2 or 3 last, leading him to suspect foot-and-mouth. But he did not inform Mr. Gardiner until Feb. 18.

Dr. Childs said that at no time during the early stages of investigation late last year and early this year did he or any of his staff suspect anything but stomatitis, a milder cattle infection.

Strike Causes Gas Shortage

DENVER, May 1 — (AP). — The country-wide strike of nearly 90,000 oil industry employees went into its second day today with shortages of gasoline for motorists already reported in scattered areas.

Some filling stations in the steel-producing area of Gary, Hammond, and East Chicago, Ind. reported they were out of gasoline Wednesday night, less than 24 hours after the strike began. Other stations were expected to run out today. Similar shortages were cropping up elsewhere in the Mid-West.

The Oil Workers International Union (C.I.O.) in Denver, representing refinery and pipeline workers and heading a coalition of 22 C.I.O., A.F.L., and independent oil unions, said "the most promising" negotiations were going on in San Francisco.

U.S. Dollar Unchanged

MONTREAL, May 1 —(CP) — The United States dollar today opened at a discount of two per cent in terms of Canadian funds, unchanged from Wednesday's close. That is, it took $0.98 Canadian to buy $1 American.

The pound sterling was $2.75%, up ⅛ from Wednesday.

Too Much Sun Brings Cancer

LONDON, Ont., May 1—(CP)—"Mr. farmer: Keep your shirt on—and also your hat."

That's the advice of Dr. Frank Batley, radiation expert at Victoria Hospital cancer clinic here, who attributes many cases of skin cancer to too much sunlight.

Dr. Batley said continued exposure to intense sunlight, as occurs in farming and seafaring, quite definitely increases the possibility of skin cancer.

"It is interesting to note that among farm workers the common site of cancer of the skin in men is on the nose and ears, but uncommon in the forehead because this is shielded by a hat," the doctor said. "Skin cancer in the ears in women is rare because of long hair, whereas the forehead is a common site because it is not usually shielded."

Consequently, Dr. Batley said, people exposed to sunlight for long periods of time should wear a hat, and the wider the brim the better.

The doctor hastened to set at ease the minds of the casual sunbather. Sunbathing, as practiced by the vacationer, the weekend beach visitor, the amateur gardener, "probably does more good than harm. The length of exposure is much less than in farming.

Find No Trace Of F-M Outbreak

REGINA, May 1 — (CP). — Observation of more than 900 head of cattle in a community pasture near Weyburn has so far turned up no signs of foot-and-mouth disease.

"The situation looks favorable," said Dr. Kenneth Wells, chief vetrinarian from Ottawa.

Ninety-six head of cattle and 55 hogs were shot and buried late Wednesday on an infected farm five miles northeast of Weyburn. The Weyburn case, 26th since the outbreak began, has been described by Agriculture Minister Gardiner as the "worst yet."

Of the animals shot, 41 head of cattle and eight hogs were from the infected herd. The remainder were from three contact herds. To be slaughtered today are 28 head of cattle remaining from a neighboring contact herd.

Dr. Wells said 24 head of cattle which went from the infected farm to the community pasture about a week before the infection was discovered may be slaughtered today along with 12 contact animals.

Dr. E. E. Carlson, chief diagnostician for the Regina Office of the Federal Health of Animals Division, said after inspecting the cattle in the community pasture that he had found no signs of foot-and-mouth disease. He plans to reinspect the entire herd today.

U.S. Government

might seek to lure the 650,000 strikers back to their jobs by offering the pay raise which their president, Philip Murray, tried unsuccessfully to pry out of the steel firms.

But a pay increase was not considered likely right away.

Ten days ago, Sawyer said the government intended to give the steelworkers a pay raise, but there was no decision on the amount.

Situation Changed

Since Sawyer's statement, however, the situation has been somewhat altered by battling in the courts.

District Judge David Pine ruled Tuesday that the seizure was without constitutional or legal authority. Wednesday, he signed a formal order directing return of the mills to their owners.

The government turned to the Appeals Court and it stayed Pine's orders so that the Justice Department would have to ask the Supreme Court to review the decision.

The only condition the appeals court attached was that the government must take the case to the supreme court by 4:30 p.m E.D.T. Friday. If that is done, the stay may continue indefinitely until a final decision on whether Pine's ruling was proper.

Before the appeals court today, steel industry lawyers asked the court to attach a further condition to the stay—one prohibiting the government, while it retains the plants, from altering "the terms and conditions of employments" except on the express consent of management or in the event of a collective bargaining agreement for changes between private management and the steelworkers' union.

The steel companies told the appeal court that while their injunction case was in the district court, the government was preparing to change wage rates and working conditions.

No Sign From Murray

Murray, union president, has given no indication whether he will try to get the men back to work now that government control is to continue at least for the time being.

The steelworkers maintained pickets even though technically they are striking against the government. Their top officers weren't talking about the situation and gave no sign they would try to get the men back to work.

In arguments to the appeals court Wednesday, government lawyers indicated they might try for a back-to-work court injunction against Murray's union if necessary.

"It's the responsibility of the government to get the men back to work under federal control," acting Attorney-General Philip B. Perlman told the appeals court. "And we'll exercise that control."

Workers picketing the idle steel mills said they will stay on strike until the confused situation is clarified.

The seizure actually was wiped out for something less than nine hours. Although federal district judge David A. Pine ruled Tuesday that Truman's April 8 seizure order was unconstitutional, he didn't sign injunctions to end the seizure until mid-morning Wednesday.

Obtain Stay

Government lawyers immediately headed for the district court of appeals and by dusk obtained a stay of Pine's injunctions. The stay may endure for weeks, until after an appeal is ruled upon by the supreme court.

The 5-to-4 appeals-court ruling staying Pine's decision in no way upset the lower court's opinion that Truman exceeded executive powers in ordering the steel seizure. The appeals tribunal didn't rule on the legality of seizure.

Meanwhile, the task was to restore steel production. The strike, starting Tuesday night after Pine's ruling, quickly spread to close down virtually the entire industry. More than 300,000 tons of scarce steel—vital for defence and civilian needs—were being lost daily during the walkout.

Murray has said he will come to no new contract agreement with steel companies at less than the government's wage stabilization board recommendation. This calls for an eventual 26-cents-an-hour boost in wages and working conditions. Steelworkers now average about $2 an hour, including overtime.

Planes Dropping Fish Yearlings Into Ont. Lakes

SAULT STE. MARIE, May 1—(CP) —Three-thousand four-inch speckled trout yearlings were dropped by plane into nearby lakes Wednesday, marking the beginning of the first-large-scale aerial fish-planting in Ontario.

(In Toronto, Lands Department officials said until now such planting has been done on a smaller scale and on a more experimental basis.)

It is planned to drop 2,000,000 speckled trout fingerlings and 300,000 trout yearlings.

The fish are carried in cartons containing about 500. When the plane approaches a lake a closed water-filled funnel is loaded with fish from the required number of cartons. At a signal from the pilot the funnel is opened and the fish fall free to the lake below.

"They fall in a perpendicular line penetrate the water to about six inches, circle several times and swim away," said biologist Ken Loftus who has been observing the process.

Fish were dropped Wednesday from 300 feet by six planes in constant flight which flew 31 planting missions. Another 59 flights will be completed by tomorrow.

The new method of planting will permit the department to restock lakes too small for planes to land on to enable fish to be planted by hand.

Western Oils Lead Sharp Market Decline

TORONTO, May 1 — (CP). — Western oils led a sharp stock market decline today in early afternoon dealings.

Industrial dealings remained in selected leading issues and a few oil, metals or golds attracted speculative interest. Volume for the first three hours was 1,305,000 shares.

Papers, steels, liquors, refining oils, manufacturing companies and miscellaneous issues led industrials lower with losses ranging to about a point. Foods also slipped, but agricultures and constructions drew firm support. Utilities edged upward.

Western oil losses ranged to about 75 cents. Calvan Consolidated, Canada Southern, Federated Petroleum, General Petroleum A, Pacific Petroleum, and Peace River led the downturn.

Base metal leaders slipped as Consolidated Smelters, International Nickel, New Calumet, Sherritt-Gordon, United Keno Hill, and Waite Amulet slipped.

Senior golds sagged. Bralorne, Dome, McIntyre, and Teck Hughes eased. Secondary issues drifted downward.

Police Use

A U.S. embassy spokesman said no official protest was contemplated as a result of the Tokyo riot.

Demonstrators stormed through the streets shouting anti-American slogans, waving Red banners and carrying pictures of Stalin and other Communist leaders.

Break Through

The Reds broke through police lines and stormed into the Plaza of the Imperial Palace. A large moat barred them from the palace proper.

They milled before the residence of Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida, shouting "Down with the Yoshida cabinet."

At least two American soldiers were roughed up by the mob. The wife of an American navy officer was mauled.

The Reds smashed jeep windshields to the tune of anti-American slogans and the strains of the Communist Internationale. Pictures of Stalin and Mao Tze-tung were waved aloft. Police were jeered by catcalls of "Puppets."

The Reds grabbed control of parts of the day's largest gathering at Meiji Park. They broke up a large gathering just before United States Socialist leader Norman Thomas began a speech.

Elsewhere, East and West Berlin, guarded by police and troops, staged rival demonstrations within sight of each other.

New York readied a parade down Eighth Avenue with 1,800 police and detectives alerted to watch. But Louis Weinstock, organizer of the combined Communist and Leftist demonstration, was slated for another day in court where he is on trial with 15 other secondary Red leaders.

Singapore was a contrast. About 5,000 Chinese, Indians and Malays observed the international labor holiday by saying prayers for the dead of the two world wars.

Parade Before Stalin

Soviet troops and workers paraded before Stalin. His son, Vassily, a lieutenant-general in the Red air force, led aerial squadrons in a thundering stream over Moscow's sunlit Red Square.

Russian papers printed huge photographs of Stalin on their front pages, and emphasized the military aspects of the socialist holiday.

Marshal Leonid Govorov made a violently anti-western speech to the massed troops in the square. He accused the west of reviving imperialism in Germany and Japan and making a "bandits' war" in Korea.

A shouting mob of about 5,000 blue-shirted Communist youths infiltrated the French sector of Berlin. Police drove them back over the border with fire hoses and well-aimed night sticks.

The Red rally brought half a million marching down Unter Den Linden before pro-Moscow Communist leaders.

Hundreds of thousands of West Berliners streamed into the Platz Der Republik before the burned-out Reichstag building to hear West German President Theodor Teuss, West Berlin's Mayor Ernest Reuter and American Federation of Labor representative Irving Brown.

Find Man's Body In Burned House

COCHRANE, May 1 (CP) — Metti Isopellenen, 72, was burned to death when fire swept his home in nearby Calder township.

Mr. Isopellenen's charred body was found Tuesday in the ruins of the farm dwelling. Provincial Constable F. B. Martin, who headed an investigation, said the man apparently was overcome by smoke as he tried to escape.

He fell to the door-step of the house and his body was burned by the blaze which destroyed four other buildings on the property.

Isopellenen, a widower, lived alone. Police said they believe the fire occurred last Friday.

Says Gardiner

He himself had been out West in February, had passed through the Regina area, and no one told him of any suspicion of foot-and-mouth disease. There was no reason for him to be more concerned with the disease than with a child who had measles.

As for the date of the first detection on the Leonard Wass farm at McLean, Sask., 28 miles east of Regina, that was in dispute, too. The outbreak was reported November 26 and to Federal veterinarians on December 2.

Saskatchewan provincial officials had in fact been informed before Federal officials were. Yet the provincial official, whom Mr. Gardiner identified as "Mr. Johnson," did "absolutely nothing."

"He didn't step out of his office."

Another version of what took place, said Mr. Gardiner, was that Mr. Johnson asked Mr. Wass to get in touch with a local private veterinarian.

"The province did not do anything at that stage because the provincial officials thought, as we did, that it was stomatitis."

Canada Urged To Call NATO Parley

OTTAWA, May 1 (CP)—Canada Wednesday was urged to take the lead in helping to set up an interparliamentary consultative body among the North Atlantic powers.

The call came from spokesmen for a group of United States men here to discuss the possibilities of Atlantic Union with Canadian parliamentarians. They included Senator Guy M. Gillette (D-Iowa) Congressman Leroy Johnson (R-Calif.), Owen J. Roberts, former Justice of the U.S. Supreme Court, and Clarence Streit, an exponent of Atlantic union.

The party attended a joint session of the External Affairs committees of the House of Commons and the Senate. Later they were guests of honor at a dinner.

Sen. Gillette said Canada should call a North Atlantic Treaty Organization conference to discuss the possibilities of a consultative assembly as the first step towards Atlantic union.

The Right One

The U.S. might be accused of throwing her weight around if she took the lead. In the light of Canada's position as the "intersecting point of so much of the free world, and especially the North Atlantic community, it would seem particularly appropriate for Canadians to take the initiative in promoting such a conference."

Mr. Roberts said that unless the west unifies in the common interest of all its peoples it might as well "sit back and wait for Uncle Joe."

Hitler would not have dared attack Poland if Britain, France and the United States were joined in a federal union in 1939.

The western nations should have enough ingenuity to set up some sort of common authority to "deal with foreign policy, with defence and with the free exchange of goods and services."

"If we haven't got enough ingenuity for that then we ought to let Uncle Joe take us into camp—we'll have got what we deserve."

Plan Sales Drive At Toronto Fair

LONDON—(CP)—Britain's modern merchant adventurers will set out for Toronto's International Trade Fair in June with new ideas of drumming up business.

They discussed their plans at a reception given to prospective British exhibitors by R. P. Bower, commercial counsellor at Canada House.

J. S. Byam-Grounds, manufacturer of heavy machinery, said he would leave for Canada next month to look over the country's steel industry. He believes Canada offers a potential market worth thousands of pounds once Canadian steelmen see the high standard of machinery produced in the United Kingdom.

Sir Holland Goddard said he will take over an exhibit of wood-working machinery worth £10,000.

Another guest was Maurice Paynter, representing five packaging-trade organizations. Just returned from the inaugural meeting of the new Institute of Material Handling, he said he would seek to put across a plan he believed would save British industry £50,000,000 a year in more efficient handling of export goods.

Highway 30 Gets Facelifting Job

CAMPBELLLFORD, May 1 — (ENS) — Highway 30 between Campbellford and Havelock is undergoing a face-lifting during the past few days and will soon be a smooth first-class highway when consrtuction crews complete their present job.

Work on the highway started last fall, with crews felling trees to make the road wider, cutting down hills and straightening curves. About six inches is yet to be added to the top of the roadbed, and after this task is complete, the paving crews will take over.

Actual paving operations may begin at the Havelock end of the highway late this week or early next and within a few days the dusty stretch of gravel road will be a thing of the past.

With the completion of this section, motorists have a first class paved road connecting Highway 2 with Highway 7 between Brighton and Havelock. The stretch between Campbellford and Brighton was paved a few years ago, and prior to that time, Campbellford was about the only town of its size in Ontario not served by a paved highway. When the Campbellford-Stirling paving job is completed, the town will be able to boast of paved highways leading in and out in any direction. The Stirling road is the shortest route from the town of Belleville, 35 miles to the southeast.

Mr. Coon Snoozes

CAMPBELLFORD, May 1 — (ENS) — A character right out of one of Thornton W. Burgess' children's animal stories came to Campbellford on Tuesday afternoon. Old Mr. Coon picked out a large elm tree on Mr. George W. Lucy's property on Queen St. as the best and safest place to take his afternoon nap in the warm April sunshine. Mr. Coon climbed the tree, right up to one of the highest branches, and proceeded to have his snooze. No one knows just where the coon came from, or where it went when it finished its beauty sleep, but it was a bit of an oddity for him to make himself at home in the town.

Oshawa Follows Peterborough—Expensively Late

In the last five years Peterborough has undertaken, and nearly completed, a large amount of civic building: a million and a half dollars in new schools and additions, three and a half million in a new civic hospital, hundreds of thousands to extend and refurbish the sewage disposal plant, hundreds of thousands in paving and new sewers, a near-million dollar new city hall (the building itself was a bequest). It has been a pretty heavy program to bear and the tax rate reflects the burden. But Peterborough got its main necessary jobs done between 1946 and 1951 when interest rates were low, and the work was well spaced. The new collegiate, the latest major public building, will be ready for occupancy in the fall. Even the latest debentures, although at a higher rate, were marketed readily at a premium; investors must believe Peterborough is wise and strong financially. The city has already well begun to pay off its heavy post-war construction debts.

* * *

While Peterborough seized the dollar bull by the horns, Oshawa dithered. There is the notorious instance when Oshawa ratepayers turned down the building of a new secondary school. Staggered classes had to be arranged in the old one, and after a few painful months of this experience the ratepayers decided they must have the new school, whatever the cost. Both cost and delays were heavy. Oshawa has dallied too long in getting at other necessary public construction, it seems. Its sewage disposal plant had been outmoded and overloaded for years. In 1950 it was proposed to build a new one. The cost would have been $820,000. This week—two years later—Oshawa is calling for tenders to build the new plant. The cost now will be a million dollars.

* * *

At its last meeting the Oshawa City Council faced the necessity of issuing debentures for four new schools, which have to be built immediately.

* * *

The Oshawa Times-Gazette comments that "the city's citizens of the next twenty years will be paying on debentures issued for capital expenditures because of the fact that for twenty years construction of public buildings in Oshawa was at a standstill." It recalls the Depression years when there was no money, the war years when there was no material and labour. But the paper cannot gloss over the delays during the last seven years. Oshawa's elected officials or the ratepayers have been unwilling to face up to the facts of the place's growth and expanded needs.

"These public bodies of today are in no way to blame for the necessity of providing for these heavy capital expenditures. They inherited the needs, and had to cope with them. They have done so in the only way possible, by taking courageous action to meet the needs and give the city the accommodation and facilities it required long ago, but could not provide."

* * *

We have no desire to jeer over Oshawa in making the comparison between this city and it. We point up the comparable situations to comfort municipal Peterborough and show with pride that Peterborough had both the courage and the wisdom to build what it did when it did. Oshawa's present unhappy experience is justification of Peterborough's earlier ways. This city has passed the expensive peak; it is on the gilt-edged high road of solvency. Oshawa is just entering the plateaus of debt and capital expenditure which Peterborough is leaving. The plateaus are higher now.

To Honour And Endow Graciously

"It is welcome news," the Minister for External Affairs, Mr. Pearson, wrote to the local committee, "that Dr. Kenner's ex-students are working to institute a permanent memorial to him." The opinion of Mr. Pearson, himself a former student of the late Principal H. R. H. Kenner, will be shared by many other pupils of the Collegiate during Dr. Kenner's fifty years' service there. The fund which has now been opened to present to the new Kenner Collegiate a portrait of the distinguished educator and to establish scholarships there should meet with ready and generous subscriptions.

The Kenner Memorial Fund is an unusual project in many ways. To endow a school is ordinarily a rich person's privilege; it is extended now to anybody who cares to contribute even a very small sum. The opportunity to honour Dr. Kenner, to recognize tangibly his work and worth, and in doing this to confess in a sense one's debt to all one's teachers, is an opportunity which few students of a good school would willingly deny themselves. One leaves one's own permanent mark on the new school by becoming its benefactor; long after all the contributors to the fund have passed on, their descendants and the youth of this place will still be able to see and use what their benefaction has created.

Perhaps this is the subtle tangent to the curve of life—the means to achieve some measure of immortality here on earth. Thus the Kenner Memorial Fund may have a special appeal. Perhaps it is a snobbish appeal—but what of that? A little snobbishness in this matter—unselfish dollars toward one's own perpetuation—goes a long way, right down the corridors of time.

We are glad that the call for the money is being made as it is: quietly and with no attempt to canvass individuals and to badger people into giving. To have resorted to such means would have dignified neither the project nor the givers. It is a sign of responsible maturity in Peterborough and Canadians that an appeal of this kind is being made and made in such a manner. In Britain, and to some extent in old and wealthy Canadian societies like Montreal, a genuinely worthy cause is taken up, its purpose and wants made known, and subscriptions invited. No fuss, no hullabaloo, no doorbell-ringing; and the money comes in. We are gratified that the Kenner Memorial Fund committee has this sort of confidence in its purposes and in the people to whom it is appealing.

A gift which honours and endows is a gracious thing, reflecting the honour and heart of the giver.

Glamour Of Flying Fading?

The Air Cadet League of Canada last week celebrated the eleventh anniversary of its founding. The League reports that its strength is now about 18,000 cadets in 223 active squadrons. It confidently predicts that this year its membership will reach 20,000, which is only 2,500 below the ceiling imposed on air cadet establishments by the Department of Defence.

The strength and activity of the Air Cadet League in Canada give the lie to those who say that flying is losing its appeal to youth. Certainly Canadian youth, in the R.C.A.F. by their thousands and in the Air Cadet League, show that they still have the spirit and impulse that made Air Marshal "Billy" Bishop, V.C., a world-renowned hero in the Great War and have given Canadian fliers and flying a lustrous reputation ever since.

Much publicity has attended the refusal of some American reserve air force officers to take to the air again. They had flown in combat during the war and, now called back to service, have staged "stay-down" strikes. Some two hundred officers in the United States Air Force have protested against being ordered to fly. One can feel sympathy with them. They had done their stint. But the United States, unlike Canada, has conscription, and even men who had done war-time duty are being called back from quiet civilian life. It must be a strain for many of them to leave settled civilian life and their homes again. And it should be remembered that they are seven years older than they were when they last flew in combat.

Undoubtedly the situation in the American air force is disquieting to military leaders in the United States, and may make the Russians gleeful. If the largest Air Force in the world is unable to get men to man its machines, is it as powerful as it seems? The situation is dramatic but not serious.

The Korean War made heavy demands on the reservists who were trained as pilots during the last war. But now these reservists are not being called up in large numbers. Younger men are coming out of the training camps, better able to handle the different machines of today and a better age to do so. The reservist who was a fine pilot at the age of twenty-five is not likely now, at thirty-one to be psychologically and physically as well able to meet the demands which piloting today imposes.

There may be some reason to believe that the glamour of flying is fading, particularly in the United States, where the glamour of big pay and big cars in civilian life is dazzling. The new machines are highly-skilled technicians' jobs, far different from the Great War flying of a lone Billy Bishop, or even from [illegible] B-29. But we suspect that jet planes have their own glamour to young men with blood in the veins to feel the excitement of supersonic speeds.

Flying, especially in war planes, is a young man's challenge. Canada continues to breed such young men of fire and enthusiasm, and the Air Cadet League both as a national youth organization and as a pool from which youths can graduate into the Air Force with many flying skills already learnt, shows that the supply of air-minded Canadians is not dwindling.

NOTES AND COMMENT

A geologist says that mountains have roots reaching deep into the ground. If any deeper than the roots of a grandfather dandelion, refreshed by his winter sleep, which we tackled last Saturday, we shall be amazed.

Churchill Gov't In Serious Trouble?

By PHILIP VERNON

SOME SIX MONTHS after it took office there is trouble brewing for Mr. Winston Churchill's Government; serious trouble. The strongest argument for returning the Conservative Party to power at the last general election was the belief that it would provide a more competent administration than the Labour Party, but to many objective observers, and to many dismayed Conservatives, it now seems that this is the one thing that the present government is not providing. Disinterested political writers who wish the Government well are in surprising agreement that it is dithering and fumbling as badly as was the Labour Government a mere twelve months ago.

Not all the evidence of this lack of ordinary competence is available to the public. The most harrowing stories of the Conservative Ministers' incompetence are whispered privately in the corridors of Whitehall. But it is by now an open secret that one of the present government's most remarkable blunders yet was made in circumstances which reflect only discredit on almost all those who were concerned.

THE STORY must be told from the beginning. The nationalised Transport Commission has recently asked for permission to raise its fares throughout the country, and this permission has been granted by the Transport Tribunal. The fares in the London area were raised on March 1. There was a spontaneous public outcry against them, and although the Government was in no way responsible for the increases (the Transport Commission is a semi-autonomous body) there is little doubt that they were one cause of the Conservatives' heavy defeat in the London County Council election earlier this month.

The increases in fares outside the London area were due to take effect on May 1—at the beginning of the week in which the next local elections throughout the country will take place. It was at this point that the Government stepped in and directed the Transport Commission not to raise its fares outside London on May 1. That was all; not a hint of what further action would be taken to enable the Transport Commission to pay its way in the face of continually rising costs, not a hint of ending the ludicrous anomaly by which Londoners are having to pay increased fares while the rest of the country is exempt. Just the single direction that the proposed increases in fares should not take place. It reminds one of King Canute ordering the waves back. Canute—perhaps Mr. Churchill forgets—got his feet wet.

FOR IT IS really no secret that Mr. Churchill was personally responsible for the decision. What is more, he was supported by Lord Leathers, the powerful Minister for the Coordination of Transport, Fuel and Power. Both Mr. Churchill and Lord Leathers had in their minds at the time the report of the Central Transport Consultative Committee, an independent body which had been asked to examine the increases in fares in the London area. This report found that the increases were justified and fair to the travelling public. Mr. John Maclay, Minister of Transport, directly responsible, begged his two superiors, Mr. Churchill and Lord Leathers, to read the report before they took their decision. They did not read it, with the result that a day or two after the Government's decision was announced, the report of the Consultative Committee was published, making that decision look ridiculous.

IT MAY BE SAID that this is only one incident, but in fact it is typical of much else that one hears of the Government's methods of working. Again and again one is told of the Government's abandoning integral parts of its policy without any serious consideration of the long-term effects of such action. Part of the fault is the Government's extreme sensitivity to public opinion; the Government which Mr. Churchill declared would risk unpopularity in order to save the country seems time and again prepared to dish the country rather than risk unpopularity. I record that, not as my opinion, but as the considered opinion of many well informed people who have no grudge against either the Conservatives in general or the present Government in particular.

When senior civil servants are known to be despairing of their Ministers—despairing of ever getting a consistent answer to the questions they put—it is safe to conclude that there is something far wrong.

WHO MUST bear the responsibility? Some of it must be borne by senior Ministers, such as Lord Woolton, who have not the courage to pursue a realistic economic policy if it brings unpopularity or threatens to challenge their prestige with the housewives. (All that one hears suggests that only the Chancellor of the Exchequer, Mr. R. A. Butler, has this courage. How he fought to persuade the Cabinet to cut food subsidies!) But these senior Ministers would have much less influence if it were not for the fact that Mr. Churchill's intervention in home and economic affairs is sporadic and unpredictable, and that when he does intervene it is usually to suggest some dramatic gesture which bears no relevance to economic facts—as in the case of the proposed increases in fares. When the textile slump and subsequent unemployment hit Lancashire there was Mr. Churchill adding his voice to those who wanted to remove the Purchase Tax on textile goods. But the effect of such an action would have been to divert to the home market resources and labour intended for export. That would have been a contradiction of the whole of Mr. Butler's—to say nothing of Mr. Hugh Gaitskell's and the late Sir Stafford Cripps's—economic policy. Again Mr. Butler had to fight against almost the entire Cabinet, and it is evidence of the strength of his position that again he won.

IT MAY BE impossible to visualise a Conservative revolt against Mr. Churchill, but opinion is moving strongly against him inside the Conservative Party. Whether rightly or wrongly, he is seen by more and more Conservatives as the root of all present discontents and troubles. With any lesser Prime Minister this disquiet would have broken into the open already, but because it is still concealed, because there is no concerted movement to remove Mr. Churchill, it does not mean that the disquiet is any less real.

If the Government were suddenly to find—or land—itself in a real crisis, the public might be startled by the way in which the Conservative Party would react. And, to judge by the manner in which the Conservative Party appears to be handling its own affairs and the affairs of the nation, the possibility of a real economic and political crisis during the next nine months cannot be ruled out.

Unsuccessful Horatio Alger

(WASHINGTON POST)

SEVEN eminent citizens of these United States who started in life way down are, it seems, to be given Horatio Alger awards, consisting of suitably inscribed bronze plaques, for having managed to get themselves up to the top. The presentations will be made later this month at a ceremony in the Rockefeller Centre, New York, and among the recipients will be Dr. Ralph Bunche, the peacemaker, and Dr. Milton Eisenhower, the schoolmaster. This is an interesting bit of news; but what is more interesting is the result of an informal quiz test that we made after reading it. The test was conducted among such members of the younger generation as happened to be available, and the tabulation showed that only one of a dozen had ever heard the name Horatio Alger, Jr., and that one could not even remember why the name was famous.

So, for the information of persons born after 1930, let us say that this Mr. Alger was just about the most influential of all American authors. It is true that he wrote only one story, but he wrote it about 150 times, under different titles with different sets of names for the characters. Millions and millions of copies were sold, for it was a long time before people got tired of rereading it.

The story was always about a very poor boy. Sometimes he was a friendless orphan, who had no better place to sleep than under a wharf or in a doorway; sometimes he was the only support of a widowed mother, in which case there was usually in the background some heartless usurper waiting to foreclose a mortgage. The boy made a living by blacking boots, or selling newspapers, or something of that sort—in one case, we remember, it was playing a violin on busy street corners. The boy was always so much engrossed with the problem of getting ahead in the world that he had no time for the temptations that are sometimes said to attend that kind of existence. Also he had trouble outwitting those who, having yielded to temptation, tried to involve him in the consequences of their guilt. Sooner or later—usually about Chapter XVII—the boy managed to get himself noticed by some prosperous and benevolent businessman, who thereupon took him under patronage. And almost always the businessman had a pretty daughter who could recognize and appreciate a potentially good provider when she saw one.

Not many of Mr. Alger's heroes bothered to work themselves through college like Dr. Bunche and Dr. Eisenhower. Mr. Alger, who was not born in poverty, had been to Harvard, one of the better known colleges, and apparently considered it to have been a great waste of time. But then Mr. Alger's own life, as it has been related by Mr. Herbert R. Mayes, was anything but a success story. He was a very unhappy man, and apparently the only real friends he ever had were those that he made in the Newsboys' Lodging House in New York, where he took up residence as a kind of unofficial social worker.

"Success," wrote one of unhappy Mr. Alger's unhappy contemporaries, "is counted sweetest by those who ne'er succeed." And this man, who felt himself to be a total failure, became the chief prophet of what Professor James called the cult of the "bitch-goddess". The idea absorbed from his books by two generations of impressionable young readers was that the main purpose of life is to "get ahead" and that this constitutes the only real measure of happiness. Thus, though the fruits of Algerism are still very much with us, it is possibly just as well that the new generation knows him not.

Fluorine in Salt to Protect Teeth

(Kitchener-Waterloo Record)

The possibility of using fluorides in table salt as an alternative to fluoridation of drinking water to protect the teeth against cavities has been raised by Dr. Gunnar Stantesson, a Swedish physician who conducted tests with salt containing fluoride.

Control groups were fed a diet containing an excessive amount of fermentable sugar to help induce caries, and ordinary refined salt. Cavities as well as superficial enamel changes similar to those observed in the early stages of human dental caries were noted. Other groups were fed the same diet, except that their salt contained readily soluble fluorides.

In the groups that received pure salt to which fluoride had been added there were only two minor cavities and minor superficial enamel changes occasionally.

More tests must be made before it can be stated that salt containing fluorides can be effective in protecting teeth against decay. If effective, salt containing fluoride would have some advantages over fluoride-treated water. It would leave the choice to the individual, for instance. This would get around one of the objections to fluoridated drinking water.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Now in Shushan the palace there was a certain Jew, whose name was Mordecai, the son of Jair, the son of Shimei, the son of Kish, a Benjamite. . . . And he brought up Hadassah, that is, Esther, his uncle's daughter: for she had neither father nor mother, and the maid was fair and beautiful; whom Mordecai, when her father and mother were dead, took for his own daughter. . . . And the king loved Esther above all the women, and she obtained grace and favour in his sight more than all the virgins; so that he set the royal crown upon her head, and made her queen instead of Vashti. (Esth. 2:5,7,17.)

After these things did King Ahaseurus promote Haman the son of Hammedatha and Agagite, and advanced him, and set his seat above all the princes that were with him. And all the king's servants, that were in the king's gate, bowed, and reverenced Haman: for the king had so commanded concerning him. But Bordecai bowed not nor did him reverence. . . And when Haman saw that Mordecai bowed not, nor did him reverence, then was Haman full of wrath. And he thought scorn to lay hands on Mordecai alone; for they had shewed him the people of Mordecai: wherefor Haman sought to destroy all the Jews that were throughout the whole kingdom of Ahasuerus, even the people of Mordecai. . . .

And when Haman said unto king Ahasuerus There is a certain people scattered abroad and dispersed among the people in all the provinces of thy kingdom; and their laws are diverse from all people; neither keep they the king's laws: therefore it is not for the king's profit to suffer them. If it pleases the king, let it be written that man be destroyed: and I will pay ten thousand talents of silver to the hands of those that have the charge of the business, to bring it into the king's treasuries. . . .

And the king said unto Haman, The silver is given to thee, the people also, to do with them as it seemeth good to thee. Then were the king's scribes called on the thirteenth day of the first month, and there was written according to all that Haman had commanded unto the king's lieutenants, and to the governors that were over every province, and to the rulers of every people after their language; in the name of king Ahasuerus was it written, and sealed with the king's ring. (Esth. 3: 1, 2, 5, 6, 8, 9, 11, 12.)

The St. Lawrence

Browsing in our library the other evening we came upon this passage by John Burroughs about the St. Lawrence:

"Its history, its antecedents, are unparalleled. The great lakes are its camping grounds; here its hosts repose under the sun and stars in areas like that of states and kingdoms, and it is its waters that shake the earth at Niagara . . . It is a chain of Homeric sublimities. The great cataract is a fit sequel to the great lakes; the Spirit that is born in vast and tempestuous Superior takes its full glut of power in that fearful chasm."

What a pity that this mighty river, so rich in North American history, should be left for its development as a seaway, with possibility (as a distinguished American citizen put it in Toronto this week) of another Rhur in the Great Lakes area; to one North American country!

Flying Saucers Real Puzzle Expert Declares

TORONTO—(CP)—Most reports of "flying saucers" can be explained as natural phenomena — but there still remains "a concrete group of reports that are unexplained."

This is the cautious assessment by Dr. Peter Millman, chief of the Dominion Observatory's Astro-Physics Division at Ottawa.

"It is difficult to dismiss casually the weight of evidence that now has accumulated," he wrote in an article for the Toronto Telegram. "It is also a mistake to ridicule anyone making a sincere report."

He felt that 99 per cent of those who have reported seeing flying saucers were "perfectly honest" although they might have misinterpreted what they saw, "or was a little over-enthusiastic in describing an event."

Dr. Millman said he had no "inside information" on flying saucers but for 20 years he has studied reports of objects seen in the sky during observations of meteors.

Accounts Very Similar

The saucers had usually been described as disc-shaped or cigar-shaped. A few observers claimed to have seen rows of lights or port holes along the sides. Nearly all reports said the objects moved rapidly and were highly manoeuverable.

Many normal phenomena in the sky had given rise to flying saucer reports, he said. These included aircraft, balloons, meteors, planets, northern lights reflections and mirages.

All of these can "under special circumstances appear in such an unusual way that the observer is sure he has seen a unique and inexplicable event."

After allowing for human error and eliminating sightings explainable as natural phenomena, however, "there still remains a concrete group of reports that are unexplained.

"One, two or three of these might be disregarded but there now seems to be too many peculiar cases to eliminate in this way . . .

"Personally, I haven't come to any definite conclusions about these objects . . . I am awaiting further developments with interest. There seems to be a good deal that has not yet been satisfactorily explained."

Division Studies Consumer Problems

OTTAWA — (CP)—Housewives are bringing their troubles in such numbers to the Canadian Association of Consumers that the C.A.C. has organized a complaints division to deal with their problems.

Mrs. Hubert R. Kemp, a specialist in economics who lives in Ottawa, has been named head of the new division. Others on the committee includes Miss Avis Clark of Winnipeg and Mrs. Jean Butterfield of Toronto.

In the last few weeks association headquarters has received a variety of complaints.

A woman in Truro, N.S., wanted to know whether pork fat has as much nourishment as margarine. The C.A.C. replied that while it hasn't a vitamin content equal to that of margarine, it nevertheless is valuable in cooking.

Another woman in Camrose, Alta., wondered why she couldn't buy bloomers without the elastic sewn onto the material.

"I have had some of these before," she said. "And I find they fray from the elastic down . . . I like the inserted elastic better."

From Rockcliffe, Ont., came a request for household paint in pint-size containers.

Tax City Employers

CAPE TOWN — (CP) — A new South African legislative bill would give wide powers to tax city employers who use native labor. The measure would empower the Minister of Labor to apply the tax or not, as he sees fit, and also to decide the amount, which may be up to half-a-crown (about 50 cents) per worker per week.

How Costs Rise

BRANTFORD, Ont.—(CP)—The bridge over the Grand River at Glen Morris cost $16,000 to build in 1908. Now the county council is putting in a new floor at an estimated cost of $16,000. The old floor was judged unsafe for heavy traffic.

"LET US OUT TO THE BALL GAME" yelled public school pupils Wednesday afternoon when the senior league opened its 1952 play. Out of the four games played only one was close, providing tense moments. That was at Central School where the home team edged King George 11-10 in the last of the seventh after an eight-run comeback. King George School fans (top photo) stood behind the Central bench razzing that nine while other fans made themselves comfortable in the warm sun, such as Art Baker, Jerry Sedgwick and Ron Damyluk, (centre) Central supporters. Central runner, R. Fuller, (left lower photo) crosses the plate, at the same time bumping King George's pitcher, Ev English who was waiting for the throw in.

School Softball Squads Post Hefty Scores To Open Senior Season

Some one-sided scores marked the opening Wednesday afternoon of the senior section of the Public School Softball League. One close game was an exception, Central yanking out an 11-10 victory over King George. In other tilts, typical early season play was seen with some hard hitting, indifferent pitching and a lot of loose fielding. Central pushed a couple of runs across in the first, three each in the third and sixth, with two in the fourth. Walks and errors figured in a number of their markers. King George tallied four in the first, three next time up, one in the fourth and two more in the fifth. They also cashed in on miscues. E. English, J. Grills and B. McNaughton went best for the losers, while B. Naish, R. Fuller and R. Gray stood out for the victors. Teams:

Central: Patterson, Naish, Robbins, Harrington, Tranter, Craymer, Fuller, Dunford, Gray, Findlay, Martin, Kent.

King George: English, Barker, Clarke, Harding, Grills, Roberts, MacNaughton, Dinesen, Meeks, Barclay, Lentz, Nurse, Storey.

Umpires, A. Hill and N. Gainor.

They Ran Wild

King Edward smothered Queen Elizabeth under a 29-9 score in a wide-open and loose tussle. The pitching was below form, owing to the earliness of the season though the catchers did well in pulling down high ones. Plenty of hard hitting helped offset poor defensive work. The coaches agreed on the final score, but couldn't account for all the subs used. K.E. scored eight in the first of the abbreviated tilt, nine next heat, seven in the third and five in the fourth, as Q.E. got four in the second and five in the third. Teams:

Q.E.—Whitnell, Tighe, Heard, Willis, Lyons, Welsh, Harrison, Lloyd, Lymburner, R. Dorgan, Hancock, J. Dorgan, Taylor.

K.E.—Curtis, Simmons, Rusaw, Orr, Floyd, Rose, Hills, Finney, Phillips, Stevens, Rowe, Beggs.

Umpires, Wilson and Curry.

Neat Hurling

Queen Alex opened senior play with an 18-4 victory over Queen Mary. Johnston held the losers well in check with a run each in the first three and the fifth innings, while his mates crossed the platter six times in the first frame, 10 in the next stanza and twice in the third. They came up with some solid hitting, and fair fielding. Teams:

Queen Mary—J. Dafoe, G. Dafoe, Lincoln, Atkinson, Brisbois, Williams, Dobbin, Perritt, Harris, M. Loucks, Stinson, L. Loucks.

Queen Alex—Nelson, Johnston, McNamee, Stewart, McClennan, Macklin, Conway, Downer, Ball, Olmstead, Druce.

Umpires, D. Lawless and J. Barnard.

Royals Edge Orioles In 9-8 Triumph

By The Associated Press.

Tom Casagrande is finding the going rough in the Triple A International League.

Casagrande, a $40,000 bonus pitcher belonging to the Philadelphia Phillies, made his second start for the Phils' Baltimore Orioles farm hands Wednesday night and lasted less than four innings.

The pace-setting Montreal Royals slammed Casagrande for eight hits and collected four walks in 3 1-3 innings to take a 5-0 lead. The Orioles came back after that but the Royals finally won the game, 9-8, in 12 innings on Charley Thompson's homer off Dick Starr.

Casagrande, who jumped the club recently over a salary dispute, made his first start last Wednesday and was knocked out in the first inning by Toronto. The youngster is up from Wilmington of the Inter-State League where he won 14 and lost seven last year.

Down Cubs

Toronto Maple Leafs remained a half-game behind the Royals by beating Springfield Cubs, 6-1. Lefthander Irv Medlinger limited the Cubs to six hits in besting Bill Padget. Ed Stevens led the Toronto drive, knocking in three runs on a homer and single.

Rookie Elroy Joyce made his first start of the season a winning one as he pitched Rochester Red Wings to a 6-3 victory over Ottawa Athletics. Joyce allowed only five hits. Rip Ripulski and Johnny Blatnik drove home two runs apiece to lead the Rochester attack.

Syracuse Chiefs outlasted Buffalo Bisons, 11-9, with Joe Page, former New York Yankee relief ace, gaining credit for his second victory.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Fortunately feelings do not run so high in the summer among sports fans in the district villages as during the hockey season. The fussin' and feudin' ends shortly after the bush loops and the T.V.L. playoffs finish. But it's hot at times during playoffs. Goodwill was an absent virtue as Apsley and Young's Point fought it out fiercely on the ice—and even on the sidelines. Fans took it harder than the players. Nor was it too comfortable for a Norwood chap to visit Hastings just after the league had upheld a Norwood protest on Hastings' use of a Peterborough player. Nossuh! Sometimes we must edit district correspondents' copy closely during playoffs to avoid libel. Ah, well, with summer comes peace to the land again.

Minor ball teams wanting in to the P.M.B.A. this season should advise Dit Clapper now in writing, and have a representative at the next meeting. That's Monday at seven p.m. in the "Y" when officers will be elected, entries taken and plans for the season outlined. No zone system this semester, and sponsored clubs are the best bet. Age limits as of May 1 of the current year are: Peewees, under 13; bantams, under 15; midgets, under 17; and juveniles, under 19. Local juniors run their own show this year. Fathers of young fellows wanting to play should get out and help organize the setup for this season as there's a big need for managers, coaches and umpires.

And Here We Go Again

Had a request for a repeat on this piece we did a year ago, so here 'tis: Two ball fans were discussing the visitors' lineup. "Who is playing first?" Joe asks. "Yeah, he is," Jim replies. "Who is?" "Yeah, I told you he was. Hoose on first?" "Look, Jim, I asked you that." Jim growls: "Now you look, I told you the guy's name." "What?" "No, Watt's on second." "Okay then, who's on third?" Nope, Hoose on first, Watt's on second, got it?" "Right." "No, you chump, Wright plays short." "Well, for the luvva Mike, who's on third, or what's on third, if you prefer it that way?" Jim says patiently: "Look, Hoose on first and Watt's on second, so how could either of them be on third?" "That's right, I suppose." "Nope, Wright's on short."

* * * * * *

Well, sir—and you, madam—Joe decides he'll try a new tack. Something screwy about the whole setup or else he's being taken for a ride. This business of Hoose on first, Watt's on second and Wright at shortstop. It still doesn't let a guy know which player is holding down third base. He says: "Now, Jim, don't you know English?" Jim snorts: "Of course I do, that's Tommy English catching for them. A .365 hitter, too." Just before mayhem sets in, Joe tries once more very carefully: "Jim, can you tell me the name of the ball player on third for them?" And Jim says: "Oh sure, that's Schwartz."

Robust Cy Filling In

At an executive meeting of the senior ball club last p.m., Cy Whatley agreed to take the job of temporary coach of the club for two weeks. By that time, they expect to appoint a regular manager-coach for the season but want to take a bit of time to line up a suitable person. Practices from now on will start at 6:30 in Riverside, with all positions open. The C.O.B.L. schedule commences in about three weeks, so a lot of keen drilling is the order from here in for the Petes. Max Swanston reported that the Lions Club, with its usual fine community spirit, would stage a bingo shortly to aid the club get off on the right financial foot. Good stuff.

Senior section of the Public School Softball League started yester aft, and some typical high-scoring play was seen. That's always the case in the early season ere pitchers' arms are in shape and with fielding below par. Only the hitters are in rare form and hits shower the landscape. Queen Alex won from Queen Mary, King Edward defeated Queen Elizabeth, Confederation beat Prince of Wales, and Central edged out King George in the closest contest of the day. Next senior games are May 7. The intermediate teams resume action on Monday of next week, with the juniors commencing play the following afternoon. Schedules conclude early in June.

Roth Blocks Canadians 2-1 From Claiming Alan Cup

FORT FRANCES, Ont., May 1 (CP).—Mickey Roth singlehandedly prevented Fort Frances Canadians from claiming the 1952 Canadian senior hockey crown on Wednesday night.

The fleet forward scored two vital third-period goals in the fifth game of the best-of-seven series to give Stratford Indians a 2-1 victory over the Forts. Canadians were leading 1-0 on a goal by Ric Ricard when Roth scored his first marker and then followed minutes later with the winner.

A win for the Canadians, now leading the series 3-2, would have given them their first Allan Cup.

Canadians won the first game 9-5; Stratford won the second 3-0, and Canadians took the third and fourth 6-5 and 5-3. In all victories Fort Frances had come from behind. Wednesday night Stratford turned the tables.

After a scoreless first period studded with penalties, the teams settled down to clean hockey. The second and third periods were free of thumbing.

Take Early Lead

Canadians took their early lead in the second period. Ricard swept in a pass from Doc Johnson and then slapped in his own rebound.

Fort Frances held the one-goal margin for better than 20 minutes until Roth tied it 1-1. The puck was resting at the Fort Frances goal post and he managed to shove it past goalie Bill Cleaveley's skate.

Roth sent Indians into the lead with less than seven minutes left, flipping the puck high as Cleaveley sprawled to make the save. The score came after a Stratford ganging attack on the Fort Frances net.

The Forts clambered over Indians after Roth's second marker but failed to score.

Stanky Back In Lineup Cards Club Brooklyn 14-2

By JACK HAND, Associated Press Sports Writer

Cagey Eddie Stanky picked the right spot to throw his "intangibles" into his St. Louis Cardinal starting lineup. Beaten Tuesday night by Preacher Roe for the eighth straight time and wandering two games under .500, Manager Stanky finally pulled the sheets off second baseman Stanky. Stanky opened the season on the bench and with Red Schoendienst on second. You knew it couldn't last. Stanky's ability to get on base, his inspirational leadership demanded a more active role. But Schoendienst, hitting .340 had to play.

Finally he made his move. Schoendienst went to third and the "brat" took over at second. You have an idea Manager Eddie will be in there most of the time from now on.

The impact of Stanky's presence in the lineup could be seen in the very first inning. "Stanky walked," the play-by-play read. Before the first inning was over it also read "Stanky doubled down the left field line, Westlake and Bilko scoring." The Cards scored six runs in that inning, knocking out Chris Van Cuyk.

Stanky walked twice more before the night was over while Gerry Staley, his ace, became the first four-time winner in the major leagues this season.

Comes Through

Schoendienst handled four chances faultlessly and smashed a bases-loaded home run off Bud Podbielan in the fifth inning as the Cards ran up a 14-2 score over Brooklyn.

Wally Westlake returned to centre field and Enos Slaughter and Billy Johnson were benched in the new Card lineup.

Meanwhile the American League was saying its farewells to two fine ball players—Ted Williams of Boston Red Sox and Gerry Coleman of New York Yankees.

Both Williams and Coleman left them laughing when they said goodbye—in fact, Williams might even reconsider and play one more game.

Ted entrenched the rookie-laden Red Sox in first place with a two-run homer, his first of the year, to beat Detroit, 5-3. Williams, who reports for flying duty as a Marine Corps captain Friday was showered with gifts in pre-game ceremonies.

Then Williams went out to hit the homer off relief Dizzy Trout in the seventh inning for rookie Ivan Delock's second big league win. Delock replaced Mel Parnell in the seventh.

Split Doubleheader

Coleman, also a Marine Corps captain, was honored at a between-games ceremony at Yankee Stadium where the Yanks split a doubleheader with St. Louis Browns.

He bowed out with two hits in each game to finish with a heady .405 average.

Despite Coleman's hitting and a homer, double and single by Mickey Mantle, the Yanks lost the opener to the Brownies, 9-4. Bob Cain received some fine relief help from old Satch Paige to whip the world champs.

Elmer Valo, the league leading hitter at .410, snapped the Philadelphia A's out of a seven-game losing streak with a three-run homer that beat Cleveland's Early Wynn, 3-1.

Bobby Shantz, who edged the Yanks for the A's only previous win, went the route with a six-hitter.

Sweep Doubleheader

The Chicago White Sox swept a twin-night doubleheader from Washington, 7-3 and 4-3, winning the second on Eddie Robinson's 11th inning homer off Bobo Newsom. Four-hit pitching by Billy Pierce and Harry Dorish checked

Only Wishes She Had Used Syntona Long Ago

"Suffered Years of Misery," Stomach Disorders, Dizzy Spells, Constipation. Got Rheumatic Pains in Arms, Muscles. "Have First Real Relief Now," she says.

Mrs. Katherine McCoy, 13 Appell Street, London, Ontario, says that if people really knew how much Syntona can help them they would certainly use it. So, she is glad to make known the relief she got by taking this Herbal Medicine. Here is her experience:

"I suffered years of misery with stomach disorders, having awful gas, sour acid risings, heartburn, and a heavy distressed feeling in my stomach after eating even the lightest foods. Dizzy feelings, constipation, shortness of breath were daily worries to me. Rheumatic pains, so bad I couldn't sleep, set into my arms and muscles and I had no ambition to do my housework.

"I read about Syntona many times, but never thought it would help me. A few weeks ago, however, I got a trial bottle and liked it so well that I kept on taking it and now I only wish I had tried it long ago. It has given me the first relief from all this trouble I had with my stomach, and

I can enjoy my meals. Constipation, dizzy spells, even the rheumatic pains are relieved. I sleep better and have more energy to do my work. I am certainly glad to pass this experience along to others and hope that everyone who suffers this way will try Syntona.

Syntona is sold and recommended in Peterborough at Elliott's Drug Store. Find out how it can help you, too. (Advt.)

Hotspur Finishes Second In League

LONDON, May 1 (Reuters). — Tottenham Hotspur, last year's English League champions, Wednesday finished second to Manchester United in this year's championship by defeating Chelsea 2-0.

The two points gained from its last match of the season enabled Tottenham to oust Arsenal, Cup finalist next Saturday, from second spot on its goal average.

But Huddersfield Town, which will be relegated to the Second Division next season, Wednesday announced it will ask the Football League to investigate Tottenham's first and winning goal in their league match last April 2.

Eddie Baily, Tottenham forward, took a corner kick which rebounded off the referee. He then kicked the ball a second time, enabling teammate Len Duqiem to score.

A decision against Tottenham could cost the team second place in the championship if it lost the replayed game.

Derby Entries Being Made At Louisville

By ORLO ROBERTSON.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 1 (AP) —The Kentucky Derby entered its stall-walking period today as owners and trainers of 16 three-year-old horses started entering their charges in the $100,000-added turf classic.

The famous 1¼-mile run for the roses over Churchill Downs' racing strip is not scheduled to start until 5:30 p.m. E.D.T. Saturday, but racing secretary Lincoln Plaut began receiving entries today.

The trainers had some three hours to enter their horses today and a like period Friday before the draw is made for post positions. The policy of accepting entries 24 hours in advance was started last year.

16 Runners Expected

The names of 16 runners are expected to be readied for the draw.

The probable field was swelled by one Wednesday when Swoop from E. Burke's High Tide Stable left New York for Churchill Downs with the Derby as his objective.

The unexpected appearance of Swoop today had no effect on the odds. The son of Sky Raider is expected to be one of the four horses coupled in the "field" betting at odds of 50 to 1 or longer.

Hill Gail, whose record-smashing mile in the Derby trial changed the Derby outlook considerably, remained the strong choice. But there were many who figured A. W. Abbott's slow-starting but fast-closing Blue Man would wear down the Calumet flyer in the long stretch drive.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Toronto Argonauts football club has signed five new United States imports for the 1952 season, coach Frank Clair announced Wednesday in Toronto.

Heading the list is tackle Jim Mackenzie from the University of Kentucky where he was chosen a member of the all-southeastern conference team last year. Six feet three inches tall, he weighs 245 pounds.

Others signed are: Al Bruno, 22, University of Kentucky end; Ralph Staub, 24, University of Cincinnati end; Jack Gordon, 20, defensive halfback from the University of Cincinnati, and Art Calandrelli, 23, Canisius College, Buffalo, halfback.

President Bob Moran said no claims have been made on waivers asked on Al Dekdebrun, quarter, Marv Whaley, end, and Oden Fisher, lineman. They now are free agents.

Conn Smythe, managing director of the Toronto Maple Leafs hockey team, announced Wednesday in Toronto that coach Joe Primeau has been signed for another year.

Danny Direct, owned by Alex Parsons of Brantford and London, Ont., brushed past the favorite, Major Hall, Wednesday night at Yonkers, N. Y., to finish first in the second division of the Fordham pace. The time, 2:05 was the best of the harness meet.

Undefeated Johnny Saxton, 21-year-old New York welterweight, knocked out Bobby Lee of Baltimore in the seventh round of their scheduled 10-rounder at Baltimore Wednesday night. It was Saxton's 14th knockout in 28 triumphs.

Popularity of Ted Williams who left Boston Red Sox Wednesday to return to the U.S. Marines reached the presidential primary. Lowell, Mass., election officials said that while Williams was being honored by Boston's baseball fans someone gave him a write-in vote.

Bill Spivey, former University of Kentucky basketball star, was arrested Wednesday at Lexington, Kentucky, on a fugitive warrant in connection with the New York cage bribes. He was released on $500 bond.

Guelph Drubs Regina Pats 8-2; Take 3-0 Series Lead

TORONTO, May 1 (CP.) — Guelph Biltmores left little doubt as to which was the better team Wednesday night as they drubbed Regina Pats 8-2 and took a 3-0 lead in their best-of-seven Memorial Cup finals.

Never in trouble, Guelph banged in three goals in the first 10 minutes of play and built their victory from there on in.

The eastern champions had too much all-round power for the Pats. They skated circles around Regina and but for the brilliant work of Bob Tyler in the westerners' nets, the score would have been much greater.

Led by captain Andy Bathgate and Ron Murphy who scored three goals each, the Bilts were ahead 4-1 at the end of the first period and 5-2 by the finish of the second.

Chuck Henderson and Ken Laufman fired Guelph's remaining markers while Johnny Reeve and Brian McDonald tallied for the western cause.

Best Player

Ed Litzenberger, the Pats' leading scorer over the regular schedule, was their best player Wednesday night. He failed to score but was a constant threat every time he had the puck.

Regina coach Murray Armstrong was at a loss over his club's showing. Alfie Pike of Guelph expects to collect the silverware in Friday night's fourth game.

"I don't know what the matter is," said Armstrong. "My boys are skating miles and going nowhere. They certainly didn't play that way over the regular schedule. They just seem to have lost the spark. Honestly, I don't know what to do."

Pike was more worried over the sparse crowd of 4,270 that sprinkled the Maple Leaf Gardens tiers Wednesday night. He and the Biltmore executive would still like to see Friday's game played at Guelph.

The Pats moved in spurts and apart from the second period when they split a pair of goals with the New York Ranger farm club, were outclassed at every turn. They all but gave up in the dying moments of the third period and Guelph rapped in three more quick goals.

Take A Holiday

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., May 1 (AP). — The United Nations Commission on Human Rights took a holiday today for May Day. The vote on a Soviet Union motion Wednesday was 15 to 0 with three abstaining. Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, U.S., was one of the three delegates abstaining.

Plan Conferences

MANILA, May 1 (AP).—High ranking naval officers of Britain, France and the United States gathered at Sangley Point on Manila Bay today for a series of conferences expected to last until Saturday. No public announcement has been made regarding the purpose of the meetings.

NEW YORK, May 1—(AP)—United States Steel Corp, reported recently its net income for the first three months of 1952 dropped more than $5,000,000 from the levels of a year ago, although shipments were up 5.6 per cent to a new high.

The giant of the industry placed its earning for the latest quarter at $43,534,212, equal to $1.43 a common share, compared with $48,663,781, or $1.62 a share in the like 1951 period.

Chairman Irving S. Olds said this was a return of 5 per cent on sales of $864,168,272 against a return of 5.9 per cent in the first 1951 quarter on sales of $819,461,068.

Gets Word

Olds was just concluding a press conference when word was brought of Federal Judge David A. Pine's ruling against the government's recent seizure of the steel industry. He declined comment until he has a chance to study the decision.

U.S. Steel operated its steelmaking facilities during the first quarter at an average of 103.7 per cent of their rated capacity, and operations this week are at 103.1 per cent, Olds said.

Shipments of finished products in the three-month period were the highest on record, 6,413,534 net tons, exceeding the previous high of 6,400,653 in the second 1951 quarter.

Directors of the corporation declared a dividend of 75 cents a common share, same as in preceding quarters, payable June 10 to shareholders of record May 9.

Asked it U.S. Steel would apply for the $3-a-ton steel price increase permitted by new Office of Stabilization ceilings, Olds said:

"I think it unlikely that we or any other company will ask for the increase, except as part of a settlement of this whole wage-price matter."

The industry has contended it is unable to grant wage increases recommended by the Wage Stabilization Board unless steel prices are increased. It has estimated that total cost of the W.S.B. recommendations, plus attendant increases in cost of materials and services the industry purchases at $12 a ton.

Savile Row Is Hit By Textile Slump

LONDON—(CP)—Sales of men's suits reflect the current country-wide slump in the textile trade, say London clothing retailers.

"The public just isn't in a buying mood," said T. W. Hewitt, secretary of the National Federation of Merchant Tailors.

Orders held by firms in Savile Row, London's "main street" for men's tailoring, have seldom been so meagre.

Price cuts of five guineas or more on suits of a higher grade have evoked little response and so far, there's no hint of improvement.

"It means much unemployment and short time in the trade," said Hewitt.

Moose Come Back

REGINA—(CP)—The moose population of Saskatchewan, which reached an all-time low six years ago, now is again on the upswing. Provincial Game Supervisor Harold Read reported the Conservation program initiated by the government "is slowly but surely bringing them back."

Protest Name 'Catholic Hour'

HAMILTON, May 1 (CP)—Protest against the Roman Catholic church calling its weekly CBC program "The Catholic Hour," was voiced Wednesday at a closed meeting of the 78th session of the Synod of the Church of England of the diocese of Niagara.

The Rev. C. J. Loat of St. Catharines said: "It's pure misrepresentation. If they want to call it 'the Roman Catholic Hour,' that's all right—but not 'The Catholic Hour'."

Archdeacon R. C. Blagrave said it was time there was a general protest against use of the term Catholic Church. "It's the Roman Catholic Church and not the Catholic Church," he said.

Bishop Consecrated

REGINA, May 1—(CP)—The Most Rev. Francis Joseph Klein, Roman Catholic Bishop of Saskatoon, Wednesday was consecrated at Regina's Holy Rosary Cathedral. James Cardinal McGuigan, Archbishop of Toronto, was consecrator.

MAY BLOW UP BRIDGE—The wrecked heavy lift bridge which spans the entrance to Hamilton harbor may have to be blown up before it can be replaced. Col. V. S. Thompson, Ottawa bridge expert, said the north half of the bridge at Burlington, near Hamilton, may have to be cleared by the use of high explosives. A Bailey bridge then could be built across the north channel to connect directly with the south span of the bridge. The north half of the two-section bridge collapsed when struck by the freighter W. E. Fitzgerald, operated by the Gartland Steamship Company of Chicago.

Disapprove Of Plan Requiring $2,500 Pay

SARNIA, May 1 (CP)—Intention of Bruce Presbytery to require a minimum salary of $2,500 for ministers met with the disapproval of the Presbyterian Synod of Hamilton and London Wednesday at the closing session of the three-day conference.

Synod was asked to give its judgment on a Bruce resolution that the Presbytery refuse to consider a call that does not offer a stipend of $2,500. After some discussion Synod judged the Presbytery must consider any call, but may refuse any one.

It restated a 1951 resolution to the provincial government, asking that the Hope report on education be lifted from the table and action taken on it. The Rev. J. K. West, St. Thomas, clerk of Synod, said the previous resolution was merely acknowledged by the government.

Knox Church, Goderich, was named as the pwlace of Synod for 1953.

War Danger Less

BELGRADE, May 1 — (AP) — Premier Tito said Wednesday night the danger of a third world war has "calmed down a little" as a result of the development of new mass-destruction weapons. He added, however, that "we still must remain alert." Tito was speaking to a delegation from the Yugoslav Army Reserve Officer Association.

Ban on Locusts

BASRA, Iraq, May 1—(AP)—The chemical war against a locust plague has its drawbacks among people who regard the winged insects as right tasty. Health authorities have warned against eating locusts offered for sale, dead or alive, in Basra bazaars. They explain that poisoning might result from insecticides used by camel patrols, trucks and planes to combat the plague.

Ask Tariffs Cut

VANCOUVER, May 1—(CP)—A plea for reduction in tariffs to aid the Canadian fishing industry was made Wednesday by Fisheries Minister R. W. Haynes. Addressing the Fisheries Council Convention, he said it was recognized that consumption of 10 or 11 pounds of fish by each person in Canada was too small to support an industry.

Mayor of Halifax

HALIFAX, May 1 — (CP) — Richard A. Donahoe, barrister and former alderman, Wednesday was elected mayor of Halifax, defeating ex-mayor J. E. (Gee) Ahern. Final results gave Mr. Donahoe 6,988 votes against 6,313 for Mr. Ahern.

Await List Of Warrants

LONDON—(CP)—A select group of United Kingdom tradesmen, catering to the special taste and needs of Royalty, will soon be advised who among them will be permitted to use the Royal Arms with the inscription, "By appointment of Her Majesty the Queen."

In theory Royal warrants ended with the death of King George VI. But business establishments already recognized were not expected to take down or discontinue use of the coveted sign of Royal patronage.

The normal custom is to issue warrants only after three year's service and the Queen has had her own household only since June, 1949. A Royal warrant, however, may be granted any time.

Usually a list is published each year renewing the eight existing warrants as follows: By appointment to Queen Victoria, King Edward VII, Queen Elexandra, King George V, Queen Mary, King George VI, the Queen Mother and the Duke of Windsor, when Prince of Wales.

Two more are expected to be added—the Queen's own warrant and probably one for firms with which the Duke of Edinburgh has special dealings.

The old list contained nearly 1,000 names. It included the makers of almost every personal and household requirement, including such things as turtle soup, potted shrimp, jams, Edinburgh rock candy and bagpipes.

CANADIAN ARTIST IN PARIS — Wilfred Rolof Beny, left, of Lethbridge, Alta., impressionistic painter awarded a 1952 Guggenheim award, talks with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Beny in the Librairie Paul Morihien in Paris where he held a show of his paintings. His works have been shown in many galleries in Canada and the United States.

U.K. Slaughters 22,000 Animals

LONDON, May 1—(Reuters)—The latest move of foot-and-mouth disease to grip British farms has forced slaughtering of more than 22,000 animals so far and the worst is still to come.

The Agriculture Department today reported 23 outbreaks since last Friday. A spokesman listed 11,429 cattle, 5,964 sheep and 5,274 pigs already destroyed on government orders. The spokesman said more slaughtering is pending and the infection rate is still climbing.

British farms have been stricken by almost continuous foot-and-mouth scourges since last November, when the virus was believed brought here from continental Europe by migrating birds.

Can Sign Any Name

WINDSOR, May 1 (CP)—It is legal to sign any name to a beer order slip if you are over 21, Magistrate J. A. Hanrahan ruled Wednesday in connection with his dismissal of a charge against Stanton Harbor, about 40, of Windsor, of signing a false name to a beer slip.

The Liquor Control Act, the magistrate said, prohibits the giving of false information on liquor-permit applications but it can not be applied to a beer sale for which no permit is required.

Observer Corps Of 22,000 For Maritimes

HALIFAX—(CP) — Wanted: 22,000 volunteers to sit on barn roofs and hill tops without pay.

That, in essence, is the appeal of the air force for men and women to throw a comprehensive ground observer corps across the Maritimes.

A link in civil defence planning, the job of the observer corps will be to watch for and report possible enemy aircraft.

There is no pay for the service. Only the feeling of a job well done and the right to wear a plastic armband and a tiny pair of metal wings.

Idea of the corps is to augment the radar net being thrown up along the coasts. Even radar has off days and blind spots and the observer corps is expected to fill the gap.

Its men and women, and sometimes boys, will take courses in aircraft recognition and estimating speed, height and direction. If they do spot an unidentified plane they will telephone their report to a filter station.

For the Maritimes and 600,000 square miles of the Gaspe coast there are three such stations, at Charlottetown, Moncton, N.B., and Truro, N.S.

These stations correlate information and pass it along to the fighter bases.

Three-Minute Job

Sqdn. Ldr. S. R. (Ray) Miller, heading the corps in the Maritimes, says all this should not take longer than three minutes.

"To get it running smoothly," he said of the corps, "we need 10 to 12 observation posts in each of the 56 regions.

"Key man in each area is the regional supervisor. Under the supervisors are 672 chief observers and 20,160 observers. There is also a staff of 1,000 for the three filter stations, and 10 technical advisers."

The corps, says Sqdn. Ldr. Miller, works closely with the civil defence organization.

"Civil defence is no good without some warning, such as we can give to fighter aircraft and anti-aircraft defences."

There will be roughly 30 spotters to a post, working in two-hour shifts during periods of stress.

Unless there is war the observers will be called out only on weekends.

Dr. Otto Strasser In Exile Presses Fight For German Citizenship

By HANS NEUERBOURG

FRANKFURT —(AP)—Dr. Otto Strasser, the former henchman of Hitler who fled Germany for his life in 1933, is asking the West German constitutional court to give him back his German citizenship.

An exile in Canada, Strasser for six years has waged a stubborn fight to re-enter German politics.

He complains that West German authorities "do everything to prevent my return, knowing very well that in a few years time, we would be the strongest party in Germany."

Strasser's extremist followers here call themselves the "League for Germany's Revival." He directs them by remote control.

Strasser's court action is based on Article 116 of the West German constitution which says that former German nationals can be re-naturalized on request—if they were deprived of citizenship during the Hitler regime on racial, religious or political grounds.

A court ruling is expected in a short time. Meanwhile, the League is busy distributing circular letters from chairman Strasser and Deputy Chairman Waldemar Wadsack, a Munich tax adviser.

Wadsack, who became a leader of Strasser's "Black Front" after the split with Hitler, predicts Strasser will return to Germany soon.

"The Nazis working in the Bonn Foreign Office fear Strasser's knowledge (about the Nazi party) and, of course, they fear Strasser as a politician," Wadsack claims.

Allied Distaste

The league's policy is "strictly national," Wadsack admits, although "we recognize the West German constitution."

Wadsack describes the league's ideas in foreign policy as similar to those of anti-remarmament Socialist party, which opposes Chancellor Adenauer's program for a close integration with the West.

Even if the constitutional court rules in Strasser's favor, there are other obstacles to prevent his return.

Allied authorities in Bonn have emphasized he is banned from Germany and are confident of keeping him out. But this may be difficult after conclusion of the Allied-German "peace contract."

Says Women Over 45 Will Influence Design

TORONTO, May 1 (CP)— Mrs. Charlotte Montgomeryw, member of the staff of Time magazine, New York, said Wednesday the fact that ther are more women today over 45 years of age than ever before will influence hte design of everything from food to automobiles.

Addressing the 37th annual conference of the Association of Canadian Advertisers, she said that in advertising the words "brand new" have more appeal to women than "fine old."

Men wanted peace and security while women were more interested in spring coats, piano lessons for their daughters and porch furniture.

U.S. Becoming Townsman's Land

WASHINGTON —(CP)—The lure of big-city life has reduced the farm population in the United States by almost one-third since 1920, says the Census Bureau.

The U.S. trend is similar to that in Canada where the Bureau of Statistics reports that the Dominion is slowly but steadily becoming a country of city dwellers. The Canadian figures show that 43.5 per cent of Canada's population lived in rural districts in 1941. Now the figure for rural dwellers is 38.4 per cent, or 5,381,176.

In the U.S., the number of people living on farms fell from 31,614,269 in 1920 to 23,331,337 in 1950, the Census Bureau reports, and the Agriculture Department says the trend is growing.

With fewer farm boys and girls following their parents' way of life, the number of farms in the United States has declined about 1,000,000 in the last three decades. Dr. Roy V. Peel, census director, told a reporter the farm total has been falling off about 35,000 a year since the First World War to 5,382,162 in 1950.

N.Z. Seeks Device For Frost Control

AUCKLAND, N.Z. — (CP)—An award of $3,500 has been offered by the New Zealand Fruitgrowers' Federation for the most "efficient practice and economical method of Frost control in orchards in New Zealand." A sub-committee of the Federation will judge the methods submitted.

It is stipulated that the device must be commercially practical, must be at least as efficient as methods at present in use in New Zealand, either smokeless or making a minimum amount of smoke, free from interference with normal cultivation and orchard practice, and able to be purchased, operated and installed economically by the average fruit-grower.

Frost protection is unnecessary in northern New Zealand, but in the south devices are needed during September, October and November.

The usual method is by burning smoke pots using oil fuel, which gives good results when trees are in flower and developing fruit. However the smoke nuisance affects buildings and pastures and in some instances sheep in nearby pastures have been affected.

Contract Ratified Strike Averted

HAMILTON, May 1 (CP) — A strike scheduled for today at the International Harvester Company was averted Wednesday night when members of the United Steelworkers of America (C.I.O.-C.C.L.) ratified a wage settlement.

The new contract for 3,000 employees provides among other things a general increase of 10 cents an hour, plus transfers from the cost-of-living bonus to the base rate which by Nov. 16 will total seven cents an hour.

The present base hiring wage is $1.27 an hour, including cost-of-living bonus. By May 16 this will be $1.36 an hour.

GET NEW COMMANDS—President Truman announced in Washington that Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway (left) has been appointed to succeed Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower as Supreme Allied Commander in Europe. Here, Ridgway, then commander of the 8th Army, is shown mapping campaign strategy with Gen. Mark W. Clark, then Chief of Army Field Forces, during a 1951 meeting in Korea. Clark will succeed Ridgway as U.S. military chief in the Far East.

Churchill's Program Lags Through Labor's Opposition

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, May 1—(CP)—Reappearance of a couple of colorfully-named devices—the guillotine and the kangaroo—has led to some second thoughts on just how far a parliamentary opposition should go.

The question came up when the Conservative government, behind in its legislative program and hard pressed by the Labor opposition, decided to curtail debate. Two of the most popular methods are the guillotine, which imposes time limits on various parts of a particular bill, and the kangaroo, whereby the speaker may select amendments rather than take them in the order on the paper.

For various reasons, including the King's death and the extended Christmas recess, the government now is faced with a large log of legislation and a small time-table in which to accomplish it. Some observers forecast the House of Commons will have to sit until February to get rid of the business ahead of it.

At the same time, Labor has complicated matters by serving notice that it will oppose every "administrative" measure unless the government drops certain proposals "uncongenial" to Labor.

Some Labor members argue that their party's victory in recent local elections shows that the Conservatives have lost the confidence of the country, and therefore have no mandate for controversial legislation.

This sort of argument may be even more vocal in a few weeks. Voting will take place in the boroughs and districts between May 5 and May 13, and the political prophets say the Conservatives are almost sure to take another beating. Polling takes place for seats which the Tories largely gained in a 1949 landslide and they are not expected to hold their gains.

Meanwhile, political observers while tending to deplore the use of the guillotine to speed parliamentary business have been inclined to side with the Conservatives in its use, or to criticize the Labor opposition for obstruction. One suggestion advanced is that the two parties should for the time being drop doctrinaire solutions for controversial problems and seek a compromise on which both could agree.

But there is no sign of any truce.

Three Paintings On Exhibition

LONDON, May 1 — (CP) — Three oil paintings by Field Marshal Earl Alexander will be on public view at the Royal Academy starting Saturday, it was learned Wednesday.

The paintings have Canadian titles—one is called "Ottawa" and another "Gatineau River"—and were painted when Britain's new defence minister was in Canada as Governor-General.

The Royal Academy Exhibition runs until Aug. 24. some 1,579 works were chosen by the selection committee headed by Sir Gerald Kelly, president of the Academy.

One of Lord Alexander's paintings, "From My Studio Window," hangs in gallery No. 1. Nearby is a landscape by another versatile statesman and amateur painter — Prime Minister Churchill.

Countess Alexander said today her husband submitted five paintings. "Three out of five—that's pretty good, isn't it?"she said. All are snow scenes, one with a silhouette of Ottawa in the background.

IKE GOT THIS ONE—Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge, campaign manager for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, casts his ballot at Beverly, Mass., as the Bay State's hottest presidential primary in years gets under way. Centre of attraction in the primary was the contest between the Eisenhower forces and those of Sen. Robert A. Taft. Watching Lodge vote is Warden Mary Flynn. Eisenhower won a big majority of the votes.

Declares High Prices, Taxes Cause House Building Drop

TORONTO, May 1 (CP)—Higher prices, higher taxes and higher monthly payments were cited today as causes for a drop in housebuilding by the annual report of the Dominion Mortgage and Investments Association.

The report said attention has been focussed "on the tightness of mortgage money" as a reason for the let-down. However:

"Fewer people are able or willing to purchase houses at present prices. Builders are more cautious in undertaking large projects. More completed houses remain unsold, even though fewer houses are being completed."

The Association has a membership of 49 insurance, trust companies, and the report, presented to the Association's annual meeting, was signed by M. J. Smith, president, of Waterloo; and by G. C. Lindsay, first vice-president, J. T. Brydeno, second vice-president, and H. E. Langford, past president, all of Toronto.

15 Per Cent Increase

"Residential construction costs in 1951," said the report, "were 15 per cent higher on the average than in 1950. Judging by wage demands of construction workers, another substantial increase in costs is in the offing.

"Larger mortgages require increased payments of principal and interest. Mortgage rates have gone up. Municipal taxes have been and are rising sharply.

"Probably as many would-be purchasers are unable to pay the monthly carrying charges as find it impossible to make the necessary down payment. Far more prospective home owners have been eliminated from the market by rising building costs and increased municipal taxes than by the rise in interest rates and the tightening of mortgage funds."

Average Figures

The report said the average loan by member companies to finance the construction of new single-family dwellings is running at about $7,800, compared with $6,200 in 1950 and $5,400 in 1949."

For the current year the outlook is for a continuance of a fairly high level of mortgage-lending activity; and the supply of mortgage funds is not likely to be as tight as in the June-November period of 1951."

The report stated that "the past year had demonstrated the ability of the Canadian economy to meet extraordinary demands," nevertheless:

It had also demonstrated that soft spots could develop and resulting pools of unemployment in certain areas.

"Throughout 1951 consumer-spending lagged behind the rise in consumer income. If consumers behaved throughout 1952 as they did in 1951, some industries are likely to be on short-time operations." However:

The increase in savings, perhaps more than anything else, explained the dampening of inflationary pressures. "Continuance of a high level of savings is desirable. More of the capital investment program will have to be financed by the savings of Canadians if a continuance of inflationary pressures is to be avoided...

Sound Economy

"The fact that the Canadian dollar is selling at a premium over the United States dollar has been heralded on all sides as a proof of the fundamental soundness of the Canadian economy. But the Canadian economy is basically no stronger than it was two years ago when the Canadian dollar was selling at a substantial discount.

"The appreciation of the Canadian dollar in relation to the U.S. dollar is due to an unsurpassed flow of foreign capital rather than to any improvement in the country's over-all economic position. Some of it, without doubt, is 'hot money' speculating in Canada's future and may be withdrawn. Furthermore, there is no assurance that the inflow will continue at the present rate for long. The importation of capital is not an unmixed blessing."

The report said that much of the criticism of the federal government's surplus "is unjustified." The surplus itself had been anti-inflationary, but the disadvantage of a government surplus is that "it encourages government spending."

"The criticism should be directed at the level of government spending and the burdensome taxation which produced the surplus. More and more it is becoming recognized that high taxes may be inflationary, since they are passed along to the consumer and become embedded in the price level."

Predicts Disaster

TAIPEH, Formosa, May 1 (AP). —Maj.-Gen. William C. Chase, observing his first year as head of the U.S. Military Assistance Advisory Group (M.A.A.G.) to Formosa, today predicted disaster for the Chinese Reds if they attempt to invade the Chinese Nationalist bastion. "I feel if a large number of junks come, a large number will be sunk and there'll be a lot of dead Communists in the water," he said.

Russia In Debt

ROME, May 1 (AP).—Russia owes Italy more than 1,300,000,000 lire (about $2,000,000) in trade goods, Minister of Foreign Trade Ugo La Malfa told the Chamber of Deputies Wednesday. He said negotiations are under way for delivery of 100,000 tons of Russian wheat to be applied on the deficit, but that there has been difficulty in fixing a price.

Treaty In Effect

TOKYO, May 1 (AP). — The treaty of commerce and navigation signed by Japan and Finland in 1924 went back into effect last Monday, the Foreign Office said today. Big Jewish Rally

NEW YORK, May 1 (AP).—A rally of 34,000 jammed Brooklyn's Ebbet's Field Wednesday night to celebrate the fourth anniversary of Israel independence and the sale of $125,000,000 in Israel bonds in one year. The crowd also saw a production staged by Broadway producer Billy Rose. He pulled the switch to light six-foot electric candles on a birthday cake 20 feet in diameter and 12 feet high.

Warning To U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., May 1 (AP).—India today made public excerpts from a letter warning U.N. members that the solidarity of the U.N. is imperilled by such actions as the Security Council's recent refusal to consider the French-Tunisian dispute. The letter was circulated among a selected group of delegates by India's chief delegate Rajeshwar Dayal at the direction of Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru.

Dog Amputees

PASADENA, Calif., May 1 (AP). — Many dogs make good pets and working animals even if they have only three legs, a committee for the American Animal Hospital Association said today. In its investigation of canine amputees, the committee decided that a dog with a hopelessly injured leg shouldn't be destroyed, but should undergo sugery instead because of an "amazing" ability to adapt to use of three legs.

City Deprived Of Paper For 3 Weeks

TACOMA, Wash., May 1—(CP) What happens when a metropolitan city is deprived suddenly of a daily newspaper?

Tacoma—experiencing just that situation — provides some answers.

Affected in one way or another are retail business both big and small, sports and civic events, charity drives, the radio stations, small weekly newspapers, the news staffs out of jobs and, of course, the newspaper-reading public.

And along with the missing news and advertising, there's the frequently heard plaint of "I sure miss the funnies." One radio station even tried to fill in the gap with a Sunday noon broadcast of the most popular comics.

Midway in the third week of the A.F.L. Pressmen's Union wage strike which has closed the Tacoma News-Tribune, only "daily" in this city of 143,000, this was the capsule description:

Reaction Varied

Reaction of business was varied. All retail merchants agree they want the paper back in operation, but they are not unanimous as to whether the shutdown has hurt business.

The general manager of one department store said sales were down 12 per cent, another said they had been "down 50 per cent on some days." But other major stores have said retail business was about normal.

Two radio stations—KTNT and KTAC—enlarged their staffs and increased the number of their daily newscasts, leaning heavily toward local news. Two weeklies were consolidated and weekly roundups of local news carried. The Tacoma Labor Advocate began to cover city council meetings and report other city news.

Papers in outside cities like Seattle and Portland have not sent additional copies here.

Sports, civic events, charity drives, conventions: sponsors all worried over ways of publicizing their work.

Many of the larger stores turned quickly to radio advertising and distributing handbills of "shopping guides." All three radio stations had a heavy upswing in advertising business.

The strike was called April 12 with the Pressmen's Union seeking a $3.10 hourly wage, compared with the scale of $2.57. The management offered $3.95 and then shut down.

OLD LAKE PORT

Cobourg on the north shore of Lake Ontario was first settled in 1802 when the first store was opened there.

WARTIME TARGET, the mountain shudders and the abbey crumbles under the impact of thousands of tons of high-explosive missiles.

A YEAR LATER, a lone priest makes his way up the rubble-strewn path. Note arched doorway in centre and northern wall at extreme left.

TODAY A MECCA for tourists, the abbey is restored, except for the northern wall. Over the arched doorway is the word "Peace," a hopeful omen for the future.

Took Heaviest Allied Bombs Cassino Monastery Restored

Victim of one of World War II's most heavily concentrated aerial bomb and artillery attacks, the 1500-year-old Benedictine monastery of Monte Cassino, Italy, is now almost completely restored. It was during February 15, 16 and 17, 1944, that the famous abbey atop the peak, used as a fortress by the Germans, was turned into a smoke-shrouded inferno by the incessant Allied bombardment. It was completely razed, except for a small, crumbled section of the northern wall. This, strangely enough, is the only part not yet restored, as can be seen in the pictures. The abbey is once again thrown open to the public, for whom, in prewar days, it was a favorite setting for holiday walks and picnics. The grounds command a magnificent view for a radius of miles around. Visitors, arriving constantly by the bus load, find the picnic grounds strewn with workmen's tools and materials. So far this year, an estimated 10,000 sightseers have wandered over the grounds and through the restored abbey.

Improves Sailors' Morale

Organizes Pretty Church Girls Meet Tars

MIDDLESBROUGH, England, May 1 (AP).—British tars who have been going from the deep blue sea to the devil are in the middle of a pretty kettle of flesh today—50 church-going beauties against the painted dolls of the waterfront.

The Rev. Cyril Kettle organized the church girls, ready for the call to swarm over the dockside area and flaunt their charms against ladies of ill repute who try to entice lonely sailors on leave.

Kettle said the temptations of the tars have been a longtime problem and a losing fight up to now—until he thought of fighting fire with fire and women with women. When the next ship comes in, he'll turn his beauties loose.

He's chosen 50 fresh-faced lassies—"all full-blooded and good Christians"—and is certain that the sailors will walk disdainfully past the heavily-painted girls in high-heeled shoes.

"My girls make them look as flat as last night's beer," he boasted. "They are the sort of girls a sailor's mother would like, but they're not hot gospellers who will try to ram religion down the chaps' throats."

Kettle says he understands the sailor's problem — "any normal man likes women, and a sailor who has been at sea for months desperately needs a girl's company. I mean to see he meets the right type of girl."

After the enticing is done, the sailors will be steered to a mission for seamen that Kettle runs —"in the mission they'll be able to dance with them, play table tennis, talk and have meals with them."

One of the 50 beauties, redhaired, 23-year-old Joan Tweed, said some of the girls had given the plan a trial run and it worked.

"The sailors smile happily when they see us," she said. "It makes me feel like some sort of guardian angel."

Car Driver Dies From Injuries

WINDSOR, May 1 (CP)—Harry Beaudoin, 65, of nearby Andertone township, died early today as the results of injuries received Wednesday when his automobile collided with a truck and overturned in a water-filled ditch.

Police said bystanders saved Beaudoin from drowning by holding his head above water while he was being extricated from his wrecked vehicle.

He underwent a six-hour brain operation following the crash.

Nick Mendler 18, and George Marcenkoz, 44, both of Windsor, passengers in the truck, received minor injuries.

Transit Strike Hits Rochester

ROCHESTER, May 1—(AP) — Drivers and maintenance workers of the Rochester Transit Co. struck today, crippling public transportation in this indusrtial city of 335,000.

The action by local 282, Amalgamated Street Electric and Motor Coach Employees Union (A.F.L.), came an hour-and-a-half after the union's contract expired at midnight.

The walkout affected all bus and subway lines in the city and in virtually all outlying communities in Monroe county.

John F. Uffert, president and general manager of the transit company, termed the walkout "an unlawful strike" and said the workers had "breached their contract."

There was no comment from the union.

Russell A. Gerling, business agent for the local, said the strikers were seeking a five-day, 40-hour week at the same weekly pay that they now received for 48 hours.

The current wage scale is $1.51½ cents an hour.

The company had offered an increase of eight and one-half cents on the basis of a five-days, 45-hour week.

Say Summary Unfair To Doctor

TORONTO, May 1 (CP) —Lawyers for Dr. John E. Hett of Windsor have suggested to The Canadian Press that it was unfair to the doctor April 16 in a summary of 1945 findings of the Ontario Commission for the investigation of cancer remedies.

The CP story, reporting that Dr. Hett was barred from practice for a second time by the Ontario College of Physicians and Surgeons, used the following sentence to report the 1945 decision: "The commission decided the serum was harmless but without proved value."

Dr. Hett's lawyers asked that the commission's conclusion, after investigating Dr. Hett's cancer treatment, be reported in full. It read:

"The evidence submitted shows that no harm resulted from the administration of the substance in the hands of Dr. Hett, and, as indicated in this report, that a limited number of cases of cancer treated by Dr. Hett have shown recovery; but at this date there is not sufficient clinical evidence nor laboratory studies which wouldl justify a conclusion that the substance and method of treatment in question has merit or value as a remedy for cancer."

The College first barred Dr. Hett from practice in 1927. He was restored a year later after agreeing to disclose his formula to the commission. The barring announced April 16 was because "he has refused consistently to divulge the formula of his secret remedy to any recognized medical research centre by which the curative values of his secret preparation could be assessed and thereby would be made available for all humanity."

Believe Munro New Coach

KITCHENER, May 1 (CP) — Scotty Munro, former Lethbridge and Crow's Nest Pass junior coach, may be the new coach and manager of Kitchener Greenshirts for the 1952-53 Ontario Hockey Association Junior A League season.

Greenshirt's president Walter Weber said Munro, who completed a successful season as coach of the Humboldt Indians in the Saskatchewan Junior Hockey League, is expected here in the next two days to sign a contract.

Weber said the 34-year-old coach was interviewed by club directors last weekend and offered a full-time contract, which will start July 1.

After a career as an active player Munro began his coaching career 11 years ago in Lethbridge. Last winter he moved to Humboldt, Sask., and started with only one player. Humboldt finished in first place in the four-team loop.

Manchester United, winners of the first division of the English league this season, sailed Wednesday for a North American tour. A classy London club, Tottenham Hotpur, leaves next month to meet them in the two exhibition matches.

It was erroneously reported [illegible] will be played in May, instead of June.

Diplomat Recalled

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, May 1 (AP).—Russia has called home a top embassy official whom the Yugoslav Government charged with directing a spy ring. The diplomat, Vladimir Karmanov, served as first secretary of the Soviet embassy until his departure Wednesday. The anti-Russian Government of Premier Marshal Tito had demanded his recall after his name turned up in the trial two weeks ago of Nikita Bakov, sentenced to life imprisonment for spying for the Russians.

Use Novel Lures In New Zealand To Entice Labor

By J. C. GRAHAM,
Canadian Press Correspondent

AUCKLAND, N.Z. — (CP)—Employers in New Zealand are constantly thinking up new ways to attract workers in the present desperate labor shortage. Despite the growing immigration program the labor scarcity shows little signs of improvement.

With no unemplyment listed in New Zealand, there are more than 30,000 jobs which cannot be filled. In many industries the wages paid are well above the rate fixed by agreements, but as other employers also offer higher pay this method of attracting workers soon nullifies itself.

Free permanent waves have become a common inducement in factories employing skilled women operatives. Some firms in hard-to-reach localities offer free taxis to work. The free hairdo movement has spread to male workers. One firm employs a full-time barber to give free hair-cuts in working hours.

Bonus For Recruits

The latest development is the payment of bonuses for recruiting new workers. A lingerie firm pays $15 to members of its staff for bringing along a new recruit who stays three months. Some women have made $45 to $60 in rewards. Another clothing factory goes one better— it gives away a new costume to each member of its staff for introducing a new worker.

In spite of all these inducements, firms are still not able to fill their staff requirements. Instead of advertising their product, many companies spend a large part of their display allocation in appealing for workers and listing the advantages of work with the firm.

Every building project has a large notice outside offering jobs to carpenters, bricklayers, plasterers and laborers. Many factories have adopted the same practice and have big permanent hoardings outside listing vacancies in many categories of jobs.

Appoint Publisher Of Florida Paper

ST. PETERSBUURG, Fla., May 1 (AP) — Loyal Phillips became publisher of the St. Petersburg Independent Wednesday as ownership of the paper passed from Ralph Nicholson to Roy H. Thomson of Toronto, publisher of a group of newspapers.

Thomson announced apointment of Phillips as executive head of the newspaper immediately after formal closing of the sale today. Purchase of the paper was announced April 8 at a price of $750,000.

The new owner acquired the Nicholson holdings by buying all the stock of the publishing firm, The Independent, Inc.

Thomson owns 14 Canadian daily newspapers and a weekly, and is active in broadcasting.

Dream Home In Country Faces Many Problems

With the approach of summer a great many city dwellers begin their annual dream of a "home in the country" and freedom from the ceasless grind of the city and its elusive opportunities, smoke and confusion. Well and good. But at the risk of being labelled a "wet blanket," let's examine some of the more common problems you are likely to encounter.

First, will it provide that dreamed-of-security? For those of us who would like to work in town and live in the country, a good job in town and a good home in the country are likely to mean security and happiness — but should you lose your city income, simply having a home in the country will not necessarily provide a living. Bear in mind that like the city business, farming requires its own skills and specialized "know how" and also a sizeable investment in equipment.

On the other hand, the family in the country with a good garden, a family-sized flock of hens and perhaps a cow will have less difficulty in paying the grocery bill when temporary financial difficulties occur than they would if they lived in the city.

Through most of the year, driving from country to city is only a matter of miles and minutes. But after a winter snow storm—or spring thaw—you'll want chains and a good constitution to get by. While you can't expect to have paved roads right up to your doorstep, there's no point in choosing a location that's bound to become snowed-in during a good part of the winter. Unplowed winter roads or axle deep mudbogs in the spring will soon sour even the most enthusiastic of us.

Second Car

Another point to consider if you plan to live in the open country is the desirability of adding a second car to your budget for marketing and other necessary daytime trips while you are away for the day.

Country people judging a farm, place great importance on the water supply—and you'll soon find out why. In town you turn on a faucet with little or no consideration of the quantity used. In the country it's different—the supply is usually too easily exhausted. Without an adequate supply of water, a farm or country home can't operate.

No matter how attractive house and land may appear, don't take the owner's word for water supply. Always inquire among the neighbors whether the spring always flows or the well goes dry in summer drought periods. And, too, be sure to have the water analyzed for purity. Just because former owners have been drinking it for years is no guarantee of its purity.

If you find you'll have to dig a new well, figure a price and expect the worst. Wells get more expensive every foot they are dug or drilled. Check too on whether the water is hard or soft and how it tastes. Given a good water supply of course, an electric water system can be as automatic and give you the same dependable system as any municipal plant.

Only an experienced farmer can make use of big acreage—so land. Do look with favor, however, on a good woodlot—it needs no care and will provide a fine firewood supply. Make sure you do have enough land to protect you from encroaching nuisances and enable you to keep your place attractive for possible resale, however remotely you may look on this possibility at the moment.

Fencing represents a considerable investment on a large tract of ground, so be quick to determine what replacements or repairs must be made—and which sections are the responsibility of your neighbors. New fencing may be obtained for around $3 a rod (15 feet), including labor, posts and wire, adding up to well over $1,000 for a square 50-acre tract.

Check on telephone and electricity—do they go right past your door or will they have to be brought in some distance? Be prepared to accept something a little less convenient than your city telephone—you'll likely find yourself sharing a line with a number of others. Check too on bus and train service—the availability of a taxi to town or railroad station—on delivery service for groceries, fuel, milk, bread, etc. Get all the information you can about schools—where they are located and what provision can be made for transportation if necessary.

Careful Appraisal

The house may be an architect's dream but don't let yourself be carried away by appearance alone. Go over it carefully, appraising first its foundation. Many old houses are without proper footings under the walls and if poorly drained, the constant freezing and heaving may have left foundation walls in need of expensive repairs. If such is the case, you'll be wise to include a thorough water-proofing job, with weeping tiles around the outside of the foundation in addition to the actual repair of the walls. Check too for rotted beams, rafters and sills.

Be careful of chimneys that do not go down to the foundations—this fire-hazard has been the cause of destruction of a good many old farm houses. If built without flue linings, the burning of green wood soon builds up a coating of inflammable creosote.

Inside plumbing, adequate wiring and a modern kitchen should be regarded as just as important in the country as in the city. Maybe you'll be willing to put up with, perhaps even enjoy, some of the rustic inconveniences associated with the summer cottage—but their novelty will soon pall. Temperature will likely be a little lower than in the city, too, so make sure the heating system is adequate.

Gone will be your city twice-a-week collection of garbage. Find out who hauls away garbage in the vicinity—how much he will charge—and whether he'll take everything, including trash.

When buying city property, a person is apt to be most particular about the length and breadth of his purchase. When buying a farm however, do remember that soil has depth as well—it may vary from a few inches to over a foot. It's much cheaper to buy fertility in the land than in a fertilizer bag.

Find Boy's Body Hanging From Rafter

TAMPA, Fla., May 1—(AP)—A former barmaid and her husband were arrested Wednesday after the cruelly-beaten body of the woman's four-year-old son was found hanging from a rafter in their home.

John Cliffe, 27, a painter and farm worker, and Alice Cliffe, 28, the former barmaid, were charged with first degree murder.

Police said the couple told this story:

To correct the child, they made him stand up all day Tuesday without food or water and beat him with the buckle end of a belt.

At 10 p.m., when they were ready to go to bed, they tied his hands and feet, taped his mouth, and hung him from a rafter with a piece of curtain so that his feet barely touched the floor.

When they went to sleep, he was still 'grunting through the tape and squirming." About 3 a.m., Mrs. Cliffe awoke and found the boy dead. They waited until 11 a.m. to notify the sheriff's office.

Legislature Committee Discusses Lake Level

TORONTO, May 1 (CP) — The Ontario Legislature's committee on lake levels met Wednesday for the first time. It will hold meetings throughout the summer and visit Canadian and United States points.

F. W. Beatty, chief surveyor of the Lands Department said of the high-water problem:

"There would be little use doing something on the Ontario side of Lake Ontario that was not correspondingly done on the U.S. side."

He added that the lake may rise as much as 18 inches more before starting to subside.

He said the best method of stopping erosion is the erection of seawalls.

Worst Famine In 75 Years In Madras State

By ADRIENNE FARRELL

NEW DELHI—(Reuters)—More than 200,000 women, children and old people in famine-stricken Madras state are paying about one cent for a daily plate of watery gruel.

Without this relief food they would die of hunger.

Without it they would die of thirst.

It is Madras state's worst famine for 75 years. At least 10,000,000 persons are hungry because, for five successive years, the rain-bringing monsoon has failed. The ruined peasantry are too poor to help themselves.

The combined drought and famine crisis is expected to reach its peak during the next six weeks.

The drought's toll on agriculture to date:

More than 10,000 square miles of rice—and wheat-growing areas arid under a scorching sun.

One million acres of orange orchards withering.

Countless cattle dead and dying.

There is food, plenty of it, in state granaries and ration shops. But few in this stricken area can afford to buy it.

Crop failures have exhausted the peasant's pathetic savings. Now thousands who sold their land in years gone by are destitute.

There is little outside aid can do except provide milk for mothers and children. Madras' government now has to provide enough work for peasants to enable them to buy food until anxiously awaited June rains permit farming again.

Relief work will probably cost the Madras government 6,000,000 rupees (about $12,000,000) before the crisis is over. But the money, it is also hoped, will provide some permanent relief against repetition of such a crisis.

Westerners Complain

Pay Too Much For Confederation

OTTAWA, May 1 (CP) —The claim that some parts of Canada are paying a stiff price for confederation has been renewed in the Commons by a Western Liberal.

It is costing the West "too much money to belong to confederation," R. J. Wood (L., Norquay) said Wednesday as he pleaded for lower Canadian tariffs during the budget debate.

Tariff protection for Central Canadian industry has resulted in high prices for Ontario-Quebec manufacturers, he said, with the result that the West is pouring hundreds of millions of dollars into those provinces.

Seek Markets Abroad

While Westerners were compelled by the national tariff policy to buy Canadian goods, they could not sell their own products in Central Canada and had to find their own markets abroad; this meant surmounting foreign tariff barriers.

Mr. Wood, a former municipal official in Manitoba, expressed regret that more tariff cuts were not embodied in the budget. A 25-per-cent reduction in tariffs, he said, would bring about a fall of at least 15 points in the cost-of-living index.

As matters stood now, the West was subsidizing Ontario-Quebec industry and getting nothing in return.

New Industry To Make Hand Trucks

Norwegian Firm Starts Production By End of Month

A Norwegian firm, manufacturing the latest lines in hand trucks and light tractor-trailers, today moved into the Shell Oil property at Highway 7 and Armour Rd. It is the first new industry to locate in Peterborough this year.

William Myhre, president of the firm which will be known as Maur Engineering (Canada) Ltd., said he had picked Peterborough after looking over many other locations in Ontario and Quebec.

"Canada is now first on the list when European firms wish to move to other countries," Mr. Myhre said.

Start End Of May

Today a shipload of parts and other components needed in the manufacture of the handtrucks and trailers is leaving Norway. They should arrive in Peterborough by the end of May and production is expected to begin about that time.

Most of the machinery will be bought in Canada but some of the jigs and fixtures will be imported from the parent plant, located 40 miles from Oslo.

The Shell Oil buildings, with a floor space of some 3,300 square feet, are located on an acre of land. A C.N.R. railway siding runs through the property which is just northwest of Downer's Corners.

Mr. Myhre is not sure how many people his new plant will employ. About 10 is his first guess. The expansion will doubtless depend on how the business goes.

"We are shooting at the Ontario market," said Mr. Myhre. "Right now we aren't thinking of manufacturing for export."

The parent Norwegian firm exports chiefly to Europe, but also to Africa, the Far East, Australia and—on a smaller scale—to this continent.

Mr. Myhre is enthusiastic over his products. Their feature is the patented "Maur" wheel. Its pneumatic tires, of special design,

Anglican Primate To Visit Peterborough

Primate of all Canada, the Most Reverend Walter F. Barfoot, is paying his first official visit to Peterborough on Friday.

Archbishop Barfoot who occupies the See of Edmonton was elevated to the Primacy last autumn in succession to the late Primate, Archbishop Kingston who visited Peterborough officially only a few months before his untimely death a year ago.

Archbishop Barfoot is a native of Ontario but has spent most of his life in the west. A graduate of the University of Toronto in philosophy and of Wycliffe College in theology, he had a distinguished career as a fighting officer in the Great War. For 15 years he taught at St. John's Theological College, Winnipeg. He became bishop of Edmonton in 1941 and Primate of All Canada last September.

He is being received by the laity of the rural deanery and the clergy of the archdeaconry of Peterborough at a dinner in St. John's church parish hall. J. L. McKeever, chairman of the rural deanery of Peterborough, will preside at the dinner. Following this, at eight o' clock, evensong is being held in the church and Archbishop Barfoot will preach.

Trickle Of Fishermen Get Trout Before Work

The city and district mad stampede of trout fishermen to their favourite streams and ponds did not materialize today for several reasons. Opening day, following Wednesday's half holiday, kept shopkeepers and business men with their noses to the grindstone. The hope for a weekend slice of current fine weather had fishermen feeling that they might take a chance and wait for a good two-day "go." Many merchants who have purchased display space at the fourth Peterborough Sportsmen's Show, May 1, 2 and 3 have to spend extra time and effort at it. Said one disgruntled old-timer: "This is the first opening day in 25 years that I haven't been out with the boys."

Because there was no great rush it doesn't mean that there was no fishing being done. It was estimated that from 40 to 50 die-hards were on Scott's Pond and Cavan stream from 4 a.m. until it was time to come back to the city to work.

Keith Johnston of 94 Parkhill Rd., took a nice Brown trout, 3¾ pounds and Jerry Hogan three fair sized speckles, Ross Williamson got lots of nibbles, and that is the way it went on opening morning. Worm dunkers, it seems, had all the luck.

Things look brighter for the coming weekend, and darker for trout, according to a survey. With back country lakes ice-free and side roads in good condition many cottages will be opened by trout-fishing owners by Friday night. The lure of lake trout in Haliburton and North Hastings will interfere badly in those areas with the usual seasonal occupation of getting the cottage ready. There should be some fantastic fishing stories on Monday and, it is hoped, some trout to show.

Bud Downey of Port Hope got a 10-inch trout near Cobourg at 4.30 a.m. By 8 a.m., a Burlington man, Art Pouliot, standing nearby had a dozen.

At Caledon, one youthful Toronto angler caught a 13-inch trout. He refused to give his name to reporters. He said his boss didn't know where he was.

Near Cobourg, Bill Johnson of Whitby had his limit at 7:30 a.m. Two Provincial Police Constables, each with nine, said it was the best fishing they had ever seen.

Police Order 1952 Clothing Totals $4,970

Purchase orders totalling $4,907.70 have been placed by the police commission with four Peterborough firms for the 1952 clothing requirements of the Police Department.

All clothing and footwear stores in the city were furnished with lists of the department's requirements and invited to submit tenders.

Tip Top Tailors were awarded the largest order, which amounted to $2,866.70. An order for 65 pairs of boots at $10.95 per pair, totalling $711.75 was placed with Neill's Shoe Store.

The T. Eaton Company's tender for 46 overcoats at $46 each and 10 peajackets at $42.50 was accepted and Eaton's were also given an order for 10 police badges at 95 cents each. The order placed with the T. Eaton Company amounted to $894.50.

The Commission accepted Art Bacon's quotation for shirts, ties and gloves and this order amounted to $497.75. Mr. Bacon tendered for the gloves at $3.85 a pair, for 102 shirts at $4.35 each, three shirts at $4.25 and 35 black ties at 85 cents each.

23 Coats

The clothing purchased from Tip Top Tailors consists of: 23 constables' coats at $35.15 each; 31 pairs of heavy serge trousers at $16.10; 62 pairs of summer weight trousers at $15.15 each; six sergeants' coats at $36.20; three coats for traffic officers at $37.10 each; three pairs of breeches at $18.10 and six pairs of summer breeches at $20.50, for traffic officers; one coat for Deputy Police Chief John Naples costing $35.85; one coat for Police Chief John Thompson costing $36.45; seven stiff policemen's caps at $4.25 and three soft peak caps for traffic officers at $4 each.

The commission authorized a clothing allowance not to exceed $150 for each of the four plain clothes officers: Detective Sergeants W. A. Clarke and John Stevenson; identification sergeant William Aggas and plain clothes constable Douglas Farthing.

Truck Backed Into Machinery By Mistake

In the witness box Wednesday afternoon Tommy Hughes, the colorful Welsh auto-wrecker, denied that on March 9, 1951, he had deliberately backed up his truck with the intention of damaging a soil testing machine.

Mr. Hughes entered the box as the first of two defence witnesses in a damage action suit brought against him by the Franki Compressed Pile Co. Ltd., Toronto. The company alleged that Mr. Hughes deliberately smashed their soil-testing equipment while they were on his land making tests for the Board of Education.

The land, consisting of two lots on the south-west corner of Monaghan Rd. S. and Gillespie Sts. was expropriated by the city for the building of Kenner Collegiate.

Shortly after 4:30 p.m. all the evidence in the case was in and Judge J. A. McGibbon of Lindsay, acting county court judge, advised Alex Elliott, Q.C., counsel for the company, and W. J. Arthur Fair, Q.C., counsel for Mr. Hughes, to submit written arguments.

It was the end of a trying day for Judge McGibbon.

Personalities were bandied about freely. One of the plaintiff's witnesses Walter C. Deakon, the engineer who superintended the soil testing job, described a question by Mr. Fair as "foolish". He later volunteered the opinion that Mr. Hughes was a "maniac".

Loses Temper

In cross-examination during the afternoon Mr. Elliott lost his temper and said Mr. Hughes was an "outlaw".

"First one calls me a 'maniac' and then the other says I'm an 'outlaw'," said Mr. Hughes. He shook his head with the air of a much-maligned man.

Mr. Fair objected strongly and it took Judge McGibbon 30 seconds or so to clear the air again.

Earlier in the afternoon the Judge warned both counsels to stop dealing in personalities. "I'm not having any more of it," he said.

Not Muddy

The final outbreak was when Mr. Deakon was recalled to the witness box by Mr. Elliott. In cross examination Mr. Fair suggested the field north of Hughes' house was muddy.

Mr. Deakon re-iterated that the field wasn't muddy; but Mr. Fair persisted.

Though a law student as well as an engineer, Mr. Deakon momentarily lost his composure. He threw back his head and shouted to the court:

"I S-A-Y I-T W-A-S-N-'-T M-U-D-D-Y!"

Countered Judge McGibbon: "This will have to be conducted as a court is conducted or I'm going to know the reason why."

In cross examination, Mr. Hughes and Mr. Elliott had another little tiff. When Mr. Elliott asked notice of expropriation he replied that he didn't know; he handed all legal papers over to his solicitor, Mr. Fair.

"I don't know some of the big words . . . I can't understand English too well," said Mr. Hughes. "I'm Welsh, myself."

"You can't understand English, eh," jibed Mr. Elliott. "Can you count money?"

"Oh yes I can count money."

Blessed Event

The first youngster to survive this year at the Filtration Plant zoo was born on Wednesday. It is a Barbary sheep, an animal with big horns related to the goat family. Officials at the zoo haven't been able to find out yet whether the youngster should be wearing pink or blue; they can't get close enough to the skittish child and its wary mother to find out. Sunday a muflon, a small type of deer, gave birth to its first offspring, but it died.

YMCA Swimmers To Compete In Prov. Meet

Peterborough's Y.M.C.A. swimming club, coached by Gord Minty will be after all-Ontario championships Saturday in Hamilton. There the Y.M.C.A.'s will be holding their annual individual and team championships.

Teams will be entered from Hamilton, Woodstock, London, Toronto West End Y, Central Y and Broadview Y, Windsor, St. Catharines, Orillia, Stratford, Kitchener, Brantford, Fort William, Sault Ste. Marie, Port Arthur and Peterborough. Last year with the same teams entered, the Y.M.C.A. club placed third.

With most of his swimmers in new age brackets this year, resulting in stiffer competition against older boys, coach Gord Minty expects the club to place a possible third again.

Three Events

Michael Triggs, who was second in a recent Ontario open championship swim, has been entered in three events for the under 12 years swimmers. He will race with teammates Ross Reid, Donald Mann and Peter Wood in the 25 yards free style swim and in 80-yard free style relay. He also will compete in the 25-yard backstroke event, a second club entry being Peter Wood.

In the Ontario champions for boys under 14 years, Ross Dobbin will be carrying club colors. He will swim in the 50 yards free style, breaststroke, and backstroke events.

The Y.M.C.A.'s largest entry is in the junior men's 50-yard free style in which Terry Northrop, Scott Pearton, Jim Heffernan, John Boorman, Jim Starr will compete. Wilton Tranter and Pearton have been entered in the junior men's 100-yard back stroke and Jim Heffernan in the 100-yard breaststroke.

Starr, Northrop, Pearton and Boorman will swim in the junior men's 200-yard free style relay.

In the senior men's 400-yard free style and 100-yard backstroke events.

April building permits, issued at the City Hall, amounted to $375,088 as compared with $849,751 in the fourth month of last year, a decline of $474,663.

Total value of new building for the four months of this year is estimated at $931,648, or $162,685 less than the corresponding total of $1,094,333 in 1951.

Details of the April permits listed in the office of City Engineer Chalmers were: seven garages, $2,985; 17 dwellings, $143,700; and 110 miscellaneous permits, $228,403. Their total is $375,088.

The permits in April last year were: five garages, $1,040; 84 houses, $659,030; and 83 miscellaneous, $189,681; totalling $849,751. In the number of April permits there were 172 last year and 134 last month.

The 84 dwellings which were begun last year at this time included the Don Ephgrave subdivision off Park St. south.

One Large Building

Largest item last month was the $105,000 building on High St. south which Arnold Steele is erecting for use by Bell Telephone Co. for storage, truck maintenance and other purposes.

An estimate of $40,000 is listed for the rebuilding of the Braund block on Charlotte St. that was extensively damaged by fire April 3rd. Repairs to a Quaker Oats penthouse are shown at $15,000, and second floor apartment changes in the Kingan building on Simcoe St. $6,500.

Demand for housing in Peterborough is still active and pressing, and it is expected that the volume of investment in dwellings will increase substantially as the season advances.

From 1946 to 1952 include, the number of permits for April houses has been as follows: 36; 32; 20; 44; 28; 84, and 17.

B.C. Parties Take Stand On School Issue

VANCOUVER, May 1—(CP)—Three of British Columbia's major political parties have taken a stand on the province's separate schools issue. The fourth, Social Credit, has made no direct reference to it.

Two of the parties—the Progressive Conservative and the C.C.F.—say they are against granting of funds to separate schools. The Liberals say they will consider elimination of any "apparent discriminations" against separate schools.

These stands were taken in the platform formulation by the various parties in the last two weeks. B.C. will have a general election June 12.

The issue has been raised by the B.C. Catholic Education Association. No other religious group has taken part in the argument, except that the United Church of Canada Conference said some time ago it is opposed to provincial grants to separate schools.

Don't Receive Aid

Under the present B.C. school system, parochial schools do not receive financial aid from the provincial government.

Roman Catholics maintain their schools should receive public support and the Educational Association says it is willing to work out "integration" of Roman Catholic schools into the public school system, providing certain "safeguards" were established.

These would include Roman Catholic teachers for certain subjects, retention of certain school books and provision for periods of religious instruction, possibly after regular school hours.

The C.C.F. said it is opposed to integration. "We don't think this should be made an election issue," C.C.F. leader Harold Winch said.

Can't Grant Privileges

"Privileges granted to one religious sect cannot be justly denied to others," the C.C.F. said. "This would result in a complete breakdown of the public school system. A common educational background should be available to all who will share a common citizenship."

The C.C.F. stressed that its stand should not be construed "as a narrow, intolerant attack on religion."

The Progressive Conservatives took a similar stand at their convention Wednesday.

A resolution affirmed the party's belief in the "democratic system of non-sectarian schools as at present established in B.C."

Pitt Clayton, Progressive Conservative candidate in Alberni riding, said: "I do not believe that religion and politics mix."

"We feel that to separate young children, particularly in the formative years, is to divide rather than unify."

Not Justified

Mr. Clayton said the party recognized the right of parents to send their children to schools of their choice and the right of religious groups to establish their own schools but does not recognize the justice of the government being required to finance such schools.

The Liberal Convention shelved a resolution subscribing roughly to the integration sought by Roman Catholics.

It passed another resolution voting that textbooks are provided free to private as well as to public school students in lower grades and that in some cases free medical and dental care is provided for other than public school pupils.

This resolution added: "Be it resolved that the government be urged to consider any other apparent matters of discrimination with a view to further eliminating any such discrimination."

The only reference to the issue made by the Social Credit Party Convention was this plank in its platform: "Supply all elementary and high schools with text books free of charge through the Department of Education."

At a convention Sunday at Nanaimo, the Catholic Education Association said it will "actively oppose" any political party which "denies minority rights in education."

OLYMPIC JUMPER—For the first time in history Canada will enter a team in the Olympic equestrian events. Major Anatol Michael Pieregorodzk, shown with one of the mounts, "Tara," is coaching the team. Some of Canada's best-known riding competitors are candidates for the team. Janet Rough of Toronto, prominent in jumping circles, also admires the Irish-bred horse.

Regina Actors Receive Severe Criticism At Festival

By JOHN MOSHER

SAINT JOHN, N.B., May 1 — (CP)—The Regina Little Theatre Society Wednesday night received the most severe criticism by adjudicator Michael St.-Denis since the Dominion Drama Festival opened Monday.

Only in the third act was there some action, he said after presentation of the three-act "Tomorrow the World," by James Gow and Arnaud d'Usseau.

Mr. St.-Denis had more favorable comments for a matinee performance by The Halifax Theatre Arts Guild, which presented Philip Barry's "Second Threshold."

The Festival continues tonight with "The Enchanted," by Jean Giraudoux, a production of the Saturday Players, Ottawa.

The adjudicator said the Regina presentation lacked rhythmical form. The first and second acts were ponderous with little acting. Absence of detail left some points unclear. The text of the second act was much more dramatic than the acting, he said.

On Credit Side

On the credit side, he considered the casting "very good," although Murray Acker, as Prof. Michael Frame, appeared a "bit light."

Diction was clear, with better projection than heard previously in the Festival.

John Courtney, playing a German boy who was being de-Nazified, gave a good performance but looked better than he acted except in the last act, the adjudicator said.

Mary McNeill, as a German maid, was "a good type and very pleasing."

After the matinee program, Mr. St.-Denis congratulated the Halifax Theatre Arts Guild for its ability to be so "professional and so smart."

Didn't Like Play

He didn't like the type of play, and wished the Halifax troupe would bring "the same qualities to something richer from a human point of view."

The group had been quite good in catching the intimate tone of the play—so good that at times they couldn't be heard. There were some stretches of silence—"oppressive" to the audience.

Generally, however, the play had been "well done, with a clear liking for a slick production."

Roy Thomson Elected C.P. President

TORONTO, May 1 (CP) — Roy H. Thomson, president of Thomson Dailies, Wednesday was elected president of The Canadian Press, Canada's co-operative news service. He succeeds Herve Major, news editor of Montreal La Presse president for the last two years.

Victor Sifton, publisher of the Winnipeg Free Press, and president of CP 1948-50, was elected honorary president succeeding Frederick I. Ker of the Hamilton

R. J. Rankin of The Halifax Mailstar was elected first vice-president; and D. B. Rogers of The Regina Leader-Post, second vice-president.

Mr. Thomson, who succeeds to the presidency after terms as first and second vice-president, got into publishing in 1935 when he bought the weekly Timmins Press. This he converted into a daily and enlarged. Subsequently he acquired other newspapers in Ontario, Saskatchewan, Quebec and British Columbia until his group now numbers 16, including the recently-purchased St. Petersburg Independent in Florida. He also has extensive radio interests.

Born in Toronto in 1894, he worked as a young man at pursuits varying from bookkeeping to farming in western Canada.

Hear Reports

Officers of the Association were chosen by the board of directors after the annual general meeting of members at which Mr Major reported on the Co-operative's operation position and Gillis Purcell, general manager, on details of the news service.

The meeting approved continuation of the news service in Frnech, started seven months ago to serve 10 Quebec newspapers. Mr. Major in his presidential address said the service "has the enthusiastic support of all members who publish in French."

Members also approved for a two-year trial period a plan under which gathering and distribution of news pictures, an enterprise begun by CP three years ago, will be brought more closely into line with the co-operative practices in news-gathering on which CP is founded.

3 Honorary Degrees Given In Montreal

MONTREAL, May 1 (CP) — The Presbyterian College of Montreal Wednesday night conferred three honorary degrees and presented four diplomas in a convocation ceremony.

Honorary doctorates were conferred on the Rev. R. J. Berlis of Montreal, and the Rev. William Merrilees, minister of the Westport, Ont., Presbyterian Church.

A Bachelor of Divinity degree was conferred on the Rev. Harry Scott, of Rodney, minister of the Knox Presbyterian Church, St. Thomsa.

SuggestsCo-operation OfProtestant Churches

SARNIA, May 1 (CP) — Co-operation among the Protestant churches in building new churches, to prevent overlapping and to conserve resources, was recommended Wednesday by the Presbyyterian Synod of Hamilton and London meeting here.

Synod approved co-operation in churching new areas after the Rev. J. M. MacGillivray of Sarnia spoke of "irritating competition" between Presbyterian and United Churches in growing communities around his city.

As soon as the Presbyterian church starts work in a new area, Dr. MacGillivray said, the United Church moves in and forms a congregation. He wondered if some agreement could be reached between the two denominations, since "there is not room for two non-

Nickel Supply Growing INCO Head Says

TORONTO, May 1 — (CP) — Nickel production in the free world will total about 375,000,000 pounds a year when present programs are completed, Dr. John F. Thompson, chairman and president of International Nickel Co. of Canada, Ltd, said at Wednesday's annual meeting.

This would be an increase of more than 150,000,000 pounds over pre-war production.

Canada's present production, Dr. Thompson added, is 275,000,000 pounds, equal to the average production of the five war years, 1940-44, and more than 80,000,000 pounds above the average of the five pre-war years.

Russian production is estimated at 50,000,000 pounds a year or less than the increase in Canadian production since the pre-war years.

Deliveries Less

International Nickel itself delivered 243,800,000 pounds in 1951, 12,500,000 pounds less than in 1950 when the company drew on stocks of refined nickel accumulated in 1949; and the company is currently producing at 21,000,000 pounds a month, out of a total Canadian production of 23,000,000 pounds.

Dr. Thompson noted that Falconbridge Nickel Mines, Ltd., Canada's second largest producer, "is at present engaged in a program which, as recently reported, is designed to increase its refined nickel production to a rate of 35,000,000 pounds annually." Also:

"Sherritt Gordon Mines Ltd., is developing its deposits in the Lynn Lake area of northern Manitoba . . . and will construct a refinery near Edmonton with an annual capacity of 17,000,000 pounds."

Other Developments

Other nickel developments reported by Dr. Thompson are in Cuba; a cobalt, nickel and copper separation plant at Fredericktown, Mo.; in New Caledonia, in the South Pacific; while a number of other properties are under development in Canada, Oregon and elsewhere.

"Our own company is continuing with increased vigor its search for new deposits in Canada and elsewhere. In 1951 our exploration work was both more intense and more widespread then in any previous year."

Sooner or later, Dr. Thompson continued, "we will see a recession in general business which will affect the nickel trade.

"I have full confidence—supported by experience of the past—that the nickel industry is capable of emerging from this recession stronger than ever, with new, important peace-time applications.

Must Continue Search

"But this will not happen by itself. The company must continue to search out, win and hold markets for nickel in all parts of the world. I trust that other producers and those newly-coming into the field, will feel, as we have, that production carries with responsibility for developing and expanding the market for nickel."

International Nickel's deliveries of copper in 1951 were 236,900,000 pounds, or 24,000,000 greater than in 1950.

Dr. Thompson said that under production carries with it responsi- present programs, over 300,00 tons of copper are expected to be added to present world production over the next 3 years, with further expansions planned beyond that. He added:

"Many trade authorities have already voiced the feeling that world copper production is heading for a situation in which copper may be in over-supply."

Medical Belief Suffers Change

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE

BOSTON, May 1—(AP)—Exposing yourself to a small risk of an infectious disease every day for a long time is just as dangerous as getting a big dose of the infection all at one time.

This discovery, which goes contrary to U.S. Public Health Service beliefs, was reported to the Society of American Bacteriologists today by Doctors L. J. Goldberg and H. M. S. Watkins of the naval biological laboratory, University of California, Berkeley, Calif.

The public health belief has been that very small numbers of germs might not make you ill no matter how often you got them. Such germs could come from associating with sick persons for short periods of time.

The Berkeley doctors tried the experiment on mice. They let the animals breathe each day enough specifically contaminated air to get in their lungs 60 to 70 pneumonia and strep germs.

The mice repeated this dose daily for 30 days. A few got either pneumonia or strep infections.

Other mice were given in a single dose as much pneumonia and strep as the first got in 30 days.

The number of mice getting sick from the massive dose was the same as the number sickening after 30 days exposure.

In both cases one per cent of the animals died.

Barbara Brent's BUYS AND WHYS
A WEEKLY INFORMATION SERVICE

MONTREAL, May 1st—It all comes back to me now . . . those chemistry lessons I learned at school that turn out to be so practical in the home. For instance, I remember our chemistry teacher telling us that there's no true white without blue. So of course the answer to the problem of yellow-looking washes is Laundry Blue. (My maths teacher would be proud of me for putting 2 and 2 together!). And believe me, Blue does make such a glorious difference to yellowing sheets and shirts, table cloths and blouses. Just swish it in the final rinsing and your white things will fairly sparkle. Laundry Blue is kind to fine fabrics—won't harm them in the least . . . so use as much of it as you need. Costs just a few cents a month!

For the whitest wash, it's RECKITT'S Blue.

I Want You To Be Sure . . . that's why I urge you to compare BLUE BONNET MARGARINE with any spread at any price. Then I know you'll agree that Blue Bonnet is truly "tops" in flavour, nutrition—and economy. I use it as a spread for bread and in all my cooking and recipes. It's delicious—always country-fresh and sweet . . . and it's wonderfully economical. Yes, Blue Bonnet is one of the most budget-wise "buys" you're ever likely to find. (Gives you so much extra goodness and quality for your money!) Just try it for yourself and see! Look for the fresh, bright yellow package with Blue Bonnet Sue on the front.

You'll Be A Lovely "Lady-in-Waiting" . . . just rely on dorothy-jeanne Maternity Fashions to keep you always smartly and comfortably dressed. Designed for you by the West Coast manufacturers of famous dorothy-jeanne Sportswear—these fashions for mothers-to-be are beautifully finished to the last expertly made buttonhole. Their ingenious design features adjustable double zippers to give you waiting room. You'll love the versatile suits in attractive rayons—and the pretty, 2-piece dresses in fine imported cottons. Colours range from delicate pastels to navy and gray. And the price is a pleasing point—suits and dresses—$17.00 to $29.00. See the skirts, slacks, shorts and clam-diggers, too . . . "gay deceivers"—all!

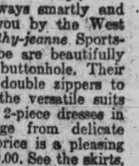
Here's Proof of the wonderful anti-decay benefits of DENTOCHLLIN, the new penicillin tooth powder. In a 2-year test among school children, Dentocillin reduced decay an average of 55%! That's 5 times the reduction reported for a famous university's ammoniated formula. And, because penicillin fights decay up to 24 hours (compared to only about ½ hour for ingredients used in other dentifrices), Dentocillin is effective with just morning and evening brushing. Start your family on Dentocillin, right away. Safe, recommended by dentists for nearly 2 years. Tastes wonderful. Gets teeth clean. 3 months' supply, 75c. No prescription needed.

Try The "Tissue Test" —for I'm sure that until you do, you won't believe there's such a difference in cleansing creams. Lovely screen star, Alexis Smith, took the "test" and discovered that there's a big difference. She cleansed her face "thoroughly" with her regular cream, then cleansed it again with WOODBURY COLD CREAM and when she looked at her facial tissue, she found that Woodbury had loosened hidden dirt so it was easy to wipe away. Why is Woodbury so different? Because it contains Penaten, a new miracle ingredient that actually penetrates deeper into pore openings — lets Woodbury's cleansing oils loosen every trace of dirt. Penaten helps Woodbury smooth away little fatigue lines, too. Ask for Woodbury Cold Cream—23c to $1.15.

Skirts Are The Thing This Summer . . . skirts of linen or lightweight wool—cotton or crisp, quilted silk . . . skirts with a flare—to wear with blouses and sweaters the clock around. You'll want a wardrobe of skirts this summer—all of them beautifully fitted with LIGHTNING SLIDE FASTENERS. Why Lightning? Because this famous zipper gives you exactly what you want in length, size (Style No. 805 for skirts) and colour. Because it has an exclusive, automatic locking device . . . all Lightning Fasteners lock where they stop. (Gives you a fine sense of security!) Yes, Lightning Fasteners are the zipper for you—the zipper for me . . . the "finishing touch" that makes each outfit look right and feel right every time I wear it.

You'll Be "On Top Of The World" when you've chased the "Glooms" away with sparkling SAL HEPATICA. Yes, a bubbling glass of Sal Hepatica effervescent salts taken before breakfast or supper will work quickly, yet gently, to relieve that sluggish, uncomfortable feeling in your stomach. Sal Hepatica laxative salts are a trusted family laxative—for young and old — to just sweeten sour stomach—as a mild laxative or a more thorough remedy for constipation. They help to restore normal bodily functions — safely and pleasantly. Next time you're shopping, ask for a bottle of Sal Hepatica and then send the box top or label, with your name and address, to me — Barbara Brent, 1411 Crescent St., Montreal, P.Q. I'll send you, postpaid, a free, 25c size jar of MUM Cream Deodorant!

I'd Like You to compare the big 13-ounce bottle of HEINZ TOMATO KETCHUP with the 11-ounce bottle of some brands. See how little extra it costs for Heinz value . . . Ketchup so rich that a few drops go a long way. M-mmm! Plenty of pedigreed "Aristocrat" tomatoes are used as a base for Heinz Tomato Ketchup. But that's just the beginning. You see, it takes expert culinary skill to capture the old-fashioned, true tomato flavour. And that's where the Heinz Chef shines. He follows exclusive recipes—slowly simmers the ingredients to palatable perfection—then adds just the right amount of fragrant, choice spices to make Heinz Ketchup the best you've ever tasted. Stews, steaks, chops and leftovers taste twice as tempting when you add the zesty flavour of Heinz Tomato Ketchup.



Want Your Husband To Brag About Your Cooking? Then try this seasoning "magic" used by world-famous chefs! It's miraculous AC'CENT, the master-seasoning that makes the natural flavours of good foods fairly sing with excitement. Ac'cent, a pure vegetable substance (monosodium glutamate), adds no taste or aroma of flavours. Try Ac'cent in soups—on meats—on vegetables. Discover the truly dramatic difference it makes! (You'll be known as the hostess who can make hamburger taste like "filet mignon"!) Ask your grocer for Ac'cent today—use it in your cooking tonight—and be prepared for compliments from that man-in-your-life.

Don't You Love That Confident Feeling you get when you take your Swans Down cake out of the oven, and it is tempting-looking, light and evenly risen? Don't you love to have the family form an admiring circle around . . . to exclaim over the mouth tender and delicious cake? I'll bet it's then that you thank your stars you've discovered SWANS DOWN CAKE FLOUR! For you are one of those lucky women who has learned how much more even-textured, fluffy and moist cakes are, made with Swans Down, because it is sifted and resifted until 27 times as fine as ordinary flour, makes better cakes, every time.

Which Is Best? That's an important question when it comes to selecting the right tissues for make-up use. So I gave the leading brands the "dressing-table test". Try it yourself! Use an ordinary 2-ply tissue for one cheek and a 3-ply FACE-ELLE for the other. Note how the Face-Elle tissue holds together to do the job quickly —without muss or fuss. Contrast that with tissue that shreds easily—that lets finger-tips poke through with light rubbing. There, surely, is convincing evidence of the extra strength of Face-Elle's 3-PLY thickness—the only 3-ply tissues in Canada. What's more, Face-Elle is softer. Ask for Face-Elle and be sure of more comfort for your money.

Happy The Bride The Sun Shines On, the old saying goes. And I have something to add to that . . . happy the wife who knows about the modern method of feminine hygiene—ZONITORS. Zonitors are effective, greaseless, stainless, snow-white vaginal suppositories that are powerfully germicidal, yet absolutely safe to delicate tissues. And they're so very dainty and convenient to use. Ask your druggist for Zonitors tomorrow—and write to me—Barbara Brent, 1411 Crescent St., Montreal, P.Q. — for a free booklet giving frank facts on feminine hygiene. It will be sent to you in a plain wrapper.

AFTER SHOUTING to police "You can't do me any good," 38-year-old Merle Bibbs, Negro starch plant worker and father of four children, plunged to his death (arrow) from atop this 110-foot Indianapolis corn tank tower recently. He gave no motive and jumped to avoid landing in a firemen's net.

Advances Made Month Early

WINDSOR, May 1 (CP) — Monthly advances running up to $13,000 have been made regularly available to East Windsor hospital before they were due, City Treasurer E. J. Langlois said today.

The advances involved payment for treatment of the city's indigent patients, the city clerk said. The indigent account—it normally ran between $12,500 and $13,000 monthly—had in recent years often been paid one month before it was due.

One operating fund advance—of $5,000—had been made to the hospital in 1949. This had been repaid later.

An investigation of the hospital's management ordered in March by Attorney-General Porter is scheduled to get under way May 12. It is believed the inquiry will concern alleged mismanagement of hospital building and Christmas Cheer funds and of government grants.

WASHINGTON, May 1—(AP) — President Truman was given the right Wednesday to "sign chits and pay at the end of each month" as an honorary member in the Royal Canadian Artillery Officers' mess at Montreal. He was presented with a certificate of honorary membership in the artillery mess of the 3rd Divisional Artillery.

Town Blacked Out

WALLACEBURG, May 1 (CP) —Street lights in the north end of this town were blacked out when a submarine hydro-electric cable was broken Wednesday night by an anchor dropped from the freighter Superior. Replacement of the cable was expected to be completed in sufficient time to put the lights back in service tonight.

Poorly Named

HUNSTANTON, England—(CP) —Entertainments manager W. D. Stoney wants a new name for Hunstanton's town hall theatre which lost £200 last summer. "A name like that is enough to put anybody off," he says. "It makes you think of Victoria melodrama, antimacassars and fusty pictures of councillors."

British Columbia Ranch Biggest In North America

VANCOUVER—(CP)—The largest cattle ranch in North America is not in Texas as many people believe but right here in British Columbia.

The Gang ranch south of Williams Lake, in the province's interior, controls well over 1,000,000 acres of range land, of which they own 45,000 acres outright.

It was founded in 1861 by Thaddeus and Jerome Harper, brothers, who came north from Virginia shortly before the American Civil War.

In 1862 they drove their first herd, Texas Longhorns, Herefords and plain scrubs from Oregon.

When Jerome retired in 1870 the brothers were full-fledged cattle barons and they had acquired more land, timber and mining interests.

Rich and tired of ranching, Thaddeus retired in 1888, selling to Western Canadian Cattle Ranching Company of London, England, which in turn sold the holdings 60 years later to W. Studart of Philipsburg, Mont., and F. Skelton, of Idaho.

In the 1870s beef sold at $1:50 a pound or more, but gold was plentiful and high prices meant little to the miners.

Other Big Ranchers

There are several other large cattle empires around Gang Ranch, in the Lower Cariboo and Chilcotin districts.

The Pavilion Mountain, actually a giant elevated plateau, is occupied by Pavilion Ranch, owned by Victor Spencer and Frank Ross. The Lillooet and Clinton highway runs right through the range land.

Earlscourt Ranch at Lytton has an interest in the Circle S at Dog's Lake and the Douglas Lake Cattle Company, whose ranch extends over 500,000 acres, has a herd of more than 10,000.

The Canoe Creek Ranch, near Big Bar Mountain in the Cariboo, founded by Henry Coster, son of a German baron, is another well known B.C. spread. Some years ago it was combined with the Empire Valley Ranch on the west side of the Fraser River and the name changed to B.C. Cattle Company.

There are many other ranches throughout the province, although not so well known.

Virtually all B.C. cattle, especially in the Fraser Valley and on Vancouver Island, are free of tuberculosis.

Health officers said that they found only 1.5 per cent. of all cattle in the Cariboo that showed any reaction whatever to TB tests, and none was actually infected.

B.C. cowboys are colorful and skilled. Ten-gallon hats and high-heel boots are their trademarks. Some, but not many, still carry guns. They are law officers guarding against rustlers.

Wide Range Of Goods Sold In Trading Post Stores

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask.—(CP) —When a Saskatchewan trading store operator says he can sell anything, he isn't stretching a point. The six stores in northern Saskatchewan sell practically everything in general merchandise.

These midget department stores can outfit a housewife as well as a trapper or fisherman. The needs of northerners, limited but highly specialized, run from canoes, rifles, gill fishing nets and gasoline for outboard motors to foodstuffs, building materials and cook stoves.

Store managers say the main demand is for such staples as lard, flour, sugar, milk, tea, tobacco, matches, gasoline, baby bottles and carriages and clothing.

Novelty trinkets are popular, especially with Indian and Metis children, but their sale is tactfully discouraged as it is believed money spent in this way could be put to better use.

The government trading operates at slightly more than cost. Sales totalled $248,000 last year.

Saskatchewan Government Trading, a division of the Crown-owned Saskatchewan Marketing Services Corporation, grew out of the increasing services rendered by the provincial government to trappers and fishermen under its northern conservation program.

This program called for the economic handling of fish and fur resources. Marketing of fish and furs was undertaken by government agency to prevent their rapid depletion, put them on a perpetual yield basis and bring the greatest possible returns to the producers.

In doing this, the government found it was also necessary to make available foodstuffs and other supplies to the people of the north.

Serve Wide Area

Trading stores were operated by the government at Lac La Ronge and Wollaston Lake in 1945. Three years later Saskatchewan Marketing Services was incorporated and since then stores were established at Deschambault, Snake Lake, Stanley and Cumberland House.

Typical is the Cumberland House store and its manager's residence, which cost about $15,000. Electricity for lighting is generated by the store's own power plant.

The store manager has to be a jack of all trades. All the stores have two-way radio sets and the manager has to be an expert radio man. A knowledge of fur trading also is required. Once a year the store managers come to Prince Albert for a get-together, to lay plans for the coming year with head office personnel.

Typical manager is Ed Broome of Snake Lake, bearded father of a boy and girl. His wife is a registered district nurse with a full-time schedule of her own. A young school teacher who boards with the Broomes, and an elderly trapper, are the only other white residents in the small settlement.

Pass Objective In Lakefield Red Cross Drive

LAKEFIELD, May 1—(ENS)—Probably the most outstanding report received at the April meeting of the Lakefield Branch, Canadian Red Cross Society held Monday evening in the council chamber, was that of campaign chairman E. W. Bailey who reported that the objective of $1,000 had been oversubscribed by $287.65.

This was most gratifying as the objective had been raised from $300 to $1,000 this year. Mr. Bailey spoke highly of the splendid manner in which the canvassers did their job, stating that in almost every district contributions were higher than ever before.

The president, Mrs. Albert O'Donnell was in the chair for the meeting which was well attended.

Another splendid report was that of Mrs. Stanley Goodall, chairman of the blood transfusion service. Mrs. Goodall reported 19 donors for January 31 for February and 17 for March.

In the absence of the school nurse, Mrs. Wallace Hendren, the report was read by the secretary. It stated that after Christmas the children's heads were examined and 10 cases of pediculosis found. A total of 95 inoculations for tetanus, diphtheria and whooping cough have been given. Routine dental inspection has been completed by Dr. R. H. Campbell and Dr. J. O. Wilson. Draft Report On Improving Pakistan Life

OTTAWA — (CP)—A. J. Boudreau, commissioner of the Civil Service Commission, is working on a tough job.

Just returned from Asia, Dr. Boudreau is writing a report for the United Nations Economic, Social and Cultural Organization of how to raise the standards of living for some 80,000,000 people in Pakistan.

Dr. Boudreau headed a commission to Pakistan which included Dr. Rupert East of the United Kingdom and Miss M. Desbrisay of the United States, a member of the Institute of Inter-American Affairs.

Dr. Boudreau said the mission spent three months travelling in every part of the country. Only 13 per cent of the people are literate but leaders showed a very progressive spirit and held great hopes for the future.

Between 85 and 90 per cent of the people of the country are engaged in agriculture. They have a food surplus and the country's financial position is comparatively sound from an international point of view.

The people were greatly interested in better education, he said. But there is a shortage of school buildings and teachers which keeps 30 to 35 per cent of the children out of school.

Stunt Man Says Film Work Changing

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, May 1—(AP)—"This business isn't what it used to be."

That was the sad comment of Duke Taylor, one of Hollywood's leading stunt men. He and some colleagues had just finished staging a wild fight for "City Beneath The Sea," in which they tear apart a bar.

"The movies don't put on the major stunts they used to. The studios use stock shots from old pictures. I'll be glad if television does make the movies convert to making all pictures in color. Then the studios will have to re-shoot in colour all those stunts they now have in black and white."

Trained Horses

Stricter regulations concerning horses have also cut down the stunt men's work.

"We no longer can stage a real fall," he said. "I did it for years, and I never injured a horse. Then the studios started hiring stunt men at cheaper price, and they didn't know how to do it. After they had broken the legs of a few horses, the humane officials made them stop. Nowadays when you see a horse fall on the screen, it's an animal that had been trained to fall. That's not like the real thing."

Taylor, a former football star, has been in the stunt business 17 years. He has never broken a bone.

How long can a stunt man last?

"As long as he keeps in shape," Taylor replied.

Refuses Trust Fund

JERSEY CITY, N.J., May 1 —(AP)—A Hoboken employee has turned down a $300,000 trust fund that would yield him $9,000 a year. But he won't say why. The will of Miss Rhoda Kuhlmann, 49, stipulated that John H. Schmidt was to receive the $9,000 a year income from the trust fund. Schmidt filed a release to any claim on the estate. He would not comment on his refusal to accept.

EUGENE BLAIS, 73-year-old head of the Montreal Star's stereotype department, counts back a working lifetime of 57 years to a September day in 1895 when he began his apprenticeship. Mr. Blais began work at 7 a.m. when he was a young man. He checked out of the stereo department at 3.30 p.m.—and then began delivering papers by horse cart. This kept him busy until 7.30 p.m., sometimes later. And the pay? Mr. Blais started at $2.50 a week. After an accident with some new machinery, in which he lost three fingers of his left hand, he drew a 50-cent raise—per week, of course. Possibly because hard work left little time in his youth for frivolous activity, Mr. Blais never married. The girls he knew all married somebody else, he says, adding: "Most of them are dead now."

Farben Company Plans Quebec Plant

MONTREAL, May 1—(CP)—Dr. M. E. Klee, of I. G. Farben Industries of Germany, said his company plans to establish a chemical plant in Quebec.

Dr. Klee, who arrived today by ship, said in an interview that he planned to talk with provincial government officials before announcing the plant site.

The German industrialist, who saw his Cologne, Germany, plant virtually destroyed by Allied bombs in the Second World War, said he also plans to build in Newfoundland.

He said he would not make any policy announcement pending talks with Premier Joseph Smallwood who visited him while in Europe seeking industries for his province.

Consider Recognizing Change In Dollar

OTTAWA, May 1 (CP)—The United States Embassy said Wednesday the question of whether U.S. missions in Canada should officially recognize the surge of the Canadian dollar "is under consideration."

At the present time, as far as those official missions—including the Embassy and Consulates—are concerned, the Canadian dollar is worth 95 U.S. cents regardless of the fact it's worth $1.02 in U.S. funds in New York.

This five-per-cent discount rate hasn't been changed, an Embassy official said, because the value of the Canadian dollar has been fluctuating.

However, a change now is under study.

The U.S. official rate in Canada affects only those Canadians who have to pay for U.S. visas or other official documents.

The official U.S. rate in Canada is set by the Embassy here in consultation with Washington.

Breaking Charge Against Windsor Man

WINDSOR, May 1 — (CP) — A charge of breaking and entering laid against Alex Szoke, 31, of Windsor, in connection with the January theft of $2,400 from the Chapman Brothers butcher shop was dismissed Wednesday.

Crown evidence showed Szoke was arrested a few blocks from the break-in scene with $452 in bills in his possession.

Mrs. Edythe Weston, butcher shop cashier, identified two of the bills as having been part of the cash in the store before the break-in. She said she recognized pencil marks she had placed on the bills while making up the shop payroll.

Under cross-examination, however, she said she did not know when the marks had been made as she had been marking bills for several years.

PLANNING MATRIMONY—Movie star Shelley Winters and her Italian fiance, Vittorio Gassman, board an airliner in Hollywood, Calif., for a flight to El Paso, Tex., where they said they will be married soon. Before the wedding, they will go to Juarez, Mex., where Gassman will confer with his attorney about getting a Mexican divorce from his present wife.

DOROTHY DIX

Lack Of Discipline Cause Of Inconsiderate Children

DEAR MISS DIX: I have a 14-year-old grandson, nearly six feet tall and in his first year of high school. He lives with his parents, but is frequently at my house. He is disrespectful, impudent to all of us. He comes into my house, snoops into everything, helps himself to anything without asking, puts his feet on the davenport and has no respect for anything in the house. He comes to our house to watch television and, if he doesn't like the program, thumbs his nose at it. He's my son's boy and, while we do like him to come over, he spoils the programs for us and teaches my 3-year-old grandson many undesirable things. We have hinted that we'd rather he didn't come, but don't like to offend his folks. However, they know and oppose his actions and do try to make him different. He's making a nervous wreck out of all of us.

GRANDMA V.

ANSWER: This selfish, inconsiderate attitude is not an accident. It has been fostered by his parents over many years, regardless of how much they may deplore it now. The boy is still not too old for correction, and they should make him observe at least some of the amenities of social life. He's well on his way to being a horrible boor if he continues much longer without discipline.

A Difficult Age

Fourteen is a crucial and difficult age for boys and first-year high school presents a period of transition that is frequently hard for them to handle. The boy does sound nervous—as well as nervy—and a thorough physical check-up should be arranged. He is very tall for his age, an indication of glandular imbalance that might also account for other peculiarities.

While much of his behavior could be from physical causes, the basic trouble is lack of proper training. Sometimes boys who have been models of deportment up to 14 become hellions at that age, but they still retain respect for elders and at least reasonable behavior in the house. Your grandson seems completely uninhibited, and it is up to his parents to set him on the right track.

He should, at least, be expected to show consideration for your home, your preference in television programs, and be restrained from exhibiting his bad traits before smaller children. Naturally your own position doesn't permit much correction without causing friction with the parents, but you can insist on proper treatment of your furniture. If he throws anything on the floor, he must be made to pick it up.

As consolation—it's one of the miracles of nature that a boy can be a demon at 14 and a perfect gentleman at 17.

DEAR MISS DIX: Is there any cure for bragging? I have a very good friend who is constantly bragging about her real or imagined gifts. She is losing all her friends through the deplorable habit and though I've tried to point this out to her, she pays no attention. Do you think if I could get her to listen to me I could make her change?

S. D. K.

ANSWER: Bragging is a demand for attention and the easiest way to cure a person of the habit is to make her realize that it's unnecessary. If you can subtly point out that the most popular members of your group are those given to the least self-praise, she may realize the futility of her present technique.

DEAR MISS DIX: I live with my son and his wife—a doctor and a nurse. They supplement their income by writing these awful whodunits. All I ever hear around the house is the plotting for these horrible stories. Morning, noon and night they have excited arguments as to the relative merits of various poisons, how to dispose of bodies and the like. I'm a nervous person, and this sort of talk is getting me down.

HATTIE W.

ANSWER: While most people complain of their humdrum existences, you have a marvelous opportunity of living in an atmosphere of story-book thrills, and don't appreciate it. Whodunits are by no means the awful, horrible stories you claim. They are, on the whole, a good form of escape literature to which some of the finest minds of our time have been addicted. Why not try to enjoy them yourself? If you cannot reconcile yourself to the exciting home atmosphere which many people envy, arrange to stay in your room or take a walk while the books are being plotted.

THE REAL JOY of Mother's Day is sharing the warm affection of your children. This is their opportunity to show you in a tangible way how much they love you. Of course, you'd be satisfied with a hug and kiss, but it makes the youngsters feel so grown-up to be able to present a special gift. From all indications, the younger generation seems to feel fragrance presents are the best. The little boy (upper left) is sniffing the perfume he has given to his mother. He's surprised to find it has the true scent of delicate lilies-of-the-valley. To the mother who revels in a pampering bath, this young lady (upper centre) has given an eye-catching pink and gold polka-dot bag filled with cologne, dusting powder and iced cologne. Always remembered on Mother's Day is grandmother. She appears particularly pleased with the gift of a new powder-perfume which her granddaughter has just given her (upper right). In addition to using it as a body sachet, grandmother can tuck it in with her lingerie.

Toy Library Aids Crippled

EDMONTON—(CP)—A library with a "heart" has been established in Edmonton. It lends toys . . . toys for the use of Alberta's cerebral palsied children.

The library is sponsored by the American Women's Club in the city. It was opened in April in the new Cerebral Palsy Clinic.

Toys for the cerebral palsied child are not mere playthings. A two-fold purpose is served when the correct type of toy is made available. Usually of an educational nature, the toys teach the children elementary counting and the alphabet as well as helping them unconsciously to regain control of crippled muscles.

The cost of such toys is high and the children require more advanced items as their recovery progresses.

Secretary Mrs. W. W. Peterson of the Edmonton American Women's Club told a meeting last January of the need of such a library. The library was an opportunity to watch the results of their efforts, instead of supplying drapes for the new clinic, they set up the toy-lending work.

A toy may be borrowed free of charge for a two-week period and then must be returned. But a new one may be taken out. The club hopes to extend the service of its library to children in all parts of the province.

Kiddiscales which teach a child addition and balance, eggs in a variety of sizes which must be fitted together, and other toys of a similar nature are circulated.

Chapter News

MUNICIPAL CHAPTER

Sums spent on education exceeded those of last year by $12,000.00 it was reported at the 32nd annual sessions of the Ontario Provincial Chapter I.O.D.E. Peterborough delegates reported extensively on this meeting at the monthly Municipal Chapter meeting Wednesday evening.

They advised "Moneys spent by Ontario Chapters this year on educatibn totalled $65,168.00 .The quality of education required for effective citizenship has increased as society has become more complex and the critical nature of new problems demands the best possible education, it is felt.

Miss Mary Medd, Municipal Regent gave a general report of the meeting. She spoke of the money raised by the Primary and Junior Chapters in Ontario last year totalling $350,000.00 and continued to tell how this was spent for the general good of the community by both individual chapters and through the Provincial Chapter. The Provincial chapter disbursements were $81,688.

Forty four schools were adopted and libraries and educational supplies sent to them and to assisted schools amounting to $17,581. This included placing I.O.D.E. calendars in each, supplying books, gifts of 148 pictures of the Royal family, magazine subscriptions, flags for indoor and outdoor use, visual aids, and many other helps for educational purposes. Prizes valued at $3,630 were also given.

Students Helped

Much was also done for the individual student—105 receiving monetary assistance, 127 bursaries granted needy students, 164 scholarships awarded to assist with further education, and loans arranged on an interest-free basis—all totalling $40,464. Contributions to the Lucy Morrison fund by 71 per cent of chapters, totalled $4,633—used for an annual scholarship of $1,400 (four students now studying on these scholarships). It also provided a $200. scholarship for an Indian student, a music scholarship of $100, a $50. home economics scholarship prizes for short story and art competitions, and aid with bursaries and loans.

Child and family welfare work was assisted to the extent of $102,601, health services receiving especial attention. Members helped with T.B. surveys, baby and blood donor clinics, making dressings for hospitals and cancer depots, milk, vitamins and special diets were supplied to many needing them, also playground equipment and supervision, and hundreds of children sent to summer camps. Handicapped and crippled persons were assisted, also the aged and infirm and many forms of Christmas cheer undertaken.

Post-war service work was carried through to the expenditure of $83,483 and of this amount $23,000 was for Overseas food shipments.

Immigration

Reports from nearly 49 centres in Ontario show that chapters are active in welcoming these newcomers, providing entertainment for them, especially after their English classes, and in attention to those who are sick. They also donated about $2,000 to assist support of Canadian Scene which provides Canadian material to foreign language presses in Canada. Many greeting cards had been presented to those receiving nationalization papers at court or special ceremonies.

Empire and world affairs topics are now a part of most Chapter meetings and also discussion on the Canadian way of life, the royal family and such subjects.

Hospitality from this committee has been extended to distinguished visitors, leading these being the Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh, and a reception was given by one municipal chapter for 50 British school girls on tour of Canada.

There are now 405 Chapters in Ontario, with a membership of 16,465 an increase of 441 over last year.

Mrs. C. M. Scott of Peterborough, Commonwealth and Empire committee convener, on the National Chapter of Canada executive, spoke on the work of her committee for the past two years. Almost $1,200 has been donated by Chapters to assist in translation of nurses' textbooks from English into Hindi for use of native nurses in India. Cots were supplied in the Canada Hospital at Nasik. The National and all I.O.D.E. members will show hospitality to visiting students from India and Pakistan coming soon to Canada under the Colombo Plan.

All municipal Standard Bearers are invited to carry their standards at the National Annual meeting in Niagara Falls, May 31st and Mrs. Wm. Nash, will represent the Peterborough Municipal chapter.

At the close of the meeting members of the Peter Robinson Chapter served refreshments.

New Fabrics Need Special Handling

Finding out just how a fabric will act in the tub and on the ironing board is an important part of stretching the wardrobe dollar.

Among the fabrics least understood by the most women, rayon and acetate rank high. Few women realize that the two take a totally different handling and that when the two yarns are used in combination the procedure for acetate is the right one to use.

Rayon, for instance, can take heat without melting and therefore can be ironed with a hot iron. Similarly, it can be safely washed in hot water.

But acetate, which women tend to confuse with rayon, will "fuse" if a hot iron descends upon it This means that acetate gets a warm—never a hot—iron. And it follows that acetate must be handled with care in washing. Water must be lukewarm and the soap mild.

Acetate dries faster than rayon but it is also less absorbent, which means that rayon is somewhat more comfortable to wear. The two fabrics are equally and wholly moth-resistant and neither one deteriorates with age. Both retain their whiteness without need for bleaching.

Acetate is the fabric (left) used for a dress with bolero jacket that slips off for dressy occasions. Trapunto work in an all-over pattern is used for surface interest.

Rayon and acetate in combination (right) are used for this flowing crepe with sweeping pleated skirt. Done in a light weight, it's a fashion rightly designed for wear through spring and into summer.

Y.W. In World Role Working with U.N.

TORONTO, May 1 (CP).—Marion Royce, a Canadian member of the world Y.W.C.A. staff at Geneva, Switzerland, said Wednesday contributions to the community of voluntary organizations such as the Y.W.C.A. may influence world government.

Addressing the Y's National Council she said the contributions have more than local significance and stretch into the national field.

As an example, voluntary organizations had received their first big constitutional recognition from the United Nations. It was significant that all material submitted to the U.N. Commission on the status of women had been incorporated in their reports.

Miss Royce suggested that national and local Y.W.C.A's could be looking into the problems of part-time work for women and employment for older women, the question of equal pay and why there are so few women in high positions in the U.N.

"These are things we can get at better than governments because we are closer to them," she said.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Stock Herb Shelf Fish Sauces A-Brewing

This letter I enjoy answering in a special way, for I love the writer and relish the topic:

"Dear Mary Moore: . . . am looking forward to benefiting from your wide knowledge in the field of dietetics . . . would you, sometime, give us osme recipes for fish sauces? I am very much interested in the use of herbs but have little know-how. I."

Now I happen to know that my leg is being pulled, for this self-effacing gal is a dietitian. Anyway, here's sauce for her fish.

Herbs and flavours that go well with fish are: marjoram, tarragon, dill, bay, tomato, lemon—both rind and juice, parsley.

Drawn Butter Sauce

And is simple: 1/3 cup barely melted butter (margarine will do) and 3 tablespoons flour are blended together; 1½ cups fish stock (water in which fish was boiled) or hot water are stirred in until thick; ½ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper and 1 teaspoon lemon juice are added.

Variations are endless: 1. Tarragon or marjoram could have been added to the fish stock while it was boiling, so the sauce is flavoured with it. or 2. add fresh or dried tarragon leaves or a sprig of marjoram to the sauce while you are making it. Let it stand over hot water for 10 minutes before removing leaves at serving time. This sauce with tarragon flavoring is especially right on poached fish with white flesh such as halibut, the so-called "fillets", mackerel, and lake whitefish.

Poulette Sauce

To me this seems to be the perfect companion for steamed or baked salmon or halibut. It even makes fresh cod delectable. Make Drawn Butter Sauce (above). Beat 2 eggs until frothy, add 1 tablespoon cream, and stir the hot sauce into them. Strain and serve at once. For extra flavour and delicacy add 2 tablespoons each mashed canned pimiento and sherry.

Filets de Bass Pellaprat

Arrange 2 lbs. small bass filets in a generoulsly buttered shallow pyrex or earthenware casserole having a lid. Sprinkle over these 1 tablespoon finely minced shallots, and barely cover with dry white wine in which ½ teaspoon tarragon has been steeped 20 minutes. Dot with 2 tablespoons butter and season to taste with salt and pepper. Cover with buttered paper and the lid and bake for 10 minutes at 350 deg. Fahr. Mix together 1 tablespoon butter, 1 teaspoon flour and ½ teaspoon finely crumbled tarragon leaves. Carefully stir this into the cooking liquid without breaking the fillets. Cover again and bake for 10 minutes more. Just before taking to table to serve from baking dish, sprinkle with 1 tablespoon each finely chopped chives and parsley.

What's Right?

You are served a sandwich that is too big to eat easily.

WRONG: Pick it up whole anyway.

RIGHT: Cut it before attempting to eat it.

2 Pounds At Birth Baby Survives

MEDICINE HAT, Alta.—(CP)—Baby Gary Anderson does not know it yet but he made medical history here.

Gary, son of Mr. and Mrs. Allan Anderson of nearby Irvine, was born three months prematurely at the Medicine Hat General Hospital. He weighed only two pounds at birth. Very few of these babies survive.

He was the tiniest bit of humanity ever brought into this world alive at the hospital. "Just like a kitten" was how one nurse described the infant when he was born.

Gary spent 11 weeks in an incubator before his parents were allowed to take him home. He weighed six pounds, one ounce when he left the hospital.

His parents give credit for his survival to Dr. W. C. Campbell and Mrs. C. Ross McKay, supervisor of the maternity ward.

The survival of the baby is not only something of a record for Medicine Hat. Dr. Campbell is preparing the infant's case history for a medical journal as a future reference in similar cases.

IDEAL for spring wear are light-toned furs, especially the beautiful blonde tones, worked into pretty little jackets. Blonde otter makes a waist-length fitted-front cape. Side fullness, although actually a part of the cape, is arranged to suggest a rippling, elbow-length sleeve. Waist is elasticized for adjustable fit.

THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF THE ROMAN CATHOLIC SEPARATE SCHOOL BOARD
VILLAGE OF HASTINGS

A BY-LAW TO AMEND BY-LAW NUMBER FOUR, PASSED ON THE 26TH DAY OF DECEMBER, 1951.

The Board of Trustees of the Roman Catholic Separate Schools of the Village of Hastings hereby enacts as follows:

1. The fourth paragraph of the preamble to By-law Number Four is hereby Deleted, and the following paragraph substituted, and will now read as follows:

"AND WHEREAS the amount of the existing debenture debt of the Board of Trustees of the Roman Catholic Separate School Board for the Village of Hastings is nil."

2. Paragraph Number 4 of the said By-law is amended by placing a period after the word "Secretary-Treasurer," in the third line of said paragraph and inserting as the beginning of the following sentence "The interest coupons attached to the debentures shall be signed by the Secretary-Treasurer," so that the said paragraph will now read as follows:

"The said debentures shall be sealed with the Seal of the Board and signed by the Chairman of the Board, or by some other person authorized by By-law to sign the same, and by the Secretary-Treasurer. The interest coupons attached to the debentures shall be signed by the Secretary-Treasurer and his signature thereon may be written, stamped, lithographed or engraved."

3. Paragraph Number 5 of the said By-law is hereby deleted and the following paragraph bearing the same number substituted and will now read as follows:

"Commencing in the year 1952 and during the twenty years, the currency of the debentures, the respective sums set forth in the said Schedule "A" hereto, shall be levied and collected annually by the special rate sufficient herefor over and above all other rates, in the same manner and from the like persons and property, by, from, upon or out of which other Separate Schools rates are levied raised and collected, for the said period of twenty years. In each of the said twenty years, the currency of the said debentures, the Board shall, pursuant to the provisions of Section 70 of the Separate Schools Act, request the Municipal Council of the Corporation of the Village of Hastings, that the said Municipal Council through its collector and other municipal officers cause to be levied in each such year upon the taxable property liable to pay same, all sums of money for rates or taxes imposed thereon in respect of Separate Schools.

4. That the following paragraph is hereby added and to form part of the said By-law as paragraph 5A:

"The said sum of $44,000 so borrowed and interest thereon, and the said debentures, shall be and the same are hereby made a charge upon the schoolhouse property and premises and on the real and personal property vested in the said Board of Trustees of the Roman Catholic Separate School Board for the Village of Hastings and upon all the Separate School rates of the said Board to be hereinafter imposed, until the said debentures and each and every of them together with all interest thereon shall have been fully paid and satisfied."

5. New Industry

permit heavy duty service. The makers say they roll easily over rough surfaces, have excellent "flotation qualities" through mud, snow and sand, and do not damage floors.

The line includes light handtrucks, a one-ton handtruck and tractor-trailers up to three tons capacity—all of them featuring the Maur ball-bearing, dustproof wheels with the pneumatic tires.

Demonstration

A demonstration for local industrialists will be given some time next week.

Along with Mr. Myhre, at present, is Gisle Opsal, a mechanical engineer who invented the patented wheel. He will be plant superintendent.

"We are certainly pleased to see a new industry come to Peterborough," said Mayor Hugh Waddell today. "I think it should be recognized that much of the credit should go to City Clerk E. A. Outram. He has been negotiating with Mr. Myhre to get him to open here since 1948."

Competition

"We had plenty of competition from other municipalities for this industry," said Mr. Outram. "In fact one mayor in Quebec made a special point of looking up Mr. Myhre in Norway."

Mr. Myhre, a tall Norwegian who speaks excellent English (he received his B.Sc. at Durham, England), is a personal friend of Paul Irwin, president of Irwin-Godson Ltd. He has been in Peterborough before, as a visitor, and he likes it here.

"We chose Peterborough because it has efficient municipal services," said Mr. Myhre, "and industry is well developed here. Besides, we are near the centres of heavy industry."

He said he appreciated the cooperation of the Shell Oil Company in offering to rent their property and also the help of the Ontario Department of Planning and Development.

Montebello Area Now Out Of Bounds

CANBERRA, May 1 (Reuters). —First official announcement that the rocky little Montebello Islands, 80 miles off the coast of western Australia, will be used as the site for Britain's first atomic explosion test, was made today by Supply Minister Howard Beale.

Regulations proclaiming the Montebello area out of bounds to planes were issued today by the minister.

Speculation that the islands would be a testing ground for atomic weapons followed the arrival in Australian waters last month of two British ships loaded with scientists, technicians and secret equipment.

Truck Backed

was the reply, "but I make mistakes once in a while."

"Nobody ever shortchanged you, though, did they?" was Mr. Elliott's parting shot.

Wrong Gear

The solid evidence presented by the defence boiled down to this: Mr. Hughes claimed he did not deliberately back into the soil test machine; somehow the gears were changed into reverse (probably by his companion, Mrs. Ruth Masters), and when the truck started up it went backwards into the machine.

Mr. Fair pointed out that Mr. Hughes was not warned that the drilling crew were coming and when he saw them on his land he didn't know who they were or what they were doing. Moreover, contended Mr. Fair, the defendant had the right to remain on his property till March 21.

Without giving a final opinion on the matter, Judge McGibbon said he believed that as soon as the city paid its $28,600 into court as ordered by the late Judge S. L. Smoke the Board of Education had the right of access to the land.

He based this on Section 7 of the Schools Act.

"Hughes may have been permitted to stay there but as soon as the order was complied with the Board of Education had a perfect right to enter onto the property."

Mr. Hughes said that when he drove up the first time in a car Mr. Deakon had "more or less ordered me off the property saying it belonged to the school."

Consulted Lawyer

"I told him four times he'd better move out; that he had no authority to be there."

Mr. Hughes said he then went to consult his lawyer and Mr. Deakon stopped drilling operations while he went to telephone for instructions.

Some time later, said Mr. Hughes, he got into a five-ton wrecking truck that was parked outside the rear of his place. Together with Mrs. Masters he drove northeast through the field.

The dfendant said that he often used this as a driveway and he had to swerve to miss the drilling machine.

Mr. Hughes said he told Mr. Deakon that he had received legal advice that Mr. Deakon and his crew should get off the property.

"Deakon became very hostile. He opened the truck door and was going to pull me out."

Mr. Hughes said that Mr. Deakon was swearing at him and Mrs. Masters. When he went to drive away, the truck was somehow in reverse and he bumped into the machine. He didn't know about the collision at the time, he said.

Mrs. Masters confirmed this: "Mr. Deakon dared Tommy to come out of the truck and fight with him. I wanted to get out of there so I pulled the gear shift; it went into reverse. As we drove away I heard Mr. Deakon say: 'You'll pay for this'."

In cross examination Mrs. Masters admitted she threw her hands up across her face as the five-ton truck approached the machine.

"Serious Offence"

"I didn't know what Tommy was going to do," she said, "and there were men ahead of him."

Mr. Deacon was called back to the witness box and he flatly denied threatening Hughes.

"I know the law of common assault," he said.

When asked what he had to say of Mr. Hughes' story, backed up by the testimony of Mrs. Masters, Mr. Deakon replied, sternly: "Perjury is a serious offence."

The money at stake in the damage suit was only peanuts (about $525) but it was one of the zaniest court cases that has been heard "on the hill" in many a year.

Drew Criticizes Defence Dept.

OTTAWA, May 1 (CP)—George Drew, leader of the Progressive Conservative party, charged Wednesday night that there has been "a complete breakdown in the responsibility of the Defence Minister over department heads."

Mr. Drew said in an address to the annual meeting of the Ottawa West and South Progressive Conservative Association, that the minister must take responsibility for "a situation of widespread looting and fires or it would be the negation of the principle of responsible government."

He said recent fires in army depots are "surely more than just accidents." He suggested that the fires may have covered up more serious irregularities.

Charges Nonsense

Mr. Drew spelled out some of his complaints against the defence department and said that to contend savings are impossible there is "palpable nonsense."

The looting and fires are one way, he said. He accused the government of not moving to follow up a "lead" to these activities, recalling that the defence and justice ministers had been supplied with names of men willing to take affidavits that they had been offered government paint to buy. He said paint had been among the goods lost in some of the army fires.

Slapped Boy For Throwing Firecrackers

Fireworks flared on Gillespie St., Saturday night, when a group of boys failed to heed Ernest Kettle's warnings to stop throwing firecrackers near his house.

Kettle slapped the face of 13-year-old George Casey, 617 McKellar St. Then a scuffle followed, Kettle shoved the boy to the ground, and again slapped him several times while he was on the ground.

As a result of the fracas, Kettle was charged with assault and spent Saturday night in the city jail.

Dismissed Charge

Today in police court, Magistrate W. R. Philp dismissed the charge on the grounds that the assault was not a serious one in that the boy was not injured as a result of Kettle slapping him.

Kettle and two defence witnesses, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Davis testified that the Casey boy and others who were with him when the firecrackers were being set off had been making nuisances of themselves in the neighborhood. "I slapped him because I figured all the talking I was doing wasn't doing any good," said Kettle who testified he had warned the boys twice to stop throwing the firecrackers near his car, parked in the driveway by his home.

Magistrate Philp said he was finding the boys had been making a nuisance of themselves and he was surprised that the people in the neighbourhood had stood for it.

"Probably the first slaps were quite justified," the Magistrate said. "Kettle suggested he was particularly afraid of the firecrackers because of the gas running out of his car and it was sufficient grounds for him to be afraid. Besides the boys had no business being where they were."

Grandson Of City Man Makes Brooklyn Dodgers

John Rutherford of Detroit, a grandson of Percy Rutherford of Peterborough, is going to be on the Brooklyn Dodgers' pitching staff this year, according to Roscoe McGowen in St. Louis Sporting News. He is a son of Dr. Fred Rutherford of Detroit, who used to play ball here in the early twenties.

The Dodgers roster says of him: "Rutherford, John — strictly a Brooklyn organization product, through Olean (Pony) in 1947; Danville (Three I), Fort Worth (Texas) and St. Paul (A.A.). A small (155-pound, 5 ft. 10½ in.) righthander without terrifying stuff. Born in Canada, May 5, 1926. Won 15, lost eight at St. Paul last year, and Clay Hopper called him a right-handed Preacher Roe, with good control and sneaky fast ball. Has earned-run mark of under .300 per game for last three years. No. 53)."

Helped By Father.

This personable young pitcher has a sort of Bob Feller background, although by no means the Feller fast ball. Johnny's father, a Detroit surgeon, (Dr. Fred Rutherford), used to catch his son's pitches before and when he was a teenager.

"But he can't catch me now," grinned Johnny. "Too much stuff."

Young Rutherford came into the Brooklyn organization from the University of Detroit in June 1947, when he signed with Olean. In his second game in pro-ball he pitched a no-hitter. When he was to pitch his third game in Hamilton, Ont., his father, mother and sister were there to watch the young hero.

What they saw wasn't pleasant. On first base when a double play ball was hit to the second baseman, Johnny (like Jack Dempsey in his first fight with Gene Tunney) forgot to duck and the shortstop's throw to first shattered his jaw.

His doctor dad rushed on the field, picked him up and carried him off. Later, he took Jimmy back to Detroit, did a fine wiring job on the jawbone, and two weeks or so later the youngster was back in pitching.

In 1949 when Rutherford was pitching for Danville in the Three-I League he met a Tennessee beauty who was visiting an aunt. The next year after he had moved up to Fort Worth he and Joan were married at home plate one evening and thereby came up with a lot of gifts that newlyweds could use.

If by some sort of chance he is not on the Dodger pitching staff this year, the writer ought to bring some sort of action against Manager Chuck Dressen because at Miami he indicated as strongly as could be that Rutherford was one boy he intended to keep."

Peterborough fans who knew Fred Rutherford when he played here with Howard Kern, Bob Ross, and others, are going to find more interest in the faring of the Dodgers this season.

Johnny Rutherford is the first big leaguer on whom Peterborough can place any claim of parentage.

U.K. Soccer Club Sails For Canada

SOUTHAMPTON, May 1 —(Reuters)—Seventeen members of the Manchester United Soccer Club—winners of the English league championships—boarded the Queen Elizabeth Wednesday for a Canadian and United States tour.

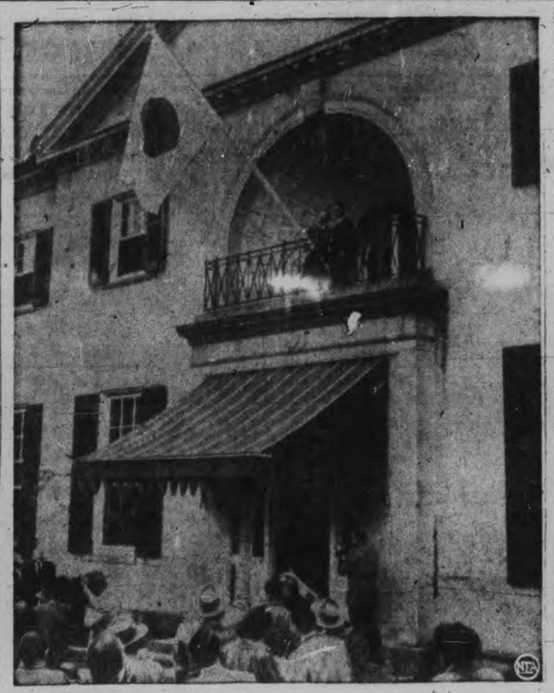
The Manchester squad, which took the soccer crown by beating Arsenal 6-1 last week, last toured North America two years ago.

This year the team will play Tottenham Hotspur, another top-flight British team, in Toronto May 14 and New York May 15.

Other matches on the schedule are: May 9 at Kearney, Neb.; May 11 at Philadelphia, May 13 at Montreal, May 18 at New York, May 21 at Fall River, Mass., May 25 at New York (against a Stuttgart, Germany, club), May 27 at Chicago, and June 1 and 8 at Los Angeles (against Mexico), and June 11 at Detroit.

Aussie's Tribute

NEW DELHI—(CP)—The retiring Australian High Commissioner to India, H. R. Gollan, said at a ceremony that he had spent 15 years of his diplomatic career in India and that nowhere else could so many years have been spent more usefully. He praised India as a stable country where Democratic principles and law prevail.



RE-BIRTH OF A NATION—Japanese and U. S. officials watch as the "Rising Sun" banner is hoisted at the Japanese embassy in Washington for the first time since 1941. The Far East nation was restored to full sovereignty by the recent signing of a peace treaty. The Washington embassy has been in U.S. hands since it was seized soon after Pearl Harbor.

Uncle Ben's Store Known To Thousands On Continent

EDMONTON—(CP)—Uncle Ben's Exchange in Edmonton is known to sportsmen all over the continent and to trappers and prospectors throughout the north country.

But proprietor Ben Leibovitz neither participates in sports nor has he been north.

When Uncle Ben first set up shop here about the time the First World War broke out he pinned his hopes, about all that he had at the time, on a brand of chewing tobacco that was so hardy the [illegible] hardy fellows who chewed it could spit against the wind.

"A fellow came into the shack one day," he recalled, "and tried to sell me 1,400 pounds of chewing tobacco. I told him I had no money. He said I could give him a dollar now and a dollar then.

"So, I filled the windows with chewing tobacco and everybody got a bargain in chewing tobacco for months. Personally, I never touched the stuff."

In becoming Uncle Ben to everyone he thanks Uncle Sam, with whom he had a nodding acquaintance after emigrating from Romania. He remembered that in New York there was Uncle Sam's this or Uncle Sam's that. When he started his own business he could see nothing wrong with Uncle Ben.

Today his customers stretch from the Yukon to Moncton and all over the United States. They buy everything from money belts to snowshoes; moccasins to boxing gloves; ping pong balls to rifles and ammunition to sleeping bags and pans for panning gold.

The breed of trappers is a little different from the days when they would disappear for months at a time, then come in to settle up. In the interim, they'd send out word to Uncle Ben to do this or that for them and he was something of a general agent for people scattered all over the north.

In recent times Uncle Ben has been the subject or mentioned in articles in magazines with continent-wide circulation.

Canadian Gunners Praised For Fine Shooting Effort

By BILL BOSS,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WITH THE CANADIANS IN KOREA—(CP)—(By Mail)—One of Brig. J. M. Rockingham's war trophies is a crumpled U.S. one-dollar bill.

He won it in a shooting bet from Lt.-Gen. Michael (Iron Mike) O'Daniel, commander of a U.S. Corps with which the 25th Canadian Infantry Brigade Group has fought ever since it landed in Korea.

Rocky had quite a gallery to witness the pay-off, won for him by the 2nd Regiment, Royal Canadian Horse Artillery.

The occasion was a visit to the Canadian sector by Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, Supreme Commander of the Allied forces. With Ridgway were Gen. James A. Van Fleet, commander of the Eighth United States Army in Korea, O'Daniel and Maj.-Gen. Jim Cassels, Commander of the 1st Commonwealth Division.

At Rocky's observation post, overlooking the Chinese positions, the Brigadier casually mentioned that the Brigade artillery could engage any target on its front with all its guns within 45 seconds.

O'Daniel said it was impossible and that he had money to back up the opinion.

Rocky, saying "You're on—one dollar," invited Ridgeway to select a target.

Lt.-Col. Geoffrey Brooks of Shilo, Man., alerted the Regiment that a target was coming up.

Ridgway selected a ridge-top 9,000 yards distant, Chinese positions which had been under discussion minutes before.

In 42 Seconds

Brooks relayed the target. It was plotted at Regimental headquarters by Capt. John Crowe of Guelph, Ont., the adjutant, and the fire orders given. First shells were away within 42 seconds.

They fell right on the target—bang slam on.

Said Ridgway, as an amazed O'Daniel paid up:

"That's a mighty fine shooting artillery regiment you've got there, Colonel."

Secret of R.C.H.A.'s speed—coupled with its traditional accuracy—is its communications.

Rockingham and Brooks have so teamed up to improve them that their personal signallers caught the bug. Like their officers, the signallers too, always travel the front together.

They worked out a gimmick—no one is very specific about what it is—that cut by 30 seconds the time lag between description of target and the firing of the first shell.

They call it—and so do Rocky and Brooks—the "Athwilrod."

The label comes from their own surnames— Corporals Bill Atherton of Calgary, George Wilson of Hamilton and Peter Rodney of Waterville, Que.

Using it, the Canadian Brigade can concentrate the entire divisional artillery on a target within 65 seconds.

Big Snow Bill

MONTREAL—(CP)—Final tally of winter operations showed it cost Montreal a record sum of $3,283,401 to remove over 86,000,000 cubic feet of snow. A total of a fraction over 121 inches fell on Montreal since last autumn but the record was 174 inches in 1886-87.

Costly Load

AMHERST, N.S.—(CP)—One of the biggest fines ever handed out here was levied upon M. A. Conrad of Halifax, fined $565 for driving an overloaded truck on the highways. Loads are limited on various roads especially during springtime.

SPREADING THE WORD—Harry Reginald, whose formula for stopping the Korean war by paying the Communist soldiers dollars for their weapons as reported in a Montreal newspaper recently, prepares to take off for the States with "the evidence'.' The 31-year-old American ex-pilot believes that public support would induce the United Nations to try out his scheme for draining off the Reds' offensive power by simply spreading the word of "Money for Munitions."

Murray Orders Steel Strikers To Return To Work In Mills

2nd Weyburn Herd Found Infected; 85 Animals Killed

REGINA, May 2. (CP)—Federal veterinarians has disposed quickly of the second livestock herd found infected with foot-and-mouth disease near Weyburn, 75 miles southeast of Regina. The new infection was discovered Thursday morning. By afternoon all 85 animals had been shot and buried. At the same time veterinarians grew more cheerful about the situation at the community pasture near Weyburn where it has been feared some 900 animals possibly were exposed to contact with the diseased stock.

"We are more hopeful every day that there is no foot-and-mouth disease in the community pasture," said Dr. E. E. Carlston, chief diagnostician of the veterinary group, after returning from an inspection at the mass grazing ground.

Twenty-four cattle from the first infected Weyburn farm had been sent to the community pasture a week before the outbreak was discovered. These animals still are to be slaughtered, along with 12 known to have had contact with them.

263 Head Slain

In two days, 263 head of livestock have been slaughtered in the Weyburn area—190 head of cattle and 73 hogs. These brought to 1,595 the number of animals destroyed since the first outbreak was announced Feb. 25.

All animals destroyed in the Weyburn area came from two infected farms and four contact farms. They brought to 27 the number of infected premises in southern Saskatchewan and to 12 the total of contact premises.

Weyburn is 28 miles outside the original quarantine zone and the area is being enlarged to include it.

No indications have been found as to how the disease spread to the Weyburn area. But Dr. Kenneth Wells, chief veterinarian from Ottawa, said it is in the nature of the foot-and-mouth virus that new infection should be uncovered after all signs of it appear to have been eradicated.

"That is the reason for the continuing extensive inspections and, while we are still slightly optimistic, we know we are likely to get further infection," said Dr. Wells.

Rieve Regains T.W.A. Control; Secession Move

CLEVELAND, May 2—(AP)—President Emil Rieve retained his control of the 400,000-member Textile Workers' of America (C.I.O.) today, but one Canadian leader of the union was advocating a secession move for about 5,000 Ontario members.

Rieve won his seventh two-year term late Thursday and 25 candidates he supported were swept into office, defeating the slate of the executive vice-president, George Baldanzi.

Officials of the Rieve administration said they were informed Jack Robinson, head of the Hamilton joint board, will recommend to his board that it withdraw from the international and form a new union. Robinson was an unsuccessful candidate for vice-president.

Baldanzi declined comment on the Robinson move, and reiterated a statement of Thursday night that he would take no part in any move for secession. He has been executive vice-president of the union since its formation in 1939.

Willing To Assist

Sam Baron, once Canadian director for the union, told reporters he had no plans, but would be "willing to assist" Canadian leaders of the union if they asked him to. The Rieve administration removed him from the Canadian directorship last year on the ground he was not supporting the international body. Baron was another unsuccessful Baldanzi candidate for vice-president.

Baron was replaced last year by J. Harold Daoust, among the vice-presidents elected in Thursday's voting.

The victory for Rieve forces was the climax of a long fight for leadership of the textile workers which has had loud reverberations in Canada since 1950 when Baldanzi was chosen vice-president over a Rieve-backed candidate.

2 Lucky Bets Win £25,000

WINDSOR, Berkshire, England, May 2 (Reuters)—Montague Harry Parker, the latest idol of British horseplayers, was still feeling a little dazed today.

He made more than £25,000 by investing £2 on two long-shot nags in a double Thursday.

"I woke up feeling lucky Thursday so I made up my mind," he said.

Monty—who admits he has a hunch now and then but they seldom pay off—phoned his bookie (legal in England) and talked him to taking a pound to win and a pound to show at track prices on his double choice.

Monty picked up an afternoon paper and found the first leg of the double—Ivernia in the first race at Newmarket—had come in at 25-1 at the bookies' prices.

Gift From Canada

ATHENS, Greece, May 2. —(Reuters)—A shipload of Canadian flour worth $1,230,000, sent by the Canadian Red Cross for Greece's distressed areas, was unloaded here today.

Juvenile Crime Wave Checked

ORILLIA, May 2 (CP)—Police believe they have checked a juvenile crime wave with the apprehension of a second gang of juveniles within a week.

The organization, consisting of seven members ranging from 11 to 15 years, has no connection with another secret, hooded group rounded up earlier, police said.

They said the gang, smaller and not so highly organized as the self-styled Ku Klux Klan group, will face charges of thefts of a stove, soft drinks and money from milk bottles.

16 Cars Derailed One Killed, Three Hurt

BISCOTASING, Ont., May 2 —(CP)—One man was hurled to his death and three others were injured when 16 cars of a west-bound Canadian Pacific Railway freight jumped the tracks here Thursday night. Biscotasing is 145 miles northwest of North Bay.

Dead is Leo Roderique, about 47, a transient riding the 53-car freight. Names of the three other transients aboard the freight, are unknown. Their injuries were not believed to be serious.

Cause of the derailment has not been determined. The 16 leading cars were scattered in every direction and 350 yards of tracks were torn up. Wrecking equipment and work crews began clearing the track early today. Meanwhile traffic is being routed over a siding.

The mishap occurred almost in front of the station in the centre.

Believe Plane Burning Before Crash

Make No Attempt To Land, Examine Wreckage

BELEM, Brazil, May 2. (AP)—Aerial rescue teams reported Thursday night a Pan-American airliner apparently was burning before it crashed on Tuesday in dense Brazilian jungle. Their leaders wrote off as dead all 50 persons the plane carried.

Maj. Richard Olney ordered his United States Air Force rescue unit to end its mission without parachuting to the site or trying to recover the bodies because it would endanger the lives of the rescuers.

A Brazilian Air Force Catalina —a flying-boat patrol plane—planned, however, to land Brazilian medical rescue corps men on a river about 40 miles from the scene today in the hope they could hack through the nearly impenetrable growths.

Among the 41 passengers were Mrs. Lucy Geils Wood, 37, formerly of Montreal and a sister of Edmond Joly de Lobtiniere of the external affairs department in Ottawa; Mrs. Wood's husband, John, 42, a British engineer; Marcel Francois Demueller of Toledo, president of the Willys-Overland Auto Export Company of Canada Ltd.; Dagmar Seelig, 24, a German citizen living in Montreal, and Lockett Coleman of Boston, a grandson of the late Chief Justice Charles Piers Davidson of Quebec.

The airliner—making one of Pan American World Airways "El Presidente" trips from South America—took off from Rio de Janeiro shortly after dark Monday for a 12-hour night flight to Port of Spain, Trinidad, its only remaining stop before New York.

Study Wreckage

The plane reported by radio that all was well as it passed west of Barreiras, a mid-Brazilian town, shortly after midnight. The wreckage was discovered less than an hour's flight beyond the position given in its final report.

Observers with powerful glasses circled the wreckage at low altitude and offered the opinion the plane had exploded at low altitude.

Parts of the motors of the powerful, four-engined stratocruiser —a double-decked passenger development from the B-29 bomber —were scattered a quarter of a mile apart. Charred chunks of wreckage were strewn for half a mile over both sides of a ridge.

No trees were broken, as would have been done by a plane trying to pancake into a jungle landing.

A vast air hunt, spreading over 320,000 square miles of jungle, went on for 48 hours before a Pan American pilot sighted the wreckage.

Reds Reject UN Compromise

MUNSAN, Korea, May 2 (AP)—Communist negotiators today refused to agree to a United Nations command package proposal for settling the Korean armistice deadlock.

The Red reply was given in a secret full-dress session of armistice delegations.

The chief negotiators scheduled another meeting for Saturday at [illegible] (10 a.m. Friday E.S.T.).

This gave rise to speculation the Communists may have offered a compromise plan.

But Vice-Admiral C. Turner Joy, chief United Nations delegate, refused to say what happened in the 78-minute session at Panmunjom.

"I regret I have no comment to make," Joy said.

Canadian Property Damaged In Riots

TOKYO, May 2 (Reuters)—Commonwealth property did not go unscathed in Thursday's May Day rioting here.

A stone splintered the window of a car driven by Lt.-Col. Douglas A. Kellough of the Canadian military and liaison mission to Japan. Kellough was not hurt.

The Australian mission cars and two army jeeps were stoned. An Australian army sergeant was beaten up and a British army car had its windows shattered.

Drew Demands Defence Dept. Inquiry

OTTAWA, May 2 (CP) — George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, Thursday night demanded a full investigation into defence department administration.

Disclosures of looting at Petawawa and other military establishments, he said in the Commons, call for a "detailed and exhaustive examination of the administration of the department."

It is not only the few men charged with thefts at the Petawawa camps who are on trial, he said. "It is the department of national defence which is on trial and which should be called before a tribunal and made to account for its handling of government property."

The Petawawa lootings could not have happened, he contended, if Defence Minister Claxton "had paid the slightest attention to repeated warnings that looting was taking place and that steps should be taken to protect property."

Offered Names

Mr. Drew said that last June 6 G. K. Fraser (PC-Peterborough West) had told Justice Minister Garson he could supply names of men who would swear materials had been offered for sale on Ottawa streets of the same kind as those in an Ottawa army building destroyed in a $732,000 fire four days earlier.

On June 13, Mr. Fraser had given similar information to Mr. Claxton. Nothing had been done.

Mr. Drew said the Petawawa thefts had not been discovered by anyone in the defence department. They had come to light on information from the wife of a man in the camp who had been applied to participate in the looting.

Committee Agrees Sask. Should Only Lose 3 Seats

OTTAWA, May 2. (CP)—A Commons committee today unanimously agreed that Saskatchewan should not lose more than three of its 20 seats in the Commons in this year's redistribution of representation.

The committee voted unanimously for a motion that would prevent a province from losing more than 15 per cent of its seats in any redistribution.

Earlier the 35-member all-party committee voted 18 to 10 against a motion by Stanley Knowles (CCF—Winnipeg North Centre) that would have limited the loss of any province to 10 per cent.

Members rejected by a vote of 21 to 7 a new Progressive Conservative bid for a federal-provincial conference to discuss redistribution. The motion was supported only by Progressive Conservatives.

Sub-Committees

The committee established several sub-committees to recommend how the readjustment should be made in the various provinces on the basis of the 1951 census.

The motion limiting Saskatchewan's loss to 15 per cent was sponsored by A. E. Deward (L., Qu'Appelle) and was based on proposals made earlier in the Commons by Prime Minister St. Laurent.

Under existing constitutional provisions, Saskatchewan would lose five of its 20 seats. Manitoba would lose two and Nova Scotia one. British Columbia would gain four and Ontario and Quebec two each. Other provinces would remain unchanged.

Acceptance of Mr. Deward's motion by the committee indicates that this is how representation in the Commons will be divided after the next general election, with existing representation in brackets:

Refuse To Make Concessions

BONN, Germany, May 2 (AP)—Allied sources today said the west is not going to concede any more to get German troops for western defence.

The western big three, these sources said, take a serious view of the revolt by two of the parties in Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's government coalition but won't give any more ground on the German demands.

The two parties, the Free Democrats and the German Party, have said they cannot approve the present form of the peace contract which the western allies and Adenauer have nearly completed. The pact would give west Germany near-sovereignty in exchange for a 400,000-man German contribution to the projected European army.

The coalition split seriously endangers ratification of the contract and its companion European army treaty by the west German parliament, necessary before any Germans can be put into uniform.

Group Plans Blitz Against Caterpillars

OWEN SOUND, May 2 (CP)—The Owen Sound Ratepayers Association, with the co-operation of the city works department, has planned a blitz against tent caterpillars next Monday.

The Association is calling for several hundred volunteers to wage a street-by-street campaign through the outlying districts, particularly in the sparsely populated areas. The city has been zoned into five divisions.

Property owners will be asked to destroy the tents on their own land.

Berlin Police Quell Communist Youths

BERLIN, May 2 (Reuters) Communist youths today tried to take up where they left off May Day demonstrations Thursday but were dispersed within a few minutes by police. More than 100 were arrested.

The group demonstrated against west German President Theodor Heuss, here to open a school.

The youths were attacked by spectators and police had to protect them.

Shark-Catching In Tropics Helps Bring Britain Loss Of £3,000,000 Last Year

LONDON, May 2 (Reuters)—Shark-catching in the tropics, attempts to breed cattle in head-hunters' country, and other projects to extract wealth from colonial territory cost Britain nearly £3,000,000 last year.

The colonial development corporation, set up by the government five years ago to expand food, raw materials and other resources of the colonial empire, announced the loss in its annual report.

The organization blamed various hazards, including steel shortages, for the difficulties encountered. But running through the report was the mark of the main enemy—nature in her most untameable moods.

"Always, over the majority of the enterprises (were) the perils of the tropics, vagaries of wind, flood and drought, of ravage and disease," the corporation said.

One of the biggest disappointments was a scheme to catch and process shark, tuna and crawfish off the West African coast by means of a factory ship, the "African Queen."

The ship caught plently of sharks —but the price of shark liver oil fell and the value of the catches was below estimate. Loss is likely to exceed £300,000.

Accepts Invitation From Truman To Attend Parley

WASHINGTON, May 2. (AP)—The C.I.O. steel workers, responding to a request from President Truman, today called off their strike while the legal battle over government seizure of the mills shifted to the Supreme Court. Union President Philip Murray announced in Pittsburgh he has ordered his 650,000 men to go back to work "as soon as possible." Murray also accepted an invitation from Truman to confer at the White House Saturday with industry leaders.

Murray sent this telegram to Truman:

"I have urged the members of the United Steelworkers of America to return to work as soon as possible in the plants involved in our dispute with the steel industry."

"I likewise, pursuant to your request, will be at the White House, together with my associates, on Saturday morning, May 3, to meet with you and the presidents of six major steel companies."

Murray left immediately for Washington by automobile.

Distributing Orders

Even as the announcement was being made, union aides were on a battery of telephones distributing Murray's orders to officers and members of the union.

Union aides predicted that striking mill workers will begin streaming back into the mills about 3 p.m. EDT in preparation for the start of the regular 4 p.m. shift.

Murray's disclosure came during confusion at union headquarters. The excitement was caused by the sudden illness of a union aide who fell unconscious to the floor in the room where newspapermen were awaiting Murray's statement.

The stricken man is Charles (Chuck) Adamson, an assistant to Vincent Sweeney, the union's director of public relations.

Murray expressed confidence the men will be quick to resume production of steel vitally needed for defence and essential civilian users. First predictions were that the industry could be back at a near-normal level by Sunday night.

Likely To Accept

There had been no formal acceptance from industry men but lawyers for the steel companies told reporters here management presentatives undoubtedly will accept.

On the legal side, the steel industry went to the supreme court with a plea that it uphold the ruling by Judge David Pine that Truman lacked legal authority to seize the steel mills, and forbid the government to raise wages while the court is considering the issue.

By this move, the industry got the jump on government lawyers who had planned to take the case to the highest tribunal. However,

U.S. Destroyer Crew Enjoys Chasing Train

TOKYO, May 2 (AP)— Sailors aboard the United States destroyer Duncan believe their ship is the first ever to chase a railroad train.

Commander Russell H. Smith, captain of the Duncan, said the train was spotted at night north of Hungman on Korea's east coast.

The Duncan lit up the scene with star shells and the train piled on steam. The Duncan gave chase, firing heavy explosives.

'We just about had it pinpointed for the kill," Smith said, "when the engineer ducked into a tunnel and refused to come out again."

Red Shore Guns Damage Two Destroyers

SEOUL, Korea, May 2—(AP)—Two United States destroyers were damaged slightly by Communist shore batteries in a gun duel that raged Wednesday afternoon in besieged Wonsan harbor on Korea's east coast, the Navy announced today.

The Navy said it was the longest ship-to-shore artillery duel of the Korean war. It did not say whether there were any casualties.

Gunners on the destroyer Maddox were splashed by spray from 125 near misses. Several shrapnel holes were found on the ship. The destroyer Laffey reported 170 rounds of Red gunfire hit near the ship.

The North Korean radio at Pyongyang said shore batteries at Koesong on the east coast damaged a United Nations destroyer Thursday.)

One Jet Destroyed

The Air Force reported 22 U.S. Sabre Jets jumped four Communist MIG-15s today and probably destroyed one Red jet.

Slower F-84 Thunderjets engaged four MIG-15s but made no claims. Both flights were in northwest Korea.

Allied planes attacked rail lines in the western sector of North Korea while fighter-bombers teamed with the first Marine air wing in hitting Red revetments along the battlefront.

The Air Force said the vital Red rail line between Chongju and Sinanju was cut in 60 places. Sabre jets flying protective cover attacked a supply train near Chongju. Pilots said they destroyed the locomotive. Twenty-five rail cars were damaged.

On the ground the weather was hot. The temperature hit 90 degrees Thursday.

May Day passed with only light contacts. But the Reds harassed Allied positions with the heaviest artillery and mortar fire in months. Nearly 6,000 rounds were hurled into Allied lines. Most of the fire was concentrated northeast and west of the punchbowl on the eastern front.

Convicts Finance Lifer's Appeal

TORONTO, May 2—(CP)—Prisoners at the Don Jail are taking up a collection to pay for an appeal by Albert Cole, sentenced last month to life imprisonment for holding up a shoe store.

Judge Robert Forsyth, before imposing the life term, called Cole an incurable criminal.

Amounts large and small have been put into the appeal fund. One prisoner Thursday called his wife to the jail and made her hand over $2, all the money she had.

Same Old Story

Recognize Red Pattern In Bloody Japanese Riot

TOKYO, May 2 — (AP) — U.S. spokesmen said today Japan's bloody anti-American May Day riots bore the "well known trademark of ruthless Communism."

Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway said the riots, in which at least 1,800 were injured and possibly seven killed, were "clearly of alien inspiration."

U.A. ambassador Robert D. Murphy called the riots "more of the same" Russian policy of sparking violence which he had seen in European cities.

The newly arrived ambassador narrowly missed injury from flying rocks. He told his first press conference he was surprised by the ugly anti-foreign outbreak.

But, he said, "I felt a little bit at homes I watched. I detected a certain classic pattern and the same type of formations" as in Communist-led European demonstrations.

Both Ridgway and Murphy said the anti-American atmosphere of the riots would not alienate relations between Japan and the U.S.

Foreign Minister Katsuo Okazai told the ambassador Japan is sorry "American nationals and property were involved in the riots." And the cabinet moved quickly to strengthen the nation's anti-subversive laws with a controversial new bill.

New Victory For Malan

Reject Opposition Move To Hogtie Government Bill

CAPETOWN, May 2—(Reuters)—Speaker J. H. Conradie of the House of Assembly today rejected an opposition move to hog-tie the government's controversial bill to make parliament the supreme constitutional court.

His ruling gave another victory to Prime Minister Daniel Malan in his battle with the United party opposition over colored voters rights under the constitution.

Opposition leader Jacobus Strauss asked Wednesday if it was in order to continue debate on the High Court bill when it might be one of those under the constitution which require debate by a joint session of House and Senate and approval by a two-thirds majority before it could be enacted.

Conradie ruled today that Strauss has no case.

Under the High Court bill, Malan seeks the power to overrule decisions of the Supreme Court on constitutional matters, thus consolidating his racial segregation policy.

Malan won the first round of the tussle last week when the House passed the first reading of the bill despite opposition attempts to have it thrown out. The Legislation arose out of a Supreme Court judgement invalidating a key piece of racial legislation removing colored voters from the common register.

Seek New Dean In Reorganizing At Conservatory

TORONTO, May 2—(CP)—Toronto's Royal Conservatory of Music, in the face of controversy arising from recent reports of proposed reshuffling of its executive, Thursday night officially announced its plan of reorganization.

One phase of the plan may settle one of the chief issues raised.

In a 1,500-word statement read to the Conservatory faculty, the Board of Directors said it is seeking a well-qualified dean to head the reorganized Conservatory.

One point in the controversy was the complaint that there would be no dean to co-ordinate the activities of the proposed School of Music and Faculty of Music. These will be formed from the combination of the present University of Toronto Music Faculty, the present Conservatory and the senior school and opera school which operate under the Conservatory.

On Same Level

The statement also asserted that the proposed School of Music and Faculty are to be considered on the same level.

During the controversy it was claimed that Dr. Ettore Mazzoleni, Conservatory principal, had been slighted by being offered the headship of the proposed school, while Dr. Arnold Walter, present assistant principal, was to be appointed head of the faculty.

As an outcome, Sir Ernest MacMillan retired as dean of the university's music faculty and Dr. Mazzoleni resigned as principal.

The Conservatory statement said: "Dr. Ettore Mazzoleni was offered by the Board of Directors the headship of the School of Music and in order to make it clear that no demotion for him is involved the title of principal is retained . . . Dr. Mazzoleni will retain the responsibilities that he now has as the principal of the present Conservatory."

Under the reorganization, all music activities of the University of Toronto and the Conservatory will be combined into a College of Music, under the university. The college will have two parts—a "school" and a "faculty" of music.

The school will carry out the present Conservatory program of teaching and examining, with the exception of work for the licentiate diploma.

The faculty will be responsible for studies leading to the degree of Bachelor of Music and to the licentiate and artist diplomas now is-

Find Youth Being Educated For Easy Living—Whitton

OTTAWA, May 2. (CP)—Mayor Charlotte Whitton of Ottawa tonight said the "great sin of our day against youth" is that "we have been educating for easy living." Dr. Whitton was responding to the award of the Montreal Medal as a Maker of Queen's, given annually by the Queen's University graduates of Montreal.

University graduates "who should have been the strong defense of democracy have been contributing rather to its destruction," Dr. Whitton said.

The first of six "great betrayals" was their "failure to bear witness . . . to the truth as human experience has lived and recorded it."

From this grew the second betrayal, "the failure to define and uphold principles." The third was the "flunking of a sense of public responsibility at all commensurate with the privileges which life and the community have opened to the university graduate."

Government Declining

"As a result, democratic government which must be representative, is declining and disintegrating through its failure to engage the service of a duly proportionate number of those best equipped to serve it."

The fourth was the exercise of power beyond the reach of the people and the fifth "is our failure to bear witness to what should be the selflessness of the honorable citizen in a free society."

Dr. Whitton said the sixth betrayal is "most bewildering of all in the educated mind."

"This is the theory that modern government has become so vast and complex that it cannot possibly rest firmly upon the foundation of the experience of living and the mass wisdom of the people but must be studied, planned and directed from the top down."

Laugh At News Four To Resign

TORONTO, May 2 — Provincial Cabinet ministers laughed heartily at Western Ontario newspaper reports Thursday that four of their numebr intend to resign.

The reports claimed Planning Minister Griesinger, Provincial Secretary Welsh, Municipal Affairs Minister Dunbar, and Agriculture Minister Kennedy planned to walk out of the Cabinet.

"They should have given us a day's notice," said Mr. Dunbar "Or even an hour's notice to know what we were supposed to do." Now Acting Highways Minister, he said: "I have three bridges to build before I do anything like that, and I might have another one in my pocket."

Col. Welch termed the reports "nonsense." A clipping had been brought into the luncheon room where several of the Cabinet ministers were eating, and they all laughed over it. Col. Kennedy, contacted at home, said it was all news to him, but he was sure there was nothing in the reports.

While the Planning Minister could not be reached, it was learned resignation is not included in his immediate plans.

UNDER FIRE—Dr. Thomas Childs, federal veterinary director-general, appeared as a witness before the 60-member House of Commons Agricultural Committee investigating the government's handling of foot-and-mouth disease in the Regina area. Documents tabled in the Commons showed that Dr. Childs countermanded an order by other federal veterinarians for collection of animal specimens for shipment to Hull, Que., for diagnosis. Instead he ordered an on-the-spot diagnosis.

FORT ERIE, May 2 (CP) — Fleet Manufacturing Company Limited and union officials Thursday night reached agreement on a new contract.

It will give a 10-cent an hour across the board increase to all hourly employees. Reclassification in lower caetgories will bring female employees an increase of 20 cents an hour. Other benefits include holidays with pay and an increase in overtime pay

Prices Jump Sharply On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, May 2 (CP)—Prices jumped sharply today as early afternoon stock market support spread rapidly from leading issues.

Industrial dealings spread slightly from leading issues but a wide list of oils and penny golds showed activity. Volume for the first three hours was 1,399,000 shares.

Papers, liquors, refining oils and miscellaneous issues led industrials upward with gains ranging to $1. Utilities, steels, foods and banks also drew firm support but retail stores and foods slipped.

Western oil gains ranged from pennies to the $1.25 jump of Gridoil. Anglo-Canadian, Calvan Consolidated, Federated Petroleum, Model, Sapphire, Trans Empire and Punch climbed strongly.

Base metal leaders pushed upward. Consolidated Smelters, Golden Manitou, Hudson Bay, International Nickel, Sherritt-Gordon, Steep Rock, United Keno Hill and Waite Amulet traded higher.

Kerr Addison led a slow senior gold climb. Junior producers were firm but prospects made little headway.

the justice department said it will go ahead with its own appeal from Pine's ruling.

Truman appealed Thursday night for the steel workers to get back on the job as "loyal Americans".

By implication at least, his request carried notice too that if they did not the government might use that Taft-Hartley Labor Act and seek a court order for their return.

"The government now is in a position to continue the operation of the steel mills in the national interest," Truman said. His telegram, made public shortly before midnight, also went to presidents of six big steel companies. It asked all seven men to meet with him in the White House Saturday morning.

It is illegal to strike against the Government, and Truman was telling the union that he considers the steel mills back under Government operation.

Jekel had a row with foreman Raymond Henshaw. First he refused to apologize, then Henshaw refused to shake hands.

Say Negligence In Handling F-M Outbreak

OTTAWA, May 2 (CP). — A Manitoba farmer Thursday night told the Commons agricultural committee there was "something grossly negligent" in the Federal Veterinary Services Department.

J. A. Ross (P.C.-Souris) made the charge while the committee was investigating the handling of the foot-and-mouth disease outbreak in southern Saskatchewan.

Meanwhile, Agriculture Minister Harry Bowman of British Columbia said investigation was under way into tighter control over Saskatchewan and Alberta cattle imports. B. C. cattle men asked Mr. Bowman to re-impose a ban on prairie cattle imports.

The province's ban was relaxed during a period when no new cases of the easily-spread disease were reported.

In the agricultural committee, Hazen Argue (C.C.F.-Assiniboia) said the reason Canada was in such a "mess" was because foot-and-mouth disease was not properly diagnosed last November.

Long Lapse

Mr. Argue said there may have been "improper diagnosis" of an animal disease on the Leonard Wass farm at McLean, Sask., 28 miles east of Regina. The disease was reported Nov. 26 last and was diagnosed vesicular stomatitis, a cattle infection milder than foot-and-mouth.

He noted that almost two months elapsed before tests were made on hogs, calves and horses as a departmental pamphlet advised. The booklet also suggested laboratory tests were made two months after the first outbreak was reported.

But the lab tests were made only because an order from Dr. Thomas Childs, federal veterinary director-general, did not reach Regina in time to stop shipment of specimens.

Dr. Childs said he ordered collection of specimens stopped because he feared breakage of the containers en route to the Hull, Que., laboratory with a consequent spreading of the disease to eastern Canada.

He also told the committee a previous outbreak—at Ormiston, 100 miles southwest of Regina — may have originated at the Burns packing plant in Regina. The infection was carried in a quarter of frozen beer which came from the Burns plant "so far as we know."

Genetic Effect Of A-Bombs Being Assessed

MONTREAL (CP)—The greatest bilogical effects of the atomic bombing of Hiroshima and Nagasaki may only be felt in the fifth to 10th generation, says Duncan J. McDonald of the Atomic Bomb Casualty Commission.

Mr. McDonald, a graduate of McGill University, Macdonald College, and Oxford University where he studied as a Rhodes Scholar, took over his present assignment in July, 1951, when he was placed in charge of the genetic research staff of 15 persons, a part of the entire staff of 1,000 of the Atomic Bomb Casualty Commission.

Writing of his work to his former professor and dean, Dr. W. H. Brittain, vice-principal of Macdonald College, the Canadian scientist says that "we attempt to see every baby born on Hiroshima and Nagasaki and record whether it is normal, and if abnormal, in what way."

Some 15,000 babies are born each year in the two Japanese cities, he says, and about half are children of parents, one or both of whom were exposed to the atom bomb, the other half are children of parents who moved into the cities since 1945.

"Thus we have a control population from which we can obtain an estimate of the normal occurrence of the various types of congenital defects," says Mr. McDonald. "Eventually, when enough babies have been seen — and enough has been estimated at 150,000—we should be able to demonstrate any increase in the exposed group."

"Our study is, of necessity, limited to dominant mutations which will appear in the first generation, and this only a small part of the total genetic change which must have taken place," the scientist says.

"It is a rather frightening thought that the genetic effect of the bombs will appear maximally only in between five to 10 generations hence. Thus, if we can demonstrate any change in this first generation, we can state with some degree of accuracy what the total effect in the next 100 years or so may be."

More Hopeful About Oatis Officials Claim

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON, May 2 (AP).—State Department officials tackled with renewed hope today the task of trying to obtain the release of Associated Press correspondent William N. Oatis from a Czechoslovak prison.

From State Secretary Dean Acheson down, they were obviously cheered by word that the Czech Communist Government had—for the first time—permitted American Ambassador Ellis O. Briggs to talk with Oatis.

The interview lasted half an hour, and was held Wednesday at Prague police headquarters, the department announced Thursday.

It was the first contact with Oatis by an American official or friend since he was arrested by Czech Communist authorities April 23 last year. He was later tried and convicted on what the United States has denounced as "trumped up" spy charges.

Officials cautioned against interpreting the interview as a significant indication of what the Reds may do about giving Oatis his freedom. But they were noticeably pleased by this first break in the case.

Since Oatis was arrested, the United States has banned travel of American citizens to Czechoslovakia, halted trade which once produced millions of dollars a year for Czechoslovakia, and has taken other retaliatory measures.

The Czechs presumably would want to negotiate on these matters in return for Oatis' release if and when they decide to free him.

JOHN F. NICOLL, Singapore's new governor, delivers an address at his installation in office this week. He said the colony would co-operate fully with the people of Malaya in their war against Communist terrorists and warned there could be no self-government for any country that did not contribute towards its own defence.

Quebec Changes Teaching Of History

By RICHARD DAIGNAULT

QUEBEC, May 2—(CP)—Teaching of Canadian history—long a controversial subject—is undergoing important changes in Quebec province. The patriotic approach is on the way out, the scientific method on the way in.

The new trend, in full swing in Quebec's two big French-language universities, Laval and Montreal, is just beginning to be felt at the public education level where old methods are solidly entrenched.

Probably the most paradoxical aspect of this development is that it is sparked, by Canon Lionel Groulx of Montreal, an historian whose interpretation of certain phases of French rule in Canada once gave rise to violent verbal disputes.

Now in his late 70s, Canon Groulx is the founder of L'Institut D'Histoire De L'Amerique Francaise.

L'Institut the first body to be able to grapple systematically with vast accumulations of documents long left to gather dust in Archives.

Novel Type of History

A novel type of Canadian history, prepared by three prominent members of L'Institut and published this week in Montreal (Fides), is in the hands of a Quebec Department of Education committee.

The committee will decide if the 297-page book is to be submitted to the Public Education Council for approval and eventual use in classrooms.

In this book, the authors make no comments, offer no opinions. They present Canadian history through the writings of people who lived it, through contemporary documents.

Guy Fregault and Michel Brunet, professors of Canadian history at the University of Montreal, and Marcel Trudel, professor of Canadian history at Laval, have called their work "L'Histoire du Canada Par Les Textes"—Canadian history according to the texts.

Revision of history textbooks is under way at the Department of Education but no radical changes are considered as far as history teaching in primary grades is concerned.

Director Praises Display Of Public School Art

High praise was again given the art education being given in Peterborough's public schools Thursday night by C. D. Gaitskell, director of art education in the schools for the province of Ontario.

Dr. Gaitskell was the guest speaker at the opening of the 1952 Exhibition of Arts and Crafts by public school children being held at the Public Library May 1-10. Last year the art director highly complimented an exhibit of the Peterborough Children's Art Centre.

The exhibit includes pictures, puppets, modelling, patterns made by potato printing, stencilling, cutouts, samples of scratch-board techniques.

"The art education in Peterborough is outstanding and you are very fortunate in having an art supervisor such as Miss Gertrude Cox and a staff of teachers who do such splendid work," Dr. Gaitskell commented.

New System

The relatively new system of teaching art in schools — it's nature, how it is carried out and why—was explained by Dr. Gaitskell who is the founder of this system.

"Without art, no child is educated," the speaker said. "This is a new idea and has been developed within the last few years. Every civilized country in the world is giving a great deal of attention to art education."

By telling about a two-year experiment with 2,000 children in 425 classrooms, Dr. Gaitskell explained the role that this type of art education is playing in children's lives.

Little children don't naturally draw a picture, when given crayons or paints, they scribble, and as they develop, symbols As this development progresses, a setting is put in for these symbols as they are put in an environmnt.

In this way the child uses his emotion and his intellect. He thinks about things that have happened in his daily life, analyses and defines them as he expresses himself through art.

Represents Thinking

Art represents what a child is thinking for he can express himself in art far beyond his vocabulary.

Dr. Gaitskell warned of the dangers of the old dictatorial methods of teaching art, because it stops the children thinking. Instead, children should be allowed to interpret their daily lives in their own manner. The teacher's role is to smooth out technical difficulties and provide motivation for the children's ideas.

"Through art, children come to grips with their environment and thus come to understand it," Dr. Gaitskell concluded.

John Londerville.

Following Dr. Gaitskell's address, films of children at work in art rooms, "Creative Hands," was shown.

The exhibit will remain open to the public until May 10. Pupils from the city's public schools will visit the exhibit during the week it is on display.

Spring Fever Riot

LINCOLN, Neb., May 2 (CP) — The University of Nebraska Thursday night had its second successive night of "spring fever" rioting. Thursday night's spree climaxed when the dean of student affairs was doused with a pail of water.

Critics Doubt Play Will Last Long

By MARK BARRON

NEW YORK, May 2 — (AP) — Claire Luce returned to Broadway [illegible] night at the Mo[illegible] Dra[illegible] Theatre in "Much Ado About Nothing."

It was a worthy effort in its intent, but it is doubtful that it will keep Miss Luce and her cast too long occupied.

There have been fewer than 100 performances of "Much Ado About Nothing" on Broadway since 1900. It has mostly been done in the past by repertory companies for a few performances with stars who wanted to make a national tour after organizing their companies in England.

Miss Luce, who was once a Ziegfeld Follies blonde beauty and who won some acclaim on Broadway last season as Katherine in "The Taming of the Shrew," has given this Much Ado About Nothing" a colorful production. And she gives a good performance as Beatrice. But, it is still one of those plays that you leave with the idea that Shakespeare wrote on a quick weekend.

Ramp Collapses

NEW YORK, May 2 (AP)—Nine persons were injured Thursday night, two seriously, when a loading ramp to an airliner collapsed at Idlewild Airport. The nine are members of the Normennenes Sangforening, a Norwegian singing society at Chicago. They were among 35 members of the group posing for a publicity picture on a ramp leading to a Scandinavian airlines system plane.

Country-Wide Strikes Cut Deep Into Economy

CHICAGO, May 2 (AP) — Country-wide strikes in the steel and oil industries cut deeper into the United States economy today as President Truman moved to get striking steelworkers back on the job.

An early peace in the oil workers walkout appeared dim and further shortages of gasoline for motorists, truckers and air transport threatened.

The two big work stoppages, involving 650,000 C.I.O. steelworkers and 90,000 unionized refinery and pipeline workers, have forced the layoffs of thousands of other workers.

More than 800,000 workers are idle in labor disputes, including 31,000 A.F.L. Western Union telegraphers, in the country's biggest wave of strikes in more than two years.

Major Developments

Steel—President Truman appealed to Philip Murray, steelworkers' president, to end the strike which started Tuesday. Murray also was invited to meet with Truman and six large steel company officials at the White House Saturday in an attempt to reach settlement in the long and costly wage dispute.

More than 32,000 workers in allied industries, mostly coal mining and railroads were made idle as steel production dwindled to a trickle.

Oil—The strike by 22 A.F.L., Independent and C.I.O. workers' unions appeared spreading as negotiations broke down in San Francisco after earlier indications of a possible settlement.

More than 44 per cent of the country's refining capacity is shut down in the strike in a dispute over wages. Natural gas flow through pipelines has been curtailed sharply in some areas, particularly to the midwest.

Discuss Effectiveness

Communications—Western Union said that more than 51 per cent of normal revenue is being handled across the U.S.

However, the C.T.U. headquarters in Washington said the strike is 98 per cent effective. No negotiations are scheduled. The strike began April 3.

Transportation—Wage disputes were the chief issues in the strike of bus drivers in Rochester, N.Y., and Jacksonville, Fla. Both strikes started Thursday. The 1,100 drivers who quit work in Rochester, want a five-day, 40-hour work week for the same pay they now receive for 48 hours. Their current wage is $1.51½ cents an hour. The drivers in Jacksonville want a pay bost of 22 cents an hour from their current rate of $1.28.

TV By August

We once viewed television—if that is the way to say it; one hears radio, does one "view television"? It seems repetitive to say one views a vision . . . It was an American program picked up on this side of Lake Ontario and we were not impressed by its flicks (perhaps these explain the double "vision" in the phrase), nor pleased by its show nor lured by its advertising. In fact, we hoped then that television would not come to Canada for a few years yet, until programming and mechanics were better advanced. But hopes cannot stand in the way of what some people call progress. Canada is to have two stations by August, one in Toronto, the other in Montreal. Whether we like it or not TV is here.

• • •

An indication of the public interest and wish for TV is the hourly rate which advertisers will have to pay the C.B.C. to be allowed to sponsor an hour's program: $1,600. The rate is based on the possible number of sets which will be tuned into the station. The rate for the Montreal station is to be $500 an hour. Thus Torontonians must have three times as many TV sets as Montrealers, or are judged by the C.B.C. to be about to get them. There must already be thousands of TV sets in Toronto; even in Peterborough and its district there are several hundreds of them [illegible] (urban and rural) with unsightly, grotesque antennae misshaping the skyline.

• • •

We are not at all confident that the quality of the C.B.C. programs will be vastly superior to the American programs about which U.S. citizens complain. Television broadcasting in Canada is far more costly than in the States, because of the fewer listener-viewers and the greater distances. The C.B.C.'s resources do not permit it to indulge in too many unsponsored programs. It will have to carry both American programs (with their advertising) and Canadian advertisers' programs. No advertiser is going to pay $1,600 for an hour on the TV waves, or $960 for a half-hour, without exacting his pound of commercials from it. However, we shall have to wait and see what happens to TV and its programs in Canada. We can hope at least that it will be better than the worst.

• • •

An interesting matter of costs comes into the Canadian TV situation. TV in Canada is a C.B.C. affair. Millions of C.B.C. dollars are being put into TV stations. The C.B.C. gets a good part of its revenue from radio receiver licences. Is it fair to use this radio money for TV broadcasting? Only a very small percentage of the people who pay the radio fee have a TV set, or will have one for many years. Most Canadians will not be able to tune in to C.B.C. television, even if they had a TV set. Why should a person who pays $2.50 for the privilege of hearing radio broadcasts have to support by his $2.50 people who have or will take the opportunity to tune into TV? A radio license is not a TV licence. Nor should fees paid for a radio licence be used to broadcast TV. Is there going to be a special TV licence fee?

• • •

We see no just reason why a person with a radio but without TV should have to help pay the very heavy costs of TV to which either he cannot listen or to which he does not want to listen. C.B.C. TV will reach only a small part of the population of Canada. Should every radio set owner have to help pay, through his radio licence to the C.B.C., for the TV appetite and opportunities of a very small minority?

• • •

The matter is further complicated by the fact that many people who will own TV sets will be unable to reach a C.B.C. station with them. Therefore a blanket [illegible] fee on all TV sets in Canada would be unjust.

• • •

How much simpler it would have been to defy progress and have no TV in Canada for another decade or so. Denmark opened up its own TV station a year ago. Now it is closed. The Danes decided it was too costly a bother; few of them bought TV sets. Now Denmark is back to simple, happy radio days.

Set Back From George

To widen a commercial city street is as painful as stretching on Procrustean bed, and to try to fit an older main street like George Street into a blue-printed pattern is next to impossible. George Street's width was designed for horse-and-buggy days and it is altogether too narrow for today's 40,000 people and their thousands of cars. But short of a lamentable fire which razed all the buildings, the expense of cutting off three or four feet from existing store frontages would be prohibitive.

Fires do occur. The disastrous one on the Zacks property has given the municipal authorities an opportunity to begin setting buildings back from the street without great cost. The Planning Board and City Council should consider now the advisibility of requiring any new buildings on George Street to be set back a few feet. Over a period of fifty years the street might thus be widened by easy stages, as other buildings are replaced. A beginning might be made with the new structure which is soon to go up on the Zacks property.

A few years ago the City Council passed a by-law requiring that all new building along Charlotte street be set back some eight or ten feet. This seemed sensible foresight, and certainly the west side of Charlotte from George to Park would very soon have felt the effect of the by-law. Many of the existing buildings are being replaced. But the Municipal Board turned the by-law down; heavy and important objections were made to it by special interests. To get such a by-law affecting George Street past the Municipal Board would be a minor miracle. However, if the Council were reasonable in its scheme, and asked for only a three-foot set-back instead of ten or a dozen, new building coming under the bylaw would not seem so far back from its neighbors as to be out of the limelight.

Glass, Confound It

Peterborough streets are so strewn with broken glass that one would think the whole municipality had heavy blocks of stock in the major tire manufacturing companies. The glass comes from broken milk bottles, bashed headlamps or car windows, other fragments of jugs and bottles. It is deposited on the streets almost entirely as a result of accidents.

A pop truck spills some of its load, a case of milk bottles tips out of the wagon, a lad with a jar drops it, a dear [illegible] crash. The pop truck drivers are among the most careful, we are glad to report; they usually carry brooms in the cabs and if they have an accident with a bottle or a dozen, they sweep up the fragments there and then.

The prime offenders are drivers involved in car accidents. Smash! the windshield or tail light is broken. Naturally the first concern is to see what damage has been done to passengers and vehicle, and to get evidence about who was at fault. After a while, and after the police have checked the circumstances, the vehicles are driven or towed away—leaving a mess of broken glass scattered all over the pavement. It stays there usually until other passing cars have picked it all up in their tires or the street cleaners, on their usual round, come upon it three or five days later.

It is an offence against the Highway Traffic Act to spread, or cause to be spread, glass on the roadway. Yet in many car crashes broken glass is spewed out. Neither party to the accident bothers about the glass on the street; nor, apparently, does the investigating policeman. Yet one or other or both of the drivers was responsible for the glass being there. If the drivers do not sweep it up, why does the investigating policeman not report the broken glass and the city send sweepers to clean it up immediately? When the court decides who was responsible for the accident, one of the costs to be met by him would be the cost of sweeping up the broken glass. The way these matters seem to be handled now the police are actually condoning a breach of the Highway Traffic Act.

Bourgeois Gipsies

The Communist government of Czechoslovakia is having some difficulty with certain sections of its populace in bringing them into the fold of true Communist society. Czechoslovakia, be it remembered, is the well-spring of gipsy life, particularly its province of Bohemia. A congress took place recently in Prague to discuss how the gipsies could be made to conform to the rules, regulations and hard-and-fast moulds of a regimented state.

One of the Congress's startling decisions was that: "A propaganda campaign is to be launched, in order to divest our nomadic compatriots of the last traces of bourgeois idealogies." Alas for their allegiance to Karl Marx; these modern Communists do not get even their definitions Marxian. A gipsy bourgeois? It is a fancy notion: the gipsy with his feet up on his own hearth, jealously [illegible] his own house and garden, concerned about money-making, social-climbing and culture-hounding; intent on bourgeois comforts and following bourgeois pursuits like going to church, the club, the office, the hair-dresser's salon and the maternal uncle's family mansion.

Placed beside a solid Communist of Prague, it is the gipsy who seems to be thoroughly communist, the Prague man—like the delegates to the congress—who is thoroughly bourgeois.

In their current public performance, the distinguished Royal Conservatory quartet of MacMillan, Mazzoleni, Walter and Johnson might, critically speaking, be said to have faulty harmony. We'll not say a word about their counterpoint. Has their business manager Smith put them off key?

Notes And Queries

By ALPHA

Questions are solicited for this column particularly those relating to local lore and tradition.

THE BRIGHTEST WILL IN CANADA: I propose to discuss at leisure in this week's column a remarkable Scot who came to Canada in 1826 and died in 1848 and left undoubtedly the most beautiful will ever read by a Q. C. The man and his will were brought to my attention by Mr. Wilfrid F. Huycke, Q.C., city solicitor, who has the distinction of being a learned member of the Peterborough bar.

My subject is Dr. William "Tiger" Dunlop, born with red hair near Glasgow in 1792, died at Lachine in the summer of 1848, and had his funeral in the first month of 1849 at Goderich, where he was buried.

The will (written in 1842 when he was M.L.A. for Huron County) began: "In the name of God. Amen.

"I, William Dunlop, of Gairbraid, in the Township of Colbourne, County and District of Huron, Western Canada, Esquire, being in sound health of body and my mind just as usual (which my friends who flatter me, say is no great shakes at the best of times) do make this my last Will and Testament, as follows, revoking, of course, all former wills."

BUT FIRST TO THE MAN. He had a distinguished ancestry including a university principal and professor of Greek. He took his medical degree at Glasgow. In 1813 he was commissioned as an army surgeon, ordered to Canada and took part in the 1814 battle of Chrysler's Farm. He later wrote a book called "Personal Recollections of the War of 1812-14" and in it had the presumption to call Toronto a "dirty straggling village containing about sixty houses."

Mr. Dunlop was recalled to Britain in 1814; missed, to his undying regret, the battle of Waterloo, and was sent to India, where he got the name that stuck to him afterwards, "Tiger" Dunlop, by ridding an island in the Ganges of man-eating tigers (and presumably by talking about it afterwards). He contracted jungle fever and returned to Britain on half-pay.

He lectured in Edinburgh on medical jurisprudence, wrote articles on India for magazines, and became a [illegible] edited various magazines there, managed a salt works in Cheshire and was an executive of brick and iron companies. In 1826 his friend, the Scottish novelist, John Galt of the Canada Company (which acquired, besides huge tracts in western Ontario, around Galt and beyond, land in Peterborough county) persuaded him to join the Canada Company's staff, as "Warden of the Forests". So Dr. Dunlop returned to Canada.

FOR A DOZEN YEARS Dunlop did colonizing work for the Canada Company. Galt founded Guelph in 1827, and Dunlop himself founded Goderich, which he chose as the company headquarters. His brother Captain Robert Graham Dunlop of the R.N. came out and the two of them built a large house above Goderich which they called Gairbraid after their ancestral home in Scotland. Gairbraid became the social centre of a merry circle of well-bred, literate British and European immigrants in the district.

The house needed a housekeeper. Their sister sent out a comely Highland lass, who had been a dairywoman. Tongues wagged at Goderich, so Dr. "Tiger" Dunlop decided that either he or his brother should marry the lass. He had a two-headed coin and called the toss so that his brother the Captain should get the wench. Which he did. She proved to be a good practical wife. "Tiger" had his negro butler "Black Jimmy"—who, by the way, read the marriage lines for the Captain and Louisa McColl, which sufficed until the practical lass, Louisa insisted on having the union regularized by an ordained minister.

In 1835 Captain Dunlop was elected as Tory representative of the Canada Company to the Upper Canada (Ontario) legislature. He died in 1841. Dr. Dunlop ("Tiger" with the red hair), who had resigned from the company's service because he did not approve of its policies, stood as the anti-company nominee. Captain Strachan, son of the notable Bishop, strong with the Family Compact and the Canada Company, was his opponent. It was a vivid election battle. Strachan was declared returned by 159 to 149 votes.

The Tiger petitioned against this election, charging election frauds and mal-practice, unseated Strachan and became member for Huron. It was in the following year that he made his famous will, which immortalizes his eccentricities, his wit and his vigorous humanity. He tolerated neither humbug nor mugwumpery.

AND NOW AT LAST I come to his will, the introduction of which has already been given:

"I leave the property of Gairbraid and all other landed property I may die possessed of to my sisters Helen Boyle Story and Elizabeth Boyle Dunlop: to the former because she is married to a minister whom (God help him) she henpecks: to the latter because she is married to nobody nor is she likely to be for she is an old maid and not market-rife. And also I leave to them and their heirs my share of the stock and implements on the farm, provided always that the enclosure round my brother's grave be reserved and, if either should die without issue, then the other to inherit the whole.

"I leave to my sister-in-law, Louisa Dunlop, all my share of the household furniture and such traps with the exceptions hereinafter mentioned.

"I leave my silver tankard to the eldest son of John as representative of the family. I would have left it to old John himself, but he would melt it down to make temperance medals and that would be sacrilege. However, I leave my big horn snuff-box to him; he can only make temperance horn spoons of that.

"I leave my sister Jenny my Bible, the property formerly of my great-great-grandmother, Bethia Hamilton of Woodhall, and, when she knows as much of the spirit of it as she does of the letter, she will be another guise Christian than she is.

"I also leave my late brother's watch to my brother Sandy, exhorting him at the same time to give up Whiggery Radicalism and all other sins that do most easily beset him.

"I leave my brother Alan my big silver snuffbox as I am informed he is rather a decent Christian with a swag belly and a jolly face.

✧ ✧ ✧

I LEAVE PARSON CHEVASSE (Magg's husband) the snuffbox I got from the Sarnia militia, as a small token for the service he had done in taking a sister that no man of taste would have taken.

"I leave John Caddle a silver teapot to the end that he may drink tea therefrom to comfort him under the affliction of a slatternly wife.

"I leave my books to my brother, Andrew, because he has been so long a Jungley Wallah (bushman) that he may learn to read with them.

"I give my silver cup with a sovereign in it to my sister Janet Graham Dunlop because she is an old maid and pious and therefore will necessarily take to horning. And also my Grandma's snuffbox as it looks decent to see an old woman taking snuff.

"I do hereby constitute John Dunlop, Esq., of Gairbraid; Alexander Dunlop, Esq., Advocate, Edinburgh; Alan C. Dunlop, Esq., William Chalk of Tuckersmith, William Stewart and William Gooding, Esquires, of Goderich to be the executors of this my last Will and Testament.

"In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and seal the 31st day of August in the year of our Lord, 1842.

W. DUNLOP, L.S."

DUNLOP MAINTAINED his literary interests even in Canada, and contributed bright articles to "Blackwoods" and other magazines. He founded the first literary society in Toronto. In 1844 he resigned from the Legislature and took the position of Superintendent of the Lachine Canal. It was at Lachine, where he was a gay and colourful figure, that he died at the age of 56 in the late summer of 1848.

His sister-in-law, the faithful Louisa, soothed his dying hours, took his body to Hamilton where it was temporarily entombed until snow made it possible to journey by sleigh to Goderich, and there, in the early winter of 1849 he was given a large and affectionate funeral at which the inhabitants paid their last respects to their famous and colourful citizen. Louisa did not die until 1871, and was buried in the same plot, underneath the same stone cairn as Captain Robert Graham Dunlop and Dr. William "Tiger" Dunlop . . . God rest their lively souls.

An American Opinion: WHAT PRICE WAGE INCREASE?

Why Spoil Potatoes?

(FARMER'S ADVOCATE)

THE COMMON complaint of investigators [illegible] in that [illegible] and the yield goes up the quality of potatoes goes down. In other words, growers are producing more but worse potatoes.

It may be that several of the better yielding varieties now in use are not as good from a quality point of view as the kinds they displaced. Forcing may depress quality. There are many factors, no doubt, to be studied and appraised, but the experts and investigators might as well pluck up their courage and state frankly that they think it is the muriate of potash in the fertilizer that affects the quality of the crop detrimentally, when liberal applications are made.

For almost half a century it has been preached that muriate of potash has a deteriorating effect on the quality of tobacco and potatoes. Long ago the tobacco growers established the practice of using only a limited amount of muriate and depending largely on sulphate of potash to produce a crop of high quality. Manufacturers have recognized the special requirements of tobacco crop and have compounded a suitable formula.

[illegible] direction from the fertilizer advisory boards, whose chief concern, it must be admitted, is in the consumer of fertilizers. Why these boards have not played a more active part in getting suitable fertilizer formulae for potatoes into distribution only they can explain.

Growers would be acting wisely if they discussed the problem with the manufacturers from whom supplies are purchased. A switch from muriate to sulphate, for at least some of the potash content in the fertilizer, might produce pleasing results.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Righteousness exalteth a nation: but sin is a reproach to any people. (Prov. 14: 34.)

The soul that sinneth, it shall die. The son shall not bear the iniquity of the father, neither shall the father bear the iniquity of the son: the righteousness of the righteous shall be upon him, and the wickedness of the wicked shall be upon him . . . When a righteous man turneth away from his righteousness, and committeth iniquity, and dieth in them; for his iniquity that he hath done shall he die. Again, when the wicked man turneth away from his wickedness that he hath committed, and doeth that which is lawful and right, he shall save his soul alive . . .

Therefore I will judge you, O house of Israel, every one according to his ways, saith the Lord God. Repent, and turn [illegible] your ruin.

Cast away from you all your transgressions, whereby ye have transgressed; and make you a new heart and a new spirit: for why will ye die, O house of Israel? for I have no pleasure in the death of him that dieth, saith the Lord God: wherefore turn yourselves, and live ye. (Ezek. 18: 20, 26, 27, 30-32.)

When thou art come into the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee, thou shalt not learn to do after the abominations of those nations . . . Thou shalt be perfect with the Lord thy God. For these nations, which thou shalt possess, hearkened unto observers of times, and unto diviners: but as for thee, the Lord thy God hath not suffered thee so to do. (Deut. 18: 9, 13, 14.)

There was a quiet dignity about the doctor that held a certain type of familiarity in check. One day, as his class of medical students was leaving a hospital ward, following a visit there, a patient in a bed near the doctor called out: "Good morning, Doc."

The doctor made no comment then, but when the corridor was reached and we were out of the man's hearing, he stopped and turned to the students and said: "Beware of the men that call you 'Doc.' They rarely pay their bills."

Temper in the Trees

(Daily Commercial News)

In its leading editorial of Friday, April 18, "The Globe" properly blasts at indiscriminate tree cutting in cities and suburbs. But the compalint is on unsound ground when it lumps the Ontario Government and the Ontario Department of Highways as among the worst offenders.

True, an adequate defence arugment is yet to be brought forward by municipal utilities administrations for their slaughter of lawn and boulevard trees in cities and suburbs in the interest of maintaining the overhead wiring systems which are in fact outdated. That defence may yet be heard, with the explanation that underground wire installations cost more than cutting down trees. They do indeed, but they are better in the long run and should, and will be planned in progressive stages by the cities, towns and townships which have municipal councils boasting responsibility.

Meanwhile, nothing is to be served by loose hysterical claims that "everybody is agin the trees." Certainly the Ontario Department of Highways merits no beefs for the relatively small-scale tree cutting it has resorted to in widening and straightening roads.

Hitch-Boater

Hitching car rides across the continent has become almost a commonplace. But the radio operator who set out by himself in a dory from Sable Island toward his Halifax home, 125 miles away, may have done something quite new, though it is doubtful if he will start a new fashion in travel. What enterprising Norman McKiegan did was to appropriate a boat and begin rowing westward over the Atlantic, hoping to be picked up by some obliging vessel—so long as it was bound for the right port. After rowing for 35 miles, he got his wish.

If the little matters of flouting authority and causing expense to the search and rescue people be overlooked, this was a commendable operation. But it should be kept in proportion. Did Mr. McKiegan, after all, display more dauntless determination than the hordes of Ottawa citizens who nightly struggle to board a Britannia street-car?

Briton Urges Currency Union With Canada

LONDON, May 2—(CP)—Currency union or a common Canada-United Kingdom budget as possible means of solving economic problems facing the two countries were suggested Thursday by A. H. S. Hinchliffe, retiring president of the Association of British Chambers of Commerce.

In his valedictory address at the annual meeting of the organization Hinchcliffe, who toured Canada last year with a team of British business men, said encouraging progress had been made in dissolving misunderstandings between the two countries, but much still remained to be done.

No piece of public work could be more valuable than the promotion of good understanding with the Canadian business world. But the long-term objective of the Association must be more ambitious than the mere stimulation of British exports to the dollar market.

"We must not rest until men and their money can move to and fro between this country and Canada without obstacle or hindrance. It is something for us to be wanted in these days when in so many parts of the world they are trying to get us out.

Mustn't Miss Chance

"The good people of Canada want us to help them develop their wonderful riches, both with money and manpower. We must not miss the chance. we should be seeking ways and means of some broader, and bolder solution to the economic problems which beset us, even if it means some special relationship such as a currency union or a common budget.

Importance of the position occupied by Canada in relation to Britain and to the destinies of the whole democratic world could not be over-emphasized. It was fortunate that a nation possessing almost limitless natural resources and [illegible] assured, soon, to be a member of the British Commonwealth.

But members of the Commonwealth family, he submitted, should be in continuous session, wrestling with their economic troubles with the same determination and spirit they applied to wartime strategy against a common enemy.

Thinks Formosa Dangerous Spot

MONTREAL, May 2 (CP). — Rt. Rev. Norman D. Kennedy of Regina, Moderator of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, said on Wednesday that Formosa "is the most dangerous place in the world today."

Dr. Kennedy returned a few weeks ago from a trip to the Far East, inspecting Presbyterian missions in Japan, Korea, Formosa, and Hong Kong.

Offer Egyptians New Proposal

LONDON, May 2 — (Reuters) —Sir Ralph Stevenson, British Ambassador to Egypt, left by air Thursday for Cairo carrying new British proposals for a settlement of Britain's row with Egypt over the Sudan.

"These proposals are not necessarily final," he said. "The object of my visit to London was to work out a possible new approach." He said he expected to see Hilaly Pasha, the Egyptian Premier, before the weekend.

Britain is understood to be suggesting a round-table conference of representatives from Britain, Egypt and the Sudan this summer.

The Sudan, formerly jointly administered by Egypt and Britain, was claimed by Egypt last year to be Egyptian territory. Britain says she wants the Sudanese to determine their own future.

Loretta Young Says Jeans Very Poor Style

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, May 2—(AP)—"Pants", say Loretta Young, "can be very attractive—on a man."

But teen-agers make a mistake in sporting blue jeans, men's shirts and other such sloppy garb.

"That's decidedly not the way to catch a man's eye. Neatness and femininity are what will do it."

One of Hollywood's best-groomed stars, Miss Young was offering some practical leap-year advice to girls intent on snapping a male.

"A girl doesn't have to be a fashion model to attract a man. Most girls aren't well enough equipped to look like a model, nor do they have the money for fabulous wardrobes. I think the main thing a man admires in a woman is cleanliness.

Simple Formula

"That's a simple formula. If a girl's clothes are clean and neat, her face well scrubbed and her hair shampooed, she'll merit a man's admiration."

Miss Young was earnest on the matter of coiffure. "A man hates nothing more than dirty, stringy hair on a girl," she said.

Nor is she a convert to the poodle cut. "It's not for me," she said. "I think it looks very attractive on a girl like Elizabeth Taylor and, of course, Claudette Colbert, who has always worn her hair short. But I don't think the poodle is right for most women. I believe a woman's hair should be her crowning glory."

Since Miss Young has long been a Hollywood fashion plate, I asked if she would tee off on the new formal wear. Time was when the film famous would be seen in only the most glamorous of trappings.

"Oh, I think it's all right," she replied. "After all, there are all kinds of glamor. June Allyson is not the kind that dresses to the hilt, but she's right on top of the popularity polls. What she has must be glamor, too."

STRIKING SIGN—Bethlehem Steel worker Paul Dragas put finishing touches to picket placards in Steelton, Pa., after C.I.O. president Philip Murray ordered an immediate strike of 650,000 steel workers. Murray's strike order came after Federal Judge David A. Pine ruled President Truman's seizure of the steel mills illegal. And now the President's action has been upheld by an appeal court.

Less Hazards At Grand National

AINTREE, England — (CP)—Proposals designed to reduce the hazards of the Grand National steeplechase have been received by the owners of Aintree racecourse.

The Society for the Modification of Steeplechasing, whose three vice-presidents are all women, bases its reform proposals on what it calls the "sad record" of the race—about 40 horses destroyed, hundreds injured and only 63 finishers out of 275 starters in the last six years.

The society suggests removal of Aintree's first fence, which annually takes a large toll because some horses in the rear have to "jump blind." Another recommendation is that only horses which have finished in the first [illegible] in a major steeplechase of 3½ miles or more should be allowed to run in the Aintree jumping classic.

The Grand National, run over a distance of four miles, 856 yards, was started in 1839 by a pubkeeper in nearby Liverpool who wanted to attract more business. Odds are about 4-1 against any one horse completing the course. In 1952, only 10 of the 47 runners got around without falling.

Norm Graham Quits City Council

Ald. Norman Graham told the Examiner yesterday that he was resigning from the city council, and had no intention of changing his decision. He said he would make a statement later.

Ald. Graham is chairman of the sanitation sub-committee of the board of works. He called a meeting of his committee a week ago, and it was understood that he was going to have something to say about the management of the sanitation department.

A special session of the council held briefly last Monday night was called solely to authorize sale of debentures. No other business was introduced. Ald. Graham was not present.

If the council accepts the resignation and follows a custom of appointing the next highest candidate in the last election of aldermen it would ask William Beggs to take Mr. Graham's place for the remainder of his two year term which ends December 31 next.

Going there and coming back was quite a problem in the early days. Jogging along on a one-cylinder donkey . . . even galloping on a spirited horse . . . can't compare with the mile-eating speed and comfort of modern motoring.

Postponing Strike For Two More Weeks

SAULT STE. MARIE, May 2—(CP)—A strike by the local Carpenters and Joiners Union (A.F.L.-T.C.L.) has been postponed 14 days. It was originally scheduled for late Wednesday.

The union Wednesday night offered to accept a basic wage rate of $1.85 plus six cents an hour for every five-point increase in the cost of living. They had asked for $2 an hour. The present basic wage is $1.55.

If agreement with contractors here is not reached in 14 days, a representative of the Ontario Labor Department will be called in.

A strike would stop work on about 200 building projects.

Noted Baseball Scout Ernie Johnson Dies

MONROVIA, Calif., May 2 (AP) —Baseball scout Ernie Johnson, 64, who was credited with sending to the big leagues such stars as Ted Williams, Dom DiMaggio, and others of Boston Red Sox fame, died Thursday.

He played in the majors with Chicago White Sox and New York Yankees.

He often told of the time that three-fourths of the infield at Salt Lake City, including himself as playing manager, was lifted intact late in 1920 to fill the gap left in the White Sox infield by the Black Sox scandal. Only second baseman Eddie Collins was left at Chicago.

Yukon Accepts Hermann Bout

Hans Hermann and Yukon Eric have been rematched in the feature wrestling bout at the Brock next Tuesday.

Hermann, who has a near perfect record in America, was plenty peeved at the decision he received here Tuesday. He claimed he was "rigged" and Yukon scored a lucky win. He also claimed that Referee Maxwell gave him a fast count.

Yukon, in accepting Hermann's demand for a return match, admitted that the big German was one of the toughest men he ever wrestled, but figures he can repeat his last win. Fans who witnessed the match enjoyed a sizzling contest between two powerful grapplers. There was never a dull moment.

Release No. 28 of the N.H.L. bulletins arrives to say that Gordie Howe of Detroit Wings, is the Hart Trophy winner this year. This award to the player most valuable to his team carries with it a $1,000 cheque. Same as an N.H.L. all-star berth, which Howe earned, too. As the Wings match these cheques, the 24-year-old right-winger from Saskatoon gains a nice bonus on top of his year's salary and his Stanley Cup money, eh? Elmer Lach of Canadiens was judged second for the Hart Trophy, and Jim Henry of Boston third. Terry Shawchuk of Detroit and Milt Schmidt of Boston tied for fourth, the latter winning it last year. Howe is five feet 11 and goes 187 pounds. Learned his hockey in Saskatoon, had a season in Galt and turned pro with Omaha in '45. Moved up to the Red Wings when only 18 years old. A natural.

Since confusion still prevails regarding which officials or players of the Eagles are under O.H.A. suspension—for failure to keep an engagement in Kingston — and since the O.H.A. is oddly silent on the matter, we've written Bill Hanley asking him to clear the matter up. He is business manager of the O.H.A. and acting secretary. We earlier wired him and he merely replied briefly that the Eagles had been notified. However, they were just advised that the club was suspended under a certain C.A.H.A. ruling. Since then, not a word has been said to the Eagles nor to the press here or in Toronto. We looked up this particular C.A.H.A. ruling.

According To The Book

According to Rule 9, section (a): "If a team is withdrawn from the ice, fails to go on the ice and start to play or, being on the ice, fails to start play within two minutes when ordered to do so by the referee in charge, the game or series shall be forfeited to the opposing team. The manager, coach or official of the club which is responsible for any of these actions, shall be automatically suspended for one year from the date of the infraction, without the right to appeal." Section (c) orders a similar penalty "if a team fails to present iself at the time and place appointed, etc." Okay, that should mean one — and one only — official comes under such a suspension. Not the whole club. So, we've written for a report on it.

Prexy Bob Peirson of the Petes' Timbermen advises us that the senior lacrosse season will open here on May 16 with Owen Sound on deck. Toronto comes here May 23 and the Petes make their first trip on May 24 to Owen Sound. Schedule will be drawn up next week. Like last year, the Petes will play all six opponents two games away and two at home, and they will play the three closest clubs one extra game here and one away. That would mean Toronto, Mimico, Hamilton or Fergus would appear here three times while the other three further-away clubs would show here twice during the schedule. In other words, we'll have 15 home games before group playoffs begin. Bob also says Jerry Fitzgerald will start the season for the Petes again, and Fred Hildebrand will likely arrive shortly.

Batawa tackles the local U.E.W. team tomorrow aft at 3:15 in Morrow Park to open the soccer season. It's an Eastern Ontario League fixture, the Peterborough pack last year taking the loop title and proceeding to win the provincial intermediate championship. Bill Garbutt, club manager, has another promising crew lined up and some smart soccer is sure to be seen throughout the summer. Batawa gave U.E. a stiff tilt earlier this season in an exhibition, and may be stronger Saturday as league play gets underway once more. U.E. have been practicing regularly for some weeks on Tuesday and Thursday nights on the southend pitch.

Brawl Causes Excitement In B.C. Trials

By DAVE STOCKAND.

VANCOUVER, May 2 (CP).— A piston-puncher who lopes forward like an ungainly giraffe and a Manitoba boy who stops punches like a concrete wall cooked up a brawl Thursday night which outshone the torch opening Canada's Olympic games boxing trials.

For boxing science, the opening night of the 1952 commenced Canadian boxing championships and Olympic trials featured 20-year-old Len Walters of Vancouver, looking for the key to his second international tournament.

In the rhubarb department, one of Ontario's hopes sent up a "what's a guy got to do to win" plaint which echoed all through the sparsely-populated exhibition forum here.

Undoubtedly, the show-stopper was the welterweight bout in which diamond driller Jack Butula of Kimberley, B.C., bludgeoned out a third-round knockout over Lloyd Sutton of St. Boniface, Man.

For two rounds the lunging, plunging Butula carved and hacked at his shorter-by-inches foe. But the only times Sutton went backward was when he was propelled in that direction by Butula's clusters of blows.

Stopped Fight

Early in the third round, though, he caved in after stopping dozens of direct hits. Butula was pummelling him in a corner when the referee stopped the fight. As soon as Butula was pulled away, Sutton pitched forward on his face.

Walters' victim was Winnipeg's Pet Kawulia, who went the distance as the Vancouver featherweight with a steady stream of combination punches to his face and body.

Nish's split decision over Toronto's Paul Bagnato in a flyweight clash, the fights ended either in knockouts or with unanimous verdicts.

Some of the crowd of slightly under 1,000 agreed with the contention of Bagnato's corner that the kid from Cardston, Alta. — his second wore cowboy boots— didn't deserve the win.

Abbreviated bouts saw lightweight Clayton Kenny of Ottawa chill Ernie Beston of Weyburn, Sask., at 2:35 of the first round and light-welterweight Roy Keenan of Champetre, Que., stop Tommy Palmer of Haney, B.C., at 26 seconds of the third.

In the other contests, flyweight Buddy Pearson of Vancouver decisioned Gerry Boucher of Halifax, light-welterweight Pete Ramanow of Hamilton decisioned Don Wallace of Barrie, Ont., welterweight Pete Dignard of Vancouver decisioned Walter Kozak of Edmonton, and light heavyweight Wayne Scheer of McLeod, Alta., decisioned Andy Marshall of Prince Rupert, B. C.

Norwood Team Feted At Dinner

NORWOOD, May 2—(ENS)— About 70 atended the annual banquet of the Norwood T.V.L. hockey team, held in the Royal Hotel, Hastings, Wednesday evening. Seated at the head table were: Manager Lloyd Fleming and Mrs. Fleming; secretary-treasurer Bert Lockhead and Mrs. Lockhead; director Rod Webb and Mrs. Webb; Dr. A. R. Atkinson and Mrs. Atkinson, and the two guest speakers, Aubrey (Dit) Clapper and George (Red) Sullivan, of the Boston Bruins.

Following the dinner, Dr. Atkinson, chairman for the evening, spoke a few words of welcome and introduced Dit Clapper, who spoke briefly on the futur of hockey in this district. He then introduced Red Sullivan of the Boston Bruins, who spoke on the Stanley Cup Series between Montreal Canadiens and the Boston Bruins, then answered questions from the players on his experience in hockey.

Dr. Atkinson then called on Rod Webb, who thanked the [illegible] of the team for their good co-operation during the past season.

Dr. Atkinson then on behalf of the club presented Honey Tompkins, Red, Creighton, Al Griffin, Garry Robinson, Moon Wootton, Mick Magee and Bobby Thorpe with a gift of money.

Manager Lloyd Fleming then presented windbreakers to the following: Boyd Kelly, Neil Rogers, Bud Webb, Bergen Payne, Gordon Fennell, Bill Thompson, Joe Whitnell, George Brydges, Doug Ferguson, Reg Jones and Ross Aldred.

Dr. A. R. Atkinson was also presented with the medical crest. Also receiving windbreakers were manager Lloyd Fleming, assistant manager David Hall, secretary-treasurer Bert Lockhead, director Rod Webb.

Highlight of the evening was when Dr. Atkinson called on Rod Webb, who asked Jim Brown, a former member of the team, who had received severe injuries while playing and since has had complications, to stand while Bert Lockhead presented him with a windbreaker on behalf of the team.

The evening was brought to a close with a dance held in the Norwood Town Hall with music supplied by Art Jones and his orchestra.

Remember When—

The long-shot bold venture survived a jam at the start to nip the 4-to-5 favorite brevity in the stretch and win the 62nd running of the Kentucky Derby 16 years ago today at Churchill Downs. The great colt Indian Bloom owned by Major Austin Taylor of Vancouver was third in that renewal of the classic.

NBA Criticizes Several Champs

WASHINGTON, May 2 (AP)— The National Boxing Association today hit out at world champions who shy away from risking their titles against first class opposition.

At the same time the NBA congratulated the two smallest titleholders for "conducting themselves like champions."

The NBA praised Vic Toweel of Johannesburg, South Africa, the bantamweight king, and Dado Marino of Hawaii, boss of the flyweights, for taking on all comers.

"All we ask champions to do," said Dave Rochon, NBA president, "is to abide by the simple diction-pion."

Rochon said his dictionary defines a champion as "one who stands supreme in any branch of athletics and is at all times ready to defend against any qualified challenger."

"The two little fellows," Rochon said, "are certainly setting an example for the bigger six to follow."

Havelock Girls Plan Ball Loop

HAVELOCK, May 2 (ENS) —The Havelock Girls' Athletic Club held a re-organization meeting Tuesday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Adams, when the matter of forming a softball team and the possibility of getting girls from nearby municipalities to form a league was discussed.

As a means of creating more interest in the formation of a league a cup has been put up for the playoffs.

The same officers will carry on for the season: Mrs. Randle Ellis, president; Miss Barbara Brooks, secretary; Mrs. Archie McArthur, treasurer.

It was decided to speak to interested persons in Norwood, Warsaw, Hastings, Marmora, Campbellford and Nephton, asking that two or three representatives from each place attend a meeting in the Havelock town hall on May 6, for the purpose of forming a league and drawing up a schedule. An invitation was extended to any other community than those named, who would care to play in this league, to send representatives.

A softball [illegible] will be held 6.30 p.m.

As a means of raising funds it was decided ot sell tickets on a quilt, the date of the draw to be announced later.

Gordie Howe, Detroit Red Wings' all-star rightwinger, is the winner of the Hart Trophy for the 1951-52 season, the National Hockey League announced on Thursday night at Montreal.

The award goes annually to "the player adjudged to be most valuable to his team." Howe also gets $1,000 from the league which may be matched by the Wings.

Elmer Lach, Montreal Canadiens all-star veteran centre, was voted second and Sugar Jim Henry, goalkeeper for Boston Bruins, third.

A panel of 18 sports writers and broadcasters made the choice.

Howe received 62 of a possible 90 points. Lach had 46 points and Henry 14.

An international field of 45 entrants is expected to enter the Canadian marathon grind Saturday at St. Hyacinthe, Que. Gerald Cote, Canada's veteran runner, will make a bid for the title.

Montreal Alouettes of the Big Four Football Union have signed middle Marv Meirowitz, former McGill University star, from Brooklyn, N. Y. He was assistant coach to Vic Obeck at McGill last year.

A two-fold investigation into the 1948 and 1952 Olympic basketball teams that represented the United States started in New York Thursday after the University of Kentucky was castigated for tinges of professionalism by Judge Saul Streit. Kentucky had players on the teams.

The winner of the mid-May basketball series in Tillsonburg between the Livingstons and the survivors of the University of Western Ontario-University of Alberta college championship will place seven men on Canada's Olympic basketball squad. The loser will be allotted two places and three more to go to top [illegible] es of the Canadian Amateur Basketball Association branches across Canada. Carl Ridd of Winnipeg and Nev Munro of Vancouver are top nominations to date and Tillsonburg has already announced that Ridd will replace their United States star, Tommy Gibbons.

Brownies Crowd Red Sox For Lead With 6-1 Win

By JACK HAND, Associated Press Sports Writer

Dizzy Trout, Joe Dobson and Sid Hudson, like old wine, seem to improve with age. The old gaffers are teaching the new dogs some old tricks. Trout turned in a spectacular relief chore Thursday night at Yankee Stadium to stifle a New York Yankee rally. Rescuing Art Houtteman in the ninth with men on first and third and nobody out, the 36-year-old Trout preserved a 5-4 Detroit victory. Dobson, well past his 35th birthday, silenced the Philiadelphia A's without a hit for 7⅓ innings while pitching the Chicago White Sox to a 3-0 triumph.

Hudson, Washington's 34-year-old veteran, edged Cleveland's Bob Lemon, 2-1, in an exciting 13-inning battle at Griffith Stadium.

The kids had their fun, too. Those rollicking St. Louis Browns, after breaking even with the world champs in New York, bowled over the Boston Red Sox rookies, 6-1. Rogers Hornsby's upstarts, cellar tenants in '51, moved within one game of the first place Red Sox.

Spring Sensations

Chicago Cubs, somewhat more mature than the Brownies, continued to play like the spring sensations of the National as they bumped off Brooklyn 7-2. It took a trick of mathematics to keep the Cubs out of first place. Chicago, last in 1951, actually had a half game edge in the won-and-lost standings but Brooklyn held a 13-point percentage point edge.

Jim Hearn pitched the New York Giants to a 13-5 romp over Pittsburgh to make his lifetime count 14-2 over the Bucs.

Robin Roberts, the Phillies' youthful ace, racked up win No. 3 with home run help from Nippy Jones and Connie Ryan as he downed St. Louis 6-3 with an eight-hitter.

Cincinnati's Herm Wehmeier needed relief help from Frank Smith to put down a ninth-inning [illegible] for the Braves.

At Yankee Stadium, Vic Wertz was the big gun in the Tiger attack. He bashed successive two-run homers off Johnny Sain in the fourth and fifth innings to set up the Tiger triumph.

Dobson had a no-hitter going with one out in the eighth. Then rookie Skeeter Kell beat out a slow roller that shortstop Chico Carrasquel bobbled momentarily. The official scorer ruled it a hit on the theory that Kell would have beaten the throw to first. Dave Philley's clean single to centre with two out in the ninth was the other hit off Dobson.

Throws Five-hitter

Duane Pillette threw a five-hitter against the Red Sox while the Browns shelled loser Walt Masterson and two others for 10 hits. Pillette's two-run double knocked out Masterson in the fifth.

Big Hank Sauer of the Cubs put the skids under Dodger Ralph Branca with a three-run double in the first inning. With one punch he boosted his runs batted in total to 20, tops in both leagues.

Wes Westrum's third-inning homer with two on was the big blow in a seven-run inning that knocked Mel Queen out of the majors. After he took his shower, Queen was handed a one-way ticket to Hollywood by general manager Branch Rickey.

Royals Club Baltimore In 19-3 Pasting

By The Associated Press

Montreal Royals today appeared to be shaking the pesky Toronto Maple Leafs in the race for the top rung in the International League.

The Royals pulled ahead by a game-and-a-half as a result of Thursday night's action when they trounced Baltimore 19-3 while Springfield was whipping Toronto 5-3. In the only other game, the last-place Ottawa Giants ripped Rochester 10-1. The Syracuse-Buffalo game was rained out.

Royals Click

The Royals, shooting for their second straight league pennant, slapped Dixie Howell and Dwain Sloat for 19 hits including two home runs by Joe Lutz.

That made things easy for Mal Mallette to score his first triumph for the Royals, the losers notched all their runs in the fourth inning on Marv Rickert's three-run home run.

Toronto grabbed the lead from the Cubs but couldn't hold it. Ernie Silverman had a three-run margin going into the sixth, but the Cubs pounced on him for three runs in that stanza to tie it. Then they hit for single markers in the seventh and ninth to sew it up.

Silverman, relieved by Ray [illegible] with his second loss of the season, while Tom Simpson chalked up his first triumph.

Charlie Bishop now has won two of Ottawa's three victories this season. Thursday night he batted in five runs and held Rochester to six hits. He struck out eight, doubled home two runs in the fifth, singled a pair in the sixth and doubled in another in the eighth. Stan Lewandowski, Rochester starter, gave up only one hit until the sixth when he blew up.

Guelph Prepares Victory Party

TORONTO, May 2 —(CP)—If Guelph Biltmores don't win the Memorial Cup tonight a lot of Guelph hockey fans are going to be disappointed.

After seeing the Biltmores win three straight games from the Regina Pats in the best-of-seven finals, most fans are ready to bet that Biltmores will make tonight's game the last one.

A special train, buses and automobiles have been lined up to bring thousands here for the game. A delegation and a band is ready to meet Biltmores when they return to Guelph Saturday.

A parade, civic banquet and gift presentations have been hurriedly prepared.

All this preparation for celebration is based on the assumption that Biltmores will win tonight.

Alf Pike, Guelph coach, thinks they will. "We have more depth than most junior outfits. We have three good lines, four good defencemen and a pretty fair goaltender.

"What else could we ask?"

Murray Armstrong, Regina coach, said of the Biltmores: "They're terrific—as good as I've seen."

He said that the Pats have "gone awfully bad" for the Memorial Cup series. "Remember we really aren't as bad as we've shown but even at our best we'd have a rough time with that Guelph team."

Peterborough Bus Lines Finishes Quarter Century Of Transporting City

Twenty-five years ago, the Peterborough Bus Lines came into being. Laurie Mitchell, manager then as now, had no intention at the time of going into the transportation business.

Suddenly, the streetcar lines that had been serving the city were withdrawn from operation Mr. Mitchell formed Peterborough Bus Lines and filled the gap in transportation.

That was in 1927. Seven buses constituted the whole of the transit system; there are now 31, and the firm has grown into a business with assets valued at half a million dollars.

Walked A Week

In April of 1927 the streetcar lines, purchased from a private company by the Hydro Electric Power Commission, were withdrawn from operation, and the city was without transportation for a week or more.

One attempt to organize a bus line failed, and then the present company started in business.

For the seven buses, Mr. Mitchell rented space in a building on Hunter St., west of George St., later moving to the large bus barn on King St., which the company occupied until 1947.

In that year, still growing, Peterborough Bus Lines moved to its present site on Hunter St. E., just across the bridge in Ashburnham.

There, is a garage 280 by 60 feet, the company has room for 50 buses and the space unused by them at present is rented. In addition, there is space for repair, washing, painting and all the dozens of maintenance jobs that must be done to keep a bus line rolling.

50,000 Population

Eventually, Mr. Mitchell expects that all the garage space will be utilized by the bus line. He, as do other Peterborough businessmen, sees the day when Peterborough will probably be a city of 50,000.

Personnel of the bus line consists of 29 drivers, two inspectors, 14 repairmen, washers, etc., and an office staff composed of Mr. Mitchell and a secretary. Bus drivers have their own union.

Of the 31 buses operated by the line, 27 are 27-passenger models, four are 38-seat buses. When and if the city reaches 50,000 population, there will be 50 buses in the garage; Mr. Mitchell says the proper ratio for cities of 40,000 or more is one bus to 1,000 people.

In recent years, an annual franchise fee in five figures has swelled the city's coffers. The fee was $14,000 in 1951, and was paid in addition to a municipal license fee of $500.

The franchise fee is estimated on a percentage of the gross revenue, and the percentage is on a sliding scale, from two to five per cent. Most of the fee, says Mr. Mitchell, is paid on the five per cent basis.

The bus line operates in the city on a 10-year franchsie, which expires in 1958, when it is probable a new contract will be drawn up.

Change By Bylaws

Peterborough is one of the few cities in Ontario which demands city bylaws for changes or extensions in routes, or changes in fares. A recent survey by the Ontario Municipal Association, covering 28 cities, showed Peterborough to be the only one of those 28 requiring a bylaw for any one of those changes.

Despite a small deficit last year, the bus line is in a fairly healthy financial position. Last year, Mr. Mitchell points out, was one in which more than 90 per cent of the urban transportation companies in Canada and the U.S. suffered deficits.

As it stands, Peterborough Bus Lines is worth an estimated $500,000. To replace the present buildings and equipment would cost in the vicinity of $700,000, said Mr. Mitchell.

By 1958, when the franchise expires, the city may well be one of 50,000 population. For that Peterborough Bus Lines is prepared, both with space and a healthy financial standing.

Price Of Bonds Influences Canada's Living Costs

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

If you take a $100 Victory Bond and go out to sell it you won't today get $100 for it. Depending on the year of issue, you might get as little as $95.

A few years ago you might have got as much as $105; a few years from now it is conceivable that you might again get $105; but certainly, the year it matures, you will get your full $100 and will have been getting interest in the meantime.

These variations from year to year may rest on your mind as simply variations in the current value of a Victory Bond.

But they mean something much closer to you than that. They influence the amount of your grocery bill and the cost of the house you may be buying.

Determines Interest

Quite a number of things may influence the price of the government bond—but its price largely determines the general interest rate in the country.

As it works out, high prices for government bonds mean low interest rates; and low prices, such as we now have, mean high interest rates.

These present high interest rates, because they make borrowing more expensive, tend to hold down demand for goods, and so tend to hold down prices.

The word "tend" is used advisedly. The influence of the interest rates can be overcome by other factors, but even then they act to keep the situation from becoming as bad as it might otherwise be.

But, while the high rates tend to keep down the cost of your house, they tend to make it harder for you to borrow money to pay for it and to increase the price you will have to pay for the money you do borrow.

This is because government bonds are, so far as getting your money back is concerned, the safest of all investments.

If they are yielding a low rate of interest, people will tend to forsake their safety for something a little more risky, which will pay a higher rate of interest—such as a mortgage on a house.

But the higher the current yield to government bonds, and it now is relatively high, the harder it is to attract people to put money into a mortgage.

Saying the same thing in other words, the annual report of the Dominion Mortgage and Investments Association comments:

"Bonds in relation to mortgages have become increasingly attractive as an investment."

Ballet Group Plagued By Injury Jinx

HALIFAX, May 2 — (CP) — Dogged adherence to "the show must go on" tradition has been displayed by Irene Apine, starry director of the Halifax Gotshalks Ballet, in deciding today to dance with her company in the National Ballet Festival at Toronto next week.

Miss Apine suffered a broken bone in her foot while dancing with the National Ballet Company in Toronto more than a month ago. At the time, she and her partner-director husband, Jury Gotshalks, were starring with the national company and faced the responsibility of dancing with their own Halifax group in the Toronto festival.

She was forced to give up her important national company role to a subsitute but she hoped her famous dancing foot would be cleared for use in the National Festival. It was to late for a substitute to take over at Halifax.

She knew her young Halifax company had trained more than a year for the Toronto appearances, had survived a national adjudicator and had gained a coveted opening-night billing on a program drawing 13 companies from coast-to-coast.

She was told Thursday that it was still too early for her to dance. The Ballet Guild, which sponsors her company, urged her to cancel the trip to Toronto.

Has Improvisation

But today, Dr. John Merritt, president of the Guild, announced that overnight Miss Apine had worked out an improvisation which gave her damaged foot relief from the strain of her difficult role in the two ballets in which she is to co-star with her husband.

The company will perform two ballets—the classical Don Quixote "Vision" excerpt and the colorful Carmen ballet "Fiesta In Seville"—and repeat each for four separate appearances through the festival week.

The 16 members of the company and some of their ardent supporters will leave Halifax Saturday morning and they are beginning to feel they are a jinxed outfit. At the last National Festival in Montreal, they had to hold a difficult position in "Swan Lake" for more than three minutes while a straying solo pianist found his way to the orchestra pit.

Actors Praised At Festival

By JOHN MOSHER

SAINT JOHN, N.B., May 2 (CP) Michel St.-Denis, Dominion drama festival adjudicator, complemented the Saturday Players of the Ottawa Little Theatre for doing well "with a very difficult and worthwhile play" Thursday night.

After presentation of the Jean Giraudou fantasy, "The Enchanted," Mr. St.-Denis said there had been "progression" in three acts for the first time since the festival opened last Monday.

While it was not a perfect production, the company had captured most of the play's spirit in "remarkable fashion." There was no feeling of length, as in previous presentations.

The adjudicator had numerous adverse criticisms about voice, diction, the set and lighting. Some lines went too fast or could not be heard, resulting in loss of poetical values and understanding.

Andree Cunningham, in the leading role of Isabel, was "quite good but did a bit too much—a bit too emotional."

The mayor, played by Glesson Goodhue, received the highest praise: "A very good performance—absolutely in the right spirit."

Bill Armstrong as the inspector, was "much too fast and mechanical"—too fast to bring out humor in nthe text. The supervisor, a "charming" role played by Grant Munro, was a bit on the dull side vocally.

Marian Taylor and Therese May, playing the spinster sisters, were "very good," and five little girls were "charming."

The adjudicator said the setting had a wrong character for an old-fashioned French provincial town. It could have had more charm. There were no flowers, hedge, etc., as indicated in the play.

The lighting also was deficient. Value of a text was meant to be expressed by actors' faces but at times they couldn't be seen. A green light on the ghost was "awful." There should have been full lighting to reveal his expression.

The sixth festival performance will be given tonight when the Actors Company of Toronto, presents Clifford Odets' "Golden Boy."

Homes in B.C. Best In Canada Architects Told

VANCOUVER, May 2 (CP) — The "best homes in Canada" are in British Columbia.

The architects know and 300 of them were here Thursday attending the 45th annual convention of the Royal Architectural Institute of Canada, discussing the trend to British Columbia-type homes.

The modern, plush homes with their background of mountains and sea views, along with the more conventional types, have attracted attention from all parts of Canada.

Vancouver shares in the honor of having some of the most modern homes.

"Vancouver people won't live in a hole in the corner as many do back east," said C. J. Carrol of Ottawa, executive secretary of the institute. "Living and recreation mean so much more to them than to people in other parts of Canada. They centre their attention on their homes and their design is outstanding."

Tried In Ottawa

He introduced British Columbia-type homes to Ottawa. "They have attracted more attention than any other in the suburb of Rockliffe."

The architects also learned that wealthy Toronto citizens are asking Vancouver architects to design British Columbia-type homes in new suburbs.

J. Roxburgh Smith, Montreal, president of the institute, said the choice of Vancouver as the convention site could be construed as the institute's recognition of the growing opportunities here for gracious living and profitable working.

Mr. Smith criticized what he termed "socialization of architecutre." He said that Alberta and Saskatchewan are seeking to arrange that the universities decide who shall become an architect.

"Control of architecture in this way by the government is absolutely ridiculous," he said.

At present persons seeking to become architects are admitted to the profession by provincial branches of the institute.

Find Queer Germ In Many Cancer Cases

BOSTON, May 2 — (AP) — A queer-looking germ found in every one of several hundred cases of cancer were reported to the Society of American Bacteriologists Thursday.

This germ is tiny and looks like a jigsaw puzzle piece, made of rods, threads and grains.

The report was made by Eleanor Alexander-Jackson and Virginia Wuerthele-Caspe of the Institute for Proliferative Diseases, Newark, N.J.

The germ was found in every cancer examined, human, dog, rat, mouse and chicken. The early evidence does not indicate this bug is the cause of cancer, but that it has something to do with cancer's rapid growth.

Found Elsewhere

The same germ was found in Leprosy, Hodgkin's disease and in a variety of other diseases in which there is considerable growth of the diseased tissues.

A discovery that some germs and viruses use B-vitamins to save themselves from destruction of medicines that would otherwise wipe them out was reported by K. K. Takemoto, M.L. Robbins, P.K. Smith and A.R. Rourke, George Washington University, Washington, D. C.

They found five drugs that destroy or inhibit flu virus. But when B vitamins were added in test tubes, the drugs no longer were effective.

The virus that similarly protected itself is one of man's presumed friends. It's job is to destroy colon germs in the digestive tract.

Say Baby's Condition "Fairly Good"

TORONTO, May 2 (CP)—The condition of 18-month-old Karen Venables, of Welland, who Thursday night was brought to Toronto's Hospital for Sick Children by ambulance, today was reported as "fairly good." Hospital authorities said she still is in an oxygen tent.

Karen, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. A. E. Venables, was taken seriously ill Thursday with pneumonia. A blocking of the broncial tubes made her condition serious and it was decided to bring her to the Toronto hospital.

A provincial police car escorted the ambulance.

Jury Convicts Baby-Sitter Of Manslaughter

TORONTO, May 2 (CP). — Diane Bound, 22-year-old baby-sitter, Thursday was convicted of manslaughter in the bludgeon-slaying of Susan Kellough, 3. The girl will be sentenced May 9.

Diane broke into tears and buried her face in a handkerchief when the jury brought in its verdict at the close of the four-day trial.

Read in court was a note police said Diane, formerly of Timmins, wrote the day Susan died. It said she "loved Penny, the 11-month-old Kellough baby, but not Susan."

Susan's body, tied and battered, was found in the child's crib Feb. 2.

Guild Asks Daley Intervene In Dispute

TORONTO, May 2 (CP).—The Toronto Newspaper Guild Thursday announced it has appealed to Labor Minister Dailey to intervene personally in a dispute between the union and the management of the Toronto Star, Ltd.

Basis of the dispute is the Star's refusal to agree to joint negotiations with the Guild for a master contract covering 550 employees of the company's editorial, delivery, business office and circulation departments.

The union now has three contracts with The Toronto Star Ltd., covering editorial, business and circulation, and is negotiating a fourth covering truck drivers in the delivery department.

Coins, Stamps Worth $25,000

KAPUSKASING, Ont. —(CP) — Some people manage to hold on to the first dollar they earned as a souvenir. But Mike W. Chorney, 50, has one of the first $5 bills ever issued in Canada and it's not just a souvenir.

It is part of his $25,000 collection of coins, medals and stamps.

Chorney, a watchmaker and repairman, started his collection as a 16-year-old farmboy in Yorkton, Sask., where he lived with his Ukrainian parents who came to Canada in 1895.

His stamp collection is valued at $12,000 and includes a set of northern Ontario air mail covers. Among the set is one issued in 1926 by the Red Lake aerial mail service and another bearing the mark of the northern air service which operated out of Haileybury.

Chorney's coin collection is made up of 30,000 pieces which weigh about 50 pounds. He has a German silver thaler, struck in 1645, and for which he says he could pretty well name his own price.

Among his collection of folding money is one of the original $5 issues brought out by the Bank of Brantford in 1859. He has a $4 note issued by that bank the same year.

He has gathered his articles from friends who are always on the lookout for material, exchange and outright purchase. So far he has spent about $6,500 on his hobby.

Corgi Nearing Top As Britain's Pet

LONDON—(CP)—Figures issued by Britain's Kennel Club show that the Welsh Corgi, a favorite of the Royal Family, is becoming the most popular family pet.

The Corgi has moved up to fourth place in the annual popularity poll of pedigreed pups, displacing the wire-haired terrier which has been one of the first four more than 30 years.

The Corgi's popularity dates from 1933 when the late King George VI bought a pup for his daughter, Princess Elizabeth. Now Elizabeth as Queen has a Corgi called Sugar as nursery pet for her two children, Prince Charles and Princess Anne. The pup is daughter of the reigning pet of the Royal household, Susan.

Savings On Deposit

OTTAWA, May 2—(CP)—Savings on deposit in Canada's chartered banks at March 31 amounted to $4,747,821,000 against $4,684,580,000 at Feb. 29 and $4,613,666,000 at March 31, 1951, the chartered-bank statement for March showed yesterday. Call loans mounted to $97,267,000 at March 31, as against $94,876,000 at Feb. 29 and $94,342,000 at March 31, 1951.

Will Not Run

WASHINGTON, May 2—(AP) —President Truman said emphatically Thursday he will not run if nominated for another term. Asked at a press conference whether he would go a step further and say he would not serve if elected—a statement attributed to Gen. William T. Sherman in 1884 but disputed by some historians—Truman asked how could he be elected if he refused the nomination?

3 Die In Fire

BRANTFORD, Conn., May 2—(AP)—Three women died Thursday in a fire which destroyed a rest home for the elderly. The dead were Mrs. Eva Collins, 53, operator of the home and Mrs. Isabell Nickerson and Mrs. May Swain, both in their 90s. Mrs. Joseph Rogers, 45, related to Mrs. Collins, died of a heart attack.

Suggest Fund Of $200,000 To Aid Victims

TORONTO, May 2 (CP)—Establishment of a $200,000 fund by the Ontario and Federal governments for immediate relief of Lakeshore flood victims was proposed Thursday to select legislature committee on lake levels.

Arthur Child, Progressive Conservative member for Wentworth, suggested the province provide its $85,000 revenue from licensing of sand and dredging companies. At the same time it should obtain a similar amount from the federal government to begin experimental work through construction of seawalls and groins along the flood-damaged Lakeshore areas.

The committee will discuss the proposal with federal officials later this month.

Within four weeks the committee will tour the Port Stanley-Rondeau-Leamington area and also will visit Windsor and Detroit. In July it will go to Cleveland, Erie and Buffalo to inspect beach-protective measures installed at those cities.

No Responsibility

Clifford Magone deputy attorney-general told the committee the Ontario government has no financial responsibility for losses caused by the high water levels.

He added, however, this was no reason for a committee not to study the situation. Recommendations would have to be presented to the international joint commission on waterways.

In the past, Ontario has paid compensation for high water damage but only after the federal government has declared the affected area an emergency one. The federal and provincial governments then paid equal amounts.

Dr. G. B. Langford of the University of Toronto, who has studied erosion along Lakes Erie and Ontario recently, said: "You would have to go back 100 years to find anything comparable to what is happening this year."

Three People Killed In Quebec Collision

DRUMMONDVILLE, Que, May 2 (CP)—Three persons were killed and three others injured Thursday night when two automobiles collided on a highway at St. Germain de Grantham, a few miles south of this eastern townships town.

The dead: Camille Gendron, 44, Armand Lemoine, 27, and Mrs. Jean-Louis Bernard, 25.

In hospital here are: Mrs. Armand Lemoine, 30; Frank Rutherford, 53, and J. J. Houle, 45.

Found Innocent

OTTAWA, May 2 (CP)—A jury Friday found Mrs. Edna Wallin innocent of criminal negligence in connection with the death of her six-weeks-old daughter. Mrs. Wallin was charged after the baby was dropped and suffered a fatal skull fracture. Admitted as evidence was Mrs. Wallin's statement that she drank liquor and beer Jan. 22, the day the child was injured.

Nudes Under Fire

LONDON, May 2 (AP)—Nudes in some shows here are not standing still as they are supposed to and the lights are not always as dim as they should be. This was the complaint voiced Thursday in the annual report of the Public Morality Council, a private organization supported mainly by churches which has been keeping an eye on British morals for 52 years.

Big Chief Dies

LISBON, May 2 (Reuters) — Mocumbi, a 100-year-old native chief with 35 wives, 35 sons and so many daughters that he lost count of them, has died in Inharrime, Portuguese East Africa, according to press reports published here.

PORT MOURNS LOST SEAMEN—Flags fly at half-mast on ships at the Charleston, S.C., naval base as the port mourns the loss of 176 lives in the USS Hobson disaster. The Hobson, a destroyer-minesweeper, was rammed by the aircraft carrier Wasp and sank soon after during mid-Atlantic manoeuvres. Sixty-one crewmen were rescued, but all others perished.

Ask Lawsuit Protection If C.N.R. Bridge Used

OTTAWA, May 2 (CP)—Transport Minister Chevrier said in the Commons Thursday the Canadian National Railways would have to be protected against lawsuits before it could allow pedestrians the use of its bridge across the Burlington channel near Hamilton.

The highway bridge across the channel was knocked out in a shipping accident Tuesday.

Mr. Chevrier told Frank Lennard (PC-Wentworth) that, if municipal authorities guarantee to indemnify the C.N.R. against damage claims, it will consider letting pedestrians use the bridge.

Return Open Verdict In Norman Hill Death

NIAGARA FALLS, May 2 (CP) —A five-man jury Thursday returned an open verdict at an inquest into the death of Norman (Corky) Hill, 28, killed while working on a new power tunnel here April 11.

The jurors found that Hill's death was caused by the falling of a loose rock in the shaft and recommended that safety rules be more strictly enforced.

Have Babies At Home

LONDON, May 2—(Reuters)—The state health service Thursday urged mothers to have more babies at home and ease overcrowding in hospitals. The Central Health Service Council—a commission appointed to review the work of the national health scheme—complained in its annual report that too many women are going into hospitals to have their children.

M.P. Ashamed Of Poor Salary For Members

OTTAWA, May 2 (CP)—Julian Ferguson (PC—Simcoe North) said Thursday that the Liberal party should be "man enough" to increase the indemnities of members of the Commons to "where they should be."

He told the Commons during the budget debate that an indemnity of $4,000 a member is "disgraceful, insulting remuneration."

Members receive $4,000 for each session of 65 days duration and a $2,000 annual tax-free living allowance. Last year, when there were two sessions, members received a total of $10,000.

Every member "feels as I do" about the indemnities, said Mr. Ferguson but they declined to discuss the question because they did not think it good politics.

Members should not be afraid to say they feel they are worth more than $4,000 a year. Members lived in rented quarters in Ottawa while maintaining homes in their own constituencies.

Peterborough 4-H Clubs Complete Organization for 1952 . . . Federation of Agriculture Contribute Two Trophies to Kiwanis Music Festival . . . Federation Dinner at Springville Last of Successful Series.

Eight Peterborough 4-H Clubs are organized for their summer projects with a membership of 150 boys and girls. A ninth Club with ten prospective members in the Lakefield area is expected to materialize, bringing the roster to 160.

That is the rural youth corps in its grain, swine, tractor maintenance, forage, beef and dairy calf clubs for 1952, as announced today by Frank C. Paterson, agricultural representative. Much of the organization was completed by Robert E. Bell, assistant agricultural representative, who left this week for Oxford, and is being replaced by Kenneth E. Best who arrived yesterday from that county.

39 In One Club

The East Peterborough Dairy Calf Club is presenting its Leader, Keith McIntyre with 39 members. They are from Otonabee, Asphodel, Douro and Dummer, townships east of the river.

The West Dairy Calf Club has 23 members with John Edmison as Leader. Its youngsters are from Smith, Emily, Cavan.

Lorn Pimmett is Leader of the Beef Cattle Club of 24 members who are more broadly representative of Peterborough district.

Irvine McIntosh has 18 boys in the Tractor Maintenance Club; and Alan Drummond is Leader of the Winter Wheat Club of nine boys. Gordon Hunt is Leader of the Lakehurst Forestry Club of 15 boys.

George Shoniker has 14 boys in his Swine Club. John Edmison is chairman of the senior forage club. It is trite to say that these juniors are the farmers of tomorrow, but nevertheless it is a fact. Some of them will gravitate to urban life, but many of them will in the natural course inherit the land their forefathers have developed. If there is a little ring of rhetoric in that, it is also the way of rural life.

Department's Interest

The Ontario Department of Agriculture has a paternal interest in all these clubs throughout the province, a large investment on the Big Brother basis through the agency of county agricultural representatives and their assistants, the young men who take time out from their affairs to give leadership to the 4-H boys and girls.

Hope of all those interested in this rural youth effort is that the members of the clubs will fulfill their undertakings to Achievement Day, that there will be no desertions during the summer months. The members of the eight organized clubs are as follows:

Beef calf club: Club Leader, Lorne Pimmett, Indian River; assistant leader: Francis Walsh, Otonabee. President: Murray Pimmett, Indian River; vice-president, Gary Stewart, Otonabee; secretary-treasurer, Miss Gaye Hancock, Smith. M. H. Johnston Calls For War On Weeds

No. 1 noxious weed is clover dodder in the list of A. H. Martin of the Ontario Department of Agriculture as cited to weed inspectors of the province who met in Toronto Monday and Tuesday.

Other Martin ringleaders as relayed by Melville Johnston, Peterborough county inspector, are leafy spurge, sow thistle, cypress spurge and bladder campion.

In the Peterborough district, Mr. Johnston frowns most on goat's beard and wild carrot. With their other distractions in the air these days, Mr. Johnston said it was still a necessity to keep the countryside in order. With spraying machines available in the southern townships of the county, he hoped that municipal councils would maintain an active campaign against enemy weeds.

"Use of 2-4D was generally recommended. A Halton county inspector told of one experience in which spraying both sides of a road for a mile cost only $15. It was suggested by Mr. Martin that attention be concentrated first on the weeds, leaving the brush for secondary concern."

Farmers and their councils should be on guard against dodder, Mr. Johnston said. "There was quite a lot in sections of Hastings last year. In fact it was said to be so bad, you'd trip on it. If it once gets established it means seven years of sterility, to eradicate it.

There is not much leafy spurge, as I rate it, but there is quite a dose of cypress spurge across from Ennismore.

I'd like to see some real effort against wild carrot and goat's beard. Farmers must know you can't tolerate them or they'll cause a lot of trouble."

Mrs Johnston mentioned yellow rocket present "weed of the week" in the warnings of the Department. He says there is quite a lot of it in Victoria and Durham.

W. S. Young, fieldman of the crops branch, says yellow rocket appears to be spreading rapidly. It prefers locations that tend to be damp. Good drainage and early spring cultivation will do much to control it, and 2-4D, is effective.

It is biennial or perennial in its habit of growth. Its dark shiny leaves appear in clusters. Application of 2-4D is recommended at 8 ounces to the acre.

Frank C. Paterson right, agricultural representative, and his new assistant, Kenneth E. Best, who arrived here Thursday from Oxford county, where he is succeeded by Robert E. Bell. Son of a Brant county farmer, Mr. Best is a veteran of the RCAF in World War II.

FARMS IDENTIFIED

The attractive variety of landscape in Peterborough's rural district is being illustrated in the Neill Stores series of advertisements. The scene last week was the Mrs. J. S. Pengelly farm in South Monaghan, on the north shore of Rice Lake, and winner of the draw was Mrs. R. Moncrief, 248 McGill St., who formerly lived in that section of the township. She readily identified the farm. Many of the deposited tickets suggested Fife's Bay at the west end of Chemong Lake, Mr. Horace Coon, manager of the Neill store, informed the Examiner. Somewhat similar water frontages were deceiving to those whose memory impressions lacked photographic exactness. The farm in the first picture of the series, Mr. Coon said, was the J. D. Matchett place, several miles south of the city in Otonabee.

FEDERATION TROPHIES

Peterborough Federation of Agriculture is giving two trophies for rural competition at the Kiwanis Musical Festival, Harold Lewis said yesterday.

"One of them is to be awarded annually to the school scoring the highest number of points," Mr. Lewis said. "This is a fine trophy of an attractive design using two silver lyres. The other is an individual trophy for high marks in vocal music, and becomes the possession of the winner. Its award will be renewed annually with duplicates of this trophy. They are both a cre to the Federation whose members have given other evidences of their desire to promote the cultural side of life in our county."

LATE SEED SALES

Frank C. Paterson says he has been rather surprised by late enquiries for good seed, particularly registered and No. 1 commercial oats. One farmer Wednesday was looking for 60 bushels of registered oats. There was quite a flurry of demand in the last three weeks, he said. Mr. Paterson reports general satisfaction with new hay and pasture seedings, but some farmers have found older fields a bit disappointing, including a thinning out of timothy.

SUPPORTING PRICES

The floor price for beef cattle is going to stick—that is the law, Robert McCubbin, M.P., for West Middlesex, said Tuesday in Calgary after a day-long meeting with packing plant officials over the deadlock in bidding on the livestock market. Canadian Press reported that more than 1,100 head of cattle awaited the beginning of trading Monday while packing company representatives argued over the government price. A report of similar tone came from London, this week to the effect that Hon. T. L. Kennedy, provincial Minister of Agriculture, told distributors that whole milk prices would not be reduced. About 50,000 pounds of milk per week is being sold in the London area to processors rather than being turned into the whole milk market. Price is $4.50 to $4.60, while milk for processing brings only $3.10 to $3.50.

THE EGG VOTE

The return from 50 of 55 counties and districts of Ontario in the voting on the proposed egg and poultry meat marketing scheme were announced by the Farm Products Marketing Board of Ontario were:

Egg scheme: Yes 7,496; No 7,050.

Poultry meat scheme: Yes 7,048; No 6,568.

The Board announced that an insufficient number of producers registered their votes on the proposed marketing plan. It was mutually agreed beforehand with representatives of the poultry producers that, since no complete list of producers in Ontario was available, a favorable vote of not less than 33,000 voters would be necessary before the scheme would be considered for approval.

The results manifested that interest fell far short of the necessary degree of public support. The Board decided that at least a two-thirds majority of favorable votes was required for approval of the scheme. On the basis of actual voting, the scheme could not have been approved.

BUS TRIP MAY 24

Peterborough district Jersey Breeders have engaged a bus for a trip to the Richmond Hill spring fair May 24. They are particularly interested in the York parish Jersey cattle show, which is an adjunct of the fair.

RCAF VETERAN

Kenneth E. Best, who is succeeding R. E. Bell as assistant agricultural representative comes from a Brant county farm. He is a veteran of World War II, having served for 2½ years as a pilot in the R.C.A.F. Graduating from O.A.C. in 1949, he was appointed assistant agricultural representative in Oxford county, and is now leaving that post for Peterborough. It is expected that he will be here before the weekend.

✦ ✦ ✦

SPRINGVILLE DINNER

Federation of Agriculture's series of community dinner meetings ended for the season at Springville United Church this week attended by nearly 100 farmers and their wives. Clifford Johnston presided in the absence of President Henry Sharpe who was prevented by illness from being present. The speaker was Wilson Gemmell.

This neighborhood series began at Westwood and was followed by others at Norwood, Warsaw, North Smith. They were uniformly successful.

To the 800 delegates to the annual officers' conference of the Federated Women's Institutes, Dr. J. D. MacLachlan, president of O.A.C., said Thursday the College was trying to save farmers every possible cent.

This era of changing agricultural conditions required serious thought in farm problems because market outlets were reduced and operating costs were high. If it were possible to save a few cents on egg production or other farm commodity, that would be a worthwhile contribution at this time.

SERVICES ON SUNDAY

Rev. W. A. Young, Chaplain of Ontario Agricultural College, will be the special speaker at three interdenominational farmers' services on Sunday, May 4. Rev. Mr. Young will speak at Gilmour Memorial Church in Smith at 11 a.m.; Norwood Baptist Church at 3 p.m.; and Indian River Church at 8.30 p.m.

Rev. Mr. Young is widely known from his chaplaincy at the College, and from many speaking engagements around the province.

The purpose of these services is to ask the blessing of God on the work of farmers at this seeding time.

The Rev. W. Leaton of Gilmour Memorial Church remarked yesterday: "At the end of summer we have thanksgiving for the harvest, and some of us have thought that it was also most fitting to begin this new season by asking God to help our farmers' efforts and to bless their land and crops."

Local 4-H Clubs Enroll Big Membership

Peterborough district farm homes are represented in 4-H Clubs by approximately 235 boys and girls. In addition to the groups reviewed elsewhere with a total of 150 members, and prospectively 160, there are about 75 girls in the garden and homemaking clubs directed by Miss Jean Noble of the home economics branch of the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

The figures emphasize numerically the expansion of club activities in Peterborough county and several of its adjoining townships.

The legend "4-H", appropriated from the rural youth organization in the United States will be increasingly stressed, now that it has been adopted on this side of the border.

H for head signifies intelligence and knowledge, the mental acquirements; H for heart pertains to sympathy and the humanities, including the social side of life; H. for health is self-evident, relating to physical well-being; and H for hand, manual skills.

Peterborough Junior Farmers in the role of Big Brothers, and Sisters, themselves graduates of the project clubs, are to be congratulated for the leadership they have given in co-operation with the local office of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, represented by Mr. Paterson and until this week by Mr. Bell, whose place is now being taken by Ken Best.

It is well for the Peterborough Juniors and their temporary wards in 4-H to pause occasionally and see themselves as members of a great community of rural youth. Their groups and their affairs are duplicated all across Canada, so many of them in little places of New Brunswick and Alberta, for example, in Prince Edward Island and British Columbia, a grand company of young folks who are pledged by their sponsors to the future citizenship of this country.

So, the 1952 season of the Clubs begins with fresh glow of promise which should not fade in the long course to Achievement Day.

Liflock Macaber Re-Echo Continues At King Her Milk Volume Record

Norman McConkey's Lifloc Holsteins are consistent repeaters in the breed reports of outstanding production. A week ago, as announced from the Canadian headquarters at Brantford, it was Mary Pietje Colantha who had recently earned a certificate of Superior Production on her R.O.P. accomplishment of 26,181 lbs. of milk and 1,060 lbs. of butterfat, a 4.04 percentage of b.f., on three times a day milking.

In the Holstein news this week is Lifloc Macaber Re-Echo which Mr. McConkey sold to Stephen B. Roman of King, Ont., in 1951. Just a year ago she became a new world champion for milk in the senior four-year-old class of the 305-day division on three times a day milking with 27,978 lbs. milk containing 995 lbs. of fat for an average test 3.56% b.f. Continued on test for the full year she produced 31,058 lbs. of milk and 1,132 lbs. fat, average test 3.64 per cent, which was the second highest record for both milk and fat completed up to that time in her class in Canada.

In the Roman herd she now has been reported with another 305 day, three times a day milking record as a five year old of 23,885 lbs. of milk and 825 lbs. of fat. This is the sixth largest record for milk ever completed in her class in this country.

John Powell of Holstein head office writes: "As a senior yearling, Macaber produced on twice a day milking in 365 days, 661 lbs. fat from 18,199 lbs. of milk, and as a junior three year old 784 lbs. of fat from 20,974 lbs. of milk.

She thus has a total production for her first four lactations of 94,114 lbs. milk containing 3402 lbs. fat for 3.61 per cent."

Sold "May Burke"

The dam of Lifloc Macaber Re-Echo is Re-Echo May Burke which Mr. McConkey sold to J. E. Houck of Brampton. In December, 1950, "May Burke" competed a 365 day record as an eleven year old of 35,314 lbs. of milk and 1,261 lbs. of fat. They were acknowledged a rare combination of champions as dam and daughter.

"May Burke" is a Canadian champion and former North American champion for milk production on three times a day milking for 365 days.

Mr. Powell says: "Re-Echo May Burke" is classified as Excellent, the highest attainable rating for her type, and her daughter "Macaber" is classified "Very Good", second highest attainable rating for type."

Mr. McConkey sold last year a son of "Macaber" to Maple Cattle Breeders' Association for a reported $6,000. He was sired by Elmcroft Voyageur M., a son of the 1947 Royal Winter Fair grand champion "Glenvue Noelle Inka".

When Macaber was born, Mr. McConkey was rather disappointed. He was hoping for a bull that would intensify the blood of what he considered the two greatest cows he had ever owned. One was Re-Echo' May Burke, which he sold to Mr. Houck, and the other was Keyes Alcartra Pabst, the dam of Macaber Re-Echo's sire, "Lifloc Macaber Pabst".

Keyes Alcartra Pabst had her career cut short when she was killed by a train at a time when she was starting out on what promised to be an exceptional show and producing career.

A year ago Mr. Powell commented: "The Selective Registration grading of the new champion ("Macaber Re-Echo") makes an interesting study. With the same inspector doing the work in each case, she was classified "Good" as a two year old; "Good Plus" at three years, and "Very Good" as a four year old."

FASTER GAINS
ON FUL-O-PEP PIG STARTER PELLETS!

Gentlemen:
We have 12 sows of Yorkshire breeding crossed with an English sire. Some of the litters have been started on Ful-O-Pep Pig Starter in both mash and pellet form. We have found the starter very satisfactory in every way. The pigs went for the pellets faster than they did the mash with consequent faster gains. Ful-O-Pep is doing a nice job for us.

Commons Hears Hectic Battle On Allowances

OTTAWA, May 2—(CP)—Amid some of the most hectic scenes of the current session, George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, Thursday defended his Family Allowance record and was attacked anew by Health Minister Martin.

Mr. Drew said it was "utterly false" to declare that as Premier of Ontario he opposed Family Allowances. He quoted several of his speeches in the Ontario Legislature to support his arguments.

Mr. Martin, in reply, quoted from a radio broadcast which Mr. Drew made in 1944. A Progressive Conservative party pamphlet quoted Mr. Drew as saying in that broadcast that the Family Allowances legislation was not worth the paper on which it was written.

Mr. Drew raised the issue during continued debate on the Budget to reply to statements made by Mr. Martin Monday in another debate.

Almost from the outset, Mr. Drew's speech was marked by interruptions of Liberal members. Progressive Conservatives added to the hubbub in shouting at the Liberals.

Underhand Campaign

Mr. Drew said that in Quebec the Liberals described him as "being an opponent of the people of Quebec."

"Aren't you?" interjected George McIlraith (L—Ottawa West), parliamentary assistant to Trade Minister Howe.

The remark, said Mr. Drew, was indicative of the "type of underhand campaign that has been carried on; and I welcome the opportunity to bring it into the open."

Transport Minister Chevrier: "You are a past master at underhand campaigns."

Mr. Drew: "When the Minister of Transport says that I am a past master at underhand campaigns, he simply brands himself as the contemptible type of politician that I always knew he was."

Speaker Ross Macdonald suggested that both men withdraw their remarks as unparliamentary. They agreed.

Later, a five-minute uproar developed when Finance Minister Abbott attempted unsuccessfully to ask Mr. Drew a question. After 13 attempts, Mr. Abbott gave in and decided to withhold the question. He will speak today in the debate.

Record Well Known

Mr. Drew said his record on Family Allowances is well-known to the government, yet Cabinet ministers insisted on repeating "inaccurate" statements.

As Premier of Ontario, he said Aug. 9, 1944, that "we are in favor of every proper step being taken to encourage large and healthy families. We believe in sound provisions for Family Allowances and social security."

He quoted from another speech in which he said:

"I have stated over and over again that we regard Family Allowances as one of the most important social services; that it is therefore within the exclusive constitutional jurisdiction of the provinces; that the provinces must be consulted if there is to be any effective administration of Family Allowances."

Hon. Stuart Garson, now Minister of Justice, had said when he was Premier of Manitoba that if family allowances were meant to be primarily a social-security measure they represented a "federal intrusion in a provincial field of jurisdiction."

Denies Court Plan

Mr. Drew denied that the Ontario government had threatened to take the family-allowance issue to court.

"I referred to the iniquitous principle involved in the measure which has been adopted by the Dominion government," said Mr. Drew quoting one of his legislative speeches. "'My speech was quite clearly not referring to any opposition to family allowances."

Mr. Drew said he believes in a system of family allowances that would recognize the constitutional position of the provinces with respect to social security.

"My first act," he added, "would be to call the provinces together to work out an effective system that would take full advantage of their social-service organizations."

Mr. Martin said that in criticizing Mr. Drew's record on the issue he simply quoted Mr. Drew's own speeches. The Ontario premier had stated that the legislation was not worth the paper that it was written on; that it would fight the "iniquitous" legislation designed particularly for the benefit of Quebec.

Coontext Changed

Mr. Martin said that, because of a changed attitude by Mr. Drew since 1944, he now assumes that, if the Opposition leader should ever become prime minister, he would not repeal the baby bonus measure.

Mr. Drew said there was no one who had not used words on some occasion which, taken from their context, would convey the opposite to that which was intended.

Earlier Agriculture Minister Gardiner said provincial restrictions on the movement of livestock must be eased before floor prices on cattle and hogs can become fully effective.

He also said egg dealers were told they will get no support price from the government if they buy eggs from producers at low prices.

Demand Less Red Tape

MP's Call For Housing Improvement

OTTAWA, May 2—(CP)—Two members of the Commons called for improvement in the housing for Canadians.

Speaking in the budget debate, C. E. Johnston (SC-Bow River) said 2,000,000 persons are without proper housing asked the government to revise its policy so that more and better houses are built.

Julian Ferguson (PC-Simcoe North) demanded "less red tape and procrastination in building houses."

A Liberal speaker, George Fulford (Leeds), suggested to Federal government join Ontario authorities in keeping the market for cheese at a "reasonable level" if the Provincial government cannot maintain prices.

Mr. Johnston said the backlog of housing units is about 700,000 behind the demand. Also, he said, not one house in 100 is being built according to specifications proposed by the government-owned Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation.

He described a C.M.H.C. booklet laying down building regulations as "the No. 1 crime comic."

Takes Issue

Mr. Ferguson took issue with what he called Liberal claims that the Federal government is responsible for prosperous conditions.

No credit is being given, he said, to the influx of United States capital in the development of natural resources.

On the same point, Mr. Johnston said the only contribution of the Federal government to prosperity is its preparations for "war."

"If the preparations for war were taken away today," he said, "you would find yourselves in a depression again."

Dealing with the cheese problem, Mr. Fulford said it would be a tragedy for the dairy industry and agriculture as a whole if the price of cheese should break and the bottom fall out of the market.

When and if a floor price is set, he said, it should be high enough to reimburse producers for the capital they have invested and the wages they have to pay.

While prices could be too high, some point could be found where producers were adequately paid and prices would not be so high that imports would under sell Canadian cheese.

Confident of Market

Mr. Fulford said he is confident a market for cheese can be found in Canada. If Canadians ate as much as Britons did before the war, all Canadian production would be absorbed.

The Leeds member, who made a recent trip to South America, urged that steps be taken to increase trade with that area. For instance, purchase of such things as fruits, wine and copper from Chile would enable that country to buy Canadian wheat, dairy products and manufactured goods.

Donald Brown (L—Essex West) lauded those industries in his area of southern Ontario which have established labor - management committees and said they were a force for harmony. The automobile feeder plants in particular had instituted such committees but he regretted that the automobile manufacturers had not. He urged the "big three" of the car industry to do so.

F. G. Robertson (L—Northumberland), referring to heavy defence expenditures in the budget, said Canadians must be prepared to make sacrifices for this purpose.

"Canada must be prepared to play its full part in the defence of freedom," he said.

Mr. Robertson said he has been disappointed in the C.C.F.'s "criticisms of the government for the support it is giving the North Atlantic Treaty Organization."

Too Much Emphasis

C.C.F. spokesmen have contended too much emphasis is being placed on the military aspects of N.A.T.O. in relation to its economic measures.

The 1951-52 budget surplus had had beneficial results. It had helped fight inflation. It had helped attract United States capital to Canada. It had been used in part to reduce national debt.

He said Progressive Conservative had called the budget "a fraud."

But, he added, "the real fraud is the doubletalk of the official opposition."

The members of the Progressive Conservative party were "always preaching economy yet asking for larger and larger expenditures."

Mr. Robertson said he agrees with Mr. Fulford that some way might be found to help cheese producers through federal-provincial co-operation. It was not the sole responsibility of the federal government.

"I am sure that if the provincial government would come to the federal government and ask that some co-operative effort be worked out, this government would be [illegible]," he said.

Home From Korea

Seeing several natives of China working in a George St. restaurant was enough to start a 21-year-old private with the P.P.C.L.I. just returned from fighting Chinese Reds in Korea on the warpath.

In police court today, Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw said this was the excuse William Crough, 223 Perry St., gave for causing a disturbance in the De-Luxe Cafe Thursday night.

Crough was ushered out of the restaurant once and warned by a policeman but he went back in immediately and started another ruckus.

He was then taken to the police station and spent the rest of the night in jail. Today, he pleaded guilty to causing a public disturbance and was fined $15 and $2.50 costs.

Utilities Offers Employees Cash For Suggestions

Utilities Commission has adopted a suggestion system to encourage the practical interest of their employees. The incentive offered is 15 percent of the first year's saving from suggestions that are put into effect.

Commission decided this week to increase without any charge the diameter of the pipe line to the Lions Club pool at McKellar St. R. L. Dobbin, manager, reported that a ¾-inch copper service was laid for an outdoor rink to that site last winter. It was paid for by the council's parks department.

Lions Club asked for a larger pipe for faster filling and emptying of the pool that is being provided by them for the children of the neighborhood.

Capacity of the pool will be 13,000 gallons. To fill it with a ¾-inch pipe would take from 13 to 14 hours; the two-inch size would reduce that time to a little more than an hour. Mr. Dobbin estimated the cost of the change at $150.

In authorizing it, the Commission agreed to assume the cost themselves. The pool will be filled and emptied daily.

AL FRESCO LECTURES at the district's first Rural School for Clergy (Anglican) started on Wednesday for the next ten days at Millbrook. Some of the 20-odd students (in the upper photo) are: Miss Betty Hawkins, Toronto; the Rev. A. A. Chote, Parish of Cavan; Harold Green, Barrie; the Rev. Lloyd MacFarlane, Kinmount; John Fralick, Miss Frances Gray, Anglican Women's College, and D. McGuire, all of Toronto; Paul Moore, Peterborough, and Edwin dos Santos, British West Indies. Dean of the school, the Rev. Warren Turner of Bowmanville (lower photo), aboard a tractor, is formerly of Peterborough.—(Examiner Staff Photos)

Divinity Students Learn Of Rural Life At Millbrook

Learning about the way of life in rural areas is a group of 20 Anglican divinity students billeted in farms in the Millbrook area. For the next 10 days, until May 9, they will be students of the church's rural school for clergy. The rural school for clergy was in a large part started by the Rev. Allan Read of Mono Mills, where the school was held last year.

Its lectures and field trips are designed to give the students, who come from as far away as the Bahamas, an insight into farm life, and the ways of people in the rural areas.

Prepare For Charges

With the background they gain in this school, divinity students [illegible] for taking over a rural charge.

Stress will be mostly laid in the lectures on organizations that form aids to the farmer, and on the presentation of the gospel to rural parishioners. In addition, one night will be spent in hearing three farmers of the district tell the students what the farmer expects of a rural church and the clergyman who is in charge of it.

Lectures in the school started Wednesday on the back lawn of the home of the Rev. and Mrs. A. A. Chote, of St. Thomas' Church, Millbrook.

Students sitting on chairs and on the grass heard Walter Alexander, field service manager of the United Co-operatives of Ontario, explain the workings and problems of co-operatives in this province.

Dean of the school, the Rev. Warren Turner of Bowmanville, formerly curate of St. John's, Peterborough, sat to one side of Mr. Alexander, prompting questions in the open discussion period.

Rural Sociology

Morning lectures for the first half of the 10-day course will be on rural sociology, and they will be given by Mr. Read. Morning lectures in the other five days will be on Christian education, given by Miss Francis Grey of the Anglican Women's Training College in Toronto.

Afternon and evening sessions of the school will be used in dealing with the more practical aspects of a rural parish.

On Friday of this week the school moves to Bailieboro, and on Tuesday of next week from Bailieboro to St. John's, Ida, where the school will conclude its activities for this year.

Afternoon lectures will be on varied subjects—rural recreation, the Canadian Federation of Agriculture by Weston Bannister of Campbellcroft, the job of the agricultural representative by A. E. Summers of Bowmanville, Farm Burt of Toronto, rural transportation by the Rev. Lloyd Delaney of Lakefield, and other topics.

Use of Films

William Graff, head librarian at the Peterborough Public Library, will discuss the place and use of films in rural areas, and visual aids will be the topic of a lecture by the Rev. Jack Langstone of Toronto.

M. D. Kirk of Lindsay, with the Department of Lands and Forests, will take the students on a field trip to the Ganaraska River to show them work being done by the Ganaraska River Soil Conservation Authority.

Arthur Finney of Port Hope will speak on the work of the Children's Aid Society, and the topic of mothers' allowances will be dealt with by Mrs. I. Pinner of Oshawa.

At one of the night sessions, three farmers of the district will tell the students what the farmer expects of the rural church and of rural clergy. They are Reg. Fallis of Millbrook, Clare Winslow of Ida, and Alfred Nelson of Bailieboro.

And one day will be spent on the farm the student is billeted at, helping with chores.

Mr. Turner, the dean of the school, expects his students will have a pretty thorough grounding in the problems of a rural parish by the time they go back to college.

Body Of Child Found, Drowned Jan. 6

A body found floating in Little Lake Thursday afternoon has been identified as that of five-year-old Sharon Littlefair who drowned January 6.

Earl Paquette, 69 Crescent St., spotted an object close to the south shore of the lake and saw that it was the body of a child when he pulled it out of the water with a pole.

Identified By Clothes

The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Littlefair, 53 Edgewater Blvd., were able to identify the body from the clothing which was the same as Sharon was wearing when thin ice on the Otonabee River gave way, under her sleigh and plunged her into the water.

Barking of Sharon's little dog Nipper attracted the attention of passersby who noticed the hole in the ice and the sleigh and called police.

Firemen and police dragged the area and the channel between Burnham Point and Point St. Charles where the Otonabee empties into Little Lake, for several days.

Ice hampered dragging operations and they finally had to be abandoned with no trace of the missing child being found until Thursday.

SHARON LITTLEFAIR

The body was taken to the Kaye funeral home where it was later identified.

Today at 2:30 p.m., the Rev. John Purser of St. John's Anglican Church officiated at the graveside funeral service at Little Lake cemetery.

In addition to her parents, Sharon is survived by a brother Gregory and a sister Susan and her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Ashby, also of Peterborough.

Find Stab Wounds In Woman's Body

WICHITA, Kas., May 2 — (AP) —The nude body of an auburn-haired woman with four stab wounds between her breasts, was found Thursday night stuffed in a barracks bag.

The woman, about 22 or 23 years old and five feet tall, was not identified. Edward Bircher, a builder, found the bag under the porch of a home.

Her clothing, including a white uniform either of a nurse or waitress, also was stuffed in the bag.

DONALD M. WARNE B.A., graduated at Knox College this week after taking a theological course there. Son of Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Warne, 607 Water St., he won the Agnes Torrance and Lindsay Torrance endowment which enables him to go to New College, Edinburgh, Scotland, for further theological studies. Three other scholarships he won were the Elizabeth Scott award, the D. T. L. McKerroll prize and the Barbara Ogilvie Gray award.

Police Charge Driver Didn't Observe Sign

A charge of failing to stop for a stop sign is being laid against Herbert Kylie, 340 George St., south as the result of an accident at Wolfe and Rubidge Sts., Thursday morning, police said today.

Kylie was driving west on Wolfe St., as a southbound truck, driven by Joseph Miller, entered the intersection of Rubidge and Wolfe Sts., and the two vehicles collided.

Damage to Kylie's car was estimated at $35 and damage to the truck driven by Miller was said to be approximately $55.

Walter Hope

The Rev. H. B. Harrington, Keene United Church, officiated Thursday at the funeral service for Walter Hope who died Tuesday in Peterborough Civic hospital. The service was held at the family residence, Lot 19, Concession 3, Otonabee township. Burial was at the Keene cemetery.

Pallbearers were Arnold Nelson, Gordon Nelson, Stewart Nelson, Bert Hope, William Hope and John Cameron.

Wheels Leave Truck, Crashed Poles

Driver Uninjured Careened Into Ditch South of Apsley

Nearly $500 damage was caused to a half-ton truck owned by Eric Whitmore of Apsley, Thursday, when the vehicle went out of control, 9½ miles south of Apsley, on Highway 28. It snapped off two guard-rail posts and stopped 50 feet further on in the west ditch.

The truck, driven by the owner's wife, Mrs. Edith Whitmore, had the undercarriage badly damaged as it jolted through the rock-strewn ditch. The front wheels were ripped off completely; one rear tire was punctured and the wheel was damaged; and the running boards were bent.

Hit Hole

Mrs. Whitmore was driving south on the highway when one of the front wheels of the truck hit a hole in the road. The vehicle went out of control, snapped off the guard-rail posts and continued on in the ditch, smashing the undercarriage.

Mrs. Whitmore was uninjured apart from a couple of bruises on her legs.

O.P.P. Constable Wallace Mohns investigated.

Escape Frost

Citizens of Peterborough poked their noses out of doors this morning, felt the chill in the air and looked quickly at their gardens to see whether tender new plants which had sprouted during the last week had been blackened by the frost. But the temperature had gone down to only 35 and apparently the new plants had survived. There were no reports of frost damage on farms. But truck farmers in Holland Marsh 30 miles north of Toronto suffered extensive loss when much of their newly-planted lettuce and celery was hit by six-below-freezing temperatures.

Superintendent Of Cement Co. E. W. Bailey Dies

LAKEFIELD, May 2 (ENS). — Superintendent of the Canada Cement Co. plant here for 35 years, Edward Walter Bailey, 76, died suddenly at his Concession St. home Thursday night, shortly after returning from a visit to Peterborough.

His health had been poor for the past four years.

Active in Red Cross work, he was chairman of the recent financial campaign that was oversubscribed by nearly $300, and was for several years a member of the executive of the Lakefield branch.

Mr. Bailey was born in London, England, a son of the late Walter Bailey and Mary Gosden. He came to Canada when he was nine, and lived in Ottawa until 1900, where he [illegible] Collegiate and Ottawa Technical Institute.

In 1900, he came to Lakefield and was at first superintendent of the electrical department of the Portland Cement Co. When this firm was taken over in 1910 by the Canada Cement Co., he was named superintendent.

Seven years ago, he retired, and since then has been active with the Red Cross. At the time of his death he was a member of the Lakefield District High School Board.

He was a member of the Lakefield Masonic Lodge, the Peterborough chapter of the Engineering Institute of Canada and the Canadian Order of Foresters. He was an adherent of the Church of St. John the Baptist, Lakefield.

In 1899 he was married to Anne Ferguson McLean, who died in 1934.

Surviving are two children, Miss Mildred Bailey of the teaching staff of P.C.V.S., and Edward W. Bailey of Hamilton. There are four sisters, Mrs. Milton St. Germain (Rose) and Mrs. Kate Biggar, both of Ottawa, Mrs. Alice Newman of New York City, Miss Minnie Bailey of California, and a brother, Earnest of Ottawa.

The body is resting at the Hendren funeral home, Lakefield. Other funeral arrangements are not yet made.

Utilities Ask Payment Before Work

Commission Needs 10 Per Cent of Cost For New Water Mains

Guarantees of revenue are required by the Utilities Commission for the laying of water services on Rosedale and Hopkins Avenues in the Manorhill residential subdivision and to another subdivision west of Park St. and south of Bonaccord St.

Cost of mains and services on Rosedale and Hopkins Avenues on the west side of the city are estimated by R. L. Dobbin, manager, at $5,900. Policy of the Commission assesses revenue at 10 per cent or $580 a year.

"There are 15 lots to be served, so we should have $39 a lot per year," Mr. Dobbin reported. "So far there is only one application."

Willing To Start

Commission is willing to undertake the work if the property owners will provide the required revenue.

In the subdivision on the west side of Park St., the G. Walter Green estate property, main and services would cost $7,300. The 10 per cent condition would amount to $730 a year, payable to the Commission. That would be $26 a year for each of the 28 building lots.

It was suggested by the Commission that the $750 guarantee be provided, reducible as lots are sold, and new consumers are connected at a minimum of $30 a year.

Harold Scott Opens Show

The fourth annual Sportsmen's Show began Thursday night in the Civic Arena. The Hon. Harold A. Scott officially opened the show which was attended by a good crowd. However show officials anticipate an even better turnout tonight with the warmer weather.

Just in case a chill is in the air, there will be a heater in the bingo tent.

Saturday afternoon the featured attractions will be a horse-shoe pitching contest and a bait casting contest. The three-day Sportsmen's Show ends Saturday night.

10 Horses Enrolled For Derby Race

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 2 (AP) —Pre-Derby excitement reached fever pitch today with 10 three-year-olds already enrolled in the $100,000 added mile and one-quarter run for the Roses and six more expected before the entry box closes.

Abbott's talented Blue Man, were entered Thursday over a 10-hour period for Saturday's turf classic. It was a departure from the usual procedure of taking entries only on the day before the race.

In addition to Blue Man, the group included the New York combine of Jack Amiel's Count Flame and Master Fiddle from the Myhelyn stable; Bayard Sharp's Delaware-owned Hannibal; Sam Wilson, Jr.'s, Gushing Oil, Sub Fleet of Charles T. Fisher's Dixiana farm, and four rank outsiders.

Lightly Regarded

The lightly regarded entries numbered Happy Go Lucky, owned and trained by H. G. Bockman, a former optometrist; Freeman Keyes' Oke Screen of Chicago; Shag Tails from the barns of Milton Shagrin of Cleveland, and W. C. Morris' Brown Rambler.

Before the entry box closes today, Churchill Downs officials expect to hear from Calumet farm's ground-eating Hill Gail, the favorite; Mrs. Ethel Dupont Scott's Pintor; Mrs. Gordon Guiberson's Arroz; C. V. Whitney's stretch running Cold Command, and a couple of outsiders—M. A. White's Eternal Moon and Eddie Burke's Swoop.

If all 16 start, the race will have a gross value of $124,350 with the owner of the winner receiving a net of $96,300. For each withdrawal subtract the starting fee of $1,000.

School Won't Ban French Wine Drinking

BRISTOL, England, May 2 (AP) —Bristol school authorities have refused to ban drinking of wine by British students going to France for the summer. French wine, they agreed, is safer than French water.

The ban was demanded by the National British Women's Total Abstinence Union. But the local education committee said Thursday nobody in France takes water straight—it needs a little wine to purify it.

"British children will be in for more danger," a councillor, Mrs. E. R. L. Cave, insisted, "if they drink the local (French) water instead of the local wines."

1,600 Evacuated

SALT LAKE CITY, May 2 (CP) —An estimated 1,600 persons were evacuated from their homes Thursday night as flood fighters started a "controlled" flood of 50 blocks of Salt Lake City lowlands. The flood is confined by sandbags forming temporary canals to ease pressure on other weak spots.

Bratton Closer To Gavilan

MONTREAL, May 2 (CP). — Johnny Bratton, Chicago welterweight, is a step closer today to a possible championship match with Kid Gavilan for the world welter title.

This came about Thursday night when he came through with a convincing third-round technical knockout over Pierre Langlois of France before some 3,500 fans who paid $9,918 to see the fight.

The end for Langlois, welter champion of France, came after two minutes and 30 seconds of the fourth round during which he had absorbed a lot of punishment which left him practically out on his feet.

Bratton, former National Boxing Association world welter champ, entered the ring at 148¾ and Langlois weighed 150.

It was Bratton's powerful right that did the job. Langlois went down and, although he came up at the count of eight, he was groggy, bewildered and swaying.

His handlers signalled from the corner that he had taken enough.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Temperature All-Important For Dipping

QUESTION: I would like to know the correct method for chocolate dipping. Some of my chocolates have no gloss at all while others have gloss and dull sections on the same chocolate. After keeping for several days the chocolates develop a spotty appearance and get light in color.

I would like to turn out good chocolates as I donate these to charity teas, bazaars, etc., and also take some to the office . . . imagine my embarrassment when people tell me of their change of color . . . would you tell me how to successfully coat maraschino cherries? . . . they seem to be a favorite of many who receive my chocolates . . . am unsuccessful in retaining the liquid within a thin layer of fondant and chocolate. Any way you can advise me would be appreciated as I do not like to do a slipshod job. M.

ANSWER: I don't blame you, but you certainly have chosen a difficult hobby. Chocolate dipping and especially dipping of cherries requires highly skilled knowledge and fingers.

Chocolate Dipping

Temperature is all-important. Too high temperature causes dullness and white-spotting.

Shave or break the dipping chocolate (procured from confectioners' supply house). (Ordinary cooking chocolate, either bitter or sweet, could be used but results are not good.) Place in top of double boiler, over cold water, too low to touch the pan, and heat slowly. Temperature of water should not go over 125 deg. Fahr. A thermometer is absolutely essential. When the chocolate begins to melt it should be stirred almost constantly, so that an even temperature is maintained. The chocolate itself should never be heated above 106 deg. Fahr. If you lift the [illegible] tures, be sure to dry it thoroughly, for 1 drop of water in the chocolate will cause it to thicken and lose its gloss.

When chocolate is melted substitute cold water for the hot in the bottom of the double boiler, and beat the chocolate gently until it is barely warm,—85 deg. Fahr. is the ideal temperature. When chocolate becomes too cool and thick heat it slightly again. There should be no steam in the room when you are dipping and ideal temperature is 65 deg. Fahr. of the air in the room.

Centres should be ready and dry before chocolate is melted. Drop centres into coating chocolate, right side up. Turn over with fork until completely coated. Lift chocolate on fork, bottom side up, scrape off excess chocolate on edge of pan, and turn candy onto heavy wax paper, right side up. Considerable chocolate will be found on tip of fork. Draw this over top of candy to give the marking with a deft twist. The chocolate should cool as quickly as possible. If the coatings are streaked and grayish they have dried too slowly. If spotted the chocolate got damp or was over heated. A thick base on the chocolate indicates chocolate was too warm. If coatings are not smooth, the choco-

[illegible] Cherries

You will need moulds for these. Dain the cherries several hours before using. Melt fondant in double boiler and flavour with vanilla. Pour a small portion into moulded impressions in trayful of cornstarch (you should visit a candy plant to see this simple schino cherry in the cream, then fill up the mould with more cream. When set cover with dark chocolate coating the same day. The natural acid in the fruit will cause the cream to become liquid in from 24 to 48 hours.

I hope thsee little hints help your ambition will soon turn out professional looking chocolates.

QUEEN ELIZABETH and the Duke of Edinburgh took time out from their recent stay at Badminton House, Gloucestershire home of the Duke of Beaufort, to visit the Severin Wild Fowl Trust at Slimbridge, Glos. The Royal Couple spent three days at Badminton for the Olympic Horse Trials there. The Queen was received by Lieutenant Commander Peter Scott (right), director of the trust, and his nine-year-old daughter, Nicola. At left, the Duke of Edinburgh kneels to feed the birds. Diplomat's Daughter Modelled In Britain

By MURIEL NARRAWAY,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, May 2—(CP)—Diana Wilgress is returning to her native Ottawa after nine years spent in 15 European countries. She's looking forward to it.

For Miss Wilgress, the diplomat's daughter who left Canada at the age of eight to join her father in Moscow, now is a beautiful young woman of 17, wearing clothes with as[illegible] model and possessing broad outlook as a result of her travels.

Fashion writers will be interested in her wardrobe, which will include 14 outfits presented to her after her appearance as an unpaid model at the 1951 Festival of Britain.

One other favorites is a simple, all-white dress of pin-point spotted net, the full skirth gathered at the hips by three narrow bands of white velvet. She wore this last October at a dinner given for the present Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh, just before the Royal tour of Canada.

Diana's return to Canada is occasioned by the transfer of her father, L. Dana Wilgress, who is leaving his High Commissioner's post in London to become Under-Secretary of External Affairs in Ottawa. Father and daughter, with Russian-born Mrs. Wilgress, sail for Canada May 27 on the liner Empress of France.

Coming back will mean missing a chance to be presented at court this season, but that doesn't worry Diana. After all, Miss Wilgress has met and talked with most members of the Royal family, including the late King.

She says going to college—something she's always wanted to do—more than compensates for the balls and parties that are part of a London debutante's season.

"I've always wanted to finish my schooling in Canada," she said in an interview.

Miss Wilgress, a dark-eyed slender girl with plenty of fashion sense, made her modelling debut in March, 1951, at an export show in Eastbourne, Sussex. In Canada, she may become a professional model. First, however, she will take a one-year household economics course, probably at Macdonald College, Ste. Anne De Bellevue, Que.

One of Diana's first tasks on her return to her Ottawa birthplace will be to take a driving test. She has learned to drive her father's big black automobile and hopes to act as his chauffeur. Before that she will go to Halifax where her brother, Lt.-Cmdr. Victor, is stationed with the aircraft carrier H.M.C.S. Magnificent.

Since leaving Canada nine years ago, Miss Wilgress has lived in Moscow and London, attended school in Switzerland and visited nearly every European country.

DIANA WILGRESS is returning to her native Ottawa after nine years spent in 15 European countries. Daughter of L. Dana Wilgress—who is leaving his post May 27 as High Commissioner in London to become Under-Secretary of External Affairs in Ottawa—Miss Wilgress, 17, left Canada when she was eight to join her father, then stationed in Moscow. Honor 2 Guild Members

Two members of the Afternoon Guild of St. George's Anglican Church who have given support and service for many years were honored at the meeting Thursday afternoon. Mrs. L. Warren and Mrs. E. Cooke were made honorary life members in a brief ceremony performed by president Mrs. F. Dorrell who remarked on the work these ladies have performed. They in turn, in thanking the Guild for the honor urged them to give their president every co-operation in her splendid efforts. Opening prayers were led by Mrs. Dorrell. The business discussed dealt with plans for a tea in June and conveners of home cooking, sale of knitted goods and towels, potted plants and a touch and take table were appointed.

Spotty Problems Concerning Ink

Did somebody drop a spot of ink on your best white tablecloth? Or perhaps Junior got a little careless with the ink bottle and spilled it on the living room rug.

It's disheartening, of course, to a woman who takes pride in her home, but you can make the furnishings good as new if you follow these simple directions:

1. Rinse or sponge the spot immediately with clear water.
2. For washable ink—soap in soap suds (or detergents if fabric is not washable) until spot disappears.
3. For permanent ink —lemon juice or mild household bleach.
4. For ballpoint ink—carbot tetrachloride.
5. For all treatments—a final rinsing in clear water is vital.

With all treatments it is best to use a "percolating" technique: Place the spotted material over a small bowl and drip the lemon juice, bleach, or cleaning fluid through the material a drop at a time.

If the spot is on a rug or other heavy material which cannot be

Final caution: do not use carbon tetrachloride on acetate rayons.

MRS. MARGARET SCOBELL

Mrs. Margaret Scobell, 92 Looks At Life With Humor

A lively sense of humor has helped Mrs. Margaret Scobell, who celebrated her 92nd birthday Thursday, to keep "blessed with good health" all her life and never had

Looking back over the years on her 92nd birthday Thursday, Mrs. Scobell reminisced about the many changes that have taken place since she came to the city from Fraserville 41 years ago.

"The city's too big for me now," she commented. "It doesn't seem like the same town, but," she added "I suppose it's all for the better. We couldn't always live in the old fashioned ways."

Born On Farm

Mrs. Scobell was born on a farm near Fraserville United Church where she grew up. She maintains that the country is "not a bad place to be born and raised," but there are so many changes that she wouldn't want to be farming nowadays. With the grading of eggs, and "even waxing turnips," farming would be too complicated said Mrs. Scobell as her face broke into a smile which is characteristic of her good nature.

After her husband died 41 years ago, Mrs. Scobell moved to Peterborough and for the last number of years has made her home with her daughter, Mrs. Alfred Craig, at 308 McGill St.

Five of Mrs. Scobell's six children are living, two sons, Victor of Toronto, and Sidney Scobell of Lansdowne St., Peterborough; and three daughters: Mrs. Eva Poulos of Toronto; and Mrs. Gladys Craig and Mrs. Arthur Doughty, both of Peterborough.

All of Mrs. Scobell's children, 12 grandchildren and 14 great-grandchildren were unable to be present for her birthday but friends and relatives dropped in to extend best wishes during the afternoon and a family dinner party was held at the Craig's in her honor Thursday evening.

Had Good Health

She is extremely thankful that she has been "blessed with good health" all her life and never had larly as she used to, Mrs. Scobell has been a member of Knox United Church since coming to the city and is one of the church's oldest members.

She has always done a lot of knitting and still enjoys reading "quite a bit," but following the fortunes of her favorite hockey team (The Maple Leafs of course), through the voice of Foster Hewitt's broadcasts is her favorite pastime. "I seldom miss a game," declared Mrs. Scobell.

When the famous Leaf Kid Line of Harvey Jackson, Joe Primeau and Charlie Conacher were racking up hockey honors for Toronto she followed the games even closer than she does now, "but give the younger ones time," she commented, there may be others just as good.

Missed Game

Once when she was visiting her son in Toronto, Mrs. Scobell was all set to see an N.H.L. game at Maple Leaf Gardens. However a friend talked her out of it. He told me I'd find it less interesting over the radio after I'd seen a game," she explained, so rather than gamble on losing some of the pleasure from her favorite past time, she continued to enjoy her hockey through the loudspeaker.

And what does she do for entertainment when the hockey season ends? Listens to baseball broadcases and cheers the International League Leafs from her armchair. They haven't had much luck the last few years but this year, things could be different you know?

Doing nothing would make time pass too slowly, is Mrs. Scobell's philosophy and she keeps busy helping her daughter around the house. However, at Mrs. Craig's urging, she did sit back and relax on her birthday.

Let Him Know He's Head Of The House

Some women overlook the importance of making the man the head of the house.

Important as it is to the happiness of the husband it's easily done. Just remember:

To take his expressed opinions seriously. If he likes dinner ready when he gets home from work—have it ready. And don't hesitate to say once in a while in front of him: "We have dinner at such and such an hour, because Jim likes to eat as soon as he gets home." That's one way to make a man feel like head of the house.

To consult him on all important matters regarding the children. No man can feel like the head of his household if his wife decides everything that has to do with the children.

Leads in Entertaining

To feature him in the role of host. It's so easy for a woman to take over when a couple entertains, using her husband only as a sort of errand boy, ordered to do this and that. But the woman who wants her husband to feel like the head of his house builds him up as a host.

To regard the house as "ours," not "mine." Many a woman talks about "my living room" and "my dining room furniture." Some even warn their husbands not to track up "my carpet" and to keep out of "my kitchen."

To take a husband's comfort into consideration when furnishing a house. If a man doesn't even have his own easy chair in the living room, how can he feel like head of his house?

To consult him before making social engagements. The wife who says: "I'll check with Jim" before accepting an invitation not only makes Jim feel like head of his house, but lets others know that he is.

May Day Tea At Parkhill In Charming Setting

A most charming tea room scene was arranged for the May Day tea at the Parkhill School on Thursday afternoon. Modern windows across the wall of the front classroom allowed effective lighting to highlight the effect produced by the decorations of the Home and School Association.

Taking apple blossoms at their theme the color scheme was pale pink, green and white throughout. The table was covered with a beautiful cutwork cloth with lace edging and in the centre a crystal bowl of flowers was centred with a tall white candle symbolizing the traditional Maypole and slender streamers fell to the hands of six dancing figurines.

The flowers on the table were white snapdragons and 'mums and table dishes were all in crystal, matched by candelabra with pale green tapers. The color scheme was extended even to the sandwiches, cakes and mints.

Mrs. Ray Parnell was the tea convener and the ticket convener was Mrs. A. Clark, who was assisted at the tea by treasurer Mrs. B. Holloway. More than 200 tickets were sold, and it has been established that a profit from the tea is $119.

President Mrs. V. Ferguson and vice president Mrs. R. Cookman received, assisted in turn by the teachers, Miss Cora Bailey, principal, and Mrs. W. R. Howson who also poured tea with past teachers Miss E. Glover and Miss M. Pound.

Tea room hostess was Mrs. O. Mackie. Servers were Mrs. O. R. Garside, Mrs. W. Griffin, Mrs. A. Lester, Mrs. D. S. Lamb, Mrs. H. Lewis, Mrs. F. M. Banks, Mrs. I. H. McGowan, Mrs. C. Gledhill, Mrs. T. Fenn and teachers Mrs. F. J. Shearer and Mrs. W. E. Kibblewhite.

Background music during the tea was played by Mrs. A. Tucker, Mrs. Holloway and Mrs. Shearer, in turn.

freshments in the kitchen were Mrs. L. White, Mrs. J. Jarvis, Mrs. W. McLeod, Mrs. H. Hallick, Mrs. A. Strode and Mrs. K. Whatley.

The other front classroom was used for the sale tables. Home baking was convened by Mrs. G. Montgomery with Mrs. D. W. Laird, Mrs. W. Sackrider, Mrs. E. Smith and Mrs. B. Stenson assisting. Mrs. F. Barker had the candy table with Mrs. Roy Hancock and Mrs. W. Thomas assisting.

A used book table was in charge of Mrs. W. Coyne and Mrs. Art Fort. Mrs. J. D. Jory convened a collection of 'white elephants' and was assisted with sales by Mrs. J. VanLuven and Mrs. A. C. Lynn.

The kindergarten room was open for the children of guests and was in charge of Mrs. C. Butcher and Mrs. H. Lemon.

Urges Pressure By W.I.'s On Gov't

GUELPH, Ont., May 2 (CP). — Canada should have at least one woman representative on the U.N. [illegible] D.C., told more than 1,000 women yesterday at the annual conference of the Federated Women's Institutes of Ontario.

Since F.A.O. was set up in 1945 she said, Canadians had given it "magnificent leadership," particularly External Affairs Minister Pearson and H. H. Hannam, president of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture.

But these were all men, Miss Reynolds said. The Women's Institutes should exert pressure on the government to appoint a woman to the F.A.O.

Summer Shoes Feature Spike Heels, Low-Cut Vamp

PARIS, May 2 (Reuters)—Spike heels, low-cut vamps, novelty trimming and gay colors are features of the summer shoes made for this season's crisp cotton dresses.

Beside the classic hand-made shoe which changes little from season to season and costs a small fortune, the light, airy novelty model has come into its own.

Laure, Parisian shoemaker, has built the major part of this year's summer collection around the pump. New effects appear in open toes which are cut squarely across, matching the line of the low vamp. Bright colors and amusing trimmings lend infinite variety. Cornflower blue kid is used for one pair which is primarily buttoned across the vamp with small mother-of-pearl buttons. Another pair in white suede is worked in a chevron pattern, with tiny jingling bells.

A pair of navy-blue kid pumps features the new fashion of wide-open toes.

Jordan, who makes most of the shoes worn by the mannequins in the Paris collections, features the closed-heel pump for year-round wear. Low-cut vamps, extremely pointed toes and thin French heels which taper to a dime-sized point often recall 1920 models.

Embroidery and lace designs are designed for dresswear. Metallic leathers, which skyrocketed to fame last summer, continue to be popular.

Unlike Jordan, Joseph Casale favors the open-toed, open-backed shoe. The strip-tease shoe, without any back, is his favorite.

One of the first shoe makers to stress fabric in shoes, Madame Greco continues her popular Kashmir and Paisley treatments.

St. Paul's Choir To Give Concert

The annual choir concert of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, on Monday at 8.15 p.m. in the church, promises to be of unusual interest. Doris Dunlop, noted mezzo-soprano, has been engaged to sing. Mrs. Dunlop, who has already received acclaim in Peterborough, is well-known as a radio and concert soloist. Her recital in the New York Town Hall was well received by critics.

The choir will present a Bach cantata, The Lord is My Shepherd. This is probably the first performance in Peterborough of a Bach church cantata. In addition they will be singing a group of lighter numbers. The Junior Choral Group under the direction of Gwen Craw, will contribute numbers, and piano and organ duets and organ solos will be rendered by Gwen Craw and Christopher Gledhill.

Physical Training Is Topic Of Address To H.S. Parents

The meeting of the Catholic High School Ladies' Auxiliary of the Athletic and Advisory Club held in St. John the Baptist School auditorium Thursday evening was well attended. Guest speaker was Miss E. V. Sexton, assistant director of physical education branch of the Ontario Department of Education.

Monsignor P. P. Butler said the opening prayers. Mrs. J. L. Paquette, president, was chairman. The girls of St. Peter's High School choir entertained with sev-

the child learned, sometimes to his sorrow, it was decided to teach him. This is done in the schools to prepare the child for complications. We want our children to be healthy, secure, adequate, considerate, co-operative, and friendly. We also want articulate, well-thinking children. There are four means of education — physical, mental, emotional and social.

In physical education we learn to play games with a team and in-

THE EXPERTS SAY:

Hadassah Secretary Urges Women Buy In Quantities

By KAY REX,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Buying in quantity is one way to keep the cost of living down, says an official of the 15,000-member Hadassah Organization of Canada.

In the opinion of Mrs. M. A. Bregman of Winnipeg, secretary of the 35-year-old association, it also is wise to use fresh fruits and vegetables in season.

"Hamburger or other chopped meats goes much farther when a little cereal is added such as cream of wheat, corn flakes or bread crumbs," says Mrs. Bregman. "Instead of serving straight fillets, fish balls made from the fillets also go much farther."

She also has found it pays to check household electrical equipment at regular intervals, rather than wait until something goes wrong and then have to pay heavy repair bills.

Economical And Tasty

Among Mrs. Bregman's favorite recipes is one for apple and raisin pudding which is both easy to make and inexpensive.

Ingredients: One cup brown sugar; one-third cup butter or cooking fat; three-quarters cup flour.

Mix as for pie and add raisins and five-sixths of a cup of finely sliced apples.

Mix and bake in covered fish in hot oven for one-half hour. Mix through and continue baking until well-browned (350 degrees fahrenheit). The second baking will take approximately another hour.

Raisin cake is another favorite with Mrs. Bregman. Ingredients: one cup raisins; one-half cup cooking-oil; one-half cup white sugar two eggs; two teaspoons baking-powder; one teaspoon baking-soda; one teaspoon vanilla.

Wash raisins and pour one cup of boiling water over them. Boil for a few minutes. Remove from stove and add baking-soda. Allow to cool.

Separate the eggs and cream yolks with sugar. Add oil and the cooled mixture of raisins. Add cherries if desired. Add flour, vanilla and egg whites which have been well whipped. Bake in an oven of 350 degrees fahrenheit for three-quarters of an hour. Use a baking-pan 12 by eight inches.

Dorothy Dix Says:— Loss Of Mother Accounts For Boy Neglecting Girl

DEAR MISS DIX: My sweetheart has been in the Navy for four years and is about to be discharged. He used to write me frequent letters of love, and on his last leave asked me to marry him. He was sent overseas, and we corresponded. Then his letters stopped. I've written asking him why, but have received no answer. He hasn't written his family either, but I know he is alive and well as he was home a few months ago for his mother's funeral.

PATSY F.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: The whole answer to your problem is contained in a few words you added almost as an afterthought. Are you so blind that you can't see their significance? "His mother's funeral!" To a young boy who presumably was devoted to his mother (most youngsters are) her death would have been a shock overshadowing, at least for the time being, all other emotion. Also, from the casual treatment you give his loss, you probably weren't on hand to offer much in the way of sympathy. Friends are needed most in time of trouble, and if you failed to bring, or attempt to bring, any consolation to your young man during his bereavement, it is quite possible you have lost him forever. I wonder if, even up to this time, you have written a word of condolence to him.

Don't Date This Boy

DEAR MISS DIX: A friend of mine is going to be married but is not engaged. He wants a date and I would like to go out with him. Do you think it would be all right?

VICKY

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: If your friend has definite plans to be married, he is ipso facto engaged, whether he admits it or not. He is, therefore, outside the pale of dating material for girls other than his fiancee.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: For the past two years I've been so restless that it's beginning to affect my marriage. I have a wonderful husband, but just can't find enough in him or in our home to interest me. We have no children. What is the matter with me? I am 25 years old.

RITA P.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Nothing is so inductive to restlessness as idleness, and of that you have just too much. If your home is a small apartment, or even a small house, you simply do not have enough to do to keep busy. That's a sad state of affairs for a 25-year-old girl. Are you completely lacking in initiative or resourcefulness? Get busy and you will soon forget to be restless. Volunteer as an aide in your local hospital. Offer to help care for the children there; give them their meals, wash them, read to them. With so few nurses to do so much work, a pair of willing hands will be very welcome. Offer your services to the Red Cross; they have dozens of jobs you could fill. Surely you have some talent you could share with others. Be generous with it!

DEAR MISS DIX: Last summer I met a man on an excursion. I like him very much and we have been seeing each other four or five times a week. I'm 35, he's 39. I have noticed that he avoids crowds, which makes me suspicious. Also, he has an aversion to being photographed. I feel he has a past that is no good, so I have decided to stop seeing him. Am I right?

MARIANNE R.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: The two traits you mention are much more likely to be the evidence of phobias than a guilty conscience. Many people dislike crowds—in fact, this is one of the more common phobias. A dislike to have one's picture taken is also commonplace. Don't break up a friendship on such flimsy grounds, but a few inquiries into your friend's background would be a wise procedure, especially if you are going together with serious intentions.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I'm a high-school girl and my problem is clothes! My parents raise a fuss every time I want something new, and expect me to wear the same dress to school every day. I'm so discouraged that I'd like to quit school and get a job but my parents won't let me. GIGI

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Are you being entirely fair to your parents? Perhaps they can't afford to raise your clothes allowance, or perhaps your ideas of a small wardrobe are a little exaggerated. There is one perfect solution to your difficulty. Why not learn to make your own clothes? You'll be acquiring a craft that will be useful for the rest of your life and, by the expenditure of a small sum of mony, can have nicer dresses than many girls with large clothes budgets. If your school doesn't have a dressmaking course, try the Y.W.C.A. or similar group.

Rev. A. Bishop Served In Area, Dies In Lindsay

WARKWORTH, May 2 —(ENS) The Rev. Alfred Bishop of 58 Melbourne St., W., Lindsay, died on Thursday at his home after a legnthy illness. He was in his 70th year.

Mr. Bishop was well known and respected throughout the Warkworth district. Before going to his last charge at Dunsford, he served for eight years in the Castleton circuit whose appointments were Morganston and Oak Heights and the village of Castleton.

A year ago, Mr. Bishop left Dunsford United Church and went into retirement at his home in Lindsay. Poor health prompted his decision; he had become stricken with cancer and the disease became steadily worse.

He was operated on in June, 1951, but it did not stop the progress of the cancer.

Mr. Bishop was born in England, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Silas Bishop. He was educated in England and became an ordained minister before coming out to Canadian his early twenties.

Newfoundland

His first charge was in Newfoundland and others were in the State of Maine, Birchton, Que., Bishop's Mills, Ont., and the Ontario charges of Haley Station, Escott, Gananoque, Newburgh, Verona, Kingston Mills, Castleton and Dunsford.

Mr. Bishop married twice. His first wife, the former Mary Winsor Bartlett, died in 1926. The couple had three sons—Frank now living in Kingston and Alfred in Windsor. A third son, Lloyd, was with the R.C.A.F. and was reported to be the first Canadian killed on the war front in France in 1940.

His widow is the former Rebecca Seeley, now living at the family home in Lindsay.

Clergy of the Lindsay Presbytery will officiate at the funeral.

The body is resting at the Allen Funeral Home, Warkworth, and the Rev. H. G. Lester of Warkworth United Church will conduct a short prayer service in the chapel there before the funeral procession leaves the Allen Funeral Home at 9.30 a.m. Saturday

Service In Dunsford

Service will be in Dunsford United Church at 2 p.m. Saturday. Among the attending clergy of the Presbytery will be the Rev. A. E. Cresswell of Queen Street United Church, Lindsay; the Rev. Brophey of Beaverton; the Rev. H. B. Neal of Cambridge Street United Church, Lindsay; and the Rev. E. E. Pugsley of Dunsford.

After the funeral service the funeral cortege will return to the Allen Funeral Home, Warkworth, and burial will be 1.30 p.m. Monday in the Oaklands Cemetery, Brockville. A committal service will be conducted there by the Rev. Reginald McMillan of Mallorytown United Church.

Pallbearers will be Lorne Darling and Donald Massey of the Warkworth district, and Jack Elliott, Max Kennedy, Jack McMillan and Thomas Brydan.

Crown Fails To Prove Bag Of Tools Stolen

A charge of being in possession of stolen goods was dismissed in police court today when the crown failed to prove a bag of tools taken from David Peters, 283 Armour Rd., had been stolen or that the tools were the ones alleged to have been stolen.

Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw argued that Peter's statement to Samson Taylor to whom he offered the bag of tools for $1.50 was sufficient to require an explanation from Peters.

Taylor said Peters asked him to say nothing about the matter, after he told Peters he did not want to buy the tools.

James F. Dunn who defended Peters said no defence was required "because no one has established ownership of the tools." It was not even proved that the tools were stolen or that they were the ones Russell Mortimer said were missing from a truck belonging to his employer A. C. Curtis, said Mr. Dunn.

"The tools are not identified, nor can they be," said Magistrate W. R. Philp. "I don't think I am entitled to draw the inference from his statement that he came

Presents Cup To Jap Team

TOKYO, Japan, May 2—(CP)—Brig. J. M. Rockingham, who arrives in Vancouver May 15 after relinquishing his command of the 25th Canadian Infantry Brigade, Thursday night presented the Japan Ice Hockey Association with a trophy from the Brigade.

It is hoped the trophy will become the Japanese equivalent of Canada's Stanley Cup. It will go annually to the all-Japan hockey team.

In a short address, Brig. Rockingham said:

"I am very proud to present this trophy on behalf of my Brigade. I talked to some of our players when they returned to Korea from a series here and they told me the Japanese teams were very fast and played a clean, sportsmanlike game. We have at home a trophy called the Stanley Cup. It is hoped you will make this your Stanley Cup."

A. Takeda, president of the Japan Hockey Association, accepted the trophy.

He said, "It is a great honor for me to accept this trophy on behalf of the Japan Ice Hockey Association. Our thanks to Canada go back many years to 1936 when a Canadian team from Saskatoon came to Japan and taught us the fast, spectacular type of game they were playing."

Former Tourist Home Becomes Apartments

The Kaledan tourist home, then nurses' residence and most recently the home of Kenneth Tedford, former Norwood funeral director, has been sold to Heber S. Rogers, 359 Stewart St.

For years the large 12-room house at 813 Water St. was owned by Jack Patte and during that time was one of the better tourist homes in the city. Shortly after his death the Civic Hospital took over the building for its senior nurses residence.

When the new hospital was opened, the home was bought by Mr. Tedford. He lived there until a few weeks ago when he bought a summer resort on Balsam Lake.

Mr. Rogers said today that the house has been altered to provide three apartments one of which his family will occupy.

Air Force Plans Weekend Shooting

LONDON, Ont., May 2 (CP).—London's reserve air force will operate from the R.C.A.F. airport at Aylmer Sunday for a day's shooting on the Lake Erie gunnery range.

Last Sunday the pilots of No. 420 City of London Squadron used the Fingal Airport as their base and completed their first exercises of firing live ammunition on the new lake range.

The squadron is using airfields closer to the lake shore to reduce time between armament exercises and to give all personnel experience in operating from airfields other than the home base.

With full military honors, the men were laid to rest in the Canadian section of the British garrison cemetery at Limmer, on the outskirts of Hannover. Prior to the graveside ceremony, Protestant and Roman Catholic services were held in the two chapels at Edinburgh barracks. Officiating chaplains were Capt. E. M. Evans, Toronto Church of England padre and Capt. F. H. Boucher, Roman Catholic padre from Moncton, N. B.

Following the chapel services the three caskets, each on a separate military hearse, were slowmarched out of the barracks area. Funeral escorts and the 12-man firing party were under command of Maj. J. E. Pickard, Fredericton, N. B.

Tax Bills To Be Sent Out End Cycle Begun With Vote

Some 1,500 business tax bills are due at the City Hall Thursday, May 15.

Distribution of those forms is being followed into the mails by more than 15,000 property tax bills. These are the first issue of levy from the new City Hall. Otherwise, they are just the same as the bills that were delivered for so many years from the old treasury at Simcoe and Water Streets.

Deputy-treasurer Donald W. Hill, one of the most mild-mannered tax collectors in Peterborough's memory, and they have all been kindly, sympathetic men, is catching up with the computing detail that followed the council's fixing the tax rate, and also including in that bylaw the authority of the people to collect the 1952 taxes.

Begin at Election.

Citizens can see the course and effect of their democratic rights in action. First, they elect municipal representatives who are vested with certain responsibilities and duties. Then, in assuming those duties the council has to obtain funds for carrying on the affairs of the people who elected them.

The funds have to be obtained from the people themselves, and through value of their properties.

So, assessment officers are engaged to go about and appraise houses and lands. Then, other officials determine the amount of money required in maintaining the icity at the level to which it has become accustomed. And, from all that information, the council fixes the rate, usually as indicated from the treasury office, and from there on the staff takes charge.

Tax Themselves.

Literally, the people are taxing themselves. The council is only an active medium, and another is the Court of Revision.

From the council, the assessment roll and the rate are turned over to the city clerk's office who estimate the tax monies to be paid by each taxable citizen.

Finally come the time when the finishing touches are applied to the procedure the tax bills are sent out, returnable on certain dates.

First installment is due June 5 for the taxpayers of the south and centre wards; June 12 for the taxpayers of the south and north; and June 19 for Ashburnham and Claraday.

In fixing the tax rate, the council does three things, it adopts the assessment roll, which was prepared in the previous year (1951 for 1952); it strikes the tax rate; and finally it authorizes the collection of taxes. And that implies and entails penalties if the taxes are not paid as required.

All these services, responsibilities, rights and so on emerge from the ballot box, and like Pandora's there is always hope left that things will take a better turn.

Senate Welcomes Two US Congressmen

OTTAWA, May 2—(CP)—For the first time in the 85-year history of Canada's Senate, two members of the U.S. Congress were given places of honor on its floor Thursday and heard themselves lauded for efforts to bring about creation of an Atlantic assembly in the cause of peace.

Senator Guy M. Gillette (D., Iowa) and Representative Leory Johnson (R., Calif.), along with Owen J. Roberts, former U.S. Supreme Court Justice, were seated to the right of Speaker Elie Beauregard as the Red Chamber went into session.

The congressmen were welcomed by Senator Wishart Robertson, Government Leader, and Senator T. Haig, Opposition Leader, and in turn themselves addressed the assembled senators.

The three Americans headed a U.S. group which has been in Ottawa talking informally with Canadian parliamentarians about the possibilities of Atlantic union. Their appearance on the Senate floor came shortly after release of a unanimously endorsed resolution from these closed meetings calling for exploration of the possibility of a North Atlantic assembly dealing with economic co-operation.

Welcomed By Robertson

Senator Robertson told the U.S. congressmen they were welcomed not only for their prominent positions, but in recognition of their efforts directed to ever closer co-operation between the countries of the western world.

Senator Haig asked the congressmen to take a message of appreciation back to their country about what the United States is doing in world affairs.

Senator Gillette said legislatures throughout the western world might have different ceremonies, but they were alike in that they were instruments of the people.

Representative Johnson said the peoples of the western world were groping for a way to unite so there would be a rule of law rather than a rule of race. Canada and the United States were trying to find a way, but they could not do it "compartments by ourselves." The world was too small for compartments.

Commissioner Is Appointed

OTTAWA, May 2—(CP)—Justice Minister Garson announced appointment of a special commissioner to determine whether a combine exists in the manufacture, distribution and sale of electrical wire and cable and related products.

H. Carl Goldenberg, a Montreal lawyer, was named as the special commissioner.

Mr. Garson said "extensive inquiries allready have been made by the combines investigation commission."

Mr. Goldenberg will conduct private hearings in eastern Canadian cities shortly.

Save 250,00,000 Bushels Of Western Grain Crop

WINNIPEG, May 2 (CP)—Victory in the struggle to dry Western Canada's huge stock of damp grain before it spoiled in summer heat was announced Thursday.

George McIvor, chief of the board of grain commissioners and a leading figure in the six-months drive, and the problem of conditioning the grain had been solved.

The damp grain, estimated at 250,000,000 bushels, was the result of a disastrous harvest season. It clogged storage and drying facilities and was in danger of spoiling with the return of warm weather.

Farmers, grain men, transportation companies and Canada's customers — with an assist from nature — teamed to solve the situation.

Three weeks of clear skies and drying winds in the spring was a key factor in handling the grain. Overseas customers, notably the United Kingdom, and Canadian commercial interests accepted 70,000,000 bushels of crop in tough condition—without drying.

Terminal dryers across Canada and the United States and drying on farms handled the rest.

Last fall rain and early snow gave farmers 250,000,000 bushels of moist grain to market before March 21 and left another 285,000,000 bushels in the fields for spring harvest.

Began To Fill

But marketings went ahead. Terminals began to fill. Then congestion developed at country elevators. Dryers were working around the clock, but the job was too big.

Arrangements were made to ship grain to Duluth, Minn., for drying in bond. Mr. McIvor said the value of Duluth was far greater than the quantity handled would indicate. Without it movement of moist grain from farms would have been halted.

The second [illegible] in the early opening of Great Lakes navigation. The first vessel steamed into Port Arthur April 3, ready to move more grain to dryers at Buffalo, N.Y. This permitted the vital constant movement of grain to continue.

The final break was good weather. It resulted in large stocks of dry grain from the spring harvest, useful for blending with moist grain to absorb dampness and forestall spoilage.

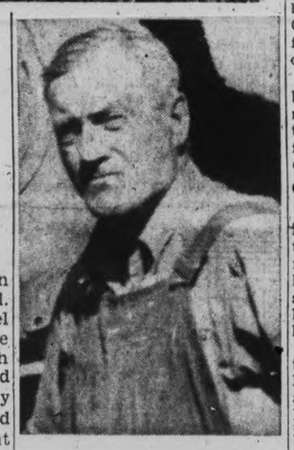
Fire Destroys Farm House 7 In Manvers Left Homeless

THIS THREE-TON DUMP TRUCK playing pickaback with the tractor could easily have killed Mel Delong, veteran Peterborough trucker Friday afternoon. Mr. Delong escaped with nothing worse than a bruised left leg though the left wheel of the truck came directly over the driver's seat. Somehow he managed to evade the main impact of the collision and he wiggled free after the two vehicles crashed into the north ditch. Mr. Delong, a few minutes after the accident, is shown examining the tractor seat to see how close he came from the heavy wheel. A close-up of the 60-year-old trucker is shown, Right. —(Examiner Photos.)



Neighbors Helpless To Halt Flames, Save Other Homes

BETHANY, May 3. (ENS)—Seven people were left homeless early Friday evening when the two-storey brick farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald McGill, seven miles west of Bethany was destroyed by fire. The house on Lot 6, Concession 8, Manvers township, was completely gutted in an hour. No estimate of the damage has been made. Mrs. McGill was preparing supper for the family when she went to enter a small wooden shed, attached to the back of the home. As she opened the door smoke and flames leaped through. She immediately phoned to the Bethany telephone operator and the fire alarm was sent by phone throughout the area.

Neighbors rushed to help and were soon joined by people from Bethany. Soon about 50 people gathered around the burning building, but little could be done to fight the blaze.

Save Furniture

Volunteers first saved furniture from the downstairs of the building and succeeded in getting the most valuable pieces out of the living-room, dining-room, and kitchen.

Within an hour the flames had gutted the building and only the brick walls were left standing. Gradually, one by one, the walls fell. The house was completely demolished by today.

Without fire equipment, neighbors concentrated on saving the nearby farm buildings after getting the furniture out. With water from a nearby well, they dampened the adjoining buildings.

Other Homes Threatened

When the house was reduced to rubble inside, volunteers guarded the smoldering ruins during the night. The strong west wind which had fanned the blaze, distributed sparks throughout the neighborhood, threatening other farm homes.

Particular attention was paid to the farm home and buildings of Robert Atkinson, a neighbor across the road from the McGills. It was threatened several times in the night.

It is not known how the fire started, but it apparently began in the woodshed.

Mr. and Mrs. McGill with their five children who range in age from 11 years to several months spent the night with Mrs. Charles McCullough at the next farm. They have not yet made any plans for the future.

Endicott Home, Says U.S. Using Germ Warfare

TORONTO, May 3 (CP)—Dr. James Endicott arrived home by plane from Communist China Friday and repeated charges that Americans are using germ warfare in Korea.

He was tight-lipped, however, when questioned by reporters about statements attributed to him by the Communist press that Canada is breeding germs for United Nations use in Korea.

The chairman of the leftist Canadian Peace Congress tried to avoid reporters who met him at nearby Malton airport.

Asks For Statement

In Ottawa, External Affairs Minister Pearson told the Commons that Dr. Endicott had been asked in a letter to either confirm or deny reports that he said while in China that Canada was implicated in alleged germ warfare in the Far East. He added that there seemed little likelihood of prosecution of the former United Church minister or any Canadians who have visited Communist countries and allegedly made untrue charges about Canada and her allies.

Dr. Endicott said he had asked Mr. Pearson for an interview to clear away any misconceptions which he claimed the government may have gained from "erroneous press reports."

Air Force Flying Curbed By U.S.; Gas Stocks Down

DENVER, May 3. (CP)—Unessential military flying became the first major casualty of the United States oil strike as the walkout of 80,000 industry employees entered its fourth day today. The U.S. air force issued orders curtailing flying hours outside Korea to preserve its supplies of aviation fuel, cut by the shutdown of some of the world's largest producers of high-octane gasoline. "Due to air force stock levels, all flying outside the Korean theatre is restricted to the minimum required to continue training, perform essential command missions and perform absolutely essential administrative flights," the orders said.

Effects of the strike were not reflected in operations of commercial airlines. Some lines had less than 30 hours' supply of gasoline on hand when the strike of 22 C.I.O., A.F.L. and independent unions began midnight Tuesday. But they were able to maintain service although, as a spokesman for the Air Transport Association said, they are "moving heaven and earth" trying to build up and effectively ration their supplies.

Trying To Curb Panic

In Washington, meanwhile, the government was reported trying to stave off [illegible] by motorists and other private users of petroleum products.

While labor and management officials continue efforts to reach new wage contracts, federal officials are taking pains to calm public fears.

From nearly every quarter came statements emphasizing that reserve stocks of fuels are at record highs—sufficient, they say, to permit normal consumption for several weeks. The officials also point out that runs on filling stations not only would result in waste but would create fire hazards through unsafe storage of gasoline on private premises.

The Petroleum Administration for Defence was still optimistic that there will be an early settlement of the labor dispute. One reason for the optimism is that historically the oil industry has enjoyed good labor relations. Another reason is the 15-cent hourly pay increase accepted by 3,000 employees of the Phillips Petroleum Co. in Borger, Tex., area. P.A.D. officials hope this will set a pattern for negotiations elsewhere in the industry.

There was little progress in plant-by-plant negotiations, however. The coalition of unions, headed by the Oil Workers' International Union in Denver, is seeking a 25-cent hourly wage increase and increased night-shift differentials. Present average wage ranges from $2 to $2.10.

Cost-Of-Living Expected Show Third Decline

OTTAWA, May 3 (CP)—Living costs, which rose to unprecedented heights late last year, are pointing down. The third monthly decline in a row likely will be shown Monday when the Bureau of Statistics publishes its cost-of-living index for March.

A decline for March was included in a forecast by Trade Minister Howe about six weeks ago when he dropped a strong hint that the February index would ease by about two points.

The actual February drop was 1.7 [illegible] point decline in nine years, pushing the prices barometer down to 189.1 from 190.8 in January and from the peak of 191.5 last December. The index is based on 1935-39 prices equalling 100.

This general decline in the index spells relief for the Canadian consumer, but behind it lurks chaos and tragedy for some Canadian farmers.

Meat Price Cuts

For most of the decline is being caused by meat price cuts sparked by the outbreak of foot-and-mouth disease in south Saskatchewan and the United States ban on Canadian cattle and meats.

A five-cent-a-pound drop in beef, coupled with other declines in pork and bacon, provided the main attacking forces to override boosts in rents, fuel, furniture and other items during February.

The cut in meat prices and the shrinkage in potential markets likely will mean less revenue for the cattle-raiser this year. This, in turn, may reduce his purchasing power.

Since Canada's cattle and meat men do about $1,000,000,000 worth of business a year, any large drop in revenue could have serious repercussions in other parts of the economy.

Foods, 241.7 (248.1); rent, 146.3 (144.8); fuel and lighting, 152.5 (151.3); clothing, 211.2 (213.0); homefurnishings and services, 200.8 (200.1); miscellaneous, 146.9 (146.5).

Rents are surveyed on a quarterly basis only and there will be no change in this sub-group when the March index comes out Monday.

Trucker Has Narrow Escape

James M. (Mel.) Delong, 60-year-old trucker who lives at 219 Caddy St., is limping on his left leg as he walks along today. But the wonder is that he is alive to walk around at all. While pulling a three-ton truck along the highway late Friday afternoon, he had the novel experience of having the truck jump the eight-foot tow chain and run over part of the tractor on which he was riding. The two vehicles, locked together, plunged into the north ditch with Delong still pinned in the tractor seat. When they stopped, the truck was angled in the air with its left front wheel directly over the tractor seat. The right mudguard had also been twisted up around the seat.

How Did He Escape?

"I don't know how he escaped being killed," was the unanimous verdict of spectators who gathered around the scene. The accident occurred two miles east of the city on Highway 7.

"Mel was towing the truck which had four (cubic) yards of earth as a load," said Charles McCall, 80, of 221 Caddy St., who was steering the truck. "Then everything happened so fast I hardly know what happened. I put on the brakes but the two vehicles came together and we angled off into the ditch.

'When we stopped, the truck was right up on top of the tractor. As I got out I could see Mel wriggling to get free. He got out by himself . . . It was a close shave."

They had been hauling earth from a point six miles out in Otonabee to a job they had contracted for in the city. The truck [illegible] Delong.

There is a slight downgrade on the highway where the dump truck jumped the tow-chain and collided with the tractor.

The accident was investigated by [illegible] Wallace

Reds Blamed For Shooting

MEXICO CITY, May 3 (AP)—All troops and police in the city were called for emergency duty today as the Communists prepared to bury a student killed in a May Day shooting.

Police blamed the Communists for the shooting and arrested Dionisio Encinas, head of the party in Mexico. The opposition coalition of Leftist and Independent parties, which includes the Communists, said police started the shooting in the street behind the big marble palace of fine arts.

Social Activities Help To Diplomats

OTTAWA, May 3 (CP)—Social activities of Canada's diplomatic missions abroad were most valuable as a means of meeting people and finding out what's going on, External Affairs Minister Pearson said Friday.

U.S. Pilots Shoot Down Four Communist Planes

SEOUL, Korea, May 3. (AP)—U.S. Sabre jet pilots shot down four Communist jet planes and damaged a Red propellor-driven fighter in two sunset air battles over northwest Korea, the U.S. Fifth Air Force said tonight. The jet scraps took place near the Yalu River, boundary between Korea and Manchuria, and produced America's 13th jet ace, Capt. Robert T. Latshaw, Jr., Amarillo, Texas.

In one fight 19 Sabres tangled with about 15 M.I.G.'s. In the second battle 40 Sabres battled an undetermined number of Red planes.

Help Store Beat Strike

MONTREAL, May 3 — (CP)—Dupuis Freres, Ltd., Montreal departmental store, Friday slashed prices 20 per cent and operated on a self-serve basis as an estimated 1,200 employees went on strike for higher wages.

A skeleton staff, made up of non-striking employees and store officials, worked at high speed to handle a rush of bargain hunters who jammed the St. Catharine St. establishment to capitalize on the across-the-board price reduction. Buying was concentrated in the clothing and novelty departments.

Customers were asked to carry purchases and told that bulky goods would be delivered later. Goods were sold for cash with no exchanges or refunds.

The strikers, seeking a weekly pay boost of $10, include sales clerks, mail clerks and warehouse men, all members of the Catholic Syndicate, an affiliate of the Canadian Catholic Federation of Labor. Salaries now range from $25 to $30 a week.

There were no disturbances and only one arrest. Jean Riopel, 28, a picket, was arrested by police for obstructing pedestrians. He was to appear in recorder's court today.

St. Catharine St., the city's main shopping thoroughfare, was jammed with early morning traffic. Twenty-one traffic policemen, aided by members of the city's mounted police, had traffic moving smoothly by mid-morning and the number of pickets dwindled from 30 to 10.

The strike was called after an arbitration board rejected the union's demands.

It was believed profit from the games was to help look after the jailed bookie's wife and family while he served his term.

Pirates Seize Junk With $700,000 Cargo

HONG KONG, May 3 (Reuters)—Pirates have seized a Chinese motor junk carrying 4,000,000 Hong Kong dollars ($700,000) worth of metals and other cargo together with the entire crew, reports reaching here said today.

The junk was on her way from Kong Kong to Macao, Portuguese colony on the Chinese mainland 40 miles from here. She was passing through a pirate-infested channel near Macao when eight Chinese boarded her and seized her.

One of the junks crew was reported to have been wounded by a pistol shot.

He was put into a sampan before the pirates made off in a motor boat towing the junk with her crew and cargo.

Kidnap Japanese

TOKYO, May 3 — (AP). — The Japanese press reported today a Russian patrol boat was seen Friday towing two Japanese fishing boats toward Russian-held Sakhalin Island.

The boats were manned by about 30 men.

Newspapers reported Japanese fishermen who watched the boats being towed away said it appeared the Russians captured them in Japanese waters.

Other Japanese fishing boats in the area then returned to Hokkaido, northernmost Japanese island.

The Russians in the past have captured many Japanese boats which entered waters around Sakhalin and the Kurile Islands, north of Hokkaido. The Russians contend the waters are "territorial."

Monkey Story

John Panaski [illegible] home Coatsville, Pa., today without any fish, he will at least have a good monkey story to tell.

Panaski was driving leisurely down the highway Friday night, bound for the Susquehanna River and some early morning fishing when a monkey came sailing through the open car window.

The monkey wore a hat, coat and pants and even had its nails manicured. Panaski, finding driving hazardous with the creature climbing all over him, pulled up at the State Police barracks.

The monkey made a break for it, dashed out an open door and ran down the highway.

Panaski and six State troopers in six patrol cars gave chase. For one hour they patrolled the highway until finally, Panaski spotted the monk sitting on a fence post.

No amount of coaxing could get the monkey within grabbing range of the troopers. But when Panaski tried, the monk leaped into his arms.

Student Forced To Leave Plans To Wed Negro Girl

RICHMOND, Ind., May 3 (AP)—An Earlham College senior is finishing his studies in absentia because of his engagement to a negro classmate.

Th white student, Robert McAllester, has left the college by academic work. His mother said he and Grace Cunningham, 22-year-old co-ed from Berkeley, Calif., plan to be married after their graduation in June.

President Thomas E. Jones of Earlham said, "The college has regulations against such impetuous things."

"The college does not stand by and let people get into this difficulty or any other difficulty without counselling them," Dr. Jones added.

Earlham, a small Quaker school, has had a non-segregation policy for many years, and its students, regardless of race, live and eat together in the dormitories.

The college announced it discourages inter-racial marriages, however, "because they present extra problems which may be almost insurmountable in the civilization of today."

McAllester is the son of a former Congregational missionary to Africa. His mother said in Ithaca, N.Y., Friday night that she and her husband both approve of the marriage.

"It seems strange that a Christian college should feel so strongly against such a union," she said.

Dramatic Steel Meeting With Truman

WASHINGTON, May 3. (AP)—President Truman brought steel executives and union leaders together in a White House meeting today aimed at settling their country-wide labor dispute. Truman planned to meet C.I.O. chief Philip Murray and a half-dozen leading steel-makers whose lawyers have charged that the president's seizure of the industry smacked of dictatorship. It promised to be a drama-packed session. For one thing, Truman, who has sided with the union and accused the industry of being "reckless," was to meet Clarence Randall, the steel firm president who charged the President with making "a corrupt political deal" with Murray.

It was reliably reported the meeting was a last-ditch administration effort to arrange an industry-union contract agreement and that, if it failed, Truman was ready to give Murray's 650,000 union members the pay increase they want.

The three-day strike was over, called off by Murray Friday on Truman's plea. But some steel firms were balking at heating their furnaces again for fear another quick strike might wreck the expensive facilities. They demanded "assurance of continuing operations."

Slows Production

This slowed the resumption of steel production. Mills said it would take from several days to as long as 10 days to get production to full blast again.

The government was expected to take steps to get production speeded up. Probably by a direct Truman appeal to the steelmakers.

Meantime, the legal battle over constitutionality of the government seizure was in the lap of the Supreme Court. The justices gathered for a regular Saturday conference on pending cases, and they could rule today on part or all of the complicated litigation.

The court may delay action until Monday, a regular court opinion day, or even later. Two main points are to be decided. One is an industry plea—opposed by the government and the United Steelworkers of America (C.I.O.)—that the administration be prohibited from raising steel wages while the industry is under government control.

The other is whether the High Court will rule on the basic legal question: Was the seizure a violation of the President's power limitations under the Constitution, or a proper exercise of his functions?

Promises B.C. Only Slaughter Cattle Moved

OTTAWA, May 3 (CP).—Agriculture Minister Gardiner Friday night promised British Columbia that nothing but slaughter cattle will be allowed to move into B. C. as a precaution against spread of foot-and-mouth disease in southern Saskatchewan.

However, Agriculture Minister Harry Bowman of B.C. said all cattle movements out of Saskatchewan must be banned or B.C. will revive its embargo on prairie livestock.

"If we don't get what we want from Ottawa, the ban will come quickly," Mr. Bowman said in Victoria.

Meanwhile, members of the Commons Agricultural Committee heard Dr. Thomas Childs, Federal Veterinary Director-General, testify he should have acted "sooner" to diagnose the outbreak.

He said he believed the disease on the Leonard Wass farm at McLean, Sask., might have been foot-and-mouth. For more than two months, veterinarians thought the disease was stomatitis, a milder cattle infection.

U.K. Jet Airliner Makes History On First Run

ENTEBBE, Uganda, May 3—(AP)—Britain's jet airliner, the B.O.A.C. Comet, whined seven miles high across African jungles and plains today, making aviation history with the world's first commercial jet service.

Aboard was a full payload of 36 pasengers, mail and baggage, bound from London to Johannesburg, South Africa—a span of 6,724 miles—in a scheduled time of 23 hours and 40 minutes. Six hours of it was carded for ground stops at five way stations.

The Dolphin-bodied, blue and white airliner, her four jet engines whistling in the morning air, slipped into Entebbe, 4,437 air miles from London, "bang on time," B.O.A.C. reported proudly.

She got here at 9 a.m. (3 a.m. EDT) and left an hour and five minutes later for Livingstone, Rhodesia—last stop before Johannesburg.

She had landed at Khartoum's airport, beside the upper Nile, at 3:33 a.m., 22 minutes ahead of schedule, but lost an extra 46 minutes on the ground and had to make up 24 minutes in the 1,090-mile leg to Entebbe.

Cut Time

The Comet's scheduled time to Johannesburg lopped 6½ hours off time of propeler-driven airliners.

Officials of the state-owned British Overseas Airways, which ordered the Comet straight from the drawing boards, were proud as punch of their new baby.

They said the flight shows Britain has at least a four-year lead in commercial jet service.

BICYCLES—are fun to own, and they a help in earning money. But carelessness can quickly land a rider in an accident.

FOR PARENTS ONLY:

Safety Rules In Bicycling Must Be Followed By Rider

By NANCY CLEAVER

"I want a bike, Mum! If I earn half the cost will Dad help me out?"

"Maybe . . . but we don't want you to be in an accident . . . A bicycle can't win in a head-on collision with a car!"

"I'll be careful! Mothers are always fussing . . . All the fellows in our gang have bikes."

Bicycles do cost money the same as any other well-made, complex vehicle—Every year shows a growing number of owners. Did you ever pass a school just after it was let out and meet the big "fleet" of cyclists, boys and girls? A youngster without a bike is certainly "out of things"!

Parent Should Be Concerned

At the same time a parent has reason to be concerned about the possibility of their youngster being in an accident. A young cyclist can be seriously hurt—or even killed—in a few split seconds in a serious mix-up.

How do most accidents occur? In a few cases the poor conditions of the road was a contributing factor. There may be so much sand, that the brakes if suddenly applied, may cause the wheels to skid. The surface may have had a large unexpected hole, rut or bump, or the shoulder of the road may have been weakened or partly wasted away by heavy rains. Occasionally a freezing rain had made cycling on good pavement very hazardous, or a heavy mist had made the visibility very low.

Sometimes the motorist or truck driver who crashed into the bicycle was almost completely responsible for an accident. But often the driver was unaware of a boy or girl on a bicycle because he did not see the white on the mud-guard of the back wheel or the tail light.

Perhaps it was dusk and the cyclist was in dark clothes with no light garment which could easily be seen. Maybe it was completely dark and no headlight or flashlight was attached to the frame of the bicycle. Another condition might have been that the horn or bell was out of order. When the motorist should have heard a warning sound from the cyclist, there was no signal given!

If a boy or girl wants to own a bicycle, in most families it is a good [illegible] for the not only to ride carefully—they are too young to ride!

The law holds parents responsible for the actions of their children, so it behooves mothers and fathers to know the traffic rules and make sure their youngsters are familiar with them.

Keep To Extreme Right

Bicycles should keep to the extreme right of the road out of the way of other vehicles. When meeting traffic, it is passed on the right, when overtaking traffic it is passed on the left. In a town or city the careful bicycle rider stays near the curb. At an intersection, traffic coming from the right has the right-of-way. When a cyclist wants to turn right, he approaches the intersection as near to the centre of the highway as he can, and then makes the left turn as close to the intersecting centre line as possible.

Stop signals must be obeyed and also traffic officer's directions. The cyclist must raise one arm when stopping or slowing down to turn to show in which direction he is going. He should use his horn or bell as a warning signal only when necessary. It is not a "nuisance device"!

Each cyclist must get along "on his own steam." Hanging on to a moving truck or a car is against the law and is very dangerous. To "cut in" in front of a moving car is also asking for trouble; and is never permissable.

Quite a few accidents occur when several cyclists are together. They get talking and forget to keep their eyes and ears open for cars or trucks or pedestrians. Sometimes they ride three or four or five abreast. Single file is the rule for bicycles in heavy or medium traffic, and a motorist often has difficulty in passing more than two bicycles riding alongside each other.

Adolescents sometimes start "clowning" or showing how smart they can be riding without their hands on the handle bars or their feet on the pedals. The [illegible] bling all over the road is a silly and dangerous practice. Keep in a straight line!

Bicycles are ridden in countries all around the globe—Tens of thousands [illegible] and girls and [illegible] on [illegible]

Leaves For Spain

The Rev. H. Fitzgerald of St. Jerome's Roman Catholic Church, left Montreal on May 1 aboard the S.S. Ascania to attend the 35th Eucharistic Congress which takes place in Barcelona, Spain.

They will return to Montreal on June 24, aboard the Empress of France, sailing from Liverpool.

One feature of the pilgrimage will be the five-day period spent in Rome. The schedule will take the pilgrims to Barcelona about May 29 and they will attend the Congress. They will leave Barcelona on June 2 and cross the Iberian Peninsula, stopping at Madrid, the capital of Spain, and from there to Lisbon, capital of Portugal.

The Percy Agricultural Society board met on Wednesday evening in the Community Hall, with the president [illegible] presiding. Among the items of business discussed was the decision to hold a calf club this year, with Howard Evans in charge. It was decided also to sponsor a dance on Friday evening, May 16.

Mr. McCubbin said the contract had been signed for a midway, including a ferris wheel and other rides. The fair date is September 25 and 26, which is a week earlier than the usual date.

The hydro interruption last Sunday was caused by the H.E.P.C., who are putting a cut-off switch on the north side of the sub-station. In the past, whenever there was an interruption on the north side of the station the power had to be cut off throughout this district and in many cases caused much inconvenience with their numerous interruptions. But now with the addition of this new switch the power can come from the south now; or if there is any trouble on the south line it can be switched to the north. This, of course, will cause fewer interruptions in power in the district.

Be Moving By September

MARMORA, May 3 (ENS)—Harold Olsen, manager of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation's mine at Marmora was the guest speaker at the monthly dinner meeting of the Marmora district Chamber of Commerce held in the Royal Hotel on Thursday evening, with an attendance of 100 members and visitors. In an interesting talk he told the history of his company and the operations of their mine and plant at Cornwall, Pa.

He also touched upon the developments, present and future, of the local mine and plant. He predicted that by September 1 30,000 tons of limestone will be moved a day. This would be equivalent, he said, to 12 trains of 50 cars each. In due course a concentrator and crusher will be erected on the site selected for treatment of the ore mined. Docks capable of docking the largest lake steamers are being built a little east of the town of Picton. Mr. Olsen also showed a series of colored slides of scenes of the local lay-out of the company's property.

Vaughan Glover, president, was in the chair and extended welcome to guests from Trenton, Stirling, Madoc and Rawdon township, representing service organizations. They intimated that their organizations were supporting the move initiated by the Marmora Chamber to have No. 14 highway extended from Marmora to Coe Hill for its benefit to the lumber industry and tourist trade. It was mentioned that the complimentary banquet to the Marmora hockey team would take place on May 14 and also that the banquet for all teams of the Trent Valley League is arranged to be held in Trenton on May 8.

Mrs. W. A. Messervey Wins First For Baby Photo-Quote

First prize in the Examiner's recent baby photo-quote contest goes to Mrs. W. A. Messervey, 577 McCannan Ave. with the entry of a small boy looking at himself in a mirror and saying, "Let's talk man to man". The picture was considered outstanding photography, but rather difficult to reproduce on account of not sufficient contrast in colors, the quote achieved the real object as outlined in the contest rules.

Second prize goes to Mrs. H. Luscombe, 437 McKellar St., with a photo of a boy counting on his fingers with the quote, "Gosh, only three more shopping days to Christmas. "The expression on the child's face clearly indicated that the quote could quite well tie in with the picture.

Third prize goes to Mrs. A. H. Ball, 563 Weller St. This was a picture of a little girl with her mouth all puckered up to be kissed and here again the quote told the whole story, "Come and kiss me, it's leap year."

Some 748 pictures were received in the contest. Many of them were ruled out as not being of sufficient high standard of photography for reproduction while other good pictures went down when the entrant failed to submit a suitable quotation.

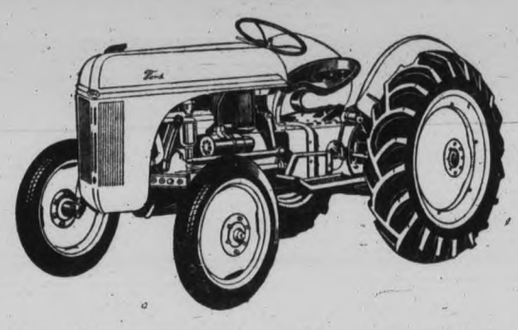
Production of FORD TRACTOR to Continue without Interruption



Ford TRACTOR

Dearborn FARM EQUIPMENT

We are happy to be able to tell you that the lawsuit brought more than four years ago against Ford Motor Company, Detroit, Mich., and Dearborn Motors Corporation, Birmingham, Mich., by Harry Ferguson and Harry Ferguson, Inc. has been settled by agreement of the parties.

There are three points connected with this settlement which, as a present or possible future owner of a Ford Tractor, we want to make clear to you. Regardless of what you may hear to the contrary, these are the FACTS.

3 POINTS OF INTEREST

To Our Present and Future Customers

1 Ford Motor Company will continue production of the present Ford Tractor without interruption, and Dearborn Motors Corporation will continue to market them nationally as in the past. (In Canada, Ford Tractors and Dearborn Farm Equipment are marketed by Ford Motor Company of Canada, Limited, through its 750 Ford-Monarch Dealers.) By the end of 1952, Ford Motor Company has agreed to make two simple changes, and only two changes, in the means of operation and control of a pump used in the hydraulic system in the Ford Tractor. After these simple changes have been made, there is nothing in the settlement of the suit to prevent Ford Motor Company from continuing the manufacture of the present Ford Tractor for as long as it may choose.

2 Ford Motor Company will continue to produce and Dearborn Motors Corporation will continue to supply, through its distributors and dealers, all repair parts for all past, present and future Ford Tractors.

3 Ford Tractors will continue to offer all the advantages of the present system of hydraulic control, the present method of attaching and operating implements, and all other features responsible for their wide popularity. Dearborn Motors will continue to offer its same complete line of implements.

A STATEMENT

By Mr. Henry Ford II

"In normal times Ford Motor Company would carry such a suit to a final conclusion in the courts. These are not normal times. Under the circumstances we were glad to get rid of the litigation to avoid the expense, harassment, and further interference with our tractor business involved in additional years in the courts.

"The settlement in no way interferes with Ford Motor Company's continuing to offer to the farmer the lowest priced tractor with hydraulic control and the present method of attaching and operating implements."

Mr. Gardiner Gives In

The Minister of Agriculture has given in to the legitimate demands of Mr. John Diefenbaker, able Conservative Opposition critic of the department, that documents relating to the outbreak of foot-and-mouth disease in Saskatchewan be produced. There was a long and vivid parliamentary wrangle before Mr. Gardiner produced the reports for the House of Commons. Parliament has a right to discover where the blame lies for the long delay in correctly diagnosing the disease.

* * *

The past outbreak is now put out of discussion by the newest one southeast of Regina. It is a great pity that the resurgence has come; Canadians had felt that the disease was wiped out, and were reassuring themselves that very soon the American market would be open again to Canadian beef and cattle. Two herds have recently been found infected, and have been destroyed.

The new outbreak may be worse than the former one because one of the infected herds had been grazing on a community pasture where some 900 animals were exposed to contact with the diseased herd.

Mr. Drew's Assistant

Mr. George Drew, leader of the Conservative Opposition, has appointed Mr. Vernon Kemp, C.B.E., a retired assistant commissioner of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, as his personal assistant. The Ottawa Journal, a good supporter of Mr. Drew, says of the appointment: "This means the Progressive Conservatives are to have the assistance given by a man who has distinguished himself as investigator, organizer and administrator, who was competent to handle the varying duties required of a police officer while keeping the goodwill of his men of all ranks and the public as well. We wonder which of the estimable qualities the Progressive Conservatives prize most; his abilities as an investigator or his competence in handling the various duties of a police officer?

Is Mr. Scott Importing German Ants?

A correspondent of ours in Germany says that according to the German newspaper Die Welt Canada wants to import ants from that country. We have no notion who in Canada wants the German ants, and why. Perhaps if we knew anything about ants we might be able to say what is so good about German ants that people in Canada crave them. Now, if it had been worms, we might be able to say something informative, for we know a lady with a compost heap where she grows worms. She puts them into her lawns, and lakeshore garden and sometimes on her husband's fishing hook.

We believe in worms. But we have been slothful in learning about the insects of the superfamily Formicoidea, never having gone to the ant to consider her ways. We have been indifferent to ants. Perhaps unwisely. Die Welt says that a model ant farm has been set up near Wuerzburg in Bavaria, and that a zoologist from Wuerzburg University, Mr. Karl Goesswald, has advocated the establishment of special ant research institutes. Why this pother about ants?

We read in a book that ants live in societies which inhabit nests of various [illegible] societies clustered round their little hills and getting into our summer kitchen.) Each society consists of numerous wingless, sterile "workers" together with males and egg-laying females. (How frequently it happens in successful societies are commonly [illegible] ally leave the nest, often in great swarms. Mating takes place right in the open, and the Queens (the fertilized females) shed their wings and proceed to found new colonies.

This still does not explain why Canada would want to import ants. It seems that colonies of ants have many of the social habits of bees; but they do not make honey. Let's see what the German paper says. It says that zoological investigations appear to have shown that the red ant is almost indispensable for the preservation of healthy forests; is indeed man's greatest ally in the struggle against tree-destroying pests. Ah! now we begin to see light through the anthills. Perhaps it is the Ontario Minister of Lands and Forests, Mr. Scott, who wants the ants.

The German paper says that proof of the ant's usefulness in destroying tree pests has been found in forests. Where ant heaps have been wilfully destroyed, considerable damage has been done by pests. In places where the ants have not been molested, such damage is negligible. It has been discovered that a single colony of ants devours in one day up to 100,000 harmful insects. The ant is also useful in digging up the soil and spreading plant seeds.

Die Welt remarks that not only in Germany, but also in Holland and Italy ant colonies have been placed in forests exposed to insect infestation. For all we know, Canadian forests may stand in need of ants, really industrious and hungry ones like those being cultivated in Germany. We must ask the Hon. Harold Scott about this next time we see him. Perhaps our ants are not the best kind to have in the forests. There are several breeds, with widely varied eating habits, so we read in our book. There is a predatory kind which attacks insects, spiders and even vertebrate animals, making raids on them at night. There is another kind, a pastoral sort of insect, which likes a sweet diet, and has developed a cute way of sidling up to a bit of a bug, stroking it as if it were a pussy, and thus inducing it to purr out its honey-dew, which this ant feeds on.

Whether it is the honey-sucking ant or the cannibal ant Canada wants we are not in a position to say. Germany breeds red ants, so presumably it is red ants that Canada would import. It is politically fortunate that the red ants do not come from behind the Iron Curtain. We want no more fellow-travellers in Canada, Mr. Scott; only screened immigrants.

Oh Deceit! Deceit!

We had thought ourself incapable any more of surprise at the height or depth deception could go. Long since we got over our feeling of being cheated by the bodyless woman in the side-show; the shock of discovering that the head had really a body under the felt-carpeted staircase has worn off. We now know that the little boy who says his big brother can lick any man twice his size is just fibbing. The tears that a politician sheds when he "views with alarm" are ersatz, not salty. We know that now after many years of tasting the insipid oratory. The fisherman with a thirty-pound lunge is just a tiresome old bore. The "desirable residence" for sale is next to the town dump and its drains are cracked. Niagara Falls is just a fall of a lot of water. Yes, we thought that deceivers could no longer deceive us.

Imagine our chagrin, then—our shock to the very skin—when we read that Sally Rand the fan dancer wears mousseline de soie next to her hide. It is no consolation that Miss Rand told the court that: "It's not to hide what ought not to be seen, but to give an illusion." We never paid for a ticket to her show to see an "illusion." The chairman of the Ohio Liquor Board investigating an alleged "lewd, indecent, and immoral show" staged by Miss Rand and others at a night-life tavern said incredulously what we would say mournfully, if we could smother our anger: "You are leading people to believe you were stark naked and have only fans to cover you." That is base deception. Mousseline de soie indeed! No matter how translucent the thin fabric is, Miss Rand's whole career has been based on deception; to put it bluntly, on clothes.

Yes, as she said herself disclosing her clothes, she might as well retire. What club operator is going to pay her $1,000 a night to dance with fans when he and his public know she is dancing with mousseline de soie? Why the lady's not a fan dancer at all, just a mere fandangler.

NOTES AND COMMENT

A physicist says that space does not really exist, and the embittered Kingston Whig-Standard suggests that he has been looking for a place to park.

[illegible] about pondering, we have decided not to print the report of the Arkansas farmer whose well was blown into the next county by a cyclone.

A fashion expert says that there will be nothing new in corsets this year [illegible] who are over-weight. This ranks with the bright idea that everybody should retire at 65.

The skunk oil which is used for medicinal purposes, we read, is made from refined skunk fat, and is not the mephitic liquid used by the skunk in self-defence. This is the first time we have heard of anything about a skunk which was even remotely describable as "refined."

The Ottawa Journal calls down a curse upon people who use the word "authored", when they mean "wrote"—as in the sentence, "Hamlet was authored by top-flight scenarist Shakespeare." Our own detestation is "lengthy"; far too many things are described as "lengthy" which are merely "long."

BIBLIOMANIA

Strong Women and Loose

DECEMBER BRIDE, by Sam Hanna Bell (S. J. Reginald Saunders, Toronto.)

THIS STORY OF NORTHERN IRELAND country people has strength and fibre owing partly to the author's intimate knowledge of the people, their language and ways; and partly to his good story-telling craftsmanship, although it is a first novel.

The setting is an out-of-the-way part of Ulster. Briefly, the story is about a woman Sarah Gomartin who went as a girl with her peasant mother to live in the Echlin farmhouse. The wife of the senior Echlin had just died; he needed somebody to look after the house, and took the widow Gomartin who lived in a cottage in the near-by hamlet. The daughter Sarah ripens and is got with child, whether by the senior Echlin or by one of his adult sons, nobody knows, not even Sarah, it seems. Echlin pere is drowned, Sarah's mother leaves, as much from the shame of the daughter not being willing to go to the Presbyterian church as of her having the natural son, and Sarah continues to live with the two Echlin sons, being, it seems, mistress to both, and becoming mistress of the household.

* * *

THE SCANDAL IS MORE THAN the neighbors can stomach. But Sarah will not take the easy solution of marrying one or the other; to do so would separate the unchosen one from her and the child. She is a strong character; she had, says the author, "the prudence, the physical persistance, the eternal patience of the peasant."

The remarkable household (it prospers, by the way; they are hard-working, shrewd folk) suffers buffeting from neighbors and the mores of society. After twenty years, Sarah marries one of the Echlins, and her grown son is best man at the wedding of his mother and, what may be, of his father. She marries so that her daughter also a natural child of the household) may herself marry.

* * *

THE NOVEL IS REMARKABLE FOR ITS very close presentation of rural Ulster people living in isolated pockets; industrious, thrifty; wary of strangers and even their neighbours; serious, without joy; close to the earth and bound to it; full of feeling yet not sensitive because for centuries their senses have been dulled by labour, the nearness of poverty and their isolation; people capable of great affection and strong family adhesion, quick in temper, violent in aroused passion, yet clumsily gentle; people as cantankerous, suspicious, close, clannish and elemental as peasants everywhere, yet without mysticism; and behind them a long tradition of stubborn independence of authority and ingrained centuries of religious intolerance.

The author is so close to the people and the land that he misses their imagination, the lilt of their words, and the loveliness of their countryside. He often says how lovely an evening was, or a prospect; but he is too much an Ulsterman to be able to set it down in its importance. He has not, for instance the affectionate detachment of Don Byrne. There is little beauty and no poetry in this novel. The author's name is Sam Hanna Bell, than which nothing can be more Ulsterish. Canada, the United States and Australia are full of Sam and Hanna Bells, from the same region of which this Sam Bell writes. He would have to get away from it farther before he could hear the lilt of the voices and see the beauty behind the turf fire and the contours of Slieve Gallion. Yet it is a good thing, this novel of backcountry Ulster, for it sheds people and land of false remanticism.

* * *

THE BOOK IS RICH IN native phrases, in ancient terms not heard commonly outside Ulster. 'Purties' for potatoes is of course well known. But we also find words of great age, still alive on small farms there: "girning in fury"; the "loanen"; "keeing at us through the window"; Sarah was a "shameless bisom."

—T. J. A.

DREAM OF INNOCENCE, by Turnley Walker (Musson Book Company).

I THINK THIS BOOK COULD LAY CLAIM to having the most sordid collection of characters ever lumped together between the pages of one novel. It is the story of high class prostitution in Manhattan and the 'Girls' although not actually resident in a brothel are under the jurisdiction of a very high class 'Madame' who accepts the money on their behalf so that the Gentlemen do not feel that they have stooped to the indignity of requiring the services of a street walker. I have no idea where Mr. Walker did his research for this book but there is a very authentic ring to the whole thing, the characters are so utterly consistent in their behaviour, so ruthless and so stupid that they could not possibly be anybody's dream (innocent or otherwise) but were drawn from life by the pen of a rather bitter satirist.

* * *

GERALDINE, THE HEROINE (if that is the correct description of the character) has settled in New York to seek her fortune. From a Chicago friend who is also 'on the game' Geraldine has acquired the necessary introduction to Sylvia Hafner (the Madame-cum-Procuress) and she lives [illegible] ment surrounded by a fantasy of being a 'good-little-rich-girl' from New England and nourishing herself on sleeping pills and the flattery of her friends, who also live on sleeping pills and hard earned cash of elderly business men. Geraldine hits the Jack-pot when Mrs. Hafner finds a 'Friend' for her who prefers that she should entertain [illegible] friend so that they can [illegible]. Naturally, the other 'Girl' decides against sharing and Geraldine reports the murder to Mrs. Hafner who will stomach no such loose behaviour on the part of one of her 'Girls.' (Fancy murdering a good prospect.) Geraldine, having left out her part in the affair, manages to acquire the car for herself alone and to ship the other 'girl' out of town. Having a little money put by, a fancy car and a handsome actor Geraldine's cup seems full until the actor discovers (through the thoughtful intervention of still another of Geraldine's many friends, another of the 'Girls') that she is not the nice little rich girl he thought her but a 'kept woman'. He then absconds with the car (it is such a beautiful car he just can't help himself although he feels very guilty) and Geraldine, left without her car, is lost; she hardly notices that the actor has gone with it. How she meets this problem is typical of the stupid manner in which she has solved everything else.

* * *

ON THE DUST COVER THE publishers regret that some may call this book salacious and I suppose one could, but that's a 'Dream of Innocence' for anyone who wants it.

"I LIKE THESE BATTLES—I ALWAYS WIN!"

South Africa Celebrates – and Protests

(NEW STATESMAN AND NATION)

WHILE WHITE South Africa celebrated the 300th anniversary of Jan van Riebeeck's landing at the Cape, the non-White communities gathered their strength for a direct challenge to the more oppressive aspects of White supremacy. Considering the manifold ways in which the Africans, Indians and Coloureds of South Africa—nearly 10 million people as compared with 2½ million Whites—suffer from racial oppression, it must be said that they and their leaders are exercising an admirable restraint.

They did not, after all, initiate their planned campaign of civil disobedience (to the pass laws and other discriminatory laws) on April 6, the tercentenary of van Riebeeck's landing; instead, they held protest meetings and arranged for their campaign to go into action in a series of careful stages which began in the course of last week. White South Africans may be tempted to see in this delay an evidence of African incapacity to organise in self-defence; and to conclude that the African bark in South Africa is still much worse than the [illegible] to base racial policy—as the Nationalists evidently mean to continue to base it—on the belief that the non-White communities are incapable of defending themselves, is to court disaster in a world which more and more condemns racial persecution, and in an Africa which is rapidly acquiring consciousness of its wrongs.

Among those who sent telegrams of good wishes to the non-White communities last weekend were Chou En-lai, Nehru, and Nkrumah. By persisting in their chosen course, Dr. Malan and his friends invite ruin not only for White men and women in South Africa but also for the cause of White minorities everywhere.

Pampered Mule

(Edmonton Journal)

That famous U.S. standard of living has created plenty of trouble and misunderstanding between Americans and peoples of less fortunate countries. Now it seems to be complicating the global relations of even four-footed Americans.

The United States army used to be a large user of the famous Missouri mules for packing supplies in rough country, but with the progress of mechanization it has gradually given them up. An officer recently explained to a congressional committee the difficulty the army was having in disposing of its surplus mules abroad. In India, for example, it proved impossible even to give the beasts away—despite the fact that animals are still largely used for transport in the subcontinent.

The reason? American mules had always been fed too well. "Nobody in India wanted an animal that ate that much."

It's a tough outlook for the one-time pride of Missouri. He will either have to take a drastic cut in his standard of living, or face the prospect of becoming fox meat.

Too Old At 35!

(Brantford Expositor)

In the face of a shortage of teaching staff members, the Toronto Board of Education persists in its refusal to employ applicants who are over the age of 35.

It is surprising and alarming to find such a body as the Toronto board setting such an unfair and, to be plain about it, stupid example.

The fallacy that a person is "too old" at 40 or 45, or 55 for that matter, to do a good day's work, or that it is, somehow, bad policy for a firm to employ any new hand unless he is under the age of 40 is dangerous, because it ignores essential facts in the Canadian economy. With respect to average age, Canada is steadily becoming a nation of older people.

[illegible] when a majority of the population was in the "young" bracket.

Mr. Truman's Spare Time

(New York Times)

Harry S. Truman will not have to spend much money on entertainment after he leaves the White House, provided his idea of a good time runs to books, speeches and baseball.

Of course, he will have to give up his official plane and yacht, and the handiest house in Washington, catty-cornered from the bank and just down the street from the hotel.

But—

He will get his own free copy of the Congressional Record every morning.

He will have special privileges at the Library of Congress.

And he can walk right out on the floor of the United States Senate while it is in session and listen to the talk. He can not make a speech there, though.

On Summer days when tired of Senators' talk, of reading the Congressional Record, or perusing an unexpurgated edition of "Five Little Peppers and How They Grow", Mr Truman can always go out to ball park.

Mr. Truman will receive a life-time baseball pass.

Danger in South Africa

(London Spectator)

Dr. Malan is clearly not concerned with abstract questions of constitutionality. He is determined to get his measure depriving Coloured voters of their existing franchise executed, and if the Supreme Court questions his power to do that, so much the worse for the Supreme Court.

The dangers of such an attitude are manifest. If the Constitution does not protect the persons and classes it was designed to protect they will inevitably take steps to protect themselves in their own way. There are eight million natives in the Union, quite apart from the few thousand Coloured people immediately involved, and it would take very [illegible] most to be hoped is that time will be given for reason to return.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And it came to pass on a certain day, as he was teaching, that there were Pharisees, and doctors of the law sitting by, which were come out of every town of Galilee, and Judea, and Jerusalem: and the power of the Lord was present to heal them. And, behold, men brought in a bed a man which was taken with a palsy: and they sought means to bring him in, and to lay him before him.

And when they could not find by what way they might bring him in because of the multitude, they went upon the housetop, and let him down through the tiling with his couch into the midst before Jesus. And when he saw their faith, he said unto him, Man, thy sins are forgiven thee. And the scribes and the Pharisees began to reason, saying, Who is this which speaketh blasphemies? Who can forgive sins, but God alone?

Thou hast turned for me my mourning in dancing: thou hast put off my sackcloth, and girded me with gladness; to the end that my glory may sing praise to thee, and not be silent. O Lord my God, I will give thanks unto thee for ever. (Ps. 30: 1, 2, 11, 12.)

I will extol thee, O Lord; for thou hast lifted me up, and hast not made my foes to rejoice over me. O Lord my God, I cried unto thee, and thou hast healed me . . .

Letter To The Editor

QUI MAL Y PENSE, SALLY

Sir: How could you do this to me? To think that—but a short time ago—I read your editorial praising idealism! If my memory is correct, you then decried those iconoclasts who would rub our noses in the nastier aspects of realism. Yet, it is your paper that gave me the soul-shaking experience of having my fondest dreams shattered! You rent the veil, and defiled the vision; you told me that Sally Rand wears clothes behind her fans. Imagine the desolation to my trusting mind!

Had you told us that our idol had feet of clay—that we could stand, but the cruel revelation that her torso was mere "mousseline de soie" is sheer fiendish sadism. All these years, we have been striving for a glimpse of a bit of French lace; the hope of seeing more of Sally was a glimmering illusion! How deceitful can these girls get? I bow my head in grief; my faith in Woman is crushed. Sob! No longer is my confidence in editors intact.

Have you no window, in that ivory tower, to view the suffering of such as I? Is it but a peep-hole, through which you gloat over the ashes of our dreams? Only you and your conscience knows the answer. It is bad enough that, in the land of our southern cousins, two reporters were base enough to take part in the exposure. To their shame let it be said: that they lent themselves to this vile smear by evil minds; that they saw, not beauty, but only the lewd, indecent and immoral in a lovely feminine body. I suggest that such as they should consider the motto of the noble Order of the Garter.

Now, Mr. Editor, what excuse have you for despoiling our fantasies in this manner? How could you drag this sordid fact across the border? I am hoping that you can produce some extenuating circumstance, but my heart is filled with despair.

Yours regretfully,
E. G. BROWNE

(Perhaps before Mr. Browne's cri de coeur came to touch our heart.)

"Don't worry, son—when she reads how easy they're going to make it to get a divorce she'll change her mind and marry you after all."

Thursday, opening of the trout season, did not quite come off as far as fair catches were concerned. It had three strikes on it: (i) Following Wednesday's half-holiday bread winners felt that having spent their time off getting their fishing kits ready they could not take the next half day off as well. (ii) Weather during the earlier part of the week was so fine and balmy that fishermen sent up a special prayer to have the same conditions continue. Then, they could have themselves a good long weekend at it under wonderful weather conditions. (iii) The fourth annual Sportsmen's Show made a lot of extra work for various exhibitor merchants who ordinarily would have given the streams and ponds a whirl.

However, the boys were out in fair numbers. The Cavan Stream got the usual working over with Keith Johnston snaring the best catch of the day—a 3¾-pound Brown. Over at the Garden Hill Pond Bewdleyites Harry Klintworth and Jim Flowers got 10 and 5 speckles, respectively. My lakefront informer tells me that you won't be able to drive near Shelter Valley Creek, or its tributaries Grafton and Cold, this weekend for crowds of rodmen after the Rainbows in those waters. According to him, if you don't like shoulder-to-shoulder sport better stay at home or go somewhere else.

If the weather holds there should be lake trout tales awasting from the lads that are driving north into Haliburton and North Hastings. Some left Thursday night and the rest followed Friday after work.

On Wednesday Slim and I sat on the Cavan Pond spillway and watched speckles cavorting after natural flies. My pal thought some sort of law should be passed to prohibit trout from eating until midnight of May 1; after that, he assured me, he would feed them all sorts of fancy things.

We humans may feel like gamboling when the wonderful spring weather first arrives but so does a certain Rice Lake 'lunge. The story goes from an actual observer that as the ice went out of the lake at Bewdley three weeks ago Thursday afternoon a jubilant whopper did a few finsprings and landed on a rotting ice pan. He threw himself so far that he was unable to flop back into the water. Bob Hancock pushed out a boat on the rotting ice and eased the smart aleck back into the water. Don Sidey says he has pictures to prove it.

Show Notes . . .

The fourth annual Peterborough Sportsmen's Show was opened officially on Thursday evening by the Hon. Harold Scott. Crowds each night were good and there was plenty of interest to see. If outdoors-minded people, young and old, couldn't find a lot to hold their attentions it wasn't the fault of the show sponsors, the Peterborough Fish and Game boys. Exhibitor space was up 50 per cent over any previous year and overflowed into six large tents. Many trout fishermen were not in the crowds which is understandable; the pull of the open streams was too much for them. By tonight with all the attendance tallied up and gate receipts counted, officials were able to boast that they had gone handsomely over the top. Their profits will be used to share in the monster tree-planting program sponsored by the Ontario Federation of Hunters and Anglers, and, to assist other public-spirited bodies in the district in developing Cedar Lakes Park.

♠ ♠ ♠ ♠

Spent a full day this week in the Mississauga-Gold Lakes country, my first trip. Wonderful shorelines and clean bush and, from the numerous cottages, well inhabited in summer. There is one colony of Scandinavian folk from Toronto who visit their places nearly every month of the year; a bit of their Homelands to them, complete with steam baths. Didn't mind being kept awake for a while one night in a sawmill bunkhouse by a whip-poor-will calling outside the window but the woodpecker on the metal water tank was another thing.

Another Empty Creel

It seems no use to preach to spring fishermen about fires, even though careless smokers have already set five fires in Quinte and seven in the Trent districts. Let them take their choice between fires or fish . . Pickerel disappeared from most spawning beds last weekend and ideal conditions are shaping up to a good catch. . . . Smelt survey shows that it was away down from 1951. . . . George Smith of Bethany walked out his back door this week to find two deer eating from his garbage tin. They wandered off when they had finished . . . . Science master V. R. Henry, P.C.V.S., counted 150-200 evening grosbeaks on a Manitoba maple at Inverlea Park on Wednesday. . . . More beaver and 'rats were taken this spring than a year ago, even though prices were 50 per cent less.

Bardolph: Would I were with him, wheresome'er he is, either in heaven or in hell!

Hostess: *Nay, sure, he's not in hell: he's in Arthur's bosom. 'How now, Sir John!' quoth I: 'what-man! be of good cheer,' So a' cried out 'God, God, God!' three or four times: now I, to comfort him, bid him a' should not think of God, I hoped there was no need to trouble himself with any such thoughts yet. GOSH, ALL HEMLOCK!—ONE OF LAST RIVER DRIVES

A Quarter-Million Log Drive Surges Down Eagle Creek

By NICK NICKELS

When Canada geese fly north all day in knotted strings, when soft maples are dusky red puffs and "popples" a light green wash, when the first whip-poor-will calls in the spring night, woods superintendent Willard Budd, 25, yells to his crew, "Let the logs roll, boys."

The spring log drive at Eagle Creek is on.

The past winter's cut of 22,000 logs, 90 per cent hemlock, is caught in the bag boom at the west end of Eagle Lake. Down two torchuous miles of a creek by the same name the logs are pike-poled through the water-control chute, peavied from the shore on sharp bends and caught in a boom again at the Little Gold Lake end. The drive, manned by half a dozen expert fast-water men, lasted two days; it started on Tuesday of this week on the Peterborough Lumber Company limits in the Eagle-Gold-Mississauga Lakes limits; Cavendish and Anstruther townships, at the north of Peterborough county.

Agile drive boss Stan Higgins, 65, and as deaf as 12-inch "stick," hopped and bobbed over the open boom above the dam and poled the logs to the feeders who steered the timbers into the swift current. Logs passed through at the rate of 1,000 an hour.

Before the first log spun down the incline Stan spotted trouble below. A beaver dam was holding back the flow. His crew "picked" the dam apart. Not good enough. They gave it six sticks of dynamite to send it down stream. It "hung up" on a sharp bend just ahead of the first logs and made the most jumbled jam you ever saw. More dynamite that blew the tortured logs sky-high. Away the timbers slid again.

River Drives Rare

River driving is rare in southern Ontario and small creek drives almost extinct in Peterborough County. The time was, 30 years ago or so, when immense drives came down from the north country on the Otonabee, were boomed in Little Lake to feed the Dixon and McDonald Lumber Companies. Operations now have moved further north where mills are built on the limits and the sawn lumber is trucked to finishing mills in the city. The hurly-burly of spring drives, and drivers, will only be found these days in Anstruther Township, a small replica of a romantic past.

When the P.L. logs have been driven down Eagle Creek tug boats will tow the booms down the lakes' chain to their Cavendish Mill. It will take two weeks or more depending on favourable winds. The mill is tuned up and will start sawing on Monday on a month's supply of pine logs in the catch pond that were purchased from jobbers and trucked in on the ice during the winter. The mill will run till freeze-up and the crews will go back to the woods to cut the timber supply for 1953.

Lumbering is a perpetual operation, now five days a week, with splendid living conditions and wages for the men. Some men wouldn't do anything else. Ask Willard Budd woods superintendent at 25, or his river boss Stan Higgins, 65, if they think it is a worthwhile life. They would probably snort at such a stupid question or tell you to get to blazes out of the woods and go back to the city where you belong.

Woods Super, WILLARD BUDD, 25, of Apsley, has to be everywhere at once. He doesn't miss a trick.

Agile ALEX NOTT pike-poles floating timbers past his post.

An armful of freshly-baked bread frames MRS. STAN. HIGGINS, veteran drive-camp cook for 27 seasons.

Two log sorters do the cake-walk on the chute catwalk.

Atomic Tests In Australia

By WILLIAM FITTER in Sydney

The Woomera guided missiles range in Central Australia where this year's British atomic weapon tests may be held, is the most closely guarded area in Australia.

It is a forbidding expanse of desert stretching hundreds of square miles which, before the range started in 1947, attracted only a few gold prospectors and scientists studying the geology of Australia's "dead heart". Australians know it as the "Gibber" country, after an aboriginal word meaning stone lands.

Now you need to be a V.I.P. with a dozen passes before you are allowed within fifty miles of the range head at the village of Woomera.

The range project is in four units. Firstly there is a highly-secret research and development base at Salisbury, sixteen miles from Adelaide, where the majority of the scientific staff and Service heads work. Secondly, there is the launching site at Woomera village, 250 miles north-west of Adelaide, close to the one-horse siding of Pimba on the transcontinental Adelaide to Perth railway. Thirdly, there is the air base at nearby Malala, and lastly there is the range corridor, which stretches from north-west of Woomera twelve hundred miles across the Indian Ocean to Christmas Island, although thus far no rockets have been fired across the sea corridor.

Churches Protest

When the area was selected for a joint Anglo-Australian experimental range the Churches and societies for the protection of aborigines protested against the danger to the natives, but the Government was able to point out correctly that no tribes normally lived along the route it was proposed the rockets should take. However, as a precaution, before an experimental rocket firing the Air Force sends an Auster plane on tree-top height reconnaissance to ensure that the Pitkankara tribe of aborigines, whose hunting grounds adjoin a section of the range, do not go into the danger zone, and Aborigines Protection Board officers warn the natives working on the few nearby cattle stations that a "big fella shoot" is about to take place.

When the project was launched the cost was £(A)50,000,000. The pioneer workmen and scientists of 1947 camped on the site in blazing heat under spartan conditions. But today Woomera is a model village of nearly four thousand inhabitants, with comfortable timber houses equipped with electricity, refrigerators, community centres, shops, a church, a fifty-bed hospital and a cinema. Water is carried overland from the River Murray at Port Augusta by a 107-mile pipeline. Construction labourers earn sixteen pounds a week with free accommodation and food, but work six days a week to speed completion of the range.

Township Oasis

Journalists who were allowed a brief peep at non-secret sections of the range during a closely-regimented tour were surprised to find traffic warning notices "Watch out for children," but Woomera today is a flourishing little township set like an oasis amid a limitless desert, broken only by stunted Mulga and Saltbrush and coarse Mitchell grass, and most families living there say it is a happier life than in the fiercely-competitive cities.

Much work has still to be done before the range is finished. Outposts linked by road telephone are now being established along the range corridor to the coast of Western Australia for the observation and recovery of rockets.

Biltmores Win Memorial Cup; Guelph Turns Out

By CRAIG SWAYZE

TORONTO, May 3 (CP) — Guelph turned out en masse today in a huge civic reception for the Biltmores, the team that Friday night brought the city its first Memorial Cup.

There was an impromtu parade Friday night when the players returned from drubbing Regina Pats 10-2 here, a victory that gave them the best-of-seven Canadian junior hockey finals in four straight games. However, even though a band—routed from bed—led Friday night's festivities, today's were bigger, better and much noisier.

Coach Alfie Pike and his team—from captain Andy Bathgate right down to the lowliest stick boy—are toasts of the town.

But it took Murray Armstrong, coach of the Western Canada junior champion Regina Pats to sum it all up Friday night. Sitting quietly in his team's dresing room following the game, he said:

"They deserved to win. A great bunch of chaps that Guelph team, truly the representative team of the Dominion."

Glad It's Over

"Boy, am I glad that's over," he said, wading through the tangle of his team's dressing room victory celebration. "Now I can go fishing. That's a long way to go, you know. It's been almost two months of nothing but playoffs for us. It gets kind of tough on you after a while."

Friday night's 10-2 victory gave the Biltmores a 30-8 edge in goals over the four-game series. With it, the Memorial Cup stayed in the east—Barrie Flyers won it last year—for the 18th time in 34 years of national competition.

W. A. Hewitt, registrar of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, presented the trophy to Guelph captain Bathgate in a mid-

The sparse crowd of 3,447 Maple Leaf Garden fans saved their greatest roar for the smooth-skating Biltmore centre.

Guelph wasted little time in taking over Friday night, holding a 4-0 lead at the end of the first period, adding another quartet of goals in the middle session and two more in the final. Regina finally tallied its pair late in the game to maintain the two-goals-a-game average over the series.

Dean Prentice and Jim Connelly tallied a pair each for the winners while Ron Stewart, Bill Chalmers, Andy Bathgate, Billy McCreary, Chuck Henderson and Harry Howell came through with singles. Gordie Cowan and Eddie Litzenberger saved the Westerners from a whitewashing.

Lakeshore League Plans Early Start

PORT HOPE, May 3. — The Lakeshore Baseball League will stage one of the earliest openers in its lengthy history, with the first game scheduled for Port Hope, May 17, Whitby supplying the opposition.

This is almost a full week earlier than the league has opened in previous years. The five other teams in the league, Lindsay, Bowmanville, Cobourg, Colborne, and Peterborough, will not see action until May 21. The first half of the league's 24-game schedule was drawn up at a meeting of delegates here last night.

The league accepted one new entry at the meeting, that of the Peterborough Junior "A" club. Bowmanville, who won the Intermediate "A" title last year, Whitby and Lindsay will all play "A" ball this year, while Port Hope and Colborne wil lenter the "B" category. Cobourg is still undecided as to whether it will enter "A" or "B".

Ab Walker, Lakeshore League secretary and perennial eastern representative on the O.B.A., told last night's meeting that he has reconsidered his decision of last week in which he declined to stand for election at the O.B.A. annual meeting. He will accept an appointment as eastern convener again this year, he said.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Placed on the voluntary retired list of O.L.A. senior players this spring are Pat Smith and Tank Teather of St. Catharines, and Emmett Creighton and Mick Magee of Peterborough. Latter two told us last fall that they were hanging 'em up as soon as they helped win the Mann Cup. We trust they stick around in the game as officials, coaches or even referees. Two clean-living and classy veterans of the gutted-stick game, Em and Mick brought many a thrill to local lacrosse crowds before and after the war. Creighton was in the navy and Magee in the air force. Emmett specialized in lacrosse in his prime while Mick was more of an all-round athlete. Two good guys.

* * * * * *

With word that the O.L.A. season opens here May 16—less than two weeks away—the Petes' Timbermen are intensifying their drills at Miller Bowl. It's a grim grind from now until autumn all through the hot spell and with many a long trip thrown in. You can play yourself into condition but you might lose some early season games doing that. Better to start off in good shape and grab some of those early wins. They're worth as much as victories at the tail end of the schedule. Ralph Speck will be in goal again for Fergus, but the latter club loses Bill Killingbeck, who returns to Peterborough, his home town. Lou Nichols, Gary Robinson and Grant Burns, are up with the Petes from junior ranks. Don Campbell of Fergus must return to Owen Sound, the senior committee ruled. Six clubs meet in playoffs.

It Could Be The Last

Hans Hermann complained bitterly that Ref Bert Maxwell gave him a fast count in the main pro match here a week ago to let Yukon Eric take the final fall. So, Eric agreed to a rematch and the powerful pair will tangle again Tuesday next week at the Brock Arena. Bill Stack goes against Iron Talun, the 300-pound Polack, in the semi-final of the card. Prelim has Ray Clarke in against Herb Larson. With summer sports looming, this could be the last grapple show of the season here until next October or so, as the matadors move into other centres for their summer's activity.

* * * * * *

Minor lacrosse and minor baseball are re-organizing for a busy summer. Both have their annual re-organization meetings Monday night. The P.M.L.A. huddles at eight at the home of Ken Kingston, 21 Manning Ave., to elect officers and outline seasonal plans. Coaches, managers and others interested should attend. The P.M.B.A. gets together at seven in the "Y" with the nominating committee bringing in a proposed slate of officers, and the executive dealing with other business ere lining up teams and drafting schedules.

Petes' Ballsters Drill

Cy Whatley, temporary coach of the Petes' senior ballsters, is calling an open practise for this aft at 2:30 in Riverside, if the weather is right. And nightly drills there next week at 6:30 of the clock. High time all the prospective players showed up and got in shape as the C.O.B.L. schedule opens in three more weeks. Belleville, Kingston and the other clubs are getting in trim and all of the local diamondeers should be in earnest drill these days, too. Joe Stewart is a doubtful starter this semester, owing to a bad knee. The hustling and genial Joe was an important cog, and a few years ago he won the Jack Legris Trophy as most valuable player. Lions Club bingo to start the squad off financially will be held shortly. Ex-juniors and newcomers to town are invited to these workout, also.

* * * * * *

Howie Dalton, as playing manager of Cobourg ballsters in the Lakeshore League, is after Al Menzies from here for the catching chore. Cobourg hasn't decided yet whether to go in as an intermediate "A" or "B" club, while Bowmanville, Whitby and Lindsay are sure "A" entries. Port Hope and Colborne are "B", and Peterborough is in there as a junior "A" team, but may use five intermediates during the schedule. The 24-game schedule opens May 17, the local squad seeing action May 21 here against Cobourg. Gord Snape's bunch go to Whitby on May 24 and entertain Lindsay on May 28. Schedule winds up early in August to permit plenty of time for playoffs.

Fort Frances Captures Senior Title

FORT FRANCES, Ont., May 3 (CP).—Fort Frances Canadians stretched a shoe-string into their first Canadian senior hockey championship here Friday night, defeating Stratford Indians 4-1 in the sixth game of their best-of-seven series.

The victory gave Canadians their first Allan Cup in five years of trying. Last year they lost out in seven games in the final to Owen Sound Mercuries.

Canadians blazed through the final this year with a 4-2 record. Earlier in the season they were faced with the problem of getting competition, always were short of cash, and had to fight from the brink of elimination in the semi-final with Edmonton Pats.

They still were favored to take the cup this year. The victory was won with the aid of great home town support and a string of Stratford injuries. Most of the Indians' forwards were hampered by assorted bruises.

Looking Back

A whole team might have turned the tables on the powerful Forts. As it was, Indians took the second game 3-0 and scored a 2-1 upset victory in the fifth.

Canadians won the first game at Fort William 9-5, and the third and fourth 6-5 and 5-3 on home ice.

The win Friday night was easy as the weakened Stratford defence crumbled.

Forts took a 1-0 lead in the first period, traded a goal with Indians in the second and then went ahead on two extra markers in the third.

Ric Ricard, Sambo Fedoruk, Vern O'Donnell and Doc Johnson tallied for Canadians with Bruce Burdett counting the lone Stratford marker.

Play opened rough but settled fast skating and close checking.

Take Lead

Ricard sent Canadians into the lead at 12:34 of the first period when he gobbled up a loose puck and fired into a corner of the Stratford net. Johnson and Percy Robertson also figured in the play.

Big Sambo Fedoruk added another marker in the first minute of the second period, shooting a bullet drive through goalie Bruce Dale's pads. Ricard had put him in the clear with a pass from the Stratford blue line.

Dale made several good saves before Burdett put Indians back within striking distance at 17:24. He scored after being sent in alone, taking the rubber from Ack White and Larry Lemenchick to fire it into a far corner.

Fight Desperately

Indians were still fighting desperately in the third period when O'Donnell scored from a scramble in front of the Stratford net. Goose Gosselin and Alex Kurceba assisted.

Johnson added the final marker at 6:56, batting in the puck when Frank Eizensoph laid it out in front.

After the game, the Allan Cup was presented to Captain Sambo Fedoruk by Jimmy Dunn of Winnipeg, vice-president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association.

Coach Joe Balzan of Canadians was too busy celebrating to make much comment on the victory. Playing coach Pat Wilson of Indians said simply:

"For every winner there has to be a loser. I guess we're it."

Get 80 Applications For Olympic Team

MONTREAL, May 3 CP). — More than 80 applications have been received for the four berths open to marksmen on the 1952 Canadian Olympic team, K. N. Morris, executive director of the Canadian Civilian Association of Marksmen, announced Friday.

He said that "the list includes many marksmen fully qualified for world competition and there is no doubt that Canada will be creditably represented."

Arrangements were under way to have Olympic shooting trials completed before the end of May.

VANCOUVER, May 3 (CP). — Vancouver and Montreal will dominate the picture as Canada's top amateur boxers slug it out for a chance at Olympic competition.

A bantamweight and lightweight from Ottawa, four survivors from the Prairies, and three other British Columbians join the fighters from those two cities tonight in the finals of the combined Canadian boxing championships and Olympic trials. Six will be chosen for the big jaunt to Helsinki.

After four hours and 19 semi-final bouts Friday night, six Vancouver scramble for the 10 championships. Montreal followed with five.

Paradis, a crouching mauler, entered the final with a technical knockout over Gordon Sloan of Cardston, Alta.

Sloan went down three times from body blows, one of which the referee said landed below the belt. Given a two-minute rest, he was on the canvas again when the bell rang ending the second, and was unable to come out for the final round.

Walters, who represented Canada in the last British Empire Games, gamboled to a unanimous decision over Tommy Chesson of Toronto.

One of the biggest upsets of the night was Bobby Malouf's split-decision win over Pinky Mitchell of Ottawa, a stocky R.C.A.F. lad, who had lost only four other fights in a long career of amateur fighting.

Canadian Imports Dominate Scottish All-Star Team

LONDON—(CP)—Fourteen Canadian imports have been picked for the 1951-52 Scottish Ice Hockey Association's all-star teams.

The selections were made by a panel of sportswriters, referees, coaches and team captains. But the coaches and captains couldn't vote for players on their own clubs.

Ayr Raiders, eliminated in the semi-finals of the playoffs, landed five of their regulars on the first and second teams. Perth Panthers gained four places, while Falkirk Lions, S.I.H.A. champions, and Dundee Tigers, each contributed two. Dunfermline got the other.

The teams: (Canadian home towns in brackets).

Paddy Ryan, who came to Dunfermline from Calgary, received strong support for a place on both teams and was accorded the special honor this year of being voted the league's all-star utility player.

In the individual polling, Martini, fourth in the season's goal-scoring race behind Domenico, Doig and Hamilton, headed the parade with a total of 40 votes of a possible 46.

Winnipeg's Red Kurz, formerly with Wembley, wound up a successful first year's campaign in Scotland, by topping the poll for the first team defence slot and gained the additional distinction of being named coach of the second squad.

It was the second successive year Siemon was picked as all-star goalie, but he emerged with a margin of only three votes over young Holliday. Previously Holliday had been voted the league's outstanding rookie of the year.

Rout Band From Bed To Celebrate Victory

GUELPH, May 3 (CP).—Members of the town band were routed from bed late Friday night to lead a parade of citizens celebrating Regina Pats.

Another parade—more fully organized—will be held today and a civic banquet will be held next Friday to honor the winning team.

Presentations to team members and a dance will follow.

Jarrell Returns To Ponies, Chances Better

KINGSTON, May 3 — Kingston Ponies' championship hopes were enhanced Thursday night when Arnie Jarrell joined the baseball squad at practice at Megaffin Memorial Stadium and announced that his good left arm has regained its power of four years ago when the local portsider was one of the ace moundsmen in the Border Baseball League.

It will be recalled that Jarrell injured his valuable flipper after he parted with the Ponies and did his flinging in the Quebec Provincial League.

When the locals swing into action in a practice game on Sunday afternoon, Jarrell will likely be one of the pitchers. But coach Joe Levandoski will set a limit on his activities, probably two innings at most.

The list of candidates was boosted to an even 30 Thursday night when outfielder "Bud" Anson and Jarrell donned uniforms. During an inter-squad game, all the pitchers except Jarrell were pressed into brief service. When the roster is being pared to workable size early next week, coach Levandoski's task will not be an easy one.

Deny Rumor

A rumor to the effect that the Napanee Athletic had withdrawn from the COBL race met denial when business manager Stan Scrutton made inquiries. If the Naps had retired, the schedule-makers would have had their troubles with five teams in the series and all seeking special treatment regarding the allotment of home games.

Major Eddie Watts, president of the Kingston Baseball Association, stated Friday morning that at a meeting held last Tuesday in Napanee, it was decided to enter the Athletics in the local series and Ernie Gibbard has so informed president Watts.

...ecutive, it is said, felt that the squad available is not strong enough to compete in the C.O.B.L. and that travelling expenses presented a serious problem.

Napanee's admission to the K.B.A. rounds out a five-team series being Frigidaires, Modernaires, Legionnaires and Locos. Evening games will be staged at the Cricket Field each Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

Rosen's Practice Pays Off Indians Trample Senators

By JAJCK HAND, Associated Press Sports Writer

Al Rosen's winter batting practice is paying off for Cleveland Indians with a spring home run spree. Rosen flopped with the rest of the Tribe as they lost the pennant to New York Yankees in the 1951 stretch drive. His average shrank to .265. He stopped hitting home runs. In fact, he stopped hitting. Back home at Miami, Fla., with a chance to think it over, Al drew up a positive plan for '52. Shortly after the first of the year he started daily workou With a high school boy lobbing them up, he took his cuts.

Hank Greenberg, Tribe general manager, called him to Tucson, Ariz., in mid-February for extra batting instructions. Rosen had taken a pay cut from Greenberg. He wanted to show him things would be different this season.

Rosen hit a satisfactory .308 pace while the Indians jousted with the other western clubs. Once they hit the east early this week, he caught on fire.

Seventh Homer

Tuesday night he hit three home runs at Philadelphia. Friday night he blasted his seventh homer of the year, with two on, to trample Washington 6-2. He is tied with Boston's Walt Dropo for the American League lead with 15 runs batted in.

Rosen and his mates backed up Mike Garcia's seven-hit pitching by blasting Julio Moreno and Tom Ferrick for 15 hits. Dale Mitchell also hit a homer.

Dropo set the home run pattern in the afternoon at Fenway Park with a bases-loaded blast off Ned Garver in Boston Red Soxis 13-6 riot against St. Louis Browns.

Lefty Bill Henry clicked off his third straight win by holding the Browns to eight hits. The Browns also lost the services of Marty Marion when his old sacroiliac trouble kicked up in mid-game. He thinks he'll be able to return today.

Hits His Stride

Eddie Lopat, a little off the beam in his previous starts, found [illegible] against Detroit to throw a two-hitter for the Yanks' 4-1 victory. George Kell was the only Tiger able to solve Lopat with singles in the first and eighth.

Philadelphia Athletics outscrambled Chicago White Sox, 13-12, in a weird night game at Shibe Park where 11 pitchers took turns dishing up base hits. Hank Majeski's single with one out and two on in the ninth finally won the game.

Omar (Turk) Lown of the Chicago Cubs made the big news in the National when he pitched eight no-hit, no-run innings against Brooklyn only to blow up in the ninth and lose the game, 3-1.

Billie Cox and Jackie Robinson spanked Lown's first two pitches for hits in the ninth, ruining his bid for the first Cub no-hitter in 35 years.

Hits Win Column

Wilmer (Vinegar Bend) Mizell, who many people including the writer think will be the rookie of the year in the National, finally broke into the win column with a four-hitter as St. Louis shaded the Phillies, 3-2. Peanuts Lowrey's single with one out in the last of the ninth scored Solly Hemus with the winning run.

New York Giants scored two in the 10th, one a homer by Whitey Lockman, to down Pittsburgh, 5-3 for their fourth straight win. Lockman opened the 10th with a homer off loser Ted Wilks.

Jim Wilson was the whole show in the Boston Braves' 2-1 victory over Cincinnati. He scattered seven hits and singled with the bases loaded in the second to hand Kenny Raffensberger his first loss after three wins.

Royals Swamp Orioles 12-5, Red Wings Click

By The Associated Press.

The comeback of Joe Lutz, 27-year-old first baseman, is one of the reasons Montreal Royals lead the International League today.

Lutz quit the game last summer after the Brooklyn organization acquired him in a deal that sent first sacker Ben Taylor from their Fort Worth Texas League club to St. Louis Browns.

Rocky Nelson was slated to open the season at first for Montreal but the former major leaguer fractured his ankle in the opening series of the season and Lutz was asked to return.

Lutz showed up on April 20 and showed no signs of rust. He has hit well and recently has found the home run range. Lutz clouted his third homer in two days Friday as the Royals swamped Baltimore Orioles 12-5.

Third Victory

Hamp Coleman went the distance, scattered 11 hits, to post his third straight victory. Paul Stuffel suffered his first loss in four decisions.

Rookie righthander George Condrick turned in his first victory of the season as he pitched Rochester Red Wings to a 6-2 triumph over Ottawa Athletics. Condrick permitted seven hits including a home run by Johnny Metkovich.

Buffalo Bisons came from behind to beat Syracuse Chiefs 4-2.

Rookie lefthander Al Yaylian, with help from Ralph Poole in the ninth, gained credit for his second victory.

The scheduled game between Springfield and Toronto was postponed.

Godliness In Daily Life

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D.D.

When we speak of a man as being "a godly man," what do we mean?

We are sure that he is essentially a reverent man, with a true sense of holiness. We know that he would not take the name of God in vain, as so many today do, in careless, casual conversation, or in deep, intended oaths.

He is probably a good churchman, who goes to church regularly, who manifests good moral living, and who is outwardly correct in ritual observances, and in the conventional requirements of the religion he professes.

But is that all there is to godliness? We know from very high atuhority that it is not.

We have the story of the rich young man, who came to Jesus, inquiring how he might inherit eternal life (Mark 10: 17-22). He was probably more correct in his way of life than even most men of conventional goodness. Yet he lacked the one essential thing.

"Where your treasure is," said Jesus, "there will your heart be also" (Matthew 6: 21). And where your heart is, there is your real religion, no matter how much you profess that it is elsewhere.

The young man's supreme attachment was to his great possessions, which in his ultimate decision he chose rather than companionship with Jesus, and the possibility of becoming the twelfth Apostle, when Judas Iscariot failed.

The average man is not likely to be faced with any such crucial decision but the story emphasizes the first deep essential of godliness, which is the acceptance of God as the treasure of the heart.

But neither is this all there is to godliness. Choice and the treasure of the heart are the roots of true religion, the beginning of godliness; but godliness consists in what comes after.

When one reads with insight the account of the early Christian Church, in the New Testament, and especially in the Epistles, an apparent and surprising discovery is that so many accepted God and the Christian way, without any clear apprehension of all that it meant.

For those of that early Christian time, and for loveless, professing Christians of today, the Beloved Apostle leaves no doubt about godliness in daily life.

His plain, strong words are: "If a man love not his brother whom he hath seen, how can he love God whom he has not seen?

"If a man say, I love God, and hateth his brother, he is a liar; for he that loveth not his brother whom he hath seen, how can he love God whom he has not seen?" (I John 4: 20).

What would John say of our world of today, in which there is so much of "lip service" and so little brotherly love?

SEEDING FINISHED

Farmers have completed sowing of most of the spring grain in the Peterborough district. Weather has been almost continuously favorable for more than two weeks.

WOULD SELL LOTS

If the recreation commission is not going to use the tot lots owned by the city on Hastings Ave., property committee is recommending to the council that they be sold for dwellings. Hastings Ave. is parallel with Charlotte St. beyond Otonabee Rd. and Hazeldean St.

FIRST CROP REPORT

First of the 1952 season's C.N.R. crop reports from Winnipeg today says seeding is two weeks earlier than normal. Harvesting of the 150,000,000 bushels of grain that remained in the fields through the winter shows milling and baking qualities undamaged. Some farmers in Manitoba have completed seeding. Explosion Burns Welder, 18

Youth's Face, Back, Side Singed As Gas Tank Blows

A jet of flame burst from a gas tank, showering 18-year-old Ward Trotter of Apsley with flaming gasoline when he put a welding torch to the tank Friday night.

Trotter was alone at Oitment Service Station at the south end of the village when the accident occurred. Fortunately there was no fire following the explosion and Trotter was able to douse the flames which burned his shirt to tatters.

Drove To Hospital

Although he was in considerable pain from the burns which burned off his eyebrows and seared his face, arms, neck and left side, Trotter was able to get to his car and drive to the Apsley Red Cross hospital.

Miss Louise Grover, nurse-in-charge, administered first aid and called Dr. E. H. Gastle of Lakefield.

After determining the extent of Trotter's injuries, Dr. Gastle had him taken to Civic Hospital in Peterborough where his condition is described as satisfactory today. The burns were described by Dr. Gastle as "superficial."

Motorist Spots Breakin Attempt

A passing motorist spotted man trying to break into Cliff Towle's garage at 69 George St., north early today and began looking for a policeman.

He picked up constable John Conlin who was patrolling his beat, but by the time they returned, the man had gained entry to the office, broke open the cash register and made off with $44 in bills and change.

Three windows were broken on the north side of the building and police said it was evident two attempts had been made to get into the office where the money and cash register were.

The first attempt ended in failure, when the door between the service department and the office could not be forced.

Then it appears, another window was broken, also on the north side, and the office was entered.

May Celebrant Pays For Joy

LINDSAY, May 3 (ENS) — "I found him down at the foot of Main street" said Constable John Hunter in police court here Friday. "He was singing to himself and walking around and around a hydro pole."

"What was the idea" queried Magistrate E. A. Gee, of Clifford Ferguson, Little Britain, "did you have your own May Day celebration around the May Pole?"

Ferguson was charged with being intoxicated in a public place. He pleaded not guilty and told Magistrate Gee that he "couldn't have had that many beers yesterday." He said that he took spells of high-blood pressure when he didn't know what he was doing. His doctor he said told him he hemorrhaged from the eyes. "I suffer from hyper-tension" he told magistrate. Ferguson was placed on a year's probation and assessed with court costs.

Out-Foxed

MARMORA, May 2. (ENS) —A wild duck's egg saved from the jaws of a fox is all James Gordanier of Marmora has to prove an unusual story. While at his cottage on Beaver Creek on Thursday morning, he saw a red fox crossing the yard with something in its mouth. Mr. Gordanier shouted and the fox jumped, dropping two wild duck eggs from its mouth. One broke, the other Mr. Gordanier saved.

Fighting Third World War, Primate States

While many people in Canada do not realize it, we are already fighting the Third World War, the Most Rev. Walter F. Barfoot, Anglican Primate of all Canada, told a congregation in St. John's Church Friday night.

"We fought two wars and now we are fighting a third war for the integrity and the dignity of the individual," said Archbishop Barfoot. "The 20th century will determine if the human worth of the individual is what the church proclaims."

The alternatives, said the Archbishop, are whether a person should be considered somebody with his own individual human destiny, or a being suited to a slave state.

Archbishop Barfoot was making his first official visit to Peterborough since he was made Primate of All Canada last September.

He was guest early Friday night at a supper arranged by the laity of the rural deanery and the clergy of the archdeaconry of Peterborough in St. John's parish hall. Immediately afterwards he was guest preacher at a special evening service, beginning at 8 p.m.

"A very large number of people in Canada don't know that we are fighting the Third World War," said Archbishop Barfoot. Recently he returned from a quick tour of the fighting front in Korea and the Anglican mission field in Japan.

"The war has indeed begun and we have an army fighting in Korea. There are only 5,000 men, but whether the number be 5,000 or 500,000 . . . they are Canadian boys on a mission, sent by us. They are doing the same as was done in two previous wars, and I feel it is my duty tonight to remind you of this."

Archdeacon Barfoot said at the outset that he didn't intend to preach an ordinary sermon, but he would give an account of his stewardship since being elected to office last year.

He went into detail on a trip to Korea where he visited the 25th Brigade. He went on the invitation of Defence Minister Brooke Claxton and was accompanied by the moderators of the Presbyterian and United Churches.

A veteran of the First World War, Archdeacon Barfoot described how his party landed at Seoul and were taken 80 miles by jeep ("an instrument of torture" as it bounced over the Korean roads) to the Canadian front lines.

In the First World War the Archbishop had served in a division that included the Gloucesters. This British regiment was decimated in the Korean fighting and the Archbishop said it was a

Cal. Gilgore One Of Tops In Pistol Marksmanship

By DON GRANT

With the same incredible skill that William Tell split the apple on top of his son's head, C. S. (Cal) Kilgore, 544 Monaghan Road, can make the centre of a bull's eye in any pistol target look like Swiss cheese.

Peterborough's first introduction to Mr. Kilgore, one of Canada's expert pistol shots, was last summer. Then press reports from Ottawa indicated that a C. S. Kilgore from Peterborough was hitting targets with amazing accuracy in the Dominion pistol championships.

Who was this Kilgore? Where did he live? Even the Peterborough pistol hobbyists were asking. He was a complete stranger to everyone.

Gunsmith Dave Clement, also at the meet, soon discovered who Kilgore was. Seeing Kilgore's name high up in the results Clement asked the modest expert where he lived in Peterborough.

Then came the explanation for no one knowing him. He had moved to Peterborough from Toronto only two weeks before the meet, and registered from Peterborough.

Toronto's loss was Peterborough's gain. Before the meet was over, in a few days' time Kilgore brought the city oodles of free publicity with his achievements.

It's Wonderful

Little Shack In Guam, Dream Or Nightmare?

By JIM ENGLISH

That $7.33 I have in pennies and nickels might just as well be spent on fishing tackle.

That money represents my savings toward an island in the Pacific Ocean. The mental pictures were wonderful — waving palm trees, warm sand, beautiful brown girls hula-hula-ing on the verandah of my grass shack, warm weather all year, easy living, beautiful brown girls hula-hula-ing on the verandah, and this is where I came in.

The reason I'm going to blow that money on fishing tackle is that two women stowed away on a U.S. army plane to go to Guam. They got there, all right, and there wasn't a grass shack in the joint.

As a matter of fact, they were put in custody of immigration officials, which is a dignified way of saying they were clapped in the pokey.

Learned A Lot

They found out a lot of things, those girls did. Among them was the fact that the idyllic Pacific islands aren't idyllic; they're overcrowded. Guam has a housing shortage, and it's probably a good thing the municipal deep freeze was there, or the girls would have had to sleep on the warm sand under the palm trees, if the palm trees haven't been chopped down to make room for a subdivision.

Even from their restricted point of view they found Guam enchanting. Probably because Guam was just like home, except it was warmer and the ocean was handy all the way around. Not like the United States at all.

The girls said they'd like to stay there, because Guam, and they used that clever American phrase, "was wonderful!"

Yessir, it was jam-packed with wonders. You could buy nylons and cokes and ice cream, and costume jewellery, and all kinds of things. Great place, Guam. Got all kinds of local color.

Of course, this is all guesswork on my part. But the odds are that any settlement on Guam is oozing with American culture, tabloid newspapers and colorful billboards.

Trying To Escape

You can see what kind of Pacific island I'd be likely to get for $7.33 or thereabouts. There would be people al over it. And where you find people, you find work.

Now that's what a fellow goes to the Pacific to escape. He doesn't want to work, so he saves up his nickels and pennies and hikes off in the bilge of a cattleboat for the dreamy isles of the south seas.

Let's follow one of these dreamers as he is hauled away from his native land. He stands in the bilge, warm oily water washing around his knees and the fine, strong aroma of the farm wafting about the hold. And let me tell you, that stuff can sure waft.

His task is a pretty menial one, and consists of forking hay into stalls for the cattle, and general cleaning up.

But when his task is done, he sits on the deck, dreaming of that island, that faraway island where his hopes will become realities, where he will marry 12 or 13 nice little native girls and raise a fair sort of family.

Dream Island

His chance comes soon enough. One night, after the ship has reached the south Pacific, he sneaks on deck, and in the twilight sees a tiny island that looks like his private paradise.

So, in the half-light of that Pacific evening, with the moonbeams starting little chains of lunacy in his mind, he stares at the island, just thinking. He sighs, kicks off his shoes and leaps into the warm water.

Justice wouldn't be served right now if he were gobbled into little bits by a shark, so he swims safely ashore, crawls exhausted onto the beach, and falls into a dead sleep. (I've read that last part before, somewhere).

The morning sun wakens him and his eyes flutter. He looks up to see the palm leaves waving gently above him, and he hears the soft whisper of the waves lapping at the beach like a child at an ice cream cone.

In the trees the birds start to chatter and whistle, and the gibbering of the monkeys starts far away. It's all very calm as he lies on the warm sand and hatches from his sleep.

But Soft!

But soft, as Shakespeare said, a new noise breaks upon his ear, and he lifts his head to catch it more clearly. No doubt about it, he tells himself with a smile, it's a native work song, being hummed by the simple brown men as they walk happily off to gather their day's harvest of cocoanuts and other exotic south sea trading items.

Our hero stands and stretches, and the warm sun soothes his tired muscles. He reaches into his pocket for a chocolate bar he resourcefully wrapped in waxed paper before leaping into the deep. He unwraps it and takes a large bite.

This goes on for several bites, which will go down just as well if I don't describe them in detail, until he finishes the chocolate bar.

The delicate air being chanted by the natives still reaches his ears, he is attracted and begins to trudge through the palm trees toward it. The melody fascinates him more and more, and the easy rise and fall of the [illegible] his ear.

And as he nears the singers and can hear the words of their song, this is what the voices are singing:

"Whoopsicola's made with hops,
Every bottle snaps and pops,
Good for you and your dishes too,
Whoopsicola is the goo for you."

Non-Parliamentary Inquiry Into Defence Department Not Necessary Says Claxton

G. K. Fraser Enters Three-Cornered Debate With Garson, Defence Minister, Over PC's Claims of Laxity in Department

OTTAWA, May 3. (CP)—Defence Minister Claxton denied there is need for a non-parliamentary investigation into administration of the defence department, in a debate in the House of Commons Friday, answering charges made by George Drew, Opposition leader. He said Parliament could conduct any necessary investigation. Much of the discussion fell into a three-cornered debate between Mr. Claxton, Justive Minister Garson and G. K. Fraser (PC-Peterborough West) over Progressive Conservative claims of laxity in the investigation of a $731,000 fire last June 2 at the army's central ordnance depot here.

Mr. Fraser said he had offered to give the ministers names of men who were ready to testify that goods from the depot were being offered for sale on Ottawa streets. Mr. Claxton and Mr. Garson said they could not recall having been offered the names.

Mr. Garson told the House he recalled a conversation with Mr. Fraser on the subject but could not recall having been offered the names of men ready to testify.

Wasn't Interested

Mr. Fraser replied that Mr. Garson had never asked him for the names of the men who were ready to testify to the sale of stolen army equipment.

"He wasn't interested enough to ask me and I left his desk absolutely frustrated," said Mr. Fraser. "I was left with the impression that the government didn't give a darn what happened."

He had not voluntarily supplied the names of his witnesse because Mr. Garson had [illegible]

The justice minister asked Mr. Fraser to produce the names in the House, but Mr. Fraser retorted he doubted if the men would be willing to testify now, "after all the mess that's been made."

Didn't Add Up

Mr. Claxton said Mr. Fraser came to him in the House and said he had heard of paint and "some other things" being sold out of ordnance stores. Mr. Fraser had expressed belief the fire was set because of fears of stocktaking would disclose thefts.

At that time, said the minister, the fire was being investigated by the Ottawa fire department, the R.C.M.P., the provincial fire marshal and the Fire Underwriters' Association.

Mr. Claxton said he told the Peterborough member a stocktaking was held in the ordnance building "within a matter of weeks" before that, with only a small deficiency indicated. So it was unlikely the fire was set to cover up a shortage.

Major Peterson To Visit Peterborough

Major John F. Peterson, D.S.O., of St. Thomas, home on rotation leave from active service in Korea, is returning to Peterborough, May 14 to speak to the United Services Institute.

This Institute is composed of commissioned officers of the three forces, army, navy and air.

A graduate of the University of Toronto, Major Peterson, prior to World War II, was with the Examiner as reporter and photographer. Shortly after coming to Peterborough he joined the Prince of Wales Rangers. He gave up newspaper work when he enlisted in June, 1940, with the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Highlanders, went overseas, as a platoon commander, and was promoted to the rank of Major, in charge of a company.

On Continent

[illegible] from D-Day, was twice severely wounded, and was awarded the D.S.O. Returning to civilian life, he established radio station CHLO in St. Thomas and was Mayor of the city when he retired from civic and business affairs for the Korean campaign, joining the 2nd Battalion of the Royal Canadian Regiment as a company commander.

It was as typical of his deep sense of duty that he enlisted for Korea as when he joined the Prince of Wales Rangers back in the 30's.

Major Peterson will be guest of the United Service League at dinner in the officers' mess at the Armouries at 7 p.m. Wednesday, May 14. It is expected that a large company of his friends in the United Services will be present to extend him a warm welcome back to Peterborough for this engagement.

Says Criticism Helps Papers Raise Standards

TORONTO, May 3 (CP)—Public criticism of newspapers shows that readers take their papers seriously have their own standards for the way a good paper should serve them, Louis M. Lyons, curator of the Nieman Foundation at Harvard University, said Friday night.

In an address at the National Newspaper Awards dinner, the Boston newspaperman said the critical reports issued in recent years by the Hutchins Commission on freedom of the press in the United States and by a Royal Commission on the press in Britain were good for the newspaper business.

He said "they took an over-all look and presented a philosophy of why and how newspaper service is of importance to the community, what the weaknesses and dangers are and what they feel the reader needs from his news service.

Constructive Report

"Whatever you think of any details of these reports, I think the fact of them is constructive and useful. It increases public awareness of the newspaper as an institution. I think it probably makes for better readers and, as it makes for more demanding readers, so it raises our sights and tends to make for better newspapers."

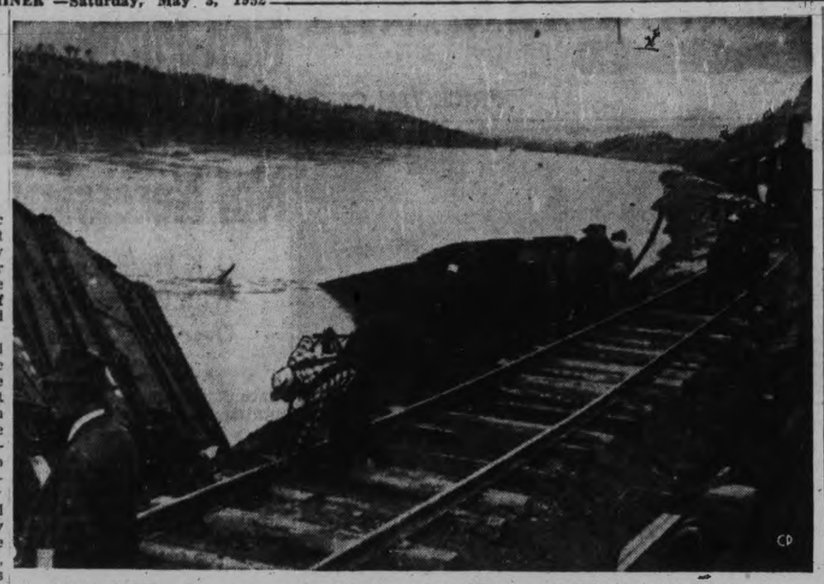
At the dinner, seven newspapermen received awards for outstanding work in their profession in 1951. They were given cheques for $400, provided from a fund set up for a five-year period by George McCullagh, publisher of The Toronto Globe and Mail and The Toronto Telegram.

The winners were: Gerald Filion, Montreal Le Devoir, editorial writing; Gwyn (Jocko) Thomas, Toronto Daily Star, spot news reporting; Bill Boss, The Canadian Press feature writing; John Bird, Southam news service, staff corresponding; David Bier, Montreal Herald, spot news photography; Peter Dunlop, Toronto Telegram, feature news photography; Leonard Norris [illegible] cartooning.

Press, Ottawa Bureau, won a citation for outstanding spot news reporting on foreign assignment and was presented with a silver cigarette box.

COSTLY HIGHWAY

The 1,422-mile Alaska highway, built as a war measure in 1942, cost an estimated $140,000,000.



TWO KILLED—The engineer and brakeman of a Canadian Pacific Railway freight train were killed when the locomotive and 10 cars were derailed into the St. John River near Woodstock, N.B., by a landslide. Three of the cars are shown as workmen repair the line. The victims were B. K. McNally and D. G. Ketch, both of Aroostook Falls, N.B.

Strikes In U.S. Affect Market Trading

By DICK BAIDEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Strikes that threatened to cripple United States steel and oil industries this week drew slight reaction from Toronto investors.

Canadian traders sat back to watch the gyrations of the New York market while Toronto and Montreal prices fell—and rose—in the lightest trading in more than two months.

Toronto prices tumbled for four consecutive sessions in ragged dealings. Selling pressure was light as prices declined more from lack of buying interest than desire to sell. Steels and oils were at no time under pressure.

New York prices also declined most of the week but largely ignored Wednesday's steel and oil strikes. Prices fell sharply Thursday, however.

Recovery Varies

Friday recovery varied widely on Toronto and New York markets.

New York jumped from the strongest gain in more than 5½ years yesterday as strong support buoyed all sections following announcement of the strike's end. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks climbed $1.80. Steels and oils led the rise.

In Toronto, Western Oil stocks sparked the advance with an index gain of more than four points. The industrial index added slightly more than 2½ points in sporadic trading.

New York's upswing recovered completely, The Associated Press average's loss. Toronto's advance however left all indices with losses ranging from one to three points.

From Friday to Friday, the Toronto Stock Exchange averages showed industrials down 1.99 at 312.06. Golds down 1.16 at 87.91, base metals down 3.16 at 181.65 and western oils down 2.87 at 144.68.

In New York, The Associated Press average of 60 stocks climbed 10 cents to $100.10.

In the Montreal averages, banks were down .01 at 29.13, utilities down .1 at 83.6, industrials down 2.8 at 193.2, combined down 1.8 at 156.7, papers down 2.11 at 658.94 and golds unchanged at 65.81.

Steal Skating Rink

OTTAWA, May 3—(CP)—W. Earl Rowe (P.C., Dufferin Simcoe) told the Commons Friday he had been told some persons stole a skating rink from the Defence Department. "And they even stole the ice." "Some of them even stole scales to weight what they had stolen," he said.

Drama Festival Gets Support Accepts Distillers' Offer

SAINT JOHN, N.B., May 3 —(CP)—The Dominion Drama Festival entering the last day of its 1952 final competition, is assured of sufficient financial support for continued operation.

The festival governors Friday accepted an offer of Calvert Distillers, Ltd., to grant the organization $15,000 annually. A Calvert trophy and $1,000 will replace the Bessborough trophy as the festival's top award. Calvert trophies and $100 each also will be awarded to winning groups in regional festivals.

The last competitive play in the week-long competition will be staged this afternoon when the Saint Genesius Players Guild, [illegible] presents "The Glass [illegible] by Tennessee Williams.

Before the final adjudications late tonight, and announcement of award winners, two one-act Canadian-written plays will be performed—"Voice of the People," by Robertson Davies, Peterborough, and "De L'Autre Cote Du Mur," by Marcel Dube, Montreal. They are productions of the Belleville Theatre Guild and La Jeune Scene, Montreal, respectively.

Commends Acting

Adjudicator Michel St.-Denis commended the acting in Friday night's presentation of Clifford Odets' "Golden Boy" by the Actors Company of Toronto.

He said the production was worthwhile because of the good performances. Many of the players had a gift for acting and expression. Unlike some previous occasions this week, the audience could hear the lines and knew what the play was about.

He considered the tempo good and the range of voices much better than displayed by other companies in the Festival.

The biggest weakness, Mr. St.-Denis said, was insufficient realism in the setting and lighting, but the evening had been a good one because of the acting.

His highest praise went to E. M. Margolese as Joe Bonaparte's father. At times he was "first [illegible] saved a "sentimental value from becoming sickening."

Asks If Controller Has To Prove Charge

OTTAWA, May 3 (CP)—Julian Ferguson (PC-Simcoe North) asked in the Commons if there was any law in Canada under which Stewart Smith, former Toronto controller could be made to "prove or disprove" his recent statement that troops associated with Canadians in Korea are using germ gas.

Justice Minister Garson said he would examine the statement and give an answer Monday.

Hold Conference Discuss Health

OTTAWA, May 3 (CP)—A three-day federal-provincial regional conference on civil defence health services will open next Monday in Kingston, the health department announced Friday.

The Kingston conference will be the first of its kind, the department said. It will be followed later by similar gatherings for the Atlantic region in Halifax and for the western provinces in Regina.

These meetings are designed as a means of obtaining greater co-ordination of health services planning between adjacent provinces and neighboring areas within provinces. It will supplement the considerable amount of health services planning already done by the provinces and local communities.

Attending the conference will be provincial directors of civil defence health services for Manitoba, Ontario, Quebec and New Brunswick, provincial civil defence co-ordinators, civil defence representatives within main localities, and officials from nursing services, medical and hospital associations.

Minister Dies

HAMILTON, May 3 (CP) — The Rev. Ernest Edgar Shield of Niagara Falls died at nearby Waterdown Friday. He was pastor of Trinity Baptist Church in Niagara Falls for the last eight years and had also served in Winnipeg, Collingwood, Oshawa, Brantford and Ottawa.

Sees Conditions Growing Worse If Heavy Taxation Continues

OTTAWA, May 3 (CP)—Hon. Earl Rowe, president and general manager of the Great Lakes Paper Company, told the Commons Friday that "we cannot continue to tax the people as they have been taxed, and expect conditions to grow better."

Mr. Rowe, Progressive Conservative member for the Ontario constituency of Dufferin Simcoe, and a minister without portfolio in the last Conservative government, said the current rates of taxation can only be continued at the expense of industrial and economic expansion.

"Every business in this country is taking stock today, and trying to economize all along the line," he said. "They are watching every dollar of expenditure for purposes of maintenance and repairs, and looking carefully at programs for expansion.

"I know of many industries that have reduced their expansion programs because they see danger signs. They see a tax of more than 54.6 per cent on everything they make. They see interest rates, and they believe that with decreasing business it is time to take stock and to cut out extravagance."

He spoke in continued debate on the 1952-53 budget.

Debate Interrupted

The debate was interrupted briefly while members voted 89 to 42 against a C.C.F. motion of non-confidence in the government. The motion expressed regret that the budget had not exempted medical expenses entirely from income tax.

All three opposition groups united against the government majority. They were joined by one Independent—P. E. Gagnon (Chicutimi). J. L. Gibson (Ind., Comox-Alberni) voted with the government.

Another non-confidence motion, proposed by the Progressive Conservatives, still remained before the House. It criticized the government for "levying excessive and unjust taxation," for "waste and extravagance" and for "failure" to assure efficient administration of the public service.

In opening proceedings, Agriculture Minister Gardiner announced the government had arranged to buy surplus sides of heavy beef at Calgary and Edmonton at floor prices. The arrangement was worked out this week because producers had been unable to receive satisfactory prices for Albert cattle owing to large quantities of beef reaching market.

Justice Minister Garson said federal legal authorities have not reached an opinion on the constitutionality of provincial restrictions on movement of livestock.

Leave It To Members

Finance Minister Abbott said he would leave it to members to decide whether the Chamber had suffered because he left during the budget debate to address the United States Chamber of Commerce in Washington. His absence was criticized by George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, and Donald Fleming (P.C., Toronto Eglington).

Other members dealt with a variety of topics.

Joseph Noseworthy (CCF-York South) said Canada is short between 500,000 and 700,000 houses. He urged drastic changes in government policy to provide homes needed by the Canadian people.

J. O. Gour (L-Russell) said defence expenditures are larger, but not as large as they would be under a Progressive Conservative government. The opposition wanted Canadian troops to circle the globe and they wanted bigger and better armies. He suggested that the government go slow with any defence expansion.

Dr. E. A. McCusker (L-Regina City) said the federal royal commission on the South Saskatchewan irrigation project is wasting time. He urged the government to modify its terms of reference to get a report from it as soon as possible.

Poor Ministerial Pay Scored At Conference

ELMIRA, May 3—(CP)—The "complete inadequacy of ministerial salaries in general" was scored Friday by delegates attending the 88th session of the Evangelical United Brethren Church in Ontario.

The conference moved to adopt minimum salaries for ministers as follows: probationers, who are college and seminary graduates, $2,200 a year; elders, $2,400.

The Rev. W. F. Krot, of Tavistock, was elected treasurer of the board of missions to succeed the Rev. H. H. Kellerman, of Kitchener, who retired after 11 years service.

Over Objective

TORONTO, May 3 (CP)—The $400,000 Easter seal campaign in aid of crippled children went over its objective this year for the sixth successive time, R. W. Hooper, executive director of the Ontario Society for Crippled Children, announced Friday. The objective was overshot by some $17,000.

You Can Moderate Weather By Locating Plantings

Believe it or not, the weather around you home can be moderated to a very considerable extent. In most sections of the country, the harsh winter winds emanate from the north and northeast. In the summer, on the other hand, the cooling summer breezes come from the west or south. By a properly located, curved planting of evergreens, you can guide cold winter winds away from your home in winter. In the hot summer, when you want the cooling breezes the same planting will not only trap them, but, by making them flow through a narrower space, increase them.

Studies show that a shade tree properly placed can reduce roof temperature by as much as 20 to 40 degrees F., and help prevent the well-known "attic furnace" in the summer. By using a tree that [illegible] its leaves you still get the sun in the winter, when you want and need it.

Plants too can make the sun work for you and make you more comfortable. The temperature of plants is many degrees cooler than bare ground or pavement. Noise and dust are absorbed by shrubbery.

Nobody likes to be hot in summer and cold in winter and the extremes can be modified. At the same time, you can save on fuel bills, and assure better and more comfortable living for your family. Be guided by the following:

1. The hottest part of the day is the early afternoon. A shade tree on the west can keep your outside and inside house temperatures down by shading the walls from the sun.

2. If an evergreen windbreak on the north reduces the wind from 12 down to 3 miles per hour, at 32 degree F., it will take only half the amount of fuel to heat your home during the period of wind. In the summer, if breezes from the west and south can be channeled into a narrow space, hot nights will be more tolerable.

3. In the part of the yard used for outdoor living in the summer, water can make the area cooler and more livable on hot summer nights. Evaporation of water consumes large amounts of heat, makes the air cooler, too.

4. Pergolas of flowering vines, such as climbing roses and similar plants, as well as fruits, such as grapes, will provide cool spots beside the house, help cool the walls and thus the inside of the home, too.

NORTHERN PIONEERS

Iceland, Greenland and Spitsbergen were all discovered as the result of expeditions by Norsemen about the ninth century.

May Cost Utilities $138,878 To Supply Water To Lots

Supplying water to the Hugh Stewart and George H. Roper subdivisions west of the city would cost $138,878.73 as estimated by R. L. Dobbin, manager, in a report to the Utilities Commission.

One paragraph in the report says, in accordance with the Comsion's policy: "As all these lots are outside the city, the cost would have to be borne by North Monaghan, which would issue debentures and assess the annual cost against the property."

Action of the Commission was instruction to Mr. Dobbin to write the township council enquiring whether they are interested in the project as it looms in financing.

"Mr. Stewart wishes to develop an area consisting of 114 lots immediately to the north of Weller St., opposite Civic Hospital. This area is wholly outside the city," Mr. Dobbin write in prefacing his report.

"We suggest an 8-inch main on Weller St. which supplies Civic Hospital and about 210 houses, through a booster pumping station and elevated tank. If Mr. Stewart's sub-division of 114 lots were connected to this system, there would be no reserve for future houses i ty.

"George H. Roper owns a subdivision west of the city boundary. He has been requesting a supply of water. We made a report on this project. Estimates of cost should be increased 10% because of increases in material and labor since the report was made.

"The whole of this area should be considered as one problem. We have made an estimate of the cost of a system of mains and a pumping station. We propose to supply the system from the corner of Sherbrooke St. and Clonsilla Ave. with an 8-inch main along Shesbrooke and up Wallis Drive to Park Hill Road. Mr. Stewart's subdivision would be served by an 8-inch main off Wallis Drive.

Consumer To Pay

"In the estimate of cost, nothing has been added for the individual water service pipe from the main to dwellings. This would be paid for directly by the consumer.

Estimated cost:

Net cost of water main materials	$ 49,942.98
Cost of labor	33,160.00
Net cost of main laid	$ 83,102.92
Add 25% for administration	20,775.75
Total cost of main laid	$103,878.73
Estimated cost of booster pumps and house	10,000.00
Cost of 50,000 gallon elevated tank	25,000.00
Total cost of system with pumps and tank	$138,878.73

"The system could be operated without the elevated tank, but the pump would have to operate all the time to give service. If the power were to go off, or for some other reason the pump could not be operated, then the con- ...ers each

"The total number of consumers eventually to be served will be about 500, so that the capital cost per consumer would be $300.

"Even if these mains and pump were constructed, the Commission would not be in a position to supply water to these consumers outside the city, because of the shortage of filtration capacity at present. Until the new enlargement is completed and in operation, there will be no reserve capacity.

"We recommend that no action be taken at the present time with regard to this application."

The G. H. Roper request was for an estimate of the cost of an 8-inch water main from Weller St. to a point 160 feet south of Park Hill Road. "We have also received a request for a supply of water, and the conditions under which it would be furnished.

"Our estimate of the cost of the labor and material for 2,625 feet is $17,000.

"If the main were constructed, the supply would have to come from the elevated tank at Civic Hospital, and the booster pumping station on Weller St. at Queen Mary School.

"The elevation of the ground at the farthest northerly house on Wallis Drive is 850 feet, and that of the middle of the tank 890 feet above sea level, so that there would be only 40 feet or 18 pounds pressure on the ground floor of those houses.

"It is interesting to note that the elevation of the top of Armour Hill is 817 feet above sea level. The ground at the north end of Wallis Drive is 33 feet higher.

"When we determined the capacity of the tank we did not anticipate serving any consumers outside the city. It was designed to supply the hospital and 225 houses of the Hatton Wartime Housing project, and those on the high ground west of Albertus Ave.

"The elevation of the top floor of the hospital is 839 feet. Thus, we must maintain the water level in the tank at 890 feet so as to give proper water pressure on that floor.

Not Served

"At present the houses in the Hatton project are not served from the tank because there is sufficient pressure without it, but after the first of June they will have to be connected. When this happens there will be 209 houses served from this tank, plus the ... quired to pay a surcharge of $20 a year above the present rate of $30 a year. This would be for the use of the tank.

"In the agreement we should reserve the right to cut off supply at any time, and should state that we cannot guarantee suitable pressure.

"Also, no more houses other than those ready for occupancy at ... connected to the main.

"It is quite evident that if this area is to be built up and require water service, another booster pump and tank will be necessary."

The reference to the Roper area is embodied in the Stewart report.

"Last summer, with 200 houses and the hospital served from the tank, the maximum day's pumpage was about 70,000 gallons.

"The pump in the booster station has a capacity of 500 imperial gallons per minute, which will provide two fire streams. If there was a bad fire in that area requiring these two streams, the domestic and hospital use would have to be supplied by the tank.

"Under present conditions we could afford to supply the existing houses in the subdivision, but at the time of lawn and garden watering in the city, the water pressure would be very inadequate for houses at the north end of Wallis Drive.

Might Cut Off Some

"In order to keep up the pressure in the city we might have to curtail service to the houses outside the city.

"Also, if the houses on Wallis Drive south of Weller St. should ask for service, we would be in a worse situation. Some of those houses would be served by a proposed main on Sherbrooke St. from Clonsilla Ave., but the water pressure for the balance would be very poor.

"The elevated tank and booster pump cost about $30,000 three years ago, and would cost at least $40,000 now.

"We suggest that if those requesting service at present are given service, they should be re-

Short Of Cash, Lindsay Line Halts Operation

LINDSAY, May 3 (ENS).—Bus service in Lindsay will be definitely discontinued it was learned Friday when both the town and Lindsay Lines Ltd. issued statements to the press.

Members of council and officials of the bus company met in a closed session Thursday afternoon and issued their statements Friday.

Stating the position of the town the statement said the entire matter was discussed carefully and it was felt that the only solution to keeping the buses in service was a greatly increased patronage or a payment to the bus lines of a subsidy to cover loss of operations.

From audit figures sumbitted by the company to the council, a subsidy of $10,000 would have to be paid to keep the service. The town also made it clear that no request by the bus company for a subsidy or other financial aid had been submitted.

A month ago, a petition was presented to council with approximately 1,800 names on it requesting the town to keep the buses even if a subsidy had to be paid. In the town's press release Friday, it was pointed out that the original petition was invalid since it had not been signed by taxpayers or home owners but by citizens in general. Any further petition presented, said the statement, would have to be signed by ratepayers.

The service was inaugurated on Nov. 1, 1949, and will stop on Saturday, May 10, at midnight. The company's release stated that a substantial loss had been sustained and a reasonable trial had been given the operation so that the only alternative was to discontinue service.

Police, Court Officers Threatened With Death

OTTAWA, May 3 — (CP) — Police and court officials, including County Magistrate Austin O'Conner, were threatened with death Friday unless they decided to "lay off" the case of Pierrette Proulx.

The 19-year-old girl from suburban Eastview is charged with infanticide as the result of the death of a new-born baby April 12 last.

Threat of death was contained in a letter received in Eastview court just before the girl's trial was to begin. The girl was remanded a week.

Attack On Suez Canal Start War–Pearson

OTTAWA, May 3—(CP)—An attack on the Suez Canal by a major power would undoubtedly involve the North Atlantic Treaty powers and the United Nations and might well launch a Third World War, External Affairs Minister Pearson said Friday.

He was under examination by the House External Affairs Committee on Canada's responsibilities in the Middle East and other trouble spots.

Similarly an attack by a major power on Jugoslavia would undoubtedly affect the United Nations and could launch a third world war.

"We might as well know where a world war might start and know what we may be up against," he said.

Canadian Women Fill Vital Jobs As North Grows

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask., (CP) —The Canadian northland today no longer is strictly a man's world.

There are women radio operators, teachers, trappers, prospectors, road-camp cooks, nurses and stenographers handling desk work for northern development.

The radio operator at Stony Rapids, 470 miles from Prince Albert, is Mrs. O. B. McNeill. She operates a monitor station, one of seven in Saskatchewan, which relays messages to smaller stations usually in charge of field officers in the north.

Other wives of field officers also take their turn at delivering information from the outside world, operating the radio while husbands are away.

All northland nurses are called "Doc" by the Metis. They do not confine their work to office hours. They often travel 20 or even 50 miles by dog team or canoe to care for their charges.

On these mercy calls they are usually accompanied by R.C.M.P. constables and Indian guides.

Typical was the journey of pioneer Saskatchewan government nurse Myrtle Pearce when she came from a big city five years ago to serve the Cumberland House district.

She arrived at The Pas, Man., during spring breakup. No boats were expected and aircraft could not land on stormy waters. But she gathered her belongings and headed for the river bank.

She hitched a ride in a small boat piloted by a northern trapper. They made a three-mile portage before Stony Rapids was reached. From there nurse Pearce was flown to Cumberland House.

Variety of Duties

The duties of a northland nurse include inoculations, vaccinations, midwifery and even the operation of a dispensary.

Northern teachers aid elder pupils, many of them nearing 40 and 50 years of age, in basic English. One teacher, Miss Marie Lalonde, is stationed at Saskatchewan's most northerly outpost, Camsell Portage, 470 miles north of Prince Albert.

[illegible] is the only single girl. Her pupils include 10 Metis and two whites.

Long journeys over northern Saskatchewan trails have become common experiences for another veteran of the north, Curly Hanson. The red-haired Mrs. Hanson has tended trap lines with her husband for many years.

She has also become an expert in northern culinary arts. She has recipes for delicious dishes of muskrat and beaver and she claims that for a real treat caribou is hard to beat.

Stories of northland adventure, beside which other frontier tales seem pale, can be told by the teen-age student girls, Berna and Joean, daughters of a veteran prospector. They live at Contact Lake, 40 miles north of Lac La Ronge.

Not long ago the girls were confronted with a frontier crisis when both their parents took ill and food supplies ran low. The nearest settlement was Stanley, a trek of 20 miles across treacherous terrain dotted with lakes.

Undaunted, the girls made the trip in eight hours. They radioed from Stanley for food supplies, spent the night at the mission there and when the supplies arrived next morning they cut their travelling time on the return jaunt to Contact Lake.

SMILING MISS RUTH BALL of Peterborough was chosen May Queen at the May Day Ball Friday evening. She was picked from more than 240 ladies who paraded before judges in a grand march. They sought a girl who would symbolize the fresh, sweet and lovely month of May and Miss Ball charmingly met the qualifications. She was attractively gowned in an ankle-length dress of pale yellow net over taffeta.—(Examiner Staff Photo)

Judges were selected from outside C.G.E. to be sure no partiality would be shown. They were Mrs. Maurice Holt, fashion commentator, Mr. Walter Howell, president of the Kiwanis Club, and Alderman P. J. Anglesey. They were accompanied to the ball by Mr. Holt, Mrs. Howell and Mrs. Anglesey and Mrs. Waddell accompanied the mayor. The May Queen was escorted by Mr. Fred Attard.

The dance winners were Marg Peters and Cliff Storey, Grace Stewart and Frank O'Connell, Betty Sims and Doug Britnell, Helen Huston and Sandy Robson, Lois Jones and Al Beavis and Gladys Taylor and Bob Whiteside.

Jean Morrison Club President

CAMPBELLFORD, May 3 — (ENS)—The Business and Professional Women's Club on Thursday elected officers on Thursday evening.

After the business portion of the meeting, Miss Madelaine Rooney of Cobourg installed the officers.

This was the first installation of officers of the local organization, which was formed during the winter months.

Five new members were also initiated bringing to 22 the members in the club.

Officers for the coming term are as follows: President, Jean Morrison; vice president, Eileen Linton; secretary, Jewell Russell; treasurer, Berle Spencer. Miss Spencer was absent from the meeting due to illness.

"Fun Night" Held At Knox Church

A variation in entertainment was provided at the Knox United Church Friday night in a "fun night". Entire proceeds from this largely attended affair are earmarked for the Church Building Fund. Mr. Peter McCombe was the organizer and chairman of the committee in charge. All organizations of the church took part.

There was all the fun of the fair to be had with carnival decorations in the room to add to the gaiety. Square dancing and folk dancing took place in the lecture hall and there was a bowling competition on the alleys. A variety show featured musicians, singers and skits.

An auction sale drew a large crowd with Mr. Vince Grainger the auctioneer. Watercolor paintings [illegible] by Mr. H. G. Lewis and a handmade quilt made by Miss S. Summers were sold in this manner.

A "white elephant" stall was operated by the north group of the WA, a candy stall by Helen Roger Auxiliary and a book stall by the Married Couples Group. Tea cup reading was the feature attraction in the tea room in charge of west group of the WA. There were also hot dogs for sale.

A good selection of films was shown with Ray Gillies of the Married Couples Group as projectionist.

Success of this venture is expected to lead to more events along this line being held under church sponsorship. It is felt they are a drawing card for the young people.

MR. AND MRS. BARRY JOSEPH KUMPF of Toronto were pictured cutting their wedding cake. They were married on Thursday, May 1st, at St. Peter's Cathedral. The bride is the former Helen Marcelle Legros.—Garfield Studio Photo.

Helen M. Legros Is Bride

In St. Peter's Cathedral on Thursday, May 1st, the marriage was solemnized by the Rev. C. J. Carroll of Norwood of Helen Marcelle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Legros of Peterborough, to Barry Joseph Kumpf, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Kumpf of Trenton.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Jack Legros, owing to the illness of her father. She wore a gown of white satin and lace which was fashioned with a high collar, long pointed sleeves and the skirt falling in a graceful train. Her fingertip veil was caught to a bridal headdress and she was carrying a white prayer book topped with camelias.

Matron of honor was the bride's [illegible] over taffeta and matching headdress, and was carrying a cascade of mixed spring flowers. Bridesmaids Mrs. Helen Legros and Miss Shirley Lucas were similarly frocked in orchid net over taffeta and they carried flower nosegays. Jane Legros, niece of the bride, as flower girl, was dressed in green taffeta and carried a basket of spring flowers.

The groom was attended by his brother, Mr. Donald Kumpf of Tweed. Ushers were Gerard Legros and Peter Kumpf of Trenton, brothers of the bride and groom.

Reception was held at the Club Aragon with the bride's mother receiving in a navy blue printed silk dress and navy hat. She was assisted by the groom's mother who wore a grey ensemble and each had a corsage of red roses.

Leaving later on a motor trip [illegible] a grey tailored suit, a blue straw hat and a mauve orchid corsage.

Mr. and Mrs. Kumpf will live in Toronto.

Of Interest to Women

DOROTHY DIX

Reluctant Foster Mother No Place For Young Boy

DEAR MISS DIX: My husband's widowed sister is in ill health, unable to care for her four-year-old son. She wants us to take the child. Bill, my husband, and I have been married 15 years and have no children. I have a good job in an office, and I love it. I can't bring myself to the point of quitting my job and taking on so great a responsibility as a spoiled, selfish child. The boy has already caused much friction between Bill and me, and I already have considerable resentment toward him. Bill gives the child a great deal of attention, and absolutely ignores my nieces and nephews.

This sister-in-law has a mother and two sisters who could give her at least partial help. I could never give the boy the love and care he should have: I know absolutely nothing about raising children. I'm a good-natured, easy-going person, but find myself getting nervous over this situation. When I am home I like to be alone, and quiet. Do you think I am being mean and selfish?—LEONARE S.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: If you are easy going and good natured, your letter certainly belies you. Every sentence is a resentment against something else. You resent Bill's attention to his nephew, his lack of affection for your own family, the possible loss of your peace and quiet and, of course, above all, the little boy. Your summation of the child's character as spoiled and selfish is, to say the least, unreasonable. A four-year-old boy with a very ill mother, who has himself been handed around to several relatives already, surely deserves a better description than that.

Don't Take Him

vocate your taking this child. He would lead a most unhappy life with you. You are full of frustrations, prejudices and animosities. The youngster would be better off with cheerful, friendly strangers.

However, I am bound to point out that you are doing yourself a grave injustice in not only continuing these attitudes, but in being proud of them. And that you are! You seem to regard as a mark of distinction the fact that you cannot bear the sight of a little boy, that your entire life is encompassed in the small world of exciting office and peacefully quiet (and, I warrant, dull) home! It takes a mighty small nature to hold a grudge against a four-year-old, which you admit you have!

It's too bad that you can't open your heart and home to your husband's nephew; your life would be much happier if you could. He would be lots more rewarding than an office.

As you rightly point out, you are totally incapable of giving the child love, and would be doing him actual harm if you took him. He'll be better off with someone who loves him, even though his material condition will be less. In the long run, you will be the loser. I'm trully sorry for you.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I'm 22, married to a man who is a chronic job shirker. I've worked for the two years of our married life. I'm afraid to ask my boss for a raise as I don't want him to know my circumstances. My husband keeps promising to get a job, but never does. I've tried leaving him, but he begs me to come back, then breaks all the promises he made.—KITTY F.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Of course hubby begs you to come back when you leave; what would he do without his meal ticket? I'm afraid you'll have to resign yourself to the fact that you are, and always will be, the breadwinner of the family. Hubby lacks the ambition to get a job, and you lack the gumption to make him get out and work.

Your circumstances, however, should have nothing to do with asking the boss for a raise. Your salary is determined by your worth and ability, not by the fact that your husband is a loafer.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I've been married a year, and love my wife very much. She loves me, too, I have a strenuous job and need a lot of rest. I usually retire early, then my wife goes out to a neighborhood tavern.—A. P.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You and your wife are setting the stage for a domestic tragedy that isn't too far off. Is it possible that out of a whole week you can't find some time to take you wife out? Naturally she doesn't want to stay in all the time, but you seem to think more of a rest than you do of her welfare. She is wrong to take the form of entertainment she does, but I think if you would make a little more effort to please her you could resume, and maintain, a happy home life.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Readers' Saturday Column

QUESTION: . . . the recipe for the dumplings was really good. Could you send me one for a fish dish. I get the frozen fish from the store and have no place to keep it. How could I fix a nice dish with cabbage without boiling it or making a salad? I have heard that a cake can be made with tomato juice. If you would send me the recipe I would be glad. Send me a good recipe for pies. I make raisin, apple and peach. How do you make rhubarb pie? The family likes that kind but I just can't make one that doesn't run over. Thank you so much. Mrs. Ray T.

ANSWER: Frozen fish fillets may be used exactly as you would if they were fresh—as soon as they barely thaw. Recently we had the following dish and everybody seemed to enjoy it.

Fillets (Frozen or Fresh) With Cheese Dressing

Two tablespoons each butter or margarine and flour, 1 cup milk, ½ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, 3 tablespoons minced parsley, 1 or 2 cups grated cheddar cheese, 1 or 2 teaspoons dry mustard, 2 lbs. fish fillets. Melt the butter in the top of double boiler, then stir in flour. When blended stir in the milk until thick. Add salt, pepper, mustard and cheese and stir until blended. Wipe the fillets with a damp cloth and cut into pieces for serving. Arrange fish on greased baking dish, cover with the cheese sauce, and sprinkle top with minced parsley. Bake at 400 deg. Fahr. for about 20 minutes or until bubbling and flecked with brown.

NOTE: The cheese may be omitted, and 1 tablespoon crumbled tarragon leaves added and 1 or 2 tablespoons lemon juice. OR tomato juice may be used in place of milk, the cheese omitted and 1 bay leaf added to the sauce, which would have to be removed before serving.

Favourite Cabbage

[illegible] tablespoons butter or margarine and 1½ tablespoons flour. Stir to blend. Stir in 1½ cups milk until thick. Add 5 cups shredded or grated green cabbage. Stir well. Cover Cook over boiling water for about 15 minutes. Do not overcook this—the cabbage should retain some of its crispness when served. Add salt and pepper to taste.

Scalloped Cabbage

Four cups shredded or grated new green cabbage, 1 cup soft breadcrumbs, 2 cups medium white sauce, ½ cup grated cheese. Make white sauce by melting 4 tablespoons butter and blending in 4 tablespoons flour. Stir in 2 cups milk until thick. Add ½ to 1 teaspoon salt and ⅛ teaspoon pepper. and sauce in greased baking dish, sprinkle with layer of crumbs and repeat until both are used up. Sprinkle top with cheese. Bake in oven of 400 deg. Fahr. for about 20 minutes or until cabbage is barely tender.

Tomato Juice Cake

Cream together 1 cup brown sugar and ½ cup shortening until light and fluffy. Sift together 1¾ cups stirred but not sifted cake flour, ¾ teaspoon baking soda, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon cinnamon and ¼ or ⅛ teaspoon freshly grated nutmeg. Add the sifted ingredients to the creamed ingredients alternately with 1 cup tomato [illegible] 1 egg until very light and fold it in. Fold in 1 cup raisins, and ¼ cup each chopped nuts and mixed peel. Bake in paper-lined and buttered square pan at 375 deg. Fahr. for about 25 minutes. Watch for the rhubarb pie next week.

Best of luck to you. Let me know when I can be of help again.

2 Scout Troops Show Handwork At Fair

Two Boy Scout troops, All Saints' and Trinity, made a fine showing at booths at the Sportsmen's Show at the Civic Auditorium. Both have rustic settings and Scouts are busy through show nights and today's matinee doing projects—pioneer model work, rope work and lashings.

The Trinity group are showing 70 bird houses which members have spent weeks making. Peterborough Fish and Game executives chose three prize winners at Thursday night's show. They were: 1, Murray Mann; 2, Bill Hendry, and 3, Gerry Hancock. These, together with the rest of the work, have been put up for sale at the show to raise funds for the troop.

Cal Kilgore

Rifle Association's open pistol championship results were announced, Kilgore placed third with 1,625 points. The champion was Leonard Appleyard of Toronto.

On International Team

Kilgore added more when he was chosen a member of Canada's international pistol team. Although Canada placed third, behand England and the United States, Kilgore tied the champion Appleyard with a record of 186 out of 200.

Last year, as a member of the Canadian Civilian Association of Marksmen, Kilgore was rated as an expert with a .22 calibre pistol and as a sharpshooter in the centre fire class.

Annually the C.C.A.M. conducts tests in both classes across the country. The members fire 12 targets for each before witnesses and from that their rating is figured.

Once during the year the association climaxes its functions with the championship shoot at Ottawa. There the members, shooting shoulder to shoulder, all under the same conditions, compete.

Recently witnessed by Major G. A. Woods, adjutant of the 50th H.A.A. Regiment, Kilgore rose to an expert in both the .22 calibre and centre fire classes. He scored 1,089 out of 1,200 with the .22 and 1,093 out of 1,200 with a .38 calibre for centre fire.

Began At 13

Competitive shooting began for Kilgore when he was 13. With a Grimsby reserve army Lewis gun team he competed in the Ontario Rifle Association shoot at Long Branch.

But it was not until 1936 that he became interested in pistol shooting. While in Ottawa attending the Dominion championships he watched the pistol events. He was taken under the wing of Bruce MacDonald, a C.P.R. policeman and Canadian service pistol champion. That expert unknowingly started another champion along the trail.

For in 1939 with a .445 calibre weapon Kilgore won the Canadian service pistol championship, the plum of Canadian pistol shooting. He scored 336 out of 360.

After service in the R.C.A.F. during the Second World War Kilgore returned to his favorite pastime. He promptly worked his way up again and in 1950 won the championship again, this time with a .9 millimetre Browning service pistol.

10th In Continent

His position in comparison with American and Canadian pistol shots is indicated by his record in 1946. In a similar rating scheme conducted by the C.C.A.M. Kilgore placed 10th in the United States Revolver Association shoot. More than 400 men took part.

The competitions include shooting the weapons at three speeds. The first is slow fire. Deliberate aim is taken with plenty of time. The second is timed, five rounds at a special rapid fire target in 20 seconds; and third, rapid fire, five rounds in 10 seconds.

At any one of these speeds Kilgore makes the bull's eye look like a used punch board.

Kilgore's pet peeve is the inability of most policemen to handle a weapon and to fire it. Basing his peeve on policemen's records in competition and on daily press reports, Kilgore believes that the situation "seriously warrants a training program to be implemented."

Kilgore has brought the training of police personnel to attention of Mayor Allan Lamport. There he refers to United States incidents where policemen have ough training program in firing weapons.

Kilgore suggested a program which could be followed, also including several recommendations such as change to the proper police colibre, a .38 special. The Peterborough department changed over last year.

His action in the police problem is not limited to writing [illegible] tion period with the Leaside police department and helped them lay out a range in the high school.

Here And There In Sports

By The Canadian Press

Gerard Cote has done everything for today's Canadian marathon championship at St. Hyacinthe, Que., but win it. And if the Dominion's veteran runner finishes first, the accomplishment will surpass anything he has ever done in beating the world's best.

While training through snow and slush, he found time to make all the arrangements for the big race which should draw thousands of spectators.

There are 40 names on the entry list including Canada's best and three from the United States. Cote passed up the Boston marathon to save himself for this Olympic trial.

No. 1 on the list of entrants is Walter Fedorick of Dundas who won the Canadian title last year. Paul Collins of Wolfville, N. S., is the man many favor to win this year.

Thirty-six cyclists from across Canada will compete at Victoriaville, Que., today for berths on Canada's Olympic team. There are two entrants from Ontario. Two riders qualify.

Hundreds of southern Ontario residents will be among the millions who will get their first glimpse today of the Kentucky Derby. The top turf classic of the year in the United States will be televised, with the pre-race festivities on the air at 5:15 p.m. E.D.T. Post time is 5:30 p.m.

More than 80 applications have been received for the four berths open to marksmen on the 1952 Canadian Olympic team, K. N. Morris, executive director of the Canadian Civilian Association of Marksmen, announced Friday at Montreal.

The National Boxing Association Friday lifted its suspension on Chicago's Johnny Bratton, third-ranking welterweight boxer and his manager, Hymie Walliman. The announcement was made at Washington.

Baltimore Orioles have decided twice in a week that bonus players lent them by Philadelphia Phils of the National League aren't up to International League standards. Southpaw Tom Casagrande has followed Ted Kazanski, $100,000 shortstop, to Schenectady, N. Y. The Orioles obtained southpaw Jocko Thompson, former Toronto Maple Leaf, as a replacement.

Young Vinnie Martinez of Paterson, N. J., made short work Friday night of a once-tough Tony Pellone to win a technical knockout in 2:54 of the first round at New York's St. Nicholas Arena.

Reserve Decision In Deportation Case

TORONTO, May 3—(CP)—Mr. Justice D. C. Wells reserved decision on an application by the Federal Immigration Department to have Dr. Francis Rupert Legge, a Chatham minister, deported.

The department [illegible] admitted in March, 1949, as a British subject. The immigration law does not define residents of British Guiana as British subjects.

D. L. Dubin, counsel for Dr. Legge, said it was only after Mr. Legge's wife—a Negro—and his three children arrived that the government started deportation proceedings.

J. J. Robinette, counsel for the department, said: "It has nothing to do with race or creed."

Stores Being Flooded With Union Appeals

MONTEAL, May 3 (CP)—Two union officers said Friday department stores across Canada are being flooded with thousands of postcards asking them to co-operate with the needle trades industry in a campaign to prevent alleged "dumping" of United States merchandise in Canada.

Bernard Shane, international vice-president, International Ladies Garment Workers Union (C.L.C.-A.F.L.), and Maurice Silcoff, international vice-presiednt, United Hatters, Cap and Millinery Workers Union (C.L.C.-A.F.L.), said the unions are not opposed to legitimate imports.

"Our only concern is dumping and we hope the Canadian government soon will take steps to plug loop-holes in present customs regulations which allow dumping," they added.

Federal authorities investigated charges of textile dumping several weeks ago and said they could find no supporting evidence.

privilege to talk to the members of this gallant regiment and officiate at divine service (at the Gloucesters' request).

He described the country as "unbelievably mountainous" with deep valleys below. The Canadian soldiers spend much of their time climbing one hill after another, perching on top and waiting for the enemy to show themselves. At the same time, the men must keep their weapons clean and ready for instant action.

In the bitter cold and unfamiliar country one might expect the Canadian soldiers to be "bitter and resentful," but the opposite is true, he said.

The enemy often attack in waves, throwing themselves on the positions of the defending troops. In one night while the Archbishop was in the front line 17 of our men were wounded and one man was killed.

The Archbishop advised the congregation to discount tales they had heard about Canadian troops being cruel to the native Koreans.

"When you hear stories of cruelty by our troops to the native population, don't believe them; they are quite untrue . . . Why, those men are almost foolishly careful for the welfare of the native people."

Some of the troops save up their pocket rations to give to the very young and very old, he said.

"It is hard to imagine a more concentrated picture of misery than that presented by the Korean people," he said. Hundreds of thousands have already been killed in the struggle and there are hundreds of thousands of homeless.

Archbishop Barfoot also gave an optimistic account of the work of the church in Japan. Canadian mission began there 58 years ago and there has been built up "a strong Diocese of Christian people."

In closing, the Archbishop said the curse of the Church since the time of Constantine has been nominal Christianity.

"Brethren, the curse of the Christian Church has been nominal Christianity . . . people not willing to accept responsibilities, not willing to accept the discipline of Christ, and not willing to accept Christ's call when He issues the call."

The mass conversion of millions, who will only become nominal Christians, is not wanted, he said.

Archdeacon W. P. Robertson presided at the evening service. The Rev. Walter Gilling, rural dean, read the lesson from the 10th chapter of St. John. Also in attendance were some 35 clergy from the Archdeconry of Peterborough.

Pair Remanded Admit Heavy Drinking

COBOURG, May 3 —(ENS)— William John Rutledge, 27, and Elaine Pont, 31, of 90 Maple St., Hastings, were remanded until Monday for sentence when they appeared yesterday on joint charges of robbery with violence and car theft. The pair were arrested after Robert Alexander, 86, of Hastings had been tied up and robbed of $16. Mrs. Pont had been drinking with the complainant in a beverage room at Hastings where they were joined by Rutledge. When the old man went home the two accused followed him and robbed him, the evidence taken last week revealed.

"I was under the influence of alcohol," explained Elaine Pont to Magistrate R. B. Baxter. "I guess I drink too much for my own good. I was only up on a charge on one occasion before this one."

Magistrate R. B. Baxter, in remanding both for sentence commented that Rutledge had a fairly extensive record. Rutledge, in asking the court for leniency, said that his weakness was drink and that when he drank too much he always ended up in trouble.

Dangerous Driving

Bob Payne, service station proprietor of Cobourg, paid $100 and costs on a dangerous driving charge and $10 and costs for failing to have a 1952 licence sticker on his windshield. Payne on April 19 was involved in an accident when his "hot rod" was in collision with a car east of Cobourg, driven by W. Teeple of Kingston who was with his bride of that day. The cars were badly damaged but nobody was seriously injured.

22-inch Speckled

COBOURG, May 3— Fishing at Shelter Valley creek, a few miles east of here on opening day, Ernie Outwin, Cobourg, got himself some nice trout using spinner and worm. The rather odd fact was that just before he hauled out his fish, two other experts, Dr. Orval Crabbe and Bob MacLaren of Cobourg, had fished the hole in vain. Ernie caught a 22-inch speckled weighing three pounds, three ounces and a brown trout weighing two pounds and a quarter. In another stream the same morning he caught six speckled trout ranging from eight to 10 inches. Fishing was also reported good on Baltimore creek.

Nursing Registry Gaining Recogniton Across City

A Peterborough organization, the Community Nursing Registry, is slowly gaining recognition in the city.

A relatively new body, the nursing registry began functioning in the city in Jan. 1949. Its formation was the result of a plea sent out by both Peterborough hospitals.

The hospitals were swamped with calls from citizens needing nurses for private duty. Hospital officials asked that a nursing registry be formed similar to ones set up in other cities in the province.

Miss Madeline Baker, who has been engaged for the past 10 years by the Registered Nurses Association of Ontario to organize and supervise nursing registries was invited to come to Peterborough. She spoke to a group of nurses and the registry was organized with approximately 25 active nurses on call cards.

Since that time the organization has grown to include 54 active nurses on call cards and 12 nurses assistants (practical nurses).

Service Groups

The community nursing registry considers itself a service organization in the city. The reasoning for this claim can best be explained by quoting from registry's constitution . . . "to provide and vouch for a high standard of nursing and auxiliary service which will adequately meet the needs of the community in times of illness; to centralize calls for such service from physicians, hospitals and the public; and to provide to registrants and the public, the advantages offered by such an organization."

One of greatest services the ganization offers to the public is speedy medical aid when it is needed in the event of accidents or illness. If there is an accident, a call to the registry brings medical aid quicker than if attempts are made to contact a doctor directly.

The registry through the co-operation of the doctors of the city, knows where doctors are at anytime during the day and night. When an accident call comes in, the doctor nearest the scene is notified.

Another important community service given by this organization is an insurance of high standards of nursing. Nursing applicants are carefully screened before they are accepted. They must be members of good standing of the Registered Nurses' Association. They must have a recommendation from the school of nursing where they trained and references from two other people as well. Each application is placed before a credential committee and must be passed before the nurse is sent out to work.

An equally strict procedure is followed with nursing assistant applicants.

Safeguards Public

In this way the registry feels it is safeguarding public welfare by providing nurses that are well qualified to give the best of service.

The registry is headed by a board of directors. Its members include representatives of the medical and nursing professions, the City Council, the Department of Health, the superintendents of the schools of nursing of the two city hospitals, and laymen.

Members of the board's executive are: Mrs. Eva Breckenridge, president; Miss Sadie Brown, vice-president; Miss Wilma Armstrong, second vice-president; Sister Loretta, secretary; Mrs. M. B. Pringle, treasurer.

The actual administration work of the registry is done by four registrars, Mrs. M. B. Pringle, chief registrar; Mrs. R. L. Hunt and Mrs. E. H. Wellman, assistant registrars; and Mrs. Phyllis Kingdon, relief registrar.

The registry office offers a 24-hour service with each of the registrars on eight-hour duty.

Recently the registry had trunk telephone lines installed from the Peterborough Clinic and the Medical Centre. This was done so that calls to either the clinic or centre after the switchboards had been shut off will come through to the registry. However the registry number is still 20479.

The nurses on the registry call cards have a standard charge of $1 an hour up to 12 hours. For 24 hour duty the charge is still $12. The practical nurses also have a set fee ranging from $5.00 for eight hours up to $8.00 for 24 hours.

Canadian Church Leader To Preach At St. Paul's

ROBERT REID

REV. WILLIAM BARCLAY, M.A., B.D.

A well-known leader of the Canadian Church will preach the 119th anniversary of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church on Sunday. Dr. William Barclay of Hamilton is president of the Canadian Council of Churches and a former moderator of the Presbyterian General Assembly. A Scot by birth he took the M.A. and B.D. degrees from the University of Glasgow and was minister of Townhead Parish, Glasgow and Kirkcudbright Parish from which he was called to Central Church, Hamilton.

In the First World War Dr. Barclay was chaplain to the British Armies in Egypt and was chaplain to the Argyle and Sutherland Highlanders from 1931 to 1948. He was honored by the Presbyterian College, Montreal, with the degree of doctor of divinity and is at present the vice-chairman of the Presbyterian Board of Administration and a member of the trustee board.

The guest vocalist will be Robert Reid, tenor soloist of Erskine United Church, Toronto, a recent winner of the trophy offered at the Kiwanis Music Festival, Toronto, to the best professional male soloist. He also captured five first prizes at the festival. He comes to Peterborough highly recommended by his teacher Dorothy Allan Park, a former Peterborough music teacher and soloist and now the leading vocal teacher at the Royal Conservatory of Music, Toronto.

Windows Smashed, 3 Youths Fined

LINDSAY, May 3 (ENS). — Three youths from Fenelon Falls appeared in police court here Friday faced with three charges each of wilful damage to business properties in Fenelon Falls. Alvin Junkin, 19; Ronald Smith, 18, and William Brokenshire, 21, all pleaded guilty to the charges.

According to Police Chief David Gordon, of the village, the boys admitted breaking windows in three different buildings on the night of April 19. "I've never had a charge like this before against boys as old as these three," said the chief. "Usually, it is with youngsters 10 to 12. It seems hard to understand young men at their age doing that."

Acting Crown Attorney R. I. Moore, after looking over the penalty clause in the Criminal Code, said that he regretted that the boys couldn't be given a term in jail to "think it over." The boys said it was "just foolishness" that made them do it. They were fined $18.40 each and placed on a year's suspended sentence.

You Want A Cheap Vacation Then Rent Railroad Station

LONDON, May 3—(AP)—Britain's latest idea for a quiet holiday is hiring a railroad station.

It may not sound like everybody's idea of heaven—but it's cheap, and the rented stations are in English and Scottish beauty spots along branch lines where there are not many trains a day.

Last summer hundreds of Britons spent vacations in this way. This year the nationalized rail system reports it is "solidly booked up" for July and August almost every place where it has stations for hire.

The railroads began closing down old uneconomic stations during a post-nationalization economy campaign. Then someone had the idea of converting the derelict stations into camping chalets.

Now holidaymakers are jumping at the chance of dining in what once was the stationmaster's office. The rail authorities provide furniture and other needs down to sheets, blankets and cooking utensils.

But few of the rustic old stations have electricity. Lighting is from oil lamps, cooking on a vapor stove. Baths also are lacking, but since most of the stations are in the Scottish Highlands or England's lake district, the campers don't mind much.

"It's not such a drawback really," a railroad official said. "The air is so pure in such spots you don't get really dirty—and you can always nip out and have a dip in a lake or a loch."

Each chalet usually consists of all the railroad buildings on one side of the line. A family of six gets a week's vacation for just over £7 a week—one of the cheapest holidays this country offers.

The money just about pays the cost of maintaining otherwise useless buildings.

Mission Worker Says Future Lies In New Citizens

MILLBROOK, May 3 (ENS) — Canada Night, to show the work of the United Church in missions in the home fields, was held in the Sunday school rooms of St. Andrew's United Church on Thursday evening. At their booth C.G.I.T. girls had drawn a large map of Canada with pin heads in different colours showing the location of missions throughout the nation. Other booths showed pictures of the work being done at the mission stations. One display was of marine missions showing the mission boats used.

The special speaker was Miss Bessie Banfill of Ottawa who has served in many mission hospitals in Northern Ontario, in Saskatchewan and in Labrador. She stressed the fact that now almost all the nations of the earth are represented in Canada. One of the greatest problems with which we are faced, is that of the assimilation of these new Canadians, so that they will be loyal citizens. Another problem yet to be solved is that of the Indians, and yet another the handling of the liquor situation. The primary one of all on which the future of Canada hangs is the treatment given these newcomers. On it will depend whether they turn to Christianity or to Communism. She told stories of patients who came to the hospitals in Smeaton and Wakan in Saskatchewan where the people were so poor that some of them had to pay for their hospital care in barter rather than in money. The missionaries had found it was wiser to accept at least a small return for hospitalization even though the patients were poor.

Since it was the opening day of the fishing season Miss Banfill was asked to tell the story of how she caught a 16-pound salmon without rod or hook. It was when she was first stationed in Labrador. She had gone out for a walk and was watching the salmon going up the rapids to spawn. One salmon missed the rapid and landed on the rocks. In order to keep it from flopping back into the water Miss Banfill sat on it. It struggled so hard that she was almost as tired as the fish when it finally lay still. She carried it home only to find the canning company had a monopoly of fishing in those waters. The fish went to them and she did not get even a taste. Miss Banfill was introduced by Mrs. M. E. Hobbs, whose guest she was.

The film "Peggy goes to United Church Training School" was shown by the Rev. A. M. Butter. It told of the life of the students who attend. Among the pictures was one of Miss Margaret Smith of Millbrook, a recent graduate of the school, now doing deaconness work in Barrie. The final slide was one of the new United Church training school to be built on the University of Toronto campus. The building is to be begun in the fall. St. Andrew's share to contribute to the building fund is $280. The silver collection taken at the Canada Night program is to go to this fund.

At the close of the evening refreshments were served buffet style featuring foods from other lands. The town group of the Women's Association were in charge.

15 Ringleaders Touch Off New Riot In Montreal Jail

FIVE HUNDRED ACRES OF FARM AND BUSH LAND were swept by fire Saturday afternoon in the Castleton district, 20 miles southwest of Campbellford.. More than a dozen tractors worked in pairs to plow the firebreak shown (at right). Ont. Tidal Wave Batters Bruce Peninsula

OWEN SOUND, May 5. (CP)—A "tidal wave" early today struck both sides of Bruce Peninsula, did extensive damage at Stokes Bay on the west shore and caused flood tides at Balmy Beach and in Owen Sound Bay. The wave or seiche is a sudden rise or fall in lake waters caused by a change in barometric pressure. Stokes Bay bore the brunt of the seiche, which destroyed the bridge over the Stokes River, lifting it from its foundation. The wave also carried a 20-ton fishing boat owned by George McLay high onto dock piling. Smaller craft were carried up on shore roughly 2½ city blocks.

A large cottage owned by George Vaughn of St. Thomas was lifted from its foundation and moved up on the highway. The Vaughn family had spent the weekend there.

The Stokes Bay post office was flooded and considerable damage was caused along the shore.

In Owen Sound, water was reported at least 18 inches above normal. Water from the Pottawatami River ran inshore 400 feet to a hosiery plant.

Times of the waves were reported between 6:30 a.m. and 8 a.m. E.D.T.

A huge wave rolled in along the Lake Huron-St. Clair River waterfront at 8 a.m. E.D.T. from Ipperwash to Courtright, flooding the water pumping station at Ipperwash and flooding homes at Frog Point in the down river village of Courtright.

Water covered a portion of the lawn at Ipperwash Park and pounded up to the level of a new road. Waves bit chunks out of the already eroded shoreline.

The story was the same at other spots along the 75-mile shoreline. At Kettle Point the water reached the home of one of the guides. Across the international border at Harbor Beach, Mich., docks and boats were smashed at a boat livery, according to the U.S. Coastguard.

By nine o'clock the crest of the tide had reached Courtright to swell the river to an all-time height. Within an hour it had dropped five feet to a lower level than it has been for many months.

A fluctuation of as much as five feet within an hour was recorded by the United States Coastguard.

Steel Talks Collapse At White House

WASHINGTON, May 5 (AP) — White House negotiations, started by President Truman over the weekend in another effort to end the steel dispute, have collapsed.

And today both union and management spokesmen privately said the supreme court freeze on wages in the industry, pending a final court ruling on government seizure of the mills, played a significant role in the breakdown.

The United Steelworkers of America (C.I.O.) and the industry stopped trying to settle their conflict over a new work contract late Sunday because, as presidential assistant John R. Steelman put it, they were "so far apart that no agreement" could be reached.

Benjamin Fairless, president of U.S. Steel Corp., and C.I.O. president Philip Murray had been in day-and-night session since Saturday morning at the urgent request of the president.

Two Statements

When the breakoff came, Murray said the industry was on a "strike against collective bargaining." The industry said the union "still refuses to consider" at 17-to-19-cent "package" offered it.

The steelworkers have been seeking what the Wage Stabilization Board recommended—a 17½-cent-an-hour wage raise plus other fringe benefits and the union shop, which would compel all workers to belong to the steel union. The average wage in the industry is slightly under $2 an hour.

Any public mention of the supreme court wage stand, which lasts only until the court has decided the case, was conspicuously absent. But an industry lawyer said the companies wanted the supreme court to decide the constitutionality of Truman's seizure of the industry April 8. He said, however, that industry fears of a government-imposed wage boost just about balances off its desire for a high-court confirmation of Judge David A. Pine's sweeping decision that the seizure was "wholly illegal and without authority of law."

4 Hours In Lake Man 29 Dies

TORONTO, May 5 (CP)—Robert Howieson, 29, died Saturday night after four hours' exposure in the chill waters of Lake Ontario.

Howieson had been testing a speedboat off suburban Port Credit when it overturned. He and a companion, Walter Baruk, were tossed into the water.

Baruk swam to shore safely and by the time he climbed on to a wharf his arms and legs were bleeding.

For three hours while Howieson was in the water, Baruk screamed in vain for help. He was within earshot of Port Credit's main street but his calls went unheeded.

Finally the police were notified. A rescue crew found Baruk in a state of advanced shock. He was able, however, to tell them of the

An hour later Howieson was found. A life jacket had kept his head out of water and death had been caused by shock and exposure.

Germany Will Use Old National Anthem

BONN, May 5 — (AP). — The "Deutschland Lied," with its refrain of "Germany above all" (Deutschland Uber Alles), is to be restored as West Germany's national anthem.

An official announcement is expected soon by President Theodor Heuss. Allied high commission officials said they would offer no objection.

Although never formally banned, the anthem, long associated with German imperialism, has been frowned upon by Allied authorities, and it has not been used officially by the Germans since the war.

President Heuss previously had tried unsuccessfully to win adoption of another song—one newly composed and with a more pacific text.

Planes Squeezed On Gas Supply By Strike In U.S.

DENVER, May 5—(AP)—The grip of an oil-workers' strike today squeezed commercial, private and military aviation. But its effect mounted only slowly for the rest of the gasoline-powered country.

The strike, called last Wednesday, closed some of the world's greatest oil refineries, including key units for production of aviation gasoline, and was felt in distribution facilities.

The result was an order Sunday by Interior Secretary Oscar Chapman limiting the use of gasoline by airlines and private fliers effective tomorrow.

His order, effective at 4:01 a.m. EDT, cuts fuel for airlines by 30 per cent. Pleasure and sports flights by private fliers are cut entirely.

Both carrier and non-carrier aircraft will be prohibited for 28 days beginning Tuesday from taking delivery of more than 65 per cent of the gasoline they used in March. The order also applies to foreign airlines flying from the United States. And it forbids export of aviation gasoline without permission of the Petroleum Administration for defence.

Some airlines immediately planned to trim or consolidate schedules. The Air Force began cutting down training flights last week in an effort to conserve gasoline reserves.

The rest of the United States began looking to reserve supplies. There was no great slackening of transportation — private or commercial—and no widespread rationing as such.

Motoring was not curtailed, voluntarily or otherwise, on the weekend.

The strike, called by 22 A.F.L., C.I.O. and independent unions, shut down roughly one-third of the country's refineries and cut gasoline supplies by about the same amount.

Reserves were estimated last week as sufficient for 45 days at normal consumption.

300 Volunteers Battle Bush Fire In Haldimand

By WM. W. REID

CASTLETON, May 5. (ENS)—Residents of this farming area a few miles northwest of Castleton earned a well-deserved rest on Sunday after winning a fight with a forest fire on Saturday that raged over about 500 acres of bush and grassland, and at times threatened farm buildings and homes in its path. More than 300 volunteers, comprising farmers from the immediate area as well as car loads of men from distant points, labored during the day from 11 a.m. until 9 p.m. to bring the flames under control. A call to the Brighton detachment of the Provincial Police brought Constable H. R. Cooke to the scene. Lack of adequate equipment made the fight a difficult one for the volunteers.

The Colborne fire truck containing 1,000 gals. of water arrived but was unable to get close enough to help and was also hampered by lack of water, being too far south of the Russ Creek to get more.

Farmers of the area made a firebreak by attaching ploughs to their tractors and ploughing miles and miles of furrows in the sandy soil along the fringe of the burning woods. The firebreak was instrumental in confining the flames to the burning area.

On the north edge of the woods, workers fought fire with fire by setting an area close to the firebreak ablaze and allowing this to burn itself out. When the flames advanced to this point, there was nothing left for them to consume, and the fire was brought under control. More than a dozen tractors, working in pairs, were employed in throwing up a firebreak.

Women Walk Miles

Women of the area walked miles during the day, carrying lunch and refreshments to the tired firefighters.

At one time late in the afternoon, the men believed they had the blaze under control and relaxed their efforts. Some of the men left for their homes at the time, but were soon back on the scene when the fire broke out with renewed vigor. The flames were by the late Joe Brannigan and now owned by Dr. McKeown, a veterinary in Whitby. It then spread into a woodlot on the property of Ike Jacobson. Some of the woods belonging to Delbert Adams was also burned.

Cause of the blaze has not yet been determined.

Monkey Smoker Causes Furore

WINDSOR, May 5 (CP)—Chester, a cigarette-smoking pet monkey, is upset today.

Sgt. Albert Hazel of the Windsor Fire Department has a sore thumb and George Hardy, Chester's owner, a burned-out easy chair.

Hardy was sitting in his apartment easy chair Sunday, reading, the monkey on his shoulder. He lit a cigarette, drew on it, handed it to Chester.

Chester usually smokes them, hands them back, Hardy said. This time he knocked the burning ash off the end, tore the paper and began to eat the tobacco. The hot coal fell on the chair, began to smoulder. Fabric burst into flames.

With the monkey screeching on his shoulder, Hardy began to haul the chair into the apartment kitchen to douse it with water. Neighbors called the fire department. With Sgt. Hazel in the lead the firemen rushed into the apartment. The sergeant began to cart the chair out onto a back roof.

man in the hard hat make away with the furniture. He clamped his teeth on Hazel's thumb.

That's how it all happened.

Gardiner Says Diefenbaker Insults Witness

OTTAWA, May 5 — (CP) — Agriculture Minister Gardiner today accused John Diefenbaker (P.C., Lake Centre) of "insulting" a witness and of trying to "paint a political picture" out of the foot-and-mouth disease investigation before the Commons Agricultural Committee.

"This is not a police court and the member (Mr. Diefenbaker) is not a police court lawyer," Mr Gardiner said.

Mr. Diefenbaker countered that he was not insulting a witness. The witness, Dr. E. E. Carlson, assistant federal district veterinarian at Regina, had stated that medical experts had praised the methods used by the officials handling the diagnosis of the South Saskatchewan outbreak.

Mr. Diefenbaker said that was not in the evidence. It was a "second-hand" report and the committee would make up its own mind whether the diagnosis had been praised or not.

When Mr. Gardiner said Mr. Diefenbaker was insulting the witness, Mr. Diefenbaker shot back:

Want Facts

"We want the facts. You want protection."

Dr. Carlson, along with Dr. N. V. James, another veterinarian at Regina, were flown from the West during the weekend. The committee decided to hear them before proceeding with evidence from Dr. C. A. Mitchell, the government's top animal pathologist.

Dr. Carlson said he had been with the Federal Agricultural Department for more than 22 years. He had been on the spot when the first outbreak diagnosed as vesicular stomatitis appeared at the Leonard Wass farm at McLean, Sask., last Nov. 26.

There was no evidence that the outbreak was foot-and-mouth disease, he said. That was why specimens of infected animals were not taken to be shipped to Hull, Que., laboratories, for tests.

He himself believed that the it was foot-and-mouth disease was through laboratory tests, but the department as long as he could remember had forbidden the shipping of vesicular samples for fear of breakage during shipment with possible spread of the disease to other parts of the country.

But finally in mid-February specimens were procured on instructions from Dr. Orlan Hall, Veterinary Director-General.

Dozen Fires Set, Furniture Smashed In Revolt

MONTREAL, May 5. (CP)—Fifteen diehards among rioting prisoners at Montreal's Bordeaux jail started a new disturbance today that was quickly put under control. The outbreak occurred in the yard. The men rushed a wooden fence separating them from one wing of the prison. Police and guards turned them back. This was the first break in the hair-trigger truce which early today marked the last stages of a riot that rocked the sprawling jail Sunday.

Sunday's rioting started with a mass protest over quality of food served.

MONTREAL—Two new outbreaks, the second halted with tear gas, broke out in riot-scarred Bordeaux jail today and were quickly quelled but prisoners shouted: "Wait till tonight."

The prisoners wrecked parts of the jail interior and many cells, broke cell locks and swarmed out into the jail yard where they ran wild for nearly five hours.

The riot died out and the prisoners returned to the main building. Police, who had stood outside the iron fence of the yard, followed them in but did not force them.

Some Transferred

Some prisoners were transferred early today to cells in provincial police headquarters downtown and to the few cells in the old courthouse where prisoners normally are placed awaiting trial in the courtroom.

Because of the wrecked condition of the jail, prisoners were still roaming about today.

There were still shouts over the food question, although police cars brought oranges and apples to the prisoners late Sunday night.

The prisoners still had access to the jail yard. Some of them drifted out there today.

Their new protest today was that sandwiches were served.

"We can't live on sandwiches," some of the prisoners shouted.

Duke Presides At 1st Meeting

LONDON, May 5—(Reuters)—The Duke of Edinburgh presided today at the first meeting of the Coronation Commission set up to arrange the Queen's crowning next year.

A small crowd watched the Duke and the other 35 members arrive for the meeting at St. James's Palace. Prime Minister Churchill also attended.

Today's proceedings, lasting 20 minutes, were formal. A committee, under the Duke of Norfolk, Britain's Premier Duke, was chosen to examine the problems that will arise before the June 2, 1953, ceremony.

London's main hotels are already fully reserved for the Coronation though it is still 13 months away. Thousands of applications for ac- turned down.

Fire Destroys Town Hall At Blind River

BLIND RIVER, Ont., May 5 — (CP).—Fire which destroyed the town hall building here early today caused damage estimated at $75,000.

All town records and documents except assessment books were lost. The 1952 budget, prepared by the town clerk for tonight's council meeting, was also destroyed.

Mayor Louis Berthelot said all works projects for the summer will be cancelled and council will concentrate on building a new town hall.

The building housed the town jail, town and provincial police offices, town clerk's office, council chambers, courtroom and fire department.

The fire was fought with only two available hoses. Most of the town's fire fighting equipment was destroyed in the blaze.

The blaze, believed to have been started by lightning which struck the building, also destroyed the town fire truck.

Albert Fortin, a jailer, released a number of prisoners in the cells shortly after the fire started about 4 a.m. Firemen, because of the lack of equipment, were unable to save the building. Only a metal vault containing municipal records remained standing.

The blaze also threatened the Palace theatre, next door to the fire hall. Firemen put out a fire which started in the theatre.

Blind River is about 90 miles east of Sault Ste. Marie.

Nine men and women lodged in the jail, located in the basement of the building, were released by Fortin. He smashed the cell locks with an axe.

2,000-Pound Whale Problem For Residents

SAN FRANCISCO, May 5—(AP)—A 20-foot, 2,000-pound whale floundered ashore Sunday, died, and immediately became a problem to area residents. The health department said disposal of the body, lying in the bright sunshine, was up to the city engineer. But the city engineer was not available for action.

Meanwhile the Navy had been called upon.

"Heavens, no, we don't want it," the Navy said.

The only person happy about the whale was Dr. Robert C. Miller, director of the California Academy of Sciences. It seems the mammal is of a rare species—it's a Genus Mesoplodon.

Convict Reveals Fox Speech Dictated By Mutineers

JACKSON, Mich., May 5 (AP)—Dr. Vernon Fox's speech congratulating convicts on ending a five-day rebellion at Southern Michigan prison was dictated by the mutinying men themselves, it was revealed Sunday night.

Fox was pledged to deliver the speech and keep its source a secret. That was part of a trade through which the mutineers freed eight hostage guards and surrendered April 24, instead of April 25 as they had agreed previously.

Mutiny leader Earl Ward released Fox, since relieved as assistant deputy warden and prison psychologist, of his pledge of secrecy Sunday.

Fox confirmed Ward's dictation thus: "God, I wouldn't congratulate those guys. Neither would I break my word, once given."

The psychologist said he bowed to Ward's demands in return for the convict moving up the surrender time, explaining that state troopers were preparing to give the prisoners an hour to surrender or face armed storming of their barricaded cell block. The prisoners had threatened to kill their hostages in that event.

Ward gave a note explaining Fox's action to Austin MacCormick, executive director of the Osore Association, a private penal-reform agency, during an interevent.

Fox said Ward demanded the congratulatory message to take himself and his co-leader crazy Jack Hyatt of Leamington, Ont., "off the hook with other inmates" for surrendering earlier than previously agreed.

The state already had agreed to 10 prison reforms demanded by the mutineers, plus a guarantee of no reprisals in the mutiny and general riot in which one convict was slain, nine wounded and $2,000,000 damage done.

Asks Congress Set Up Disaster Insurance

WASHINGTON, May 5 (AP) — President Truman today asked Congress to set up a national system of flood disaster insurance backed by $1,500,000,000 of government funds.

Truman sent with his message to the Senate and House of Representatives a draft of suggested legislation under which the reconstruction Finance Corporation could provide direct insurance or re-insurance of policies written by private companies.

"This draft bill would authorize insurance to be made available for homes, for businesses and farm properties, and for agricultural commodities," Truman said. "It would also establish a maximum amount of insurance for any one person or business of $250,000."

The bill would prohibit the issuance of federal policies in cases where private insurance is "available at reasonable rates."

Shipping Magnate Dies

LONDON, May 5 (Reuters).—The death of Sir Alan Garrett Anderson, 75, British shipping magnate, was announced today. His chief interest was with Anderson, Green & Company, managers of the Orient Line. He also was a director of the Suez Canal Company.

Three Youths Severely Burned Trying To Stop Fire In Kerosene Drum In Oil Yard

CHATHAM, May 5 — (CP)—Three youths were seriously burned and a fourth escaped uninjured Sunday night when they rushed to stop a fire in a kerosene drum in the Imperial Oil yards here.

In hospital with serious burns are Kenneth Rice 14, Larry LaMarsh 11, and Roger Papps 16. Lloyd Howard was not injured.

Police said two other youths had punctured the drum, spilling kerosene from it and set it afire. When they tried to smother it with oily rags it only blazed more. The pair then ran away.

The three who were burned were playing ball in a nearby park when they saw the flames. While they were trying to put the blaze out the drum exploded and hurled Howard about 15 feet. He was uninjured.

The others were caught by the blast and were tossed about 75 feet, their clothing on fire.

William Boisimer, who was passing, grabbed Papps and rolled him on the ground to extinguish the flames. The other youths saw what he was doing and rolled themselves, putting out their blazing clothes.

Two Girl Stowaways Flying Back To U.S.

GUAM, May 5 — (AP). — Two girl stowaways who travelled 6,000 miles by plane to this far Pacific island in search of adventure were on the way back to California today — by plane, of course.

For Jerie McDaniel 26, of Walnut Grove, Calif., and Maxine Allen 23, of Tacoma, Wash., it was a relief. They hitch-hiked out with high hopes but could not find even a grass shack to live in.

And somehow, this bustling naval base looked a far cry from the Hollywood version of a Pacific island.

The two girls left Sunday on board a United States Air Force plane.

They arrived late in April in a B-29 Superfortress, with the help, they said, of two airmen friends.

Experts In Agreement:

Believe Russia Won't Launch Hot War In Near Future

WASHINGTON, May 5 (AP) — A growing impression among top United States military leaders that Russia won't launch a hot war soon appears based partly on a belief that she needs more time to ready her armed forces and economy.

This in addition to more obvious reasons, including the improved condition of the mutual-defence set-up in Western Europe, and the bald fact that Russia has been doing exceedingly well with a cold war of subversion, pressure on weak countries, and promoting a "little" war in Korea.

Over the week-end Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, chief of staff of the combined western defence forces in Europe, pointed up what he and others had said before. He expressed belief that the Russians will not attack this year or in the near future.

Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, has commented that among the reasons the Russians have had for not starting war is the superior atomic stockpile of the U.S., American air power and the collective-security arrangements in Europe. But he added:

"We don't know what the Soviet Imperialists intend to do."

There Bradley was making a distinction between intention and capability.

What are Russia's military capabilities?

Information gleaned from a wide variety of sources, some apparently reliable, include these points:

1. Production of steel still is only about one-quarter of that of the U.S. She probably is deficient in petroleum production.

2. Russia has sought to prepare her European Communist satallites for war, but only Bulgaria seems anywhere near an adequate condition.

3. The Soviet Union's transport and communications system is woefully short of military requirements.

These seem reasonable arguments for believing that Russia might not be ready yet to step out on a Third World War. But no one is brash enough to deny the Soviet army and air force aren't formidable fighting machines right now.

F-M Disease Spreads To Third Herd

REGINA, May 5—(CP)—Foot-and-mouth disease spread to a third W[illegible]burn district livestock herd du[illegible] weekend and 111 animals were sh[illegible]t and buried. Today federal veterinarians hoped to begin disinfecting and cleaning-up operations.

Twenty-two herd of cattle and 89 hogs were destroyed in the latest outbreak on a farm about five miles south of the original Weyburn infection and four miles from the town. Weyburn is 75 miles southeast of Regina.

The animals had been under close observation as a suspected contact herd and federal officials took quick action when the disease was clinically diagnosed Sunday morning. By noon many of the animals were standing in the grave.

Twelve head of cattle were from a neighboring farm and had been pastured on the farm where the infection was discovered. These animals had not been with the swine and other cattle in the barn.

Total Slaughter Count

The slaughter brought the Weyburn district aggregate to 248 cattle and 162 hogs and southern Saskatchewan's total to 1,742 since the first infection was reported Feb. 25.

The animals in the Weyburn area have come from three infected premises and four contact herds. In all, the infected premises number 28 and the contacts 12.

Meanwhile, disinfection of the first-infected Weyburn premises was completed and cleaning up of the second-infected farm almost finished.

Federal officials reported no sign of infection in the community pasture herd of 823 cattle, thought in danger as posible contacts, and were hopeful that the disease would not break out there.

Four Red Jets Downed In Fight

SEOUL, Korea, May 5 (AP) — United States Sabre-jet pilots destroyed four Communist jets and two propellor driven planes in aerial dogfights over northeastern Korea Sunday, the Fifth Air Force reported today.

There were three clashes in the area just south of the Yalu river boundary between Korea and Manchuria. Four Red jets were shot down as 30 Sabres jumped a 12-plane MIG formation. Earlier, Sabre pilots swooped down on two low-flying Red planes of conventional design and downed them.

In a third scrap, two Australian Meteor-jet pilots tangled with two MIG 15s and reported one MIG probably destroyed.

The Sunday air victories were tempered somewhat by the air force announcement that Col. Albert W. Schinz, deputy wing-commander of the 51st fighter-interceptor wing, disappeared in aerial combat May 1.

No Signs Of Headway In Truce Session

MUNSAN, Korea, May 5 (AP)—Allied and Communist truce delegates produced no signs of headway in an 11-minute secret session today. It appeared that both sides had run out of things to say in the Korean armistice deadlock.

North Korean Gen. Nam Il, chief Red delegate, spoke from notes for nine of the 11 minutes. Then he proposed a recess until Tuesday at 11 a.m. (10 p.m. EDT Monday).

Vice-Admiral C. Turner Joy, head of the Allied delegation, emerged from the conference tent and said:

"I am sorry but we are still in executive (secret) session and I can tell you nothing. We meet again Tuesday."

C.C.F. Blast Gov't For Not Aiding Drama

TORONTO, May 5 (CP)—Government failure to subsidize the Dominion Drama Festival was criticized by the Ontario council of the C.C.F., at a meeting Sunday.

"Once again the government has revealed its contempt for the real interests of the people of Canada," said a council resolution.

The D.D.F. at its 13th annual competition in Saint John last week decided to accept a $15,000 grant from a distillery company (Calvert).

The C.C.F. resolution saw "presumbably commercial motives" behind the grant. It urged the federal government to change its mind and make funds available to the D.D.F.

Another resolution demanded proper marketing and floor price legislation to protect the farmers' income. It asked that steps be taken to get rid of farm surplusses either through outright gifts to the needy peoples of the world, or through long-term loans.

Find Little Headway On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, May 5 — (CP) — Prices made little headway today in early afternoon stock market dealings after opening profit-taking.

Western Oils were hardest hit as an early wave of selling dropped the Exchange's index about a point. Base metals also eased and industrials fell back after a feeble rally. Golds were mixed.

Heath, a penny gold, featured ragged trading as it added pennies while more than 160,000 shares changed hands. Activity followed rumors of development in the company's Western oil interests.

Papers, refining oils and textiles drew firm industrial support while utilities, steels, banks and manufacturing companies slipped.

Western oil losses ranged from pennies to the $1 dip of Calgary and Edmonton. Anglo-Canadian, Calvan Consolidated, Pacific Petroleum and Western Leaseholds traded lower.

Base metals posted a majority of moderate declines. Dominion Asbestos, Opemiska, Quemont, Steep Rock and Yale Lead eased.

Safe Stolen As Thieves Enter Co-Op Garages

WARKWORTH, May 5 (ENS) — A safe, containing papers and cheques was taken from Bowen's Garage at the south end of the village Friday night. Provincial Police are investigating this and two other break-ins which occurred Friday night. It is believed the work of the same persons.

Entry was gained to the Co-op by forcing a rear door, but nothing appeared to be missing. An electric clock is the only thing missing from Roy Wragg's service station on the north side of Warkworth pond on the Hastings road, the third place which was entered.

OPP constable Donald W. Erskine is investigating.

Wauketa Raised

TRENTON, May 5.—The tug Wauketa, which plied Stony Lake, northeast of Peterborough for 14 years, was raised recently in the first salvage operation in Trenton harbor in many years. The 85-foot tug sank this spring when she sprang a leak. It is understood she will be towed to Hamilton for repairs before being used for ferry service on a northern chain of lakes.

Dozen Fires

They tossed the sandwiches into the air.

There was indication of a renewal of the wild rioting. One policeman said "we'll let them work off steam; they're not making any trouble."

Believed Ringleaders

The 15 who tried to start trouble again today were believed to be ringleaders of Sunday's outbreak, when nearly 600 prisoners went on an orgy of destruction.

There was also some danger that more than 800 patients in a mental-hospital wing might take part in any fresh outbreak. This section is occupied by both criminal and non-criminal patients, as a provincial institution for the mentally ill. A few of the mental wing got mixed up in Sunday night's mele.

Director Hilaire Beauregard of the provincial police said his officers concentrate Sunday night on rounding up these patients.

Beauregard said the present situation is not dangerous. He said reports that tear gas had been used at any time since the outbreak were incorrect.

Throughout the early morning hours guards searched for weapons. There were reports that butcher knives had disappeared from the prison kitchen and straight razors from the barber shop.

No Official Estimate

There was still no official estimate up to early afternoon today of the damage caused by the rioters who set a dozen small fires, burned mattresses in their cells and smashed furniture, dining room tables and equipment in administrative offices they could reach. Unofficial estimates of the damage ran as high as $400,000.

Early-morning reports said some of the prisoners had drunk hair tonic and rubbing alcohol stolen from the barber shop and infirmary.

The canteen was raided at the height of Sunday's outbreak and cigarettes and chocolates passed freely about in the jail yard.

There appeared to be no rancour either Sunday night or today between the rioters and the jail guards.

Only a comparatively small number of guards was said to have been on duty—the usual Sunday quota—when the riot exploded in the prison dining room.

No Loss Of Life

There was no loss of life in the riot.

Gasoline obtained from storerooms, into which the rioters smashed, was used to set off the fires in scattered parts of the jail.

Some 200 firemen called to the jail worked two hours to put out the flames. Three small fires broke out after the prisoners had blocks. At time they broke into song, then they cursed the food.

Not Hardened Criminals

There are no "hardened criminals," as the term is generally accepted in Bordeaux jail. All are short-termers.

For nearly five hours Sunday the big jail, at the northeastern limits of Montreal, was in a turmoil.

The blow-off came at the late-day meal in the prison dining room about 4 p.m. A mass protest over the quality of food sparked the riot which the prisoners themselves finally called off.

The riot call brought scores of provincial and city police. But they stayed outside the iron grill gate leading into the jail yard until the prisoners tired of shouting and capering about.

From the yard, prisoners fired rocks and other missiles at the police.

Given Promise

They continuously-shouted protests over the food brought a promise that good food was on the way.

Inspector Norbert Labbe of the provincial police shouted through the gate that fruit would be provided as well.

That brought results. The tumult slowly died down.

Police moved through the gates carrying truncheons but made no attempt to force the prisoners back into the main prison building.

The prisoners began going inside of their own accord. The last entered the building shortly before 9 p.m.

The rioting was over but the prisoners milled about inside the jail until hours after midnight. The promised fruit arrived—crates of oranges and apples brought to the prison in police cars.

But there was no place for many of the prisoners to sleep. One of the six cell wings was strewn with wreckage. Locks on cell doors had been broken, mattresses burned and cell furniture smashed.

Precautionary Measure

As a precautionary measure, all arms in the prison arsenal were removed about midnight. More than a score of policemen raced into the main building and came out carrying guns, bayonets and boxes of ammunition. All were stored in a house near the outer-wall entrance.

At 1 a.m. two big police vans rolled up and about 50 prisoners were put in them and whisked off to provincial police headquarters to spend the night in cells there.

Earlier three men awaiting trial on murder charges were taken away in a car.

Guards and provincial police remained in the prison, watching carefully every move the prisoners made as they roamed about. Some went to their undamaged cells to sleep, doubling up with buddies. Others were still at work

Two guards and a prisoner were taken to hospital in downtown Montreal. Their injuries were not serious.

Dr. Zenon Lesage, jail governor, said an inquiry would be held. He and Sheriff Paul Hurteau were at work today to establish causes of the outbreak. They will report to the provincial government.

Throughout the night prisoners roamed about some of the cell

The uproar and smoke billowing high above the black prison dome brought 100 policemen and more than 200 firemen with 35 pieces of equipment.

Most policemen went first to a small building near the main gate and were said to have discarded firearms there.

The prisoners, all serving terms less than two years, cheered and made way for firemen. There was no interference with the work of the firefighters, but the prisoners jumped on one of the fire trucks and kept clanging the bell.

The last time there was trouble in Bordeaux Jail was in 1938, when five criminally insane prisoners shot their way to freedom with rifles stolen from guards. All were recaptured later.

Step Up Search Materials Atomic Energy

OTTAWA—(CP)—If you can lay hands on a Geiger counter and like outdoor life, you're ready to set up as a uranium hunter.

It helps if you can find your way around in the bush, but it doesn't matter if you can't tell pitchblende from thucholite.

All these ideas of the ease of pursuing radioactive minerals are set out by the Mines Department in a new booklet aimed at stepping up Canada's known reserves of atomic energy materials by smoothing the way for prospectors.

As the booklet sets out, the Geiger counter has become the great leveller among atomic prospectors. The little machine whose clicking betrays nearby radioactivity has put the novice and the veteran almost in the same class.

Anyone, the book says, who can turn a switch and change a battery can operate a counter. It does all the work.

"Perhaps the most important qualifications for a uranium prospector are: that he should have one of these instruments, should enjoy outdoor life and should have some knowledge of bush-craft," says the booklet.

Any resident of Canada, including non-citizens, can get in on the hunt, and he has a big field to pick from. The best prospects are in the pre-Cambrian rocks of the Canadian shield, a huge horseshoe curving through sections of the Northwest Territories, Saskatchewan, Manitoba, Ontario and Quebec. There are, too, some radioactive occurrencies in British Columbia and Nova Scotia.

Once the Geiger machine points to what may be a strike, the government goes to work for the prospector. He gets free assays on radio-active materials, and usually the results are mailed out to him the same day the samples are received.

If he's in a hurry, he can even get the results telephoned. But there the official beneficence ends. The government reverses the charges.

Jobless Father Shoots Wife, Then Suicides

TORONTO, May 5 (CP)—Mrs. Murray Mitchell, 36, shot and wounded Saturday night by her husband a few minutes before he took his own life, may never be able to use her right arm again.

Doctors said today that the charge from a 12-gauge shotgun ripped the shoulder muscles from her arm after tearing off one of her fingers. She is in hospital in serious condition.

Mitchell, 40, borrowed $27 from his wife Saturday to buy a shotgun. A few hours later he fired it at her as she fled along the street. Then he shot himself to death.

Police described the shooting as attempted murder and suicide. It climaxed months of unemployment, excessive drinking and domestic troubles.

Police said Mitchell and his family came to Toronto from Halifax a year ago. He had been unemployed for five months.

The family was to have returned to Halifax by car at midnight Saturday. The shooting took place a few minutes before they were to leave.

Park St. Baptist Observes 57th Anniversary

Appropiate to the beginning of the 58th year of worship at Park St. Baptist Church, Rev. Dixon A. Burns of Toronto spoke Sunday night on the Psalmist's prayer: "Wilt Thou revive use again that Thy people may rejoice in Thee", and associated with it the words to Nicodemus; "Ye must be born again".

God's truth still gleamed in this age of materialism, Rev. Mr. Burns said. "Every time you see a person converted and a life changed by divine grace, you have evidence that God is operating spiritually and morally in this world." And as the harvest comes in the natural order by co-operation with definite laws, so also are the returns in the spiritual world. However, if there is little sowing, there is bound to be little reaping; little labor, little reward. The Bible makes that evident over and over again.

"The main purpose the church is intended to fill is to bring us face to face with the reality of God as present in Christ. We must keep clear before us that no other institution is specifically charged with the care of the souls of men than the church of Jesus Christ."

In the attaining of revived spiritual life, the congregation should realize the importance and necessity of co-operation with the minister. It was not a business of special occasion, something for a week here and a week there. It was for the whole year round.

Rev. Mr. Burns recalled the scene in the Cotter's Saturday Night of the humble family's preparations for Sunday. That was when Sunday should begin in spirit in the Christian family. "Too often we are at fault. We don't bring enough to our services. We must know that we get more out of our services if we put more into them. And by full co-ordination of our acts and efforts in co-operation with God we can succeed in building up His church among all our people. We get what we go after. In this 58th year of the existence of this congregation God will grant the spirit of revival and will come into our lives when we live in conformity with His divine will."

"Your unsurrendered will and mine is an obstacle to the fulfillment of God's work on earth." The question challenging every member was: "What do you put into the church of the living God?"

Rev. E. J. Whan, minister at Park St. Church, prayed inclusively that God would guide the present third generation of the church that they would be moved by the spirit of sacrifice, devoting time and energy to the responsibility which had come to them that the work of God in the community and the preaching of His gospel would be continued at a high level.

Rev. Mr. Whan thanked the members of the choir and the organist, Mr. Adam Hawley, for the music which they had prepared for the celebration of the church's 57th anniversary.

Parliamentary Expert Will Visit Canada

ABINGER HAMMER, Surrey, England, May 5, (CP) — Baron Campion, British expert on parliamentary procedure, said today he will sail for Montreal Tuesday to make a 2½-month study of federal and provincial parliaments.

Yord Campion, 69, said he will visit Ottawa, all provincial capitals and, if time allows, leading cities in the Maritime provinces. He will complete a study of parliamentary procedure in Commonwealth countries which he hopes to make into a book.

Lord Campion, first Baron of Bowes, retired as clerk of the British House of Commons in 1948 after 42 years' service there.

No Cattle At Shows

LONDON, May 5 (Reuters) — Spring agricultural shows are being held without cattle, sheep or pigs this year because of restrictions on the movement of cattle over almost half Britain to stop the spread of foot-and-mouth disease. The council of the Newark Agricultural Show decided Sunday to omit these animals from exhibits in the Midlands market town's event next Friday and Saturday.

Typographical Union Oldest On Continent At 100

The International Typographical Union (AFL), believed to be the oldest international Union in North America, is today marking its 100th anniversary.

No major celebrations will be held until the ITU centennial convention in August. It will be in Cincinnati, the city where the union was founded.

Harold Dormer, president of Local 248, ITU, said the Peterborough local was making no special observance of the occasion. However all union stationery will be marked with the centennial stamp.

Members of Local 248 include printers employed by the Examiner, Review Printing Co., the CGE, and Peterborough Printing Ltd. There are also a number of pensioners, making the local about 35 members strong.

90,000 Members

In its life span of 100 years, the ITU has grown from a few printers, representing 10 locals, to a membership of nearly 90,000. Seventeen years after the old National Typographical Union was founded—in 1869—the existing locals linked up with Canadian printing unions and the name of the parent body was changed from "National" to "International".

An impressive list of accomplishments is claimed by the I.T.U.:

In 1859 they pioneered in the fight against tuberculosis and other respiratory diseases; 1865 they proposed an eight-hour day; 1869 they demanded open membership for women, and required equal pay for equal work; 1870 Miss Augusta Lewis of New York was elected corresponding secretary, the first woman to be chosen an officer of a national or international union; 1879 the I.T.U. started action to organize the American Federation of Labor, and it was formed next year; 1886 adopted the familiar trade union label so the public could tell the job was done by union craftsmen; 1892 Union Printers Home formally opened at Colorado Springs for afflicted, aged and infirm printers; 1919 the 44-hour hour week became effective, and in 1933 the five-day week as accepted in the United States.

Suspended In 1937

During the organization period of the C.I.O. in 1937 the I.T.U. refused to be assessed by the A.F.L. to fight the industrial organization and was suspended because of this decision. In 1944 they were taken back into the A.F.L. after establishing union "autonomy."

On this, their 100th anniversary, the I.T.U. say their union has been "a great social force for progress and betterment, as well as the oldest and most democratic trade union in the world."

Couple Jailed For Tying Up, Robbing Old Man

COBOURG, May 5 — (ENS)— The man and woman who pleaded guilty to charges of robbery with violence and car theft were sentenced today by Magistrate R. B. Baxter.

Mrs. Elaine Pont and Peter Rutledge, 27, were charged after they allegedly trussed up and robbed 83-year-old Robert Alexander of Hastings after a drinking bout in a Hasting hotel. They were arrested later in a stolen car at Cobourg.

Rutledge got 12 months definite and nine indefinite for robbery with violence, and a similar sentence for car theft.

Elaine Pont was given sentences of 12 months definite and six indefinite on both charges, and an additional six months definite for fraud. All sentences are to be concurrent.

Fraud Charge.

The fraud charge against the woman was in connection with the obtaining by false pretences of goods worth $38 from William Masterson of Hastings.

Magistrate Baxter recommended Rutledge be transferred to Mimico reformatory for treatment as an alcoholic.

The pair was arrested outside a Cobourg hotel April 23 the day Mr. Alexander, a pensioner, was beaten, tied and robbed of $16, the entire contents of his wallet.

Police learned later that Mr. Alexander had been invited to a hotel beverage room by Mrs. Pont. There they were joined by Rutledge, and Rutledge, it was alleged borrowed $2 from Mr. Alexander.

When they left the hotel, Mrs. Pont went to Mr. Alexander's home with him. They were followed by Rutledge, who grabbed the elderly man, tied a suit of underwear around his head, bound his hands and feet with sash cord and proceeded to rifle his pockets.

Mr. Alexander claimed Rutledge punched him four or five times.

The night of April 23, Rutledge and Mrs. Pont were arrested, after the car they were driving ran out of gas. It was owned by Gordon Johnston, of Hastings.

Belleville Youths Held After Accident

COBOURG, May 5 — (ENS) — Alleged to have been stolen Saturday at Trenton, a light English car crashed into the ditch while travelling at top speed just east of Cobourg at four o'clock Sunday morning.

Close on the tail of the fleeing car, which had been spotted at Port Hope, were provincial constables Frank Clough and Vic Piper in the patrol car.

Occupants of the Trenton car were Ralph Goddin, 19, and Ross Smith, 18, of Belleville. They were taken in custody and held pending the arrival of Trenton police. The English car was badly damaged when it went into the ditch.

Abandoned Cobourg Ferry Useful

COBOURG, May 5, — (ENS) — Action of the mayor and town council in arranging with the C.N.R. to leave the steel intact at the car ferry slip is going to pay off, even though there are no car ferries running now. Just in case the ferry slip and pier might be needed in the future, the town council obtained the consent of the railway last year to leave the steel where it was.

However repairs are to be made this summer to the cement pier just west of the ferry dock, which carries several pipe lines to the various gas company depots on shore. Due to the fact that the ferry slip can still be used, the oil tankers will nose into the slip and moor to the ferry dock, with the result that gasoline deliveries will not be interrupted.

Hot And Cold Steel

Canadians should not be unheedful of the situation in the American steel industry. Not only is co-operative western defence dependent on American steel; Canada's industrial fabric for war and peace must still rely on steel imports from across the border. If there were a serious stoppage in American steel production, Canada would in a few months be as crippled as the United States.

There are two related issues. One is whether or not there will be a strike. There was no strike on Tuesday morning, there was one Wednesday, there was none Friday. Workers were on-again, off-again, on-again, according to the dictates of the union which in turn responded to the dictates of courts whether the U.S. Government or the owners were theoretically operating the mills.

* * *

The other issue is constitutional, in which Canada has no direct interest. Did the President have the authority to do as he did a fortnight ago and "seize" the mills in order to avert a strike? The companies took his seizure to court and the district judge decided that the Presidential order was without authority in law or the constitution. The next day the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals put the strikebound mills back in possession of the government, pending an appeal by the government to the Supreme Court. It is, for U.S. management-labour relations, a historic case.

* * *

Living so near the Americans and within daily sound of their activities, Canadians have grown accustomed to Presidential seizures of mines, railways, mills, factories and the like in order to avert a strike or to put an end to one that has already begun. The theory is that when the Government takes over, the men are working for the nation and therefore should not and cannot morally strike. Because Canadians are used to this procedure from the first days of President Roosevelt down to the present does not lessen the fact that such a measure is unheard-of in Canada. If the Canadian Government were to seize an industry, on the pretext of a national emergency, or for the national good, the Canadian used to parliamentary procedures and limitations of state rights would howl about dictatorship. Many Americans are beginning to feel that government seizures are too frequent, too dictatorial, and damaging to democratic processes. So President Truman's order to take over the steel mills is being examined by the highest court in the land.

* * *

American union leaders seem to prefer government control. Unions have a strong voice in politics, particularly in Democratic politics; they expect to get more favourable treatment from a Democratic Government which has to go to the polls this year, than from ordinary recourse to bargaining with management. They have ordered the workers back to their jobs now that the Government is again in theoretical charge of the industry. But these leaders cannot be blind to the dictatorial potentials of this Presidential instrument. They cannot believe that it is democratic. True, the Government is responsible to Congress, but the President is not. He is responsible directly to the voters, but only once every four years. During the four years he can be as dictatorial as the courts allow.

* * *

[illegible] control of the industry and authorizes pay increases as demanded; or whether the government has to give way to a court order and return the industry and a strike ensues, the affair will be costly. If the strike is settled only after weeks and months, a critical [illegible] will result. If it is settled quickly but only by large increases in wages, steel will rise again in price, and another round of inflation will have begun. Canada would be caught in it, too.

South African Constitutional Question

In the United States, Congress cannot change the American constitution; and Acts of Congress are susceptible to court interpretation. The American Constitution is a sort of Bill of Rights, standing above the parliament. There are no such Bills of Rights in Canada or the Union of South Africa, no rigid constitutions. A parliament can change whatever its predecessors have done and even basic constitutional acts, if it so desires. The Statute of Westminster established this absolute right of the Dominions to run their own affairs.

The South African courts cannot curtail the sovereignty of the Union's Parliament. When the Appeal Court invalidated the Malan Government's segregation acts it did so not because it was setting itself above Parliament. It invalidated them because the Malan Bill was not an act of Parliament at all, the Court found. Canada has basic clauses in the B.N.A. Act providing, for instance, for two official languages. The South African Act of Union has a specific provision that in certain circumstances—for instance when legislation disqualifying voters in the Cape province by reason of their race or colour is under consideration, Parliament consists of both houses sitting together and that the legislation shall be passed only if a two-thirds majority of the joint houses affirms it.

The Malan bill to segregate and franchise voters according to race and colour comes under this "entrenching" clause. The Appeal Court found that his legislation was invalid because it was not an Act of Parliament at all, that it was not passed by "Parliament." Dr. Malan did not have a two-thirds majority. He did not call the Senate and the Assembly into joint session. He merely passed the act through each separately by ordinary majorities.

J. W. Patten, assistant editor of the Johannesburg Star, has written trenchantly about this matter; his words are reprinted elsewhere on this page. Mr. Patten speaks for many other South African whites who are "aghast" at the action of the Malan government. And it should be remembered how little representative that Government is of all the people.

Half a million South Africans, including Cape Province's 50,000 half-caste voters, voted against Malan in the last (1948) elections. Only 400,000 voted for him. But South Africa's electorial laws favour rural constituencies in their allocation of seats. Afrikaners are dominant among white voters in rural areas. The Malan Government thereby got 70 seats, to the 65 of the Opposition. A small majority indeed, of seats; none of votes. And the 8,500,000 blacks and the 300,000 Indians have no vote at all. The 1,100,000 Cape Coloured (mulattoes) have had only a limited franchise; for instance in Cape Province they could vote, but only for a white candidate. Such is the very limited support of a limited electorate which the Malan Government has.

The Forthright Man Of Maryland

A thing that perturbs us mildly at election campaign time in this country is the apparent reluctance of candidates to tell the people what they can do and how good they are. Their sponsors and supporters try to do well by them and quite often succeed, but even then descriptions rely mainly on generalities such as "utmost integrity and outstanding ability." If a candidate has a record in office, he is quick to recall his accomplishments, but he leaves the reader to deduce the existence of the qualities that made these possible.

Occasionally, we admit, Canadian candidates publish terse lists of educational attainments, professional status, outstanding accomplishmentsand one or two other qualifications of record, but they usually manage to convey the impression that someone had to twist their arm to ensure publication. Admittedly, a few candidates not averse to sounding a blast on their own trumpets appear now and then; so do men who agree that "modesty is merely a confession of the deficiency it indicates" and who frankly state their qualifications. But we cannot recall a Canadian candidate as forthright as the man of Maryland who is running for Congress in the Fifth District of that State:

> "Auditor and accountant . . . considered one of the nation's most eminent authorities on American institutions . . . practical and scientific farmer, importer, breeder, exhibitor and exporter of fine cattle, having made Maryland famous as the home of the 'Maryland type' Devon cattle . . . economist, statistician, historian, sociologist, rhetorician, especially trained in legislative phraseologies . . . Possessor of unblemished character, pleasing personality, magnetic demeanor, broadminded sense of comprehension and conciliatory manner calculated to win support through co-operation . . . Based upon popular concensus my general erudition, social punctilio and [illegible] order."

The electors of that Congressional district may rest assured that they have been fully informed regarding the merits and qualities of this candidate. Furthermore, we have somehow gathered the impression that it was not necessary to [illegible] land to force him to make these things public.

NOTES AND COMMENT

Ottawa had a hypothetical atomic bomb attack at the end of a four-day civil defence conference recently. Atomized words to bombard Parliament into paying for civic Ottawa's civil defence?

Musical Notes

by PETER PIPER

AT THE time of writing this article the Macmillan-Mazzoleni controversy is still shrouded in a blaze of inspissated obsurity. The corpse-littered battlefield on College Street is veiled in smoke, and it is still hard to see who is fighting whom and on behalf of what. Sir Ernest's dignified statement to the press was a masterpiece of double meaning.

There have already been a number of inspired guesses as to the cause of all the trouble. It has been suggested that it is a conflict between the Canadian and the European (especially Central European) parties in the musical world of Toronto. My own opinion is that the issues are much more involved; it is a clash of personalities just as much as one of principles. Regrettable as the controversy is, it should prove an opportunity for bringing disagreements into the open, rather than allow them to fester underground. In the meanwhile we shall doubtless read a good deal of rash statements and hard words.

It is gratifying to note in the statement from the board of directors of the Conservatory which was published Friday that contrary to earlier reports the Faculty of Music is not to be divorced from the University. It is also a step in the right direction to institute the principle of a guaranteed salary basis for teachers of the conservatory instead of the present system whereby the teacher is paid a percentage of the fees paid by pupils. It is hoped that eventually there will be a uniform charge to pupils, who will then be assigned to teachers in accordance with their promise and their needs. Under the present system the pupil selects his own teacher from a list in which teachers are classified according to their fees, which vary from $12.50 to $55 per term of ten half-hour lessons. Assuming that the most expensive teachers are the best (though this does not always follow) it appears that a poor but gifted student will have to be content with a mediocre teacher while a well-to-do dilettante can waste the time of a first-rate teacher.

The proposed scheme of reorganization looks well on paper, but even institutions of learning are made of flesh and blood, and unless the best talent available can be induced to work together in a spirit of harmony and cooperation it is feared that the cause of music may suffer. It is unfortunate that such a far-reaching scheme should be inaugurated with the resignation of two such prominent figures as Sir Ernest Macmillan and Mr. Mazzoleni.

A COUPLE of weeks ago I promised my readers a few impressions of the annual convention of the Ontario Registered Music Teachers' Association, which met in Hamilton last month. Having never attended a convention before I was extremely curious to find out what actually happened at these functions. Several years ago I had seen a Laurel and Hardy film in which these two comedians attended a convention and got mixed up in a good deal of hotel-room parties with lashings of liquor and bevies of attractive young ladies. I need hardly say that there was nothing of this sort in Hamilton: music teachers are serious and hard-working even at conventions. In fact the amount of work got through in the short space of three days was prodigious.

The pace was terrific; lecture succeeded lecture with scarcely a break from nine o' clock in the morning till late at night. If, as usually happened, an item overran its prescribed period in the morning, it put everything else back, and delays accumulated. Even mealtimes were solemnized by post-prandial oratory. On Wednesday night the general proceedings ended just before midnight, after which the Council met and continued its deliberations into the small hours of Thursday morning.

✧ ✧ ✧

WE HEARD some very good lectures and speeches. Sir Ernest Macmillan spoke on the importance of stimulating the intellectual curiosity of pupils, and while he laid due stress on the normal musical curriculum he felt that some time should be spent in exploring some of the bypaths of music, quoting the old proverb, "The longest way round is the shortest way home". Speaking on the subject of the mechanical reproduction of music he pointed out how much easier it is nowadays, merely by pushing a button, to enlarge one's knowledge of all types of music, than when it was in his young days. Nevertheless there is a real danger of one's enjoyment becoming more and more passive. He proposed a very sound rule which is, alas, only too frequently neglected: when listening to the radio or gramophone, one should give one's whole attention or else switch off.

OTHER speakers included Dr. Pelletier, who spoke inspiringly of the relation between music and the other arts, Mr. Sandwell, former editor of Saturday Night, who examined whimsically the economic basis of the music teaching profession, Clara Salisbury Baker, who illustrated her talk on speech training with cruelly amusing imi[illegible] and Dr. Dunlop, the Minister of Education, who endeavoured to dispel the impression that he was hostile to music in the schools as being one of the "frills". There were also concerts, lecture-recitals, scholarship competitions, discussion groups, a ballet display and of course the annual general meeting, at which many things affecting the welfare of the music teaching profession were discussed. One of these is the thorny topic of fees.

While it is true that there are a few teachers, mainly in Toronto, who can command fairly high fees it is equally true that the average scale of fees amongst the vast majority of music teachers is very low. It is impossible to enforce a minimum charge throughout the province owing to the variations in the cost of living in different parts of the province. A fair minimum in a rural area would be ridiculously small in Toronto, for instance. Moreover a spell of inflation or deflation would make nonsense of a "fair figure". More important than this, however, is the obvious fact that such a minimum would apply only to members of the association, leaving the field open to non-members to undercut.

Naturally it is a false economy for parents to send their children to an unqualified teacher at 50 cents a lesson, though this simple fact is not too generally realized. There is also the problem of the charlatan. He often uses a foreign-sounding name or sports a bogus degree or two. He makes extravagant claims, and gullible pupils flock to him for paid encouragement. At present there is no way of restraining such people, who bring disrepute on the music teaching profession as a whole.

✧ ✧ ✧

I would like to add my brief tribute to Leo Smith, who died a few days ago. Latterly he was music critic to the Toronto Globe and Mail. Though suffering from indifferent health he contributed some wise and temperate articles on musical topics. For a man of his gifts he remained to an unusual extent in the background. He was noted as a cellist, but unlike many string players he was a composer and musical theoretician. His little book on the rudiments of music is well known to many an aspiring young pupil and may prove to be his most lasting memorial. His compositions, written in a conservative style, have never reached wide audiences.

SPRING PARADE

South Africa's Entrenching Clause

(From an article by J. W. Patten of the Johannesburg 'Star')

The Act of Union, like the Union itself, was a product of the British Parliament in form only. Both were in fact the product of the National Convention of 1909, a convention representative of the four South African colonies—the Cape, the Orange Free State, Transvaal and Natal—which are now the four provinces of the Union. Union emerged from long and earnest negotiation, much bargaining and give and take, and the result often hung in the balance.

The Cape would not have come into the Union if the other colonies had not agreed to the entrenchment of its particular form of franchise, without color distinction, which they did not share. The entrenchment, now challenged, was therefore built into the foundations of the Union, as was the similar entrenchment of the equal status of the two languages, Afrikaans and English. Without that, too, there would have been no Union.

It is in the light of that historical background, so recent as the life of nations go that there are many still living who saw the bargains made, that the Prime Minister's legal quibble appears so shocking to a majority in South Africa. Legally he is trying to saw off the limb that Parliament is sitting on. Morally he is attacking the very foundations of the mutual good faith which made Union possible.

But the moral offence is more serious than this statement would make it appear. Dr. Malan is not merely trying to go back on a contract concluded more than 40 years ago; he is also going back on very explicit assurances given at the time of the Statute of Westminster itself. For the possibility of these legal questionings was recognized at the time when the Statute was presented to Parliament for approval. It was then pointed out that the Statute might be held to endanger the entrenched clauses of the Constitution.

The Prime Minister of the day, General J. B. M. Hertzog, founder and leader of the Nationalist Party of which Dr. Malan is now head, dismissed such fears as unfounded, but nevertheless accepted a specific resolution of Parliament affirming that the entrenchments were unaffected.

Dr. Malan was then a member of General Hertzog's Cabinet and raised no objection. Indeed some of his present colleagues took part in the debate at that time, his Minister of Justice, Mr. Swart, in particular, declaring with indignation that this was an obligation of honour which no one could dream of repudiating.

That resolution and those speeches will be found in the records of Parliament. Today they are dismissed as the "dead hand of the past" and it is argued that no Parliament can bind its successors.

Is it any wonder, therefore, that many people in South Africa look aghast at this disregard of past contracts and solemn promises, and examine their own liberties, which have hitherto seemed secure, with a new eye? Current assurances, for example, that the equality of English and Afrikaans will be preserved have an unconvincing ring.

Mr. Diefenbaker Wins

Political manoeuvring on all sides marks the House of Commons debate over the production of documents relating to the outbreak of foot and mouth disease last winter among western herds. Mr. Diefenbaker, as Mr. Gardiner remarked, is seeking political advantage in trying to force the Minister of Agriculture to produce all the papers. But what is Mr. Gardiner doing? He is stalling, still, he says, trying to "sort the documents out," explaining that they should be produced not in the House of Commons but before the agricultural committee.

The weakness in Mr. Gardiner's case is that the public is entitled to know the facts. Only a handful of politically-minded people cares whether Grit or Tory or C.C.F. gets capital out of the documents now being withheld. A very much larger group simply wants to know if the Dominion health of animals branch was properly on the job when the first symptoms were reported from the herds around Regina. This, the taxpayers are entitled to know, for it is their money which is being spent,—not that of Mr. Gardiner or the Liberal party. . .

As to the question of who gets the political capital out of the Diefenbaker-Gardiner exchanges, the answer is that Mr. Diefenbaker has won. He has put Mr. Gardiner into the position of withholding, if not hiding, the facts, and the public will come, if it has not already done so, to the conclusion that there is something dead under the Liberal barn.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And the Lord God planted a garden eastward in Eden; and there he put the man whom he had formed . . . And the Lord God said, It is not good that the man should be alone; I will make him an help meet for him. And out of the ground the Lord God formed every beast of the field, and every fowl of the air; and brought them unto Adam to see what he would call them: and whatsoever Adam called every living creature, that was the name thereof. And Adam gave names to all cattle, and to the fowl of the air, and to every beast of the field: but for Adam there was not found an help meet for him.

And the Lord caused a deep sleep to fall upon Adam, and he slept: and he took one of his ribs, and closed up the flesh instead thereof; and the rib, which the Lord God had taken from man, made he a woman, and brought her unto the man. And Adam said, This is now bone of my bones, and flesh of my flesh: she shall be called Woman, because she was taken out of Man. (Gen. 2: 8, 18-23.)

Letter To The Editor

HIGH COST OF LUMBER

Sir. In your edition of the Examiner, May 1st, a column regarding the building of homes. I would like to say as a carpenter the lumber firms are to blame and not labour as mentioned for high costs.

For instance I am enclosing a receipt from a Lindsay firm regarding cost of two pieces of pine. Another instance, a Peterborough firm charged me $1.20 for a curtain pole 1⅜" x 8ft. long made of B.C. fir, but another Peterborough firm charged me 65c for the same thing. Now is this not discouraging to the builder as well as the consumer?

I have been a reader of your paper for 15 years, taking it steadily from four carrier boys or girls. I would like this explained through your column.

Yours sincerely,
GEORGE SMITH

Bethany, P.O.

(Ed. Note: Some people say that the high cost of house-building is due to high interest rates charged for mortgages. Take your pick: high cost of labour, high cost of material, or 5-7 per cent.)

Spring in Newfoundland

(St. John's (Nfld.) News, April 18)

Notre Dame Bay is normally free of ice by the first week of May when Spring trade gets a special fillip. A good southwesterly breeze is needed to move the Arctic ice out of the bay and a few warm, sunny days are wanted to break up the bay ice. But there is reasonable hope that within another two weeks or so the first coastal steamers will be able to sail on the opening of the northern routes.

The salt codfishery still has an uncertain outlook so far as the extent of operations goes. Much may depend upon the kind of prospects that will be foreseeable early in May and upon how much alternative employment may be open to those who prefer work at wages to the chances of the fishery.

All these wonderings are part of Spring in Newfoundland.

Show Preference For Montreal Boxing Talent

VANCOUVER, May (CP). — Half the members of Canada's Olympic games boxing team carry a made-in-Montreal stamp.

Montrealers were awarded three of six places on the squad by a national selection committee which wrangled for nearly four hours before reaching agreement early Sunday morning.

Boxers from Vancouver, Ottawa, and Winnipeg got the other berths.

The selections followed the crowning of 10 champions Saturday night at the finals of the combined Canadian Boxing championships and Olympic trials.

All those ticketed for Helsinki are champions, with featherweight Len Walters of Vancouver at the top of the committee's "Order of Merit."

Next comes lightweight Clayton Kenny of Ottawa and then the Montreal trio—light-welterweight Roy Keenan, middleweight Bob Malouf of Montreal and light-middleweight Charles Chase.

Heavyweight James Aunders of Winnipeg completes the list.

Names Nine Boxers

The committee named nine boxers of what it considers "Olympic calibre." Following the top six, and also championship winners, are welterweight Jack Butula of Kimberley, B.C., flyweight Buddy Pearson of Vancouver and bantamweight Bob Shires of Vancouver.

They may get to fight in the Olympics if (1) finances allow a bigger boxing team and (2) any of the top six are not able to go.

The 10th champion, light-heavyweight Ed French of Lethbridge, Alta., was not included as an Olympic possibility.

Walters is 20 years old, winner of the U.S.A.A.U. featherweight championship last year at Boston. He represented Canada in the last British Empire games.

REJECTED PAINTING—This painting of the historic lying-in-state of King George VI in Westminster Hall following the death of the British Sovereign last February has been rejected by the Royal Academy for its summer exhibition in London. The artist, 70-year-old Frank Beresford, left, is applying final touches with the guardsman on the right serving as model. No reason was given by the Accademy's Hanging Committee for rejecting the picture. Mr. Beresford said he had deliberately imparted a luminous glow to the scene as that was how it had impressed him. He obtained the effect by mixing beeswax with his paint.

Brilliant Chemist Dies In Toronto

TORONTO, May 5 — Dr. Maitland Crease Boswell, 72, prominent Canadian chemist, died Saturday in a Toronto hospital. He was credited with the discovery in 1922 of a new chemical reaction which could be used in making dyestuffs from coal tar.

Professor Boswell was a descendant of Elias Burnham, one of the original large landowners in Peterborough. His mother was Elizabeth Burnham and his father John Snowden Boswell.

The Boswell family originally lived in Cannington, moving from there to Peterborough, where John Boswell supervised the Burnham estate and ran a real estate business. Prof. Boswell attended Collegiate here.

He retired from the University of Toronto in 1948, after more than 40 years on the staff. Latterly he had been head of the organic chemistry department.

Prof. Boswell, keenly interested in farming, had owned a 50-acre farm near Pickering, which was taken over during the Second World War and is now the village of Ajax. Since his retirement he had lived in Maple, near Toronto.

Collins Wins Que. Marathon

ST. HYACINTHE, Que., May 5 —(CP)—Paul Collins, the Maritimer who majors in music and marathons, took complete charge of the Canadian Marathon Championship Saturday and won it with nearly three minutes to spare.

For almost the whole distance, Collins outran the field of 37 starters 28 of whom finished.

He went into the lead at the five-mile post and was never headed, shaking off his nearest challengers after the 20-mile mark where his lead was cut to a scant 100 yards.

Collins' time for the marathon distance of 26 miles, 385 yards, over the flat, paved highway course was 2:45:02.2.

Big Edo Romagnoli, New York policeman, came from far back in the last half of the race to finish second, getting in ahead of Gerard Cote, veteran Canadian marathon ace from St. Hyacinthe.

Reject Painting Of Late King's Lying In State

By EDWIN S. JOHNSON, Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON —(CP)—Frank Beresford's long-awaited painting of the lying-in-state of King George VI, in Westminster Hall, has been rejected by the selection committee of the Royal Academy.

Mr. Beresford, only artist granted permission to paint the historic scene, expressed surprise and disappointment when advised of the committee's decision. He said he had worked about 18 hours a day for more than five weeks to finish the picture in time for the Academy's summer exhibition.

Many of the thousands who queued up for hours last February to file past the Catafalque bearing the flag-draped Royal coffin, saw the 70-year-old artist seated beside a brazier and muffled against the cold, making sketches.

Last year the Academy also rejected a painting he submitted of the Churchill Arch in the new House of Commons.

But his 1936 canvas, showing the lying-in-state of King George V, was accepted for exhibition the same year. The picture, hailed as an outstanding work of art, was subsequently bought by Queen Mary.

"Everyone tells me that the decision is extraordinary," Mr. Beresford said. "This was an occasion of great historical solemnity and importance and I am not aware that any other painter has submitted a work on the subject. I have no idea why the Royal Academy should have rejected the picture."

The artist said he was particularly disappointed that people in North America and other parts of the world who had written him about the picture, would not have an opportunity of seeing it at the Academy exhibition. He said it would be definitely hung, however, at the autumn show of the United Society of Artists.

Won't Discuss It

One theory is that the picture may have been turned down because it was given a private showing in the artist's studio shortly before it was submitted to the committee. But those responsible for thumbing it aside, refused to discuss the matter.

Said Sir Walter Lamb, former secretary of the Royal Academy: "It is a rule that members of the Hanging Committee should never give their reasons for rejecting a picture."

The 40-by-50-inch landscape-size canvas has already aroused considerable comment by those who viewed it privately.

Painted from the west door of Westminster Hall, the picture presents a sharp contrast to Mr. Beresford's work on the 1936 lying-in-state. The earlier painting was done at night when the only light was from candles or dim electric bulbs hanging from the roof.

The new work depicts a line of mourners filing past the catafalque in the early afternoon, with sunlight bathing the whole scene through a huge gothic window. Long shadows are cast by the bier and the officers on guard.

Mr. Beresford said he had sought to give a strange, luminous glow to the scene, as that was how it had impressed him. He got the effect by mixing beeswax with his paint.

St. Paul's Celebrates 119th Birthday

Truth is the only one of man's possessions that he should allow to possess him, declared the Rev. William Barclay of Hamilton, speaking at St. Paul's Presbyterian Church on the church's 119th birthday.

Mr. Barclay, president of the Canadian Council of Churches and minister of Central Presbyterian Church, Hamilton, dealt in his sermon with man's attitude to his possessions.

"Man cannot possess truth in the sense of controlling it," he said. "But he should let truth do as it will with him."

Truth was the exception among man's possessions. Even a man's home could possess him until he becomes the fireside-and-armchair individual, reluctant to leave the comfort and security of his home.

"And when a man's home possesses him, he is not bearing his share of responsibilities," Mr. Barclay said. Among those responsibilities was that which man bore to the church.

Mr. Barclay spoke of Nebuchadnezzar and his city of Babylon, which possessed him, and of the new attitude to his possessions that God brought to the King of Babylon.

"It is a poor thing for a man to be a millionaire and to be possessed by his millions," he said.

The Rev. C. G. Boyd conducted the service, and tenor Robert Reid was guest soloist. Mr. Reid sang Handel's "Comfort Ye My People" and "Every Valley," and Mendelssohn's "If With All Your Hearts."

"Ah, Mr. Weatherby's had Shirriff's Marmalade for breakfast!"

Toronto Team Captures Aquatic Meet

Toronto West End Y.M.C.A. followed the course taken in previous years Saturday night and ran off with All-Ontario Y.M.C.A. swimming meet honors in Hamilton. The West End Y.M.C.A. swimmers racked up a total of 93 points to easily capture first place.

Toronto's only competition was the popular London Y.M.C.A. team which gathered 69 points. These teams were followed by Woodstock with 32, Hamilton with 16, Kitchener and Peterborough tied for fifth with 13 points. Other teams were St. Catharines, Stratford, Sault Ste. Marie, Brantford, Sudbury, Galt and Guelph.

In placing fifth the Peterborough Y.M.C.A. team slipped from third place in which it has placed for the past three years.

Coach Satisfied

Coach Gord Minty said after the meet that "I'm pleased with the boys' showing; they did very well. It is not because we have slipped that the team placed fifth but that the other clubs have improved, especially London, Woodstock and Stratford."

As individuals, only Ross Dobbin made a good showing. Swimming in the under 14 years events Dobbin placed third twice, in the 50-yards backstroke and then in the 50 yards breaststroke.

Another third went to Michael Triggs in the 25-yard backstroke event for boys under 12 years.

The last third fell to the junior men's (under 17 years) relay team which placed only a second behind the winners. Members of the team were Jim Starr, Terry Northrop, Scott Pearton, and John Boorman, recording a time of 1:55.4 minutes as compared with the winning 1:54.6 minutes.

Fourth place positions went to John Boorman, swimming in the junior 100-yard backstroke event, and to the under 12 years relay team, Michael Triggs, Bill Waters, Peter Wood and Donald Mann.

Boorman added a fifth place in the junior 50-yard free style event while Don Wood was fifth in the senior men's 100 yard backstroke.

Weston Dukes Win Jr. B Championship

WESTON, May 5—(CP)—Weston Dukes captured the Ontario Hockey Association Junior B championships here Saturday night when they edged Waterloo Hurricanes 5-4 in the fifth game of the best-of-seven finals. The series count was four games to one.

Bill Harris tallied twice for the winners with Tom McCarthy, Bill Reid and George Jamieson netting the others. Ray Douglas clicked with two for the Waterloo club while Jack Oberle and Roger Crane hit for singletons.

The Dukes took a 3-0 first-period lead and were barely leading 4-3 by the finish of the second before scraping through in the final session.

Hermann lost a close decision to the Alaskan here last week, and claimed that his shoulders were not on the mat and that Referee Maxwell gave him a fast count. The last meeting between this pair was a sizzling affair with plenty of rough stuff. Another dynamite-packed bout is predicted Tuesday. The semi-final brings together the towering Pole, Wladslaw Talun against speedy Bill Stack of Oshawa. It will be interesting to see how Stack fares with the 301-pound Talun. SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

From Bill Hanley of the O.H.A. comes this letter in reply to one we wrote last week: "Dear Sir—In a letter to Horace Guppy, dated April 7 from this office, it was stated 'Therefore the Ontario Hockey Association has advised me to inform you that the officials and members of the Peterborough McGillis Eagles senior 'B' hockey club are suspended automatically.' It would seem to me that this was made quite clear to Mr. Guppy, unless he did not receive the latter. If the players, etc., of the McGillis Eagles club wish to appeal their suspension and do so by writing in to this office, I would only be too glad to bring this before our executive. If there is anything further from your angle, please do not hesitate to write."

* * * * * * *

Well, there it is again. No mention of the C.A.H.A. ruling stating that the "manager, coach or official responsible" draws an automatic suspension of one year without the right to appeal. That to us reads like one person is responsible and one person should be suspended, but the O.H.A. suspended the whole club. If they had a reason for doing so, why not explain it? Why keep so quiet about it? However, Eagles' officials and players should write in, as suggested above, to the O.H.A. to appeal their suspension and get an individual ruling on the matter. That seems to be the next step and might bring things out in the open. Strikes us there's more here than meets the eye.

Max of the Crazy Legs

St. Kitts' scribe, dealing with lacrosse, says: "Fans will be glad to know that Max Woolley will definitely be in the blueshirt togs this year. The crazy-legged forward, who was nicknamed the Santa Fe Express last year because of his driving end-to-end dashes, will have finished his scholastic duties at McMaster next week. Woolley received very attractive offers from Peterborough, Owen Sound, Toronto and Hamilton, but elected to stay in this city. Contact man in Hamilton was Ivor Wynne, athletic director of McMaster, who has been named manager of the Tigers' lacrosse team this year. The only player from the 1951 squad who will definitely not play this year for Athletics is captain Pat Smith."

* * * * * * *

Several changes will be seen in the lineup of the Petes' Timbermen, the defending champs, this season. As mentioned before, Em Creighton and Mick Magee are hanging up their gear after long and valuable lacrosse service here. Freddy Hildebrand, Ike's brother, is an addition, as is Bill Killingbeck, husky local youth who performed for Fergus Thistles in '51. Three former Peterborough juniors, Lou Nickel, Gary Robinson and Grant Burns, have been signed by the senior squad, also. Maybe another change or two, but that's the latest we have. Otherwise, last year's classy crew is intact and should be one of the strongest clubs in the seven-team senior "A" circuit.

Soccer Season Starts

Soccer started its season Saturday aft in Morrow Park when Batawa and U.E.W. tied 1-1. Andy Smith scored early in the first half but the visitors sewed it up shortly before the interval. Tight defensive work and good goalkeeping held out the rival forwards the last stanza, though there were some close shaves at either end of the pitch. Quite a wind blew throughout the match. Earlier in the season, U.E.W. took a 5-2 exhibition win o'er Batawa, but the latter really hustled in this loop tilt. The champs won't be taking anything for granted from now on. They trek to Kingston next weekend for another Eastern Ontario League fixture.

President Bill Flint of the Girls' Softball League informs us that entries will close at a 7:30 p.m. meeting in the Y.M. Thursday. Election of officers at that time and other business dealt with by the new executive. Lindsay and Cobourg are definite entries from outside Peterborough, and Belleville is a possibility. Two local starters, Ashby's and Outboard Marines, with a possible third team from either Westclox or Burtol's. They'll be going thrice weekly under the Bowl lights, we imagine, though there'll be some trips this season, too. Looks like a lively lasses' loop ready to begin.

Ty Cobb banged out six hits in six trips to the plate at St. Louis 26 years ago today. The "Georgia Peach" had three home runs, a double and two singles as his Detroit Tigers beat the Browns 14-8. Cobb retired in 1928 with a raft of major league records, including the batting championship of the American League in 12 different seasons.

Hill Gail Wins Kentucky Derby In Smart Style

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 5 — (AP).—Hill Gail's hopes of becoming king of the three-year-olds seemed to hinge today on how he can meet two issues.

Everybody agreed his performance in winning Saturday's Kentucky Derby stamped him a steed of unusual promise. But before he can sit in the throne room of such former kings as Citation, Whirlaway, Count Fleet and Assault, he must first:

1. Show that he can go the longer distances, such as the 1½-mile route of the Belmont Stakes later this spring.

2. Prove he's master of other three-year-olds that weren't ready for the Derby, including Tom Fool, Primate and Charlie McAdam.

Even those sold most solidly on Calumet Farm's great thoroughbred mused on Hill Gail's determination to turn on the speed the minute he's out of the starting gate.

Couldn't Be Held Back

Jockey Eddie Arcaro said he couldn't restrain the colt. Speed horses rarely can save enough steam for classics such as Belmont. one-quarter mile longer than the Derby. But Hill Gail's time in the Derby indicates he can run both fast and far. He missed the race record by one-fifth second — 2:01 3-5.

Trainer Ben Jones said he was undecided about which purses he will seek with Hill Gail in the immediate future. If the horse holds up physically, he will go for sure after the other two parts of the "triple crown." Next in that campaign comes the Preakness at Baltimore's Pimlico track May 17. The Belmont follows June 7.

Two Lengths Ahead

Hill Gail, a 7-to-5 favorite before post time but an even-money bet when the gates opened, finished two lengths in front of Charles T. Fisher's Sub Fleet with a burst of speed in the home stretch. A record 110,000 persons saw the second choice, Blue Man, finish 8¾ lengths behind Sub Fleet for third in the field of 15.

The Kentucky Derby was telecast for the first time, adding untold thousands stay-at-homes to the audience.

Hill Gail earned $96,350 for the Lexington, Ky., farm owned by Mrs. Warren Wright. Total purse for the race was $124,350—third-richest for the Churchill Downs' classic. He paid $4.20, $4.00 and $3.20. Sub Fleet brought $14.60 and $7.80, and Blue Man was $3.60.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

More than 10,000 fans acclaimed the injury-riddled Stratford Indians Sunday when the Allan Cup finalists arrived home from their Canadian championship series with Fort Frances Canadians.

The Indians were given a heroes' welcome although they bowed to Fort Frances four games to two in their best-of-seven final series at Fort William and Fort Frances.

Veteran observers said it was the most enthusiastic acclaim given a Stratford sports aggregation.

Traffic was snarled for blocks as the streets were packed with cheering crowds. Gaily-decorated floats, dancing Indians and four bands paraded the club through the city.

A welcome ceremony took place in front of the city hall where Mayor David Simpson said all Stratford was proud of the team's success this season.

The Dominion championship regatta of the Canadian Canoe Association will be held at Mooney's Bay near Ottawa, Aug. 1 and 2, the association announced Saturday at its annual meeting at Gananoque.

Johnny Millman of Vancouver almost assured himself of a place on Canada's Olympic cycling team when he won both Saturday and Sunday trials at Victoriaville, Que. during the weekend. Toronto's Fred Henry was second Saturday and Gaston Langlois of Montreal placed second Sunday.

Florence Chadwick, only woman to swim the English Channel in both directions, said at Carmel, N. J., Sunday she is considering an attempt at a non-stop swim across the channel and back.

Prime Minister Churchill scored his first success as a breeder of race horses Saturday when his three-year-old filly, Loving Cup, won the Kintbury Stakes at Newbury, England.

Batawa Draws With U.E. 1-1

Batawa and U.E.W. fought to a 1-1 tie in Morrow Park on Saturday afternoon to open the Eastern Ontario Soccer League schedule. The visitors, who had lost a 5-2 exhibition earlier this season to last year's champions, played a much improved game here Saturday to earn the draw against strong opposition. U.E.W is away to Kingston in league play this coming weekend.

The Petes won the toss and played the first half with the wind behind them. Batawa kicked off and soon showed they would be hard to beat. Play was pretty even with many moves spoiled by a high wind, and both goalkeepers were kept busy. After 10 minutes of play, Andy Smith got through for Peterborough to score a fine goal.

This lead was maintained till 10 minutes before the interval when the Batawa centre forward broke through the U.E. defence to even the count. The half ended with a 1-1 score.

Following the rest, both teams started a number of dangerous moves, only to have them broken up by strong defences. Art Jones in the home net pulled off some excellent saves—as did his rival—to relieve some tense moments. The opposing defences held the forwards well in check and it wound up 1-1 as in the first half.

Syracuse Takes Twin Bill Over Orioles

By The Associated Press.

Lee (Bobo) Holloman's comeback is helping to keep Syracuse Chiefs hot on the trail of the International league-leading Montreal Royals.

Holloman Sunday became the league's top winning pitcher with five victories as he pitched Syracuse to a 5-3 win over Baltimore in the opener of a twin bill. The Chiefs also won the second game, 5-0, behind the five-hit pitching of Jack Griffore.

The triumphs enabled the Chiefs to remain within 2½ games of the Royals, who swept their doubleheader from Ottawa Athletics 8-7 in 11 innings and 9-2.

Holloman, regarded as a prime major league prospect in 1949 when he won 17 games for Nashville of the Southern Association, failed to live up to his early promise. Nashville shipped the slipping 27-year-old righthander to Albany of the Eastern League. Albany sent him on to the South Atlantic League, from whence he was picked up by Syracuse to start his comeback.

Close Shave

Montreal's close shave in the opener came about when Johnny Simmons singled home Jim Gillians with the winning run. Royals pounded out 11 hits to allow Tom Lasorda to breeze home in the second game.

Buffalo Bisons and Springfield Cubs split a twin bill. Cubs won the first game 4-3 on Gene Hook's 10th-inning homer.

Babe Birrer stopped the Cubs 3-1 on six hits in the second.

Cot Deal, with help from Hack Crimian, pitched Rochester Red Wings to a 6-2 victory over Toronto Maple Leafs in the first game of a doubleheader. The Leafs bounced back to win the second 4-1 behind the seven-hit pitching of veteran Russ Bauers.

Clippers Win First Sr. 'B' Title

STOUFFVILLE, May 5 (CP). — Stouffville Clippers downed Port Colborne Merchants 6-2 here Saturday night to win their first Ontario Hockey Association Senior B championship. The victory gave them the best-of-seven series four games to one.

Bud Watson led the Stouffville attack with a pair of goals. Rumney, Bell, Minton and Baker contributed one each. White and Melone served Port Colborne's goals.

The Clippers held a 1-0 lead at the end of the first period and were up 3-2 by the finish of the second before tallying three times in the third.

Senators Defeat St. Louis In Two Weekend Tilts

By JOE REICHLER

Yesterday's Yankees are painting a brighter future for today's Washington Senators. A pre-season pick for the American League cellar, Bucky Harris's Senators are right in the thick of the battle for the lead with Boston and Cleveland, thanks to a quartet of former Yankees. All four played vital roles in Washington's sweep of a doubleheader from St. Louis Browns that boosted the Nats into third places, 3½ games behind the pace-setting Boston Red Sox.

Outfielders Archie Wilson and Jackie Jensen, two of the four players acquired by Washington in Saturday's six-man trade with the Yankees, pounded out nine hits between them as the Nats tripped the Browns 2-1 and 13-7. Wilson got five hits, including a triple and double, while Jensen rapped a double and three singles.

Wilson scored both Washington runs in the first game as Bob Porterfield, another former Yankee, edged Tommy Byrne in a pitching duel. Porterfield, who came to Washington last June, limited the Browns to six hits. Tom Ferrick, who came along in the same deal, was credited with the second victory. He yielded only one run in seven innings after the Browns had shelled Sandy Consuegra and Bunky Stewart for six runs in the first two rounds. The Nats collected 21 hits in the nightcap as they hung the season's first loss on old Satchel Paige.

More Dividends

Harris hopes to get still more dividends from his latest swap with the Yankees tonight when righthander Frank (Spec) Shea makes his first start against the Browns. Shea and infielder Jerry Snyder were obtained, along with Wilson and Jensen, in the deal that sent outfielder Orv Noren and infielder Tommy Upton to the Yanks.

The Yankees were happy about the trade, too, because Noren chipped in with a pair of vital hits as they took two from Chicago White Sox, 8-0 and 3-1. Tom Morgan blanked the Sox for eight innings in the opener before retiring due to a torn fingernail. Bill Miller, rookie southpaw from Syracuse, ably scattered seven hits in the nightcap.

Little Phil Rizzuto was the big gun for the Yankees, collecting five hits including a triple in each game. Sam Mele, new Chicago rightfielder obtained from Washington Saturday, accounted for the lone White Sox run, walking and eventually crossing the plate on a double play in the seventh.

In Second Place

Cleveland's Indians climbed into second place, coming from behind with a five-run, seventh inning uprising to defeat Boston Red Sox 9-6. A double by Luke Easter and singles by Jim Fridley, Harry Simpson and Bobby Avila, highlighted the rally against Maurice McDermott and loser Ivan Delock.

Eddie Joost hit a pair of homers in the first game and Hank Majeski singled with the bases loaded in the ninth inning of the second to give Philadelphia Athletics a sweep of the doubleheader of 5-4 and 8-7 decisions over Philadelphia Phillies. Ted Kluszewski drove home a pair of runs in each game. Frank Smith rescued Herman Wehmeier in the ninth with the tying and winning runs on base and fanned Del Ennis to save the first game. He also saved the second game for Harry Perkowski by getting Ennis to end the eighth inning and then retired the Phils in order in the ninth.

Gerry Staley became the first pitcher to win five games as St. Louis Cardinals divided a doubleheader with Boston Braves. The big Redbird righthander gained a 4-3 first game win although he needed help from Alpha Brazle. Home runs by Sam Jethroe and Ed Mathews clinched the second game for the Braves, 5-1, as Matt Surkont won his first game.

Your Garden:

Weed and Nitrogen Sprays, Other Garden Chores Now

By HENRY PREA (NEA)

Lawns infested with dandelions, plantain, ground ivy and creeping veronica can be freed of these weeds if an application of 2, 4-D spray is applied on a warm day.

The chemical is powerful and care must be taken not to get any on shrubs or flowers. Do not spray on a windy day. It is best applied through a plastic sprinkler on a gallon jug.

Do not use a sprinkling can or your garden sprayer because it is almost impossible to clean them out after filling them with 2, 4-D. Keep this gallon jug and its applicator only for your 2, 4-D, which is sold under trade names.

Most asparagus and rhubarb beds will appreciate some attention at this time. Both kinds of plants are heavy users of nitrogen and will respond well to a feeding of a 10-6-4 fertilizer or a heavy mulch of manure.

The old gardener advises against the use of salt on the asparagus bed to kill the weeds. Salt in a sufficient quantity to kill weeds would seriously damage the asparagus roots. So get busy and either hoe out the weeds or pull them by hand. Home gardeners who want to increase their asparagus can plant new roots right now.

It is best to purchase one-year-old crowns instead of dividing old plants. Rhubarb plants can be divided at this time or new roots purchased.

This type of plastic sprayer will enable you to pinpoint your spray to avoid damaging shrubs and flowers.

Many perennial herbaceous plants, such as the Japanese anemones, hardy chrysanthemums, phlox and autumn-blooming asters should be moved now. If these are lifted, divided and replanted soon they will recover and bloom this year.

If you intend to move some of your hybrid tea roses do not put off this chore too long. Roses move best before new growth appears. Cut out all dead canes before pruning and then be stingy, as better and more roses will result from plants with several long canes.

Feed all your roses with a plant food strong in phosphorus and potash. Newly planted roses should be hilled up for two or three weeks with soil or peat moss to prevent drying out of the wood, to retard top growth and to encourage root growth.

Among the glories of the garden are the plant hybrid delphiniums. The Galahad series of Pacific hybrids, with pure glistening white blooms attaining a height of five to six feet, are especially noteworthy. When three or four of these plants, are set in a group, few, if any, perennials can approach them for sheer beauty and grace.

Gardening Questions

Q—What is the most popular cut flower grown on this continent?

A—According to the Florist's Review the gladiolus is first, the rose second, and the carnation third.

Q—What is meant by a "systemic insecticide"?

A—It is a chemical such as sodium selenate, which, when added to the soil, is absorbed by the plant, killing the insects which suck or eat the sap. The amateur should go slow with its use as it can be dangerous. It should not be used on plants for food.

Q—Before becoming too excited about a small orchard, how long must we wait until the trees produce some fruit?

A—On the assumption that you will plant 2-year-old stock and give them good care, the following is a fair guess: Apples, three to five years. Pears, plums, peaches and sour cherries, two to three years. Sweet cherries three to four years. Nothing is gained by planting older trees.

Beauty First

LONDON—(CP)—A society formed here to preserve London's beauty spot at Syndenham Hill is opposing council plans for development of the area, still almost rural. The society said it feared that a proposed housing scheme would involve destruction of woodlands and open spaces.

Speedy Method

VANCOUVER — (CP) — Mass vaccination of poultry flocks against pulmonary disease will be avilable here shortly, replacing the present tedious bird-by-bird procedure. Dr. J. C. Bankier, provincial pathologist, said the fowl could be "sprayed" with the vaccine at the rate of 10,000 per hour.

CURB SERVICE—A Winnipeg driver and his girl passenger brought their accident right to the door of a hospital. They are shown in the doorway of the hospital where they received treatment for their minor injuries.

PETERBOROUGH EXAMINER

VOL. CIV. No. 106 MONDAY, MAY 5, 1952

FREDERICK A. CRIPPS, former Peterborough photographer, was appointed recently manager-director of Ansco of Canada Ltd., assuming his duties May 1. He is the son of the late Albert Cripps and Mrs. Cripps, now of Ottawa. During the weekend he attended a family reunion at his brother's home on Olive Ave.

Former Photographer Here General Manager Of Ansco

Frederick A. Cripps, former Peterborough photographer, assumed the duties of manager-director of Ansco of Canada on May 1, climaxing eight years in the employ of the company. Over the weekend Mr. Cripps attended a family reunion at his brother's home, William Cripps, 58 Olive Ave. Mr. Cripps became well-known in Peterborough first through his activities in sport. He played baseball, helping to win the O.B.A. intermediate title, and played both intermediate and senior hockey for city teams.

Mr. Cripps started his professional career in photography with Fred Roy's studio in 1926 as an apprentice. While with Mr. Roy, he attended the Winona School of Photography in Indiana.

In 1931 Mr. Crips opened his own business in Brampton, selling out five years later and moving to Peterborough.

During his eight years in business in Peterborough, Mr. Cripps developed a reputation for his fine portrait photography. He became recognized as best in that field after 65 portraits won honors.

But in 1944 he joined the Ansco Company as a photographic technician and demonstrator in Western Ontario. In 1946 he was promoted to Vancouver where he was in charge of sales in Alberta and British Columbia. He held that position until May 1.

During his years in the Western provinces, Mr. Cripps lectured at club meetings and spoke at conventions, resulting in his election to convention chairman during the past two years for the British Columbia Professional Photographers Association.

Mr. Cripps said that Ansco of Canada Ltd. is planning to enter the manufacturing field in Canada. Already a 12-acre area has been purchased in Toronto and plans for the building are being drawn. There the company will have an office, warehouse, and do semi-manufacturing activities.

Several stitches were required to close a cut on the forehead of two-year-old Donald Goodwin, 51 Kingan St., who fell down the cellar steps at his home Sunday evening. He was given outpatient treatment at Civic Hospital.

VICTIM RECOVERS

Ward Trotter, 18, of Apsley, who was burned Friday night when a gas tank he was welding exploded was released from Civic Hospital Sunday.

INJURED IN FALL

Eight-year-old Sharelle Seifried, 362 Aberdeen St., injured her leg Sunday evening when she fell on a sharp stone. She was taken to Civic Hospital where she was given outpatient treatment for the cut and was released after the injury was sutured.

FLYING VISITORS

Some 200 geese paid their honking respects to Peterborough as they passed overhead in a perfect V about 11.30 p.m. Sunday. Their loud calling could be heard long before and after they were spotted in the soft moonlight.

ASSIST FOR PIGEONS

Coming down George St. early this morning, a main streeter dodged a pigeon roost on the west side of the block south of Brock St., and picked up a dollar bill the pavement flusher had washed against the curb. A dunking at the tap cleaned off the dirt.

RINGSIDE AT A BREAKFAST

Two neighbours visited the Examiner outdoor editor at his Lakefield home on Sunday bringing handfuls of beaver chips for his inspection "right back of the house." This morning as he and his family ate breakfast two chip makers cavorted at his doorstep in the Otonabee River all during the meal. They were still there as the scribe walked past them, to work.

Fishermen Catch Lake Beauties

Trout fishing, especially for lake speckles, was fabulous over the weekend in Haliburton, according to limit catches brought into the city late Sunday evening. Many stream fishermen took advantage of the fine weather to drive north for a two-day try and they were not disappointed.

It was enough that reporters were able to view the fine fish and hear a cast-by-cast account of each one. But the location from where they were taken was vague within general areas of several miles. Lake Speckle men are a cagey lot.

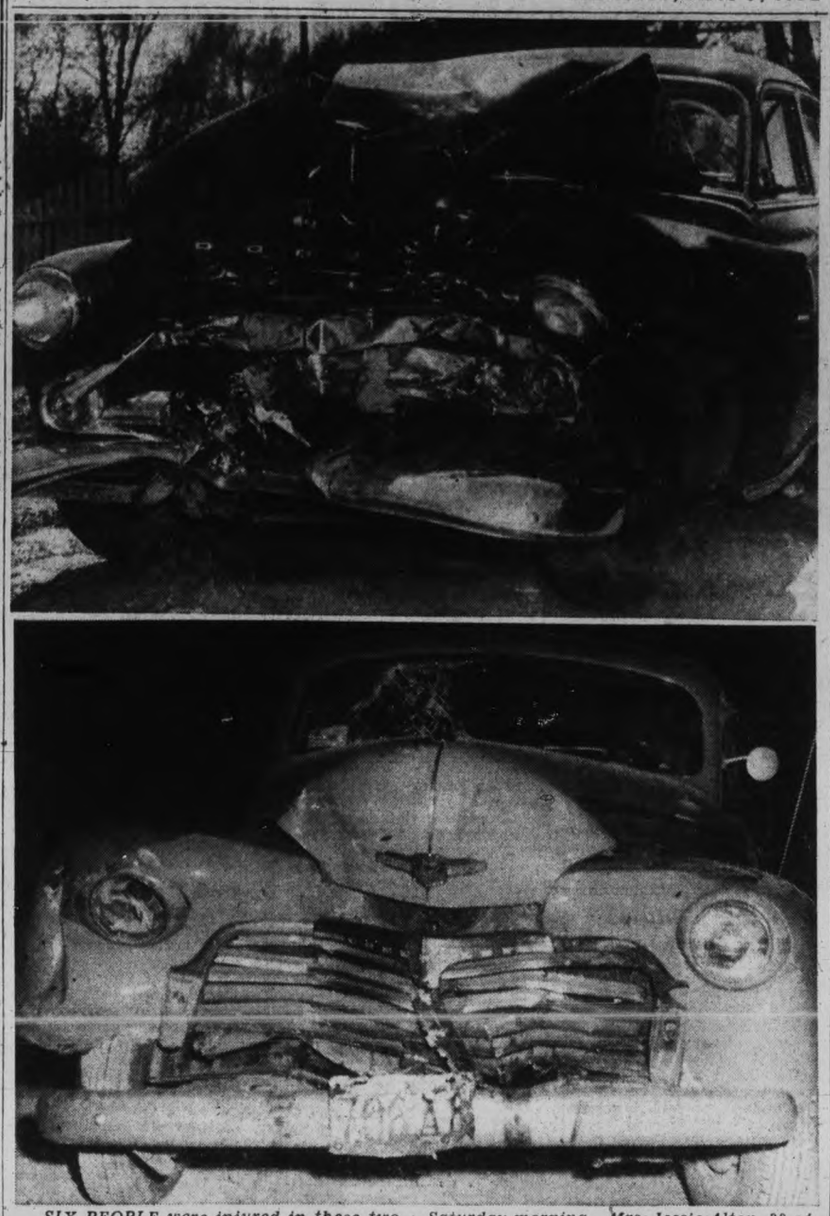
Six Peterborough men, Mel Harrison, Ed Boiler, Garnet, Harold and Grant Burns and Henry Noaks and George Snowden, of Toronto, took 21 beauties "up that way" in two days; the largest was 23½ inches. Three other city men, Johnny Russelle, Mike O'Leary and John Hill, took 26 "in the same area," six of them scaling better than 2¾ pounds.

33 Fish

Johnny Young, George Burns and their wives also had some wonderful luck, 33 fish, and on the way home Johnny flipped his spinning outfit into Eel's Creek at Apsley and again at the Government Park at Haultain, Highway 28, and came out with a brown trout with each retrieve. This party were gone three days.

Southern stream fishing was fair for those who were contented to take smaller fish and although no near-limits were reported, many enjoyed a fine weather outing and brought back a few trophies into the bargain.

Seventy-seven brook trout and seven lakes was the total take for six more Peterborough men in an area northwest of Bancroft. Some of them fished four days and some for two to ring up this amount. In the party were Lorne Bateman, Jim Holland, Lloyd Ash, Mel Melvin, Frank Rothchild and Ernie Brailsford.



SIX PEOPLE were injured in these two cars which figured in two of the five motor accidents in the city and district during the weekend. Five Lindsay residents are recovering in hospital here from minor injuries received when the car (in the top photo) was involved in a head-on collision on Highway 7, 13 miles east of Peterborough Saturday morning. Mrs. Jessie Alton, 33 of 659 Water St., was taken to hospital with a gash on her forehead and undetermined injuries when the car (in the lower photo) driven by Donald Clarke, Havelock, struck the rear of another car on Highway 7 at Indian River Sunday evening. Mrs. Alton's head shattered the windshield as seen on the left—(Examiner Staff Photos)

He was met by his brother, James Ward at the station, and the two brothers went to a Charlotte St. hotel where they spent the night.

When he awoke, Mr. Ward discovered that his brother Clifford was dead.

Coroner Dr. Herbert N. Young said that death was caused by a heart attack and no inquest will be held.

Mr. Ward was born and educated in Peterborough, the son of late James Ward and Josephine Lcombe. He was a veteran of the Second World War serving in the United States Navy. His period of service in the navy extended to 16 years Before his death, he was a restaurant employee in Middle Village, New York.

He leaves his wife, one daughter, Janice, and one son, James, all of Middle Village. New York; two sisters, Mrs. E. Clausner (Ernestine) of Mount Pleasant, Pa.; Mrs. A. H. Barnes (Bernette), Pittsburgh, Pa.; and two brothers, Harry of Buffalo and James of Kitchener.

To Stand Trial In Breakin Count

William Rudyk, 19, 406 Oliver St., Oshawa, was released on $2,000 bail after being committed for trial at the next general sessions by Magistrate W. R. Philp today on a charge of breaking and entering.

Rudyk and two other Oshawa youths, John F. Meagher, 20 and Joseph Rzamy, 20, both of 106 Stacey St., are charged with breaking and entering Duffus Motors on April 14.

Two unsuccessful attempts were made to blow a safe in the office and Rudyk was arrested by Constable Gerald Emmons as he tried to leave the building by a door at the southwest corner.

Rzamy and Meagher were stopped west of Welcome on Highway 2 by O.P.P. Constable Frank Clough a short time after Rudyk was arrested. They were driving a car owned by Rudyk's mother.

Today, Rudyk's counsel, Gordon Conant, Q.C., agreed to admitting the evidence heard a week ago at the preliminary hearing of Rzamy and Meagher when the charge was read. Both Meagher and Rzamy were committed for trial by Magistrate Philp and were also released on $2,000 bail each a week ago. After the hearing, Mr. Conant asked for a week's remand to examine the evidence.

Gravel In Tank Car Damaged

Chief Constable W. R. Stevens, of Omemee, is investigating an act of vandalism early Sunday morning in which a car belonging to a Peterborough man was damaged.

William McKinney, of 40 George St., parked his car in a laneway in the village Saturday night and later found that it had been damaged. Gravel was put in the gasoline tank, the rear-view mirror on the side of the car was broken off and thrown in the ditch, and the aerial was broken off.

Three of the tires were also deflated but were otherwise untouched.

Reason for the vandalism is still under investigation. A Toronto man was questioned in connection with the incident but Chief Stevens said there was no indication that he was involved.

Firecracker Starts Fire Near Gas Tanks

COBOURG, May 5—A firecracker lit by a youngster ignited dead grass in the yard of the Shell gasoline depot here, Sunday, a few feet from a million and a quarter gallon gas storage tank.

More dangerous from the standpoint of explosion when partly empty, the big tank was being filled by a pipe line leading to the harbor where a gas tanker was tied up. Fortunately the Shell employees were on duty looking after the filling of the tank and spotted the fire just as four boys were heading away from the property.

Cobourg firemen had the fire out before it could make any headway but there were some anxious moments. Chief Constable H. Pearse questioned four boys whose ages ranged from eight to 13. The boys had been up on the retaining wall and one of them said the wind caught the firecracker and blew it into the oil company's yard.

Ten Injured In 5 Crashes In City, District In Worst Weekend Of Year

One Car Smashes Into Fraserville Bridge After Colliding With Oncoming Car; Five Hurt In One Accident On Highway 7

Ten persons were injured, in five city and district traffic accidents during the weekend, making it the worst weekend for motor accidents in the Peterborough area so far this year. Swerving out of control after it was clipped by an oncoming car, Sunday morning, a car driven by Donald R. McIndoe, 30, ploughed head-on into the north end of a steel bridge on Highway 28, just south of Fraserville.

Witnesses agreed both McIndoe and his wife Winnifred, 29, were lucky to escape from the wreckage of their late model car alive.

Mrs. McIndoe was the most seriously injured weekend accident victim, receiving facial cuts, an injured foot and undetermined chest injuries. An emergency operation was performed on Mrs. McIndoe as soon as she and her husband arrived at St. Joseph's Hospital where they were taken by ambulance after the crash.

Pried Head Free

Other motorists had to pry McIndoe's head free before they could release him from the car. His head was jammed between the side window ventilator, and the twisted steering wheel. Condition of McIndoe who received badly cut hands, and a slight cut on his forehead and his wife are described by hospital authorities as satisfactory.

According to police, the accident occurred as Peter Nicholson, 320 McKellar St., travelling north, was passing a car which had been left parked, partly on the highway, while the occupants gathered wild flowers by the roadside.

Hit Bridge

Nicholson was just swinging his car back into the right hand traffic lane, when he met the southbound car driven by McIndoe, and his front fender ticked the left rear fender of the McIndoe car, throwing it out of control. The force of the impact as it hit the bridge, wrecked the McIndoe car and jammed a vee into the front end of the car, more than three feet deep.

OPP Constables Tom Armitage and James Plumptres and Sgt. Lloyd McClure investigated.

One woman was injured Sunday night and property damage to the two vehicles was estimated at $1,000 when one car rammed into the rear of another on Highway 7 near the crest of the hill on Highway 7 at the Indian River Public School.

Gash In Forehead

Mrs. Jessie Alton, 33, 659 Water St., was taken to hospital with a gash on her forehead and undetermined injuries.

She was a passenger in a car driven by Donald Clarke, 30, Havelock. The Clarke car was travelling west, behind another westbound car driven by John Yzereef, 30, 39 Jackson Ave., when the accident occurred. Clarke claimed he did not see the car ahead in time to avoid crashing into the rear of it. OPP Constable John Cawood investigated.

Leo Walsh, 547 Rogers St., is recovering in hospital from facial cuts and bruises to his knees, received early Sunday morning when he fell from a moving car on Lansdowne St.

Walsh was a passenger in a car driven by Max Hunter, Lansdowne St., which was going west, when the right hand door came open, and Walsh fell head-first into the street.

An accident at Charlotte and Rubidge Sts., at 5 a.m. Sunday, resulted in Marguerite Clark, 31, 516 Water St., receiving cuts on the head, both knees, right temple and chin. She was a passenger in a car driven by Carl Hill, R.R. 4, Woodville, which was travelling north on Rubidge St.

As Hill's car entered the intersection of Charlotte and Rubidge Sts., a truck, driven by Angus McIntosh, Sherbrooke St. W., was travelling east on Charlotte St., and the two vehicles collided. Damage to Hill's car was estimated at $500 and the McIntosh truck was damaged considerably also. Constable Harold Andrew investigated.

Five persons suffered minor injuries Saturday morning when two cars crashed head-on on Highway 7 about 13 miles east of the city.

Witnesses said the accident occurred when a westbound car pulled out to pass another auto and collided with a third car, coming from the west.

Injured were: Everitt Thompson, 22, R.R. 2, Norwood, cut hands and forehead; Albert E. Fentum, 27, 28 Elkin St., Lindsay, a fractured rib; Graydon Cresswell, 14, 64 Lindsay St. S., Lindsay, fractured nose; Antony Cannons, 12, 36 David St., Lindsay, cut chin and cheek; William Finlay, 13, 46 St. Lawrence St., Lindsay, scratches.

Mrs. Mabel Youmans, 52, of Havelock, was the driver of the westbound car. Fentum was the driver of the other auto. Police have not yet stated whether charges will be laid. O.P.P. Constable Thomas Fitzpatrick investigated.

Many Actors Support Ike As Candidate

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, May 5—(AP)—The Eisenhower-for-President boom has hit Hollywood.

The returning general appears to have attracted more support from movie figures than any of the other presidential candidates. The Ike campaigners, spearheaded by three studio bigwigs, have already lined up "substantial" contributions.

Film bosses J. L. Warner, Sam Goldwyn and Darryl Zanuck are the leaders of the local Eisenhower movement." Executive secretary and nerve centre of the campaign is Frank McCarthy, 20th-Fox producer and personal friend of the general.

McCarthy said he wrote Eisenhower last October, supporting his candidacy for president. The general replied with a warm but reluctant letter.

"I gathered from the letter that he was available," the producer said. "So I showed the letter to Warner, Goldwyn and Zanuck, and they became as enthused as I was."

McCarthy then circularized 420 film figures in the highest income bracket—"since our main purpose was to raise money." The results, he said, were: 65 per cent wanted Ike for president; six per cent did not; 21 per cent had not decided; and eight per cent did not wish to state.

The next move was a plush dinner at Romanoff's, where 220 filmsters ate squab with wild rice and listened to a pitch for campaign funds. Among them: Humphrey Bogart, Ronald Reagan, Lauren Bacall, Susan Hayward, Dale Robertson, Keenan Wynn, David Wayne, Donna Reed, Richard Basehart and producers Arthur Freed, Nunnally Johnson, Charles Brackett, Jerry Wald and Henry Blanke.

Hollywood activity for the other presidential campaigners is not so pronounced. Local Republican headquarters explained that Senator Robert Taft's forces have not formally invaded the state, it being a stronghold of California's governor, Earl Warren. Among the 70 delegates on the Warren slate is actor George Murphy.

On the Democratic side, backers of Senator Estes Kefauver claim support from movie figures but said their names cannot be revealed at this time. Some film industry members gave Kefauver a banquet during his recent visit here.

Gold Smuggler Is King Of Modern Crime

By WARREN BENNETT

NEW YORK, May 5—(AP)—The gold smuggler is the aristocrat of modern criminals. No outsider ever works his way up or muscles into the gold racket. He has to be born into it.

Take this on the authority of U.S. customs agents and the U.S. secret service, the two government agencies concentrating on domestic angles of the complex international operation. Gold is a hot commodity. More gold is being smuggled than ever before.

Government agencies have found gold smuggling, for the most part, is carried on by closed family corporations with old world ties in the jewelry trade. There's a regular smuggling pattern—gold out and diamonds in.

It's anybody's guess how much gold is taken out of the country illegally. Louis I. Kaplan, assistant district attorney in charge of prosecuting gold smugglers in New York, places it at $500,000,000 a year.

Actually, government agents have confiscated $400,000 in smuggled gold in the last 15 months. Diamond seizures in the same period came to $1,500,000.

Demand for gold by private hoarders all over the world soared with the outbreak of the Korean war. People in many countries know from sad experience that war knocks the stuffings out of paper money. In many countries the private citizen's only hedge against galloping inflation and shaky currencies is gold buried in the ground.

Prices Vary

The Orient has been a hoarding centre for ages. France, Spain and the Middle East countries are hotbeds of hoarders. Gold is in great demand in Argentina, Chile and Uruguay.

The official price of gold at the U.S. mint and assay offices is $35 an ounce. In April 1951 the black market price of gold was $47 an ounce in Paris and $65 in Bombay, $80 in Manilla.

Black market gold prices vary from day to day but, says Franz Pick, author of "The 1951 Black Market Yearbook," it was a $10,000,000,000 business last year in 36 countries.

The cold war between Russian and the western democracies brought about a steadily increasing demand for gold by hoarders.

The professional U.S. gold smuggler, says Harry M. Durning, collector of customs for the port of New York, came into being to help meet this increased demand. The spread between $35 an ounce and black market prices abroad made gold running a profitable if hazardous gamble. Durning says the Americtan gold smuggler is well dressed, soft-spoken and never carries anything so uncouth as a gun.

Iran Finds Her Cupboard Bare Year After Taking Over Oil

By ERNEST AGNEW

DUBLIN, May 5—(AP)—The Republic of Ireland demands the return of her six northern counties as the price for joining the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Until Britain ends the partition imposed in 1922, Premier Eamon de Valera says the Republic will remain aloof.

Ireland's membership in N.A.T.O. could be of vast importance to the western powers in the event of war. She has two well-equipped naval bases at Cork and Queenstown which Admirals say could be of the greatest benefit to the west in guarding the North Atlantic approaches.

"Membership in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization implies acceptance by each member of the territorial integrity of each of the several states," De Valera said in an interview.

Won't Admit Claim

"Britain claims as an integral part of her territory six of Ireland's counties. Ireland can never admit that claim and must refrain from appearing in any way to accept it. Were she to join N.A.T.O., she would be obliging herself to regard the six counties as being rightly a part of the British States and committing herself so to preserve it."

The 69-year-old Premier added:

"The North Atlantic Treaty Organization is designed to make secure the freedom of nations who already enjoy freedom and the integrity of their territory . . .

"Ireland's national freedom is denied so long as a portion of her national territory is withheld from it. In such circumstances, the first aim of the Irish people must be to recover their lost territory."

The Republic is building up her defences, has opened an energetic recruiting drive to bring her permanent military force of 13,000 men up to full strength, has bought machine-guns and other arms in Sweden and has sent an arms purchasing mission to France.

De Valera said Ireland applied to the United States for arms and machinery for making arms under the mutual security aid program. The mutual security agency announced March 18 that economic assistance to Ireland had been suspended because that country refused to sign the collective security agreement.

Asked what is Ireland's biggest problem in international relations and the domestic field, De Valera was brief and emphatic.

"Partition".

FOURTEEN BOSSES, THREE COMMANDS ADD TO RIDGWAY'S JOB—Contrary to popular belief, Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, new Supreme Commander of Allied Forces in Europe, will not run the whole NATO show. Newschart, above, shows that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's successor will be responsible to the 14 chiefs of staff of NATO's military committee and the three chiefs of staff comprising the Standing Group. In the event of an emergency ,however, it is likely that Ridgway would by-pass both groups and issue orders to his deputy commanders and the subordinate commanders in charge of Northern, Central and Southern Europe.

Steel Workers Help Run Plant Fire "Anti-Union" Manager

By RICHARD K. O'MALLEY

DUESSELDORF, May 5—(AP)—Ever hear of a big steel-plant manager being fired because his workmen complained that he was anti-union?

It happened in West Germany, where "Mitbestimmungsrecht" — or co-determination—has reached a lusty first birthday.

"Mitbestimmungsrecht" means that workmen have a direct voice in the operation of plants which employ them.

Under West German law, it applies only to the iron, coal and steel industries centered in the great Ruhr valley.

Labor is striving to spread it to all major industries.

Briefly, it works this way:

A plant with more than 1,000 workers must have five representatives from labor, and five from management on its Board of Directors. An 11th man, who works as a balance wheel in cases of stalemate, is selected from three candidates put up by the Board itself.

Such vital problems as production, policy, working conditions, wages, hours and workers' security are dealt with by this board.

In its first 12 months of existence, co-determination has made both friends and foes, its friends are not numbered among Labor alone.

An official for the Kloeckner Steel Works, which produced 1,000,000 tons of Ruhr steel annually, is for it.

Not New

"There have been no major differences at our plant, he said. "We find, too, that co-determination has helped morale among the workers. They feel they have a direct hand in their own industrial future—and they have."

The concept of co-determination is not new. Its practical application heavy industry is.

The program came at a time when it was most likely to get popular support. Anything to keep labor and capital going was better than watching many Ruhr furnaces stand cold, the coal pits partly closed.

The powerful West German trade union federation with its 6,000,000 members pressed hard.

Uneasily, many West German industrialists watched co-determination come into being. They called it "socialization the cold way."

This the Trade Union Federation sharply denies.

Management is afraid that a victory by the Socialists in the 1953 government elections would see nationalization of industry sweep the country—on the groundwork laid by co-determination.

There is some bitterness among management. A steel-plant director, for example, was fired because the workers thought him anti-union. He was reinstated on probation and is holding his job almost on sufferance of the men who work for him.

"Co-determination," he said, "is nothing more than bringing socialization of industry through the back door. They got at me by saying I was anti-union. That was untrue. But the 11th man on the board finally voted for me and I am back. On six months' probation. Imagine that, probation. I have run this plant for years."

TEMPORARILY CLOSED—C.I.O. United Steelworkers pickets gather on an East Chicago, Ind., draw-bridge to keep it from being opened, thus stopping an ore-carrying ship (background) from reaching its home dock to be unloaded.

Ireland's Price For Joining Return Of Her 6 Counties

By NATE POLOWETZKY

TEHRAN, Iran, May 5—(AP)—One year ago this week Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi reluctantly signed a decree nationalizing Iran's oil industry and setting forces in motion that shook the entire oil-rich Middle East.

Premier Mohammed Mossadegh, who pushed through the measure fulfilling a lifelong ambition, stood in triumph. His government took over the $1,000,000,000 Iranian holdings of the British-owned Anglo-Iranian Oil Company. This was to be the first step in his promise to make Iran fully independent—economically and politically.

What is the picture now, one year after?

Like Old Mother Hubbard, Iran finds her financial cupboard bare. Mossadegh now speaks of the "financial crisis" and calls for greater "self-sacrifices."

The British technicians are gone but so are the markets for Iran's oil, the ships to haul oil away and bring back needed consumer goods and food with oil revenues.

The huge Abadan refineries now turn out only a trickle of oil products for Iran's own use. Mossadegh has achieved his policy of "Iran's oil for the Iranians" but gone are the monthly revenues of $3,000,000 which this country previously received from A.I.O.C.

In addition, there has been the enormous economic drain of paying the 80,000 former employees of A.I.O.C.

Soon there may not be enough money in government coffers to pay for civil service, the army and the police.

Forget Oil

Mossadegh now tells his people they must forget about oil for the moment and concentrate on other means of revenue. He is calling on the new majlis (lower house of parliament) to step up Iran's agricultural exports such as wheat, cotton, sugar, rice, and tobacco; develop its other natural resources such as iron ore and coal; cut down on government spending; revise the tax system so that the rich will contribute more to the country's upkeep.

Mossadegh still controls the majlis but there are defections. Followers of the powerful Moslem religious leader, Ayatullah Seyed Abolshassem Kashani, are drifting away from Mossadegh.

There has been more and more open criticism of Mossadegh's actions—where once there was undivided loyalty.

Much of the censure centres around the Prime Minister's unyielding opposition toward proposals put forth by the International Bank to restart the flow of Iranian oil to the west.

These talks broke down in February over Mossadegh's insistence that the bank operate here only as the representative of Iran rather than as a neutral party and that it ban the use of British technicians during its operation of the oil industry. Mossadegh stormed:

"If we forget all our historical pride and accept the chains of slavery and obedience and agree to any sort of conditions which international bankers impose on us—this is the road which takes us to hell."

Partisans Sabotage Industry In Three Satellite States

By THOMAS HARRIS

STOCKHOLM, May 5—(Reuters)—Russia has won her 12-year battle against the "Forest Brethren", hard-hitting Partisans in Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania, the three Baltic countries she took over in 1940. But now she faces a unique kind of sabotage.

First, the Partisans exhausted the stocks of weapons and ammunition they seized from the Germans retreating before the Red Army in the last years of the war.

The co-ordinated attack started with the local police forces, which in the past secretly helped the Partisans while pretending to help Russians track them down. Now they have been purged and the key police posts in the three countries have been filled by Russians.

In the country districts, the Partisans lost their best allies—the local farmers—who used to put out food at night for the Partisans to collect as they came out of their hiding places in the forests to sabotage freight trains bound for Russia and rescue patriots from the deportation squads.

Now the farmers have been herded into now communal living quarters on collective farms where their every action can be supervised.

Moreover, it now is almost impossible for Partisans, on whose head the Russians have put a price to escape from their countries.

There is a psychological reason for the defeat of the Partisans. Not only are they effectively cut off from the west, but they see no prospect of any immediate help from the outer world.

The Russians are infiltrating more and more into the three countries and now hold important posts. Nothing short of war can make Rusia loosen her grasp on the three countries, the Partisans feel.

Despite this, a new means of resistance has developed in Latvia and Lithuania, where patriots, intead of fighting in the open, now are going into the fields and factories with a new method of sabotage.

In the state timber trust, for instance, employees have been faking their production figures. The manager of the trust, Pavils Enelis, has been dismissed.

Antons Loos, head of the locomotive and car repairs plant at Daugavpils, has been dismissed because similar falsifications have occurred in his department.

In the Riga shipyards, the manager, Leonid Gustons also lost his position. Material was wasted and plant sabotaged.

The significant thing is that all of the dismissed men were eager to collaborate with the Russians.

Instead of sabotaging trains as in the old days, the patriots now are sabotaging their countrymen who play the Russians' game too well.

EAGER SHOPPERS on the scent of a sure bargain—a 20-per cent reduction in prices—jam the main doors of a Montreal Department store. High above their heads are picket signs, carried by the store's striking employees. Some 1,500 members of the staff walked off their jobs when negotiations, for higher wages, between company and union officials broke down.

Says Consumers Not Getting Cuts

TORONTO, May 5—(CP)—The Provincial council of the Ontario C.C.F. said Sunday that farmers are being paid less for their meat and milk but price cuts are not being passed on to the consumer.

A meeting of the council here passed resolutions calling for proper marketing and floor-price legislation to protect farm income and condemned "the exercise of arbitratry power" on behalf of meat packers and milk distributors by monopolies and the agriculture minister.

The Council suggested that the Federal government dispose of farm surpluses to needy people of the world either through outright gifts as arms are made available to North Atlantic Treaty Organization countries or through long-term loans.

Minister Describes Home As Disgrace

PORT COLBORNE, May 5—(CP)—The Rev. George Knighton, pastor of the Central United Church here, Sunday described conditions at the Welland County Home for the aged as "a disgrace to the community."

Telling his congregation of a recent visit to the institution, he described it as "nothing but drabness and an atmosphere of gloom and depression."

He said the residents were denied sugar for their tea and permitted only a small teaspoonful for their porridge.

County Warden P. E. Pietz said Sunday night he was looking into the situation at the home.

RCAF Air Commodore At Special Service

OXFORD, England, May 5 —(CP). — Air Commodore Martin Costello of Winnipeg and Alexandria, Ont., Sunday represented the R.C.A.F. at a service of dedication and remembrance at Botley Cemetery. Representatives of South Africa, Australia, New Zealand, and four European countries also attended the ceremony.

Churchill Says War Danger Eases In Last Six Months

LONDON, May 5 (CP)—Prime Minister Churchill said Saturday night the danger of war has eased in the last six months.

Churchill, in a broadcast on the theme of his regime's first half-year of office, remarked: "We have anxious years to endure but I cannot believe that the danger of world was is as great as it was a year ago or that the last six months have not seen an improvement."

The Prime Minister said all hopes of making things better at home depend upon keeping the peace and added:

"The fear of another world war casts its dark shadow upon every land on both sides of the Iron Curtain that divides mankind. I have the feeling that this fear is becoming universal and it is sinking deeper into all human hearts, and from that I draw the hope that all will in the end come right."

Churchill commented that if his belief is an improvement of the world tension proves correct "no one will rejoice more than those who in this country were so wickedly accused by their political opponents of seeking war when the present parliament was being chosen."

Wise Conduct

He praised the "wise and skillful conduct" of foreign affairs by Anthony Eden.

But the major portion of his speech was devoted to domestic affairs.

He said he could think of nothing worse than for Britain to have a general election every year. Members of parliament are elected for five years and Churchill's Conservative Government has a working majority of 16. Unless he encounters a vote of no confidence his government could hold office for that period.

The Conservatives' bill on denationalization of steel is already drafted and will be presented to parliament this year, he said.

Referring to the sterling area's gold and dolars reserves, Churchill said that if hard and decisive action had not been taken by the new chancellor of the exchequer, Richard Butler, the reserves would have been exhasted by the end of this summer.

Blames Socialists

The results of the Socialist Government's "extravagance and waste, of overspending and living upon American money has brought us all within sight of a dead stop," Churchill said.

But, he added, "if our present progress continues and is not upset by world misfortunes, we ought, before the end of the year, to be paying our way."

Churchill remarked that the parties seemed to be getting even more bitterly divided, but his government had the will—and he believed the power—to continue for another three or four years.

Top men of Britain's Labor Party, in a counterblast Sunday, claimed the end is near for the Conservative Government.

In Glasgow, his Labor predecessor, Clement Atlee, predicted: "It's going to be a short interlude."

"Churchill appeals to you on the eve of the municipal elections. He had a pretty nasty shock in England at the county council elections. We served him with a notice to quit."

Time Coming

In the key industrial City of Birmingham, Labor Leftist Aneurin Bevan echoed: "The time is fast approaching when even Churchill's determination to hang onto office will not prove strong enough and we shall have an opportunity of a general election."

Sir Hartley Shawcross, ex-president of the board of trade, told a political rally at Warrington:

"What we are seeing now is the final decay of the once-great Tory Party. Its death is soon to come. The danger is that in its death struggle it may cause great travail and damage to the country.

Hugh Gaitskell, former Chancellor of the Exchequer, told a Sheffield audience: "I do not think the government in its present form will last much longer."

Recommendation Taken

HAMILTON, May 5—(CP)—Local 879 of the General Truck Drivers' Union (A.F.L.) Sunday accepted the recommendation of a conciliation board for settlement of a wage dispute. At meetings held in London, Woodstock, Kitchener, Brantford and Hamilton, 1,200 truckers, freight handlers and checkers accepted a wage increase of from 14 to 16 cents an hour.

Urges Workers Learn Gov't

ORILLIA, May 5—(CP)—Charles Millard, national director of the United Steelworkers Union (C.I.O.-C.C.L.) Sunday told a convention of steel workers that they had better learn more about government and educate themselves in government.

"Some day we are going to rule this country," he told 200 delegates representing southeastern Ontario locals. "Some day there will be an international labor government whose task will be to take wages out of competition."

Grain Commissioner Charles Hamilton Dies

WINNIPEG, May 5 (CP) — Charles McGill Hamilton, 74, a member of the Board of Grain Commissioners for 19 years, died Saturday. He had been ill for 18 months.

He was minister of agriculture in the Saskatchewan Liberal government in the 1920s. He also held the post of highways minister and municipal affairs with his agriculture portfolios.

Mr. Hamilton was appointed to the re-organized board of grain commissioners in August, 1929, re-apointed in July, 1939, and retired in January, 1948, at the age of 70.

He introduced Thatcher wheat to Europe in 1938 in one of his important missions for the board.

Born in Whitechurch, Bruce County, Ont., he went to Indian Head, Sask., in 1892 and taught in rural schools.

FISHING BEAUTY—Arlene Flint, of Owen Sound, Ont., was one of the prettiest fishermen to go fly-fishing with the opening of the Ontario trout season May 1. Arlene didn't say whether she caught anything as large as another Owen Sound angler, David McDonald, who landed a four-pound, 14-ounce brown trout the same day. But a day in the sun, with a fly rod, attractive scenery, a fast-moving stream added up to a happy occasion.

Dance Expresses Discomfort In New Hovels

By MARGARET HERLIHY

JOHANNESBURG, May 5—(Reuters)—"Boogie Woogie" came to Africa and the Africans liked it so well they decided to improve on it.

The result is "Mbubi," a jazz form combining features of "boogie-woogie" with Africa's traditional native music.

The wedding of the two took place in the teeming slums mushrooming up around South Africa's larger cities where natives, just recently in from the interior of the country, make their homes.

Most of them have come to find work in the new factories and industries starting up in South Africa and for them "Mbubi" expresses the confusion and discomfort they feel in their new environment.

To them the name "boogie" suggested the African name "Mbubi," which means "the lion's roars."

The "boogie" beat or "roar" is a nostalgic reminder of their own African rhythms which they used to beat out on primitive instruments in remote native reserves.

Old And New

In "Mbubi," the old and new native and jazz combine in a counterpoint of the short, monotonous, rhythmic themes typical of old African music, and the sweet, freely-flowing melodies popularized by the missionaries.

In the old songs, the Africans sang of country life, the hunt, the tribe's history and the wars. Today, they sing of love, town life, getting drunk and being happy.

With the rise of "Mbubi," Africa has swiftly developed its own tin pan alley.

Already singers, composers, arrangers and musicians are making records for white companies which cater to an enthusiastic African market.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Canadian Council On Nutrition Recommends Daily Food Practice

The following list recommends daily food practice, and is approved by the Canadian Council on Nutrition.

Do you use it for your guide?

It is devised to insure Canadian consumers ample supplies of protien, minerals and vitamins.

"It is actually cheaper to follow this set of recommendations in feeding a family than it is to adhere to the food choice made so frequently." (Dr. E. W. McHenry, Prof, Public Health Nutrition, University of Toronto)

Have At Least Three Meals A Day

Milk: Children up to 12 years at least 1 pint. Adolescents 1½ pints. Adults at least ½ pint.

Fruit: One serving of citrus fruit (orange, grapefruit, lemon, tangerine) or tomatoes or their juices; and one serving other fresh fruit.

Vegetables: At least one serving potatoes (frequently include skins); at least two servings other vegetables, preferably leafy, green or yellow and regularly raw.

Cereals and Bread: One serving whole grain cereal, and at least 4 slices bread (preferably whole grain) with butter or fortified margarine.

Meat and Fish: One serving of meat, fish, poultry, or meat alternatives such as dried beans, eggs and cheese. Use liver frequently. In addition Eggs and Cheese at least 3 times a week each.

Vitamin D At least 400 International Units daily for all growing persons and for expectant and nursing mothers.

This list alone will not furnish sufficient calories for housewives or for men doing more than sedentary work. For such people additional food is needed. (This additional food should take the form of more meat and vegetables and fruit; NOT an increase in sweet "made" desserts such as cake, pie, puddings and candy.)

As this list stands it constitutes an excellent reducing diet for most adults and it is a safe one (for it contains all the protective foods.)

Much has been said about poverty being the cause of poor nutritional conditions in Canada. "But if we examine the evidence carefully we will find at present that the major causes are lack of interest, lack of knowledge and lack of energy." (quote from Dr. McHenry again.)

Let's take a look at this "lack of interest". Are you disinterested in the health of your family? Is that why you feed them the food you and your husband like instead of making the foods they should have so attractive they can't resist them?

"Lack of knowledge". Pleading instructions in Government brochures, magazine articles, newspaper columns (some of them like this) are before your eyes every day, or for the asking.

"Lack of energy". Heaven forbid that a Canadian housewife be called lazy. Nothing worthwhile is accomplished without work. The good health of your children is profoundly worthwhile.

What's Right?

In a restaurant you are served soup and crackers.

WRONG: Crumble the crackers into the soup.

RIGHT: Eat the crackers as they are.

Bedtime Snack solves laxative problem

"Constipation made me sullen all day. What a change since I started to use ALL-BRAN regularly! Even my wife notices it!" writes man from Ville Montmorency, Que. If you suffer from irregularity due to lack of bulk, try a bowlful of this toast cereal every night before bed. It may bring back the youthful regularity you thought long lost. ALL-BRAN is the only type ready-to-eat cereal that supplies all the bulk you may need. It's high in protein and iron. Not habit-forming. Kellogg's is so sure you'll like ALL-BRAN that if you're not completely satisfied after 10 days, send empty carton to Kellogg's, London, Ont., and get DOUBLE YOUR MONEY BACK!

Canadian Wife Is Placed At Top By Noted Writer

By MURIEL NARRAWAY,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON. —(CP)— A young Canadian girl, in New York between jobs, telephoned mystery novelist George Simenon to say she didn't want to be his secretary.

The two met to talk it over, fell in love strolling in Central Park and became a perfectly happy married couple.

"It was really unbelievable," says the former Denise Ouimet of Ottawa, the quiet, convent-trained woman who made the chance call to M. Simenon in 1945.

"He said he liked buxom blondes, and I'm small and dark," she said. "At that time, I weighed only 92 pounds. How do you figure it out?"

M. Simenon has an emphatic answer.

"You couldn't find a better wife than a Canadian girl," he said, "turning from the window of his London hotel suite with a typically impulsive gesture.

"Now you see what a wonderful husband I have," said Denise in her slightly French-accented English.

The former Ottawa woman, who now lives with her Belgian-born husband in Lakeville, Conn., wears no make-up and allows M. Simenon to choose her clothes. She'd rather talk about his books, which now total 350, including 42 which have been made into films.

"Writing is a physical necessity to him," she said.

Uses Sound-Proof Room

Maybe that's why pipe-smoking M. Simenon still writes five to seven novels a year, working about 2½ hours daily in a sound-proof room. At a chapter a day, a novel takes 10 to 12 days. Almost all are mystery stories, with the accent on mood and psychology. His best-known works have "Inspector Maigret" as the central figure.

"Even the tradesmen don't bother him if I let them know he's working," says Denise. The idea of the sound-proof room was used by the late Edgar Wallace.

The Simenons crossed the Atlantic in March to combine a holiday with an engagement in Brussels May 8, when the author, now a permanent American resident, becomes a member of the Belgian Royal Academy.

Their itinerary has included visits to France, where M. Simenon's writing career started at 19. While there they relaxed on the Cote D'Azur, spending four days with French author Marcel Pagnol. Later they watched the well-known director, Jean Renoir — godfather to their 2½-year-old son Jean — filming in Italy.

When not travelling, the author and his wife spend the time between novels riding, tramping, swimming and skiing. Just living, M. Simenon absorbs details of scenes and people that eventually help to make a story.

Barbara Hall Lovely Bride Of Mr. George Ludgate

A lovely wedding of Saturday afternoon was that of Miss Barbara Joan Hall to Mr. Douglas George Pearse Ludgate, which took place at two o'clock in St. Paul's Presbyterian Church in a setting of pink and white snapdragon and white carnations. The Rev. C. G. Boyd officiated in the double ring ceremony.

The taffeta redingote was finished with a Queen Anne collar and came to a low vee neckline set off by self-covered buttons to the waist. Long sheath sleeves were lily-pointed and the full skirt was highlighted by Guipure lace appliques studded with rhinestones and fell in soft folds to a slight sweep. Underneath was a gown of the silk net styled with strapless bodice and a bouffant skirt. Her veil of embroidered net fell to floor length and was caught to a Queen Anne headdress with seed pearls. Her bouquet was of red Bettertime roses and white 'mums.

Three bridal attendants were Miss Helen Goodfellow, maid of honor, Miss Marlen Cullen and Mrs. Barry O'Shaughnessy. Miss Goodfellow wore a gown of pink silk net with fitted jacket of french lace, and the bridesmaids wore similar gowns of blue and green silk net with taffeta jackets. His wedding attendant was Mr. Gerard Hopkins, of Kingston, and the ushers were Paul Reid, also a radio announcer here, and Fred Hall, brother of the bride.

Enraged Designers Expect New Law Stop Fashion Spies

By NADEANE WALKER

PARIS, May 5—(AP)—Paris is fighting a flourishing espionage service, with foreign spies, a domestic fifth column, clandestine workrooms, microscopic cameras and secret telegraphic codes.

If one of the spies is caught red-handed (as sometimes happens) his secret papers concern not Army installations but collars and sleeves, tucks and pleats.

Enraged dressmakers, who claim copyists are robbing them of millions of francs each fashion season, recently persuaded the French government to pass a new law making those who copy their creations liable to up to two years' imprisonment.

"Copying has become an international sport," an official of the French Dressmakers' Syndicate says. "We must make people realize it is a serious offence. We have the law: now we need examples!"

About 50 copyists have been prosecuted in France in the last few years, but under the old laws a fine of from 12,000 to 240,000 francs was the only punishment provided.

Now, in addition to the fine and imprisonment, copyists are threatened with having to pay an "amend" of up to 500,000 francs to the designer they copy from.

Aimed At U.S.

The Dressmakers' Syndicate will not admit that the new law is aimed particularly at Americans but they do say that "it is the foreign copyist who do us the most harm, and it is American mass reproductions which represent the greatest loss."

Besides sketching, many other devices are known to be used by copyists, chief among them the microscopic camera and the "camera-eyed" spy. The syndicate also has heard of—and firmly believes in—an international telegraphic code for sending minutely detailed descriptions immediately after the openings.

The "agent" comes equipped with a special card, and sits clicking code numbers covering every detail of every garment, down to the last button. He telegraphs his report as soon as the show is over.

Any woman who uses "little dressmakers" in Paris learns she can have exact copies of any model she likes in any show. The patterns are sometimes sold by employees of the house.

Innumerable small workshops work full time at turning out high fashion copies. Some are supplied by "commissionaires" who buy for foreign clients, taking the models to clandestine workrooms to be copied overnight, before sending them off.

DOROTHY DIX

Daughter Must Be Firm With Oversensitive Mother

DEAR MISS DIX: The situation I am about to outline has me completely distraught. I am a business woman in my middle forties—and can truthfully say I don't look it—with a comfortable home and a fine husband. The difficulty is my mother, who lives with us.

Her tender little feelings are strung out everywhere. She assumes the right to read my mail, go through my belongings, greet our guests and bid them goodnight—no matter what the hour. If a woman friend drops in to see me, mother is right on hand to drink in every word of the conversation. We have assured her that the last thing we want is to make a prisoner of her in her own room, but a little privacy now and then would be very desirable for us.

She insists that she, and she alone, must be responsible for our housekeeping. Since ours is a large house, obviously she cannot care for it adequately, hence it is usually not very clean or tidy. If I suggest a cleaning woman, we have red eyes and sighs for days on end. If I try to housecleam myself, the same routine ensues. So to avoid dissension I let things go.

If you suggest that I put my foot down, I have tried it, with the result that I felt like a heel watching mamma go around teary-eyed. When my husband is at home she is not so bad, as he has good nerves and can jolly her along. When I am alone with her, as I frequently am since my husband is a travelling man, every move I make brings on a "bitterly hurt" attack. What can I do?

ELFRIDA M.

ANSWER: A hypersensitive person is a most difficult type to deal with, chiefly because we seldom admit the real cause for the trouble. These people are excellent actors, who have thoroughly learned the value of a tear. They are, in addition, selfish, determined people who will brook no interference in their own self-directed sphere of action. Invariably, however, their victims accept their tender feelings at face value and will do anything to avoid a scene that is bound to end with tears, sulks and recriminations. The success of their tactics is almost always as thorough as those of your mother. A household unfortunate to include, as one of its members, an easily wounded woman, automatically revolves around her and seldom does a courageous rebel emerge with sufficient ammunition to quell the attack.

Drastic Measures Needed

Nothing— but nothing— except the most drastic measures can free a family from the leechlike hold of a pseudo-sensitive soul.

Your very fine letter, which I have somewhat condensed, conveys quite clearly the desperation of your own domestic problem. It will never be alleviated by simple measures. You'll have to be harsh to bring your mother back to normalcy. Why a woman with the fine home and family she has cannot be satisfied to accept her good fortune without demanding the full reins of authority, is a puzzle—and unfortunately, not an uncommon one.

My advice, I know, is much easier to give than to follow, but for the sake of your own health and reason, your authority in the household must be asserted. If mamma accepts it with tears, let her cry it out. She will get over it, I assure you. The very best course for you would be to set her up in her own household, a procedure which, though expensive, is well worth the money, and in your case probably feasible. Since you have a good job, and your husband presumably has, no great financial difficulty would be encountered. If that idea is too drastic, keep your mother with you, but remember that the tears are spurious, the demand for attention real. Insist on privacy when you have guests, and insist on your right, as manager of the house, to have it kept as you want it.

Had you given me your name and address, I would have written you personally—perhaps my reply would have been good for mother's prying eyes.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Last summer I met a fine young man with whom I am now going steady. He is devoted, considerate, and possesses many fine qualities. However, I have become aware of one habit I find irksome and irritating. For no apparent reason, and with no justification, he frequently injects little white lies into our conversation. They are of no importance, but have aroused a feeling of distrust in me. I don't know whether to ignore it, or casually intimate that I know he is fibbing.

ERNESTINE E.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Many people who have never felt of any importance to anyone adopt this fibbing program to raise themselves in their own estimation and, they assume, in that of others. It's a childish form of exhibitionism and, of course, the best way to cure it is to remove the feeling of inferiority from the fibber. By letting your friend know that he is important to you as he is, he may lose the impulse to lie in order to hold your attention. Casual reference to the fact that you know he is stretching the truth will be helpful. If the habit annoys you too much, better postpone the wedding until you think you have it licked.

Fiery, Itching Toes And Feet

Here is a clean, stainless antiseptic oil that will do more to help you get rid of your trouble than anything you've ever used.

Its action is so powerfully penetrating that the itching is quickly relieved and in a short time you are free of that bothersome, fiery itching. The same is true of Barber's Itch, Salt Rheum, Eczema—other irritating unsightly skin troubles.

You can obtain Moone's Emerald Oil in the original bottle at any modern drug store. It is safe to use—and failure in any of the ailments noted above is rare indeed.

New Toni
WITH PRICELESS PINK LOTION

Holds the set longer than any other permanent!

Which Twin's Toni was set a week ago—and which was set today?

Yes, both twins have Toni's. Julia Lacy, on the left, had hers set just before this picture was taken — Cynthia, on the right, had her Toni set one whole week before and never re-set it! You can't tell the difference. Here's proof that Priceless Pink Lotion gives a wave that stays lovely without re-setting!

You'll forget all other ideas about permanents the first time you use New Toni with Priceless Pink Lotion. For the new Toni process is faster, gives a wave with the vibrant spring and silky-softness of a natural wave. Yes, and it holds the set longer than any other permanent you've ever had!

Never a lotion so wonderful! You've never used anything like Toni's new Priceless Pink Lotion! It curls more completely—yet is kinder to your hair! And that means a lovelier, livelier wave for you. Less re-setting. New freedom from the nightly chore of pin curls.

Never a neutralizer so fast! You save 20 minutes with the new Permafix method of neutralizing. And because Permafix neutralizes more thoroughly, it "locks in" your Toni wave so it can't come out. New Toni means all day—every day beauty for you month after month.

Never a guarantee so complete! If you don't say your new Toni looks lovelier and holds the set longer than any other permanent you've ever had, the Toni Company will cheerfully refund your money. So try New Toni—and you be the judge. Ask for the New Toni at any cosmetic counter.

New Toni Refill $1.75

Toni

Makes you forget your hair was ever straight!

Deadliest Blast In History Eruption Of Mount Pelee

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE,
Associated Press Science Editor

NEW YORK, May 5—(AP)—The A-bomb is a firecracker compared with the flash of fire and poison gas that erupted from Mt. Pelee, Martinique, 50 years ago on May 8. It was the deadliest volcano blast in history.

The double flash killed all but four of the 28,000 persons on St. Pierre, a seaport several miles from the 4,000-foot volcano. Three died in hospitals after rescue. The fourth, a prisoner in an underground cell, was unhurt.

The Pelee flash killed another 2,000 in villages outside the city.

One of the few eye-witness accounts comes from an officer of the Roriama, of the Quebec Steamship Trading Company, as quoted by Satis N. Coleman, in "Volcanoes New and Old."

"I saw St. Pierre destroyed. The city was blotted out by one great flash of fire. Of 18 vessels lying in the roads only one, the British steamship Roddam, escaped; and she, I heard, lost more than half those on board.

"The Roriama arrived early that morning. For hours before we entered we could see flames and smoke from Mt. Pelee.

"There was a tremendous explosion about 7.45 . . . the mountain was blown to pieces. The side of the volcano was ripped out and there was hurled straight toward us a solid wall of flame.

"The wave of fire was on and over us like a lightning flash. I saw it strike the cable steamship Grappler broadside and capsize her . . the town vanished before our eyes. The sea was turned into high whirlpools."

Pelee had been a peaceful scenic, almost extinct volcano, with only one small eruption in 50 years. In her crater was a beautiful, blue lake.

The first warning was a column of smoke two weeks before the explosion. Not until three days before did the eruption become alarming. Animals, birds and even snakes were leaving the area, but the inhabitants were lulled by the Governor of Martinique, whose scientists said there was no danger. He was among the dead.

Air Cadets Collect $675 In Tag Day

Air Cadets collected $675.14 in their tag day Saturday. Cadet leaders of Peterborough Wing No. 428, R.C.A.F., said they were very pleased with the amount citizens put in the tins.

Some of the cadets did their collecting in Lakefield.

One lady discovered when she opened her purse to make a contribution that she had no change. She took the boy tagger some distance with her to her home on Charlotte St. then gave the boy 75 cents. He took the bus back to get on his post as quickly as he could.

Car Hits Pole, Village Darkens

NORWOOD, May 5 (ENS) — A car snapped off a hydro pole on Highway 7, throwing the village into darkness for more than an hours at 1 a.m. Sunday morning.

Blinding headlights of an oncoming car were blamed by the driver, Harold Pearson, 18, of Warkworth. He was travelling east, and after passing the car, his late model auto went out of control, crossed the highway, crashed into the hydro pole and continued 40 feet before rolling over.

The impact, which sheared off the pole, damaged the front end of the car considerably and the top was badly caved in, when it ended up on its top with the wheels in the air.

Pearson and his companion, Miss Lorraine Skinkle, 17, also of Warkworth, climbed out of the wrecked car and were trying to rouse someone above Cavanaugh's grocery store, near the scene of the accident, when a passing motorist, Clifford Davey and Mrs. Davey of Norwood, stopped and took them to Dr. A. R. Atkinson's office.

Miss Skinkle was treated for minor cuts and scrapes on his nose, and Miss Skinkle received a bad cut above one eye.

Police Chief Herbert Bradley of Norwood investigated.

Noisiest World Yet Men Turn In Need To God

Taking as his subject, "The Touch of God's Hand," the Rev. Dr. Norman Coll, O.B.E., of Ottawa told the evening congregation at St. Andrew's United Church that there are four reasons why men have turned to religion down through the ages.

Dr. Coll, who is president of the Montreal-Ottawa conference of the United Church of Canada, was guest speaker at both the morning and evening services, marking St. Andrew's 119th anniversary Sunday.

Most Brutalized

"This is the noisiest and most brutalized world since time began," declared Mr. Coll. "There is little reverance for anything, yet every age has been an age of faith and reverance." Dr. Coll used as his text, the sixth chapter of Isaiah, the sixth verse and said he would commend four reasons for man's turning to religion, to "those who have missed the reality of religion and are still doubting its relevance to their lives."

First of all, Dr. Coll said interest in religion stems from an "inescapable sense of awe." In and through a sense of awe and the presence of God, great men through the centuries have linked their causes and lives with God's great purposes and found faith to move mountains of difficulty and power to meet each day's tasks," he said.

Voice Of God

Secondly, Dr. Coll said there is "amongst all of us a sense of ought"—which he said is really the voice of God urging men to meet "the challenge of the demand of duty. Men are restless and dissatisfied until they come to assume their rightful place in God's great scheme of things," he said.

Thirdly, he said man has an inherent sense of need, "a sense of personal inadequacy. This sense of need sometimes finds outlets in jealousy of others who appear to be adequate," but he warned, "we never satisfy our own shortcomings by indulging in jealousy of others."

Finally, Dr. Coll said the fourth reason for man's concern and desire for religion is "a sense of another," which he said in "time of need can be a very real experience."

These four Dr. Coll said "will keep your religion and mine, real, vital and relevant to the demands of life and the revelation of God's mighty work."

At the evening service, the congregation of Trinity United joined with St. Andrew's and the Rev. Dr. Bruce Gordon led in prayer and read the lesson.

Miss Jeanne Pengelly, of Timothy Eaton Memorial Church, Toronto, was guest soloist at both morning and evening services.

She sang three selections at each service—in the morning: O Divine Redeemer, by Gounod; Hear My Prayer and Handell's Hallelujah. At the evening service, Miss Pengelly sang Almighty God of our Fathers, The Ninety and Nine and took the solo part of a third selection, When Thou Comest, with the St. Andrew's choir providing the choral background.

Jap Emperor Wants To Rearm

TOKYO, May 5 (Reuters)—Japan celebrated its official independence day soberly May 3 with Premier Shigeru Yoshida imploring his countrymen to find the courage to rearm.

Elaborate security plans were carried out by thousands of police but there was no repitition of the violend May-Day rioting Thursday.

Ten thousand helmeted police were stationed around the imperial palace grounds to watch for agitators and persons carrying weapons but only about 15,000 turned up to hear Emperor Hirohito make a brief address in his first public appearance since the country's peace treaty went into effect early last week.

Only incident reported was that of a palace kitchen hand—Sumiga Osuga—who climbed the chimney of the palace just before Hirohito's appearance. He carried a Red flag and demanded the Emperor's "impeachment." He swallowed poison before police arrested him and was taken to hospital seriously ill.

Yoshida, broadcasitng his address, said reliance on the United States for national defence was not independence though he would not propose rearmament "prematurely," he said.

Local Unions Back Leaders

Representatives of the Textile Workers Union of America (CIO-CCL) in this district, representing some 1,450 production workers, threw their full weight behind the administration at the convention last week in Cleveland.

Sam Baron, former Canadian director who was fired by International President Emil Rieve, is believed to be forming a breakaway group. He has received his greatest support in Hamilton and also in some locals in the London area and in the Maritimes.

The anti-administration forces are headed by George Baldanzi, former executive vice-president, and Mr. Baron. The strife within the union has continued for two years.

Representing the Trent Valley Joint Board at Cleveland were the following representatives: Lionel Jones, Local 1288 (Campbell's Dairy); Tom Cox, Local 1112 (Fanning's Laundry); Bob Wilson, Local 822 (Peterborough-Brinton Carpet Co.); Albert Johnston, director of the Trent Valley Joint Board; Borden Copperthwaite, Local 743 (Campbellford Cloth); Marion Bush, Local 1152 (Downs and Coulter of Trenton); Jack Phillips, Local 974 (Trenton Cottons); and Ted Bevan, Local 718 (Bradford Dyers of Cobourg).

House Of Lords Reform Measures Urged

LONDON, May 5 (Reuters) — Reform measures to be urged in the House of Lords this week would permit women to sit in the House for the first time. But a tradition built up over 900 years won't be easy to break.

This "peerage suffrage" is one of a series of reforms for the Upper House that have been simmering for some time.

In last fall's general election campaign, Prime Minister Churchill pledged his government to "call an all-party conference to consider proposals for the reform of the House of Lords."

Viscount Samuel, 81-year-old Liberal leader, will take up the issue Tuesday and ask when the government plans to fulfil the pledge.

Most parties want to retain the Upper House, feeling that it carries out important functions efficiently and conscientiously. It can delay laws passed by the Commons—except money bills—for 12 months.

But there has been a growing demand for changes in its composition.

At present a full House would consist of 975—860 hereditary peers, the law lords and 26 Church of England Bishops and Archbishops, 28 Irish peers elected for life, and 16 Scottish peers elected by the Scottish peerage for the duration of each parliament. But there are no women.

The Liberal party feels that this predominance of hereditary lawmakers should not continue. It would like to see the creation of "lords for life"—persons of distinction in fields such as medicine, commerce and education—whose titles would lapse with their deaths.

As for the present hereditary peers, they would be able to elect a number of their fellows to represent them in the House; the dozen or so "peeresses in their own right"—whose titles are their own and not received through family or husband—would be eligible.

The Labor party also is eager for some reform, since peers come mostly from traditionally-Conservative families and give the Tories a perpetual majority.

Lumbermen Look Over Plan To Help Finance Homes

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor.

A proposal designed to make more money available for home building, with lower down-payments and somewhat lower interest rates, is being discussed in lumber circles.

The plan is said to be similar to those of British building societies.

A company would be formed to issue, say, $100,000,000 in bonds, which would be offered for sale to the public and investment institutions.

These bonds would pay 3½ per cent interest to tahe purchasers. The Federal Government would be asked to allow this interest to be tax-free, and to collect ½ per cent tax on the bonds from the issuing company.

How It Would Operate

Assuming the bonds were sold, the company would then have $100,000,000 for its program. It would operate like this:

The prospective home purchaser would pick out the house he wanted, and, depending upon both the purchaser and the house being approved, the company would buy it for him, and he would repay the company through a mortgage on which he would pay five per cent interest.

The mortgage ordinarily would be up to 80 per cent of the price of the house, but if the purchaser still did not have the amount of the 20 per cent down payment, the company would advance a further 10 per cent.

Under this, a house costing, say, $10,000, could be bought for a down payment of $1,000.

Under the plan, however, it would be necessary that the amount of the mortgage above 80 per cent, be guaranteed by some one, presumably by a local government, and presumably a provincial government.

The practicability of the proposal would seem to depend upon whether or not the governments asked to participate would consider it sound, and whether or not there were purchasers for the company's bonds.

Saleability of the bonds, unless there were a big public response to them, would seem to depend upon their appealing to investment institutions.

Examine Bonds

The investment companies, or other private purchasers, would examine the bonds on the basis of the soundness of their set-up, and upon whether or not they thought a correct estimate had been made of the costs of operating the scheme.

Under the proposal, there would be no profits to the company. Interested lumber companies would benefit from their sales of lumber.

Maurice B. Dix, secretary-manager of the National Council of Retail Lumbermen and president and general manager of Interprovincial Building Credits, Ltd., gives the following division of the five per cent interest which the home purchaser would pay on his mortgage.

To bondholders 3½ per cent; to federal government for tax, ½ per cent; reserve (to cover possible losses), ¼ per cent; services ½ per cent; administration ¼ per cent.

The plan envisions operation through interprovincial building credits, owned chiefly by rental lumbermen, which handles the financing of credits granted by retailers to home owners for home improvement.

Cost Moderate

It handles credits from $100 to $2,000, and on the basis of experience with these, Mr. Dix thinks the cost of administering the plan would be moderate. He says interprovincial building credits has virtually no collection problems, and adds:

"Home owners certainly pay up. Money pours in on the due date. Last year, out of $3,000,000 in notes our loss was only $400."

The plan envisions that builders would be in the same position as producers of other lines of goods. They would build the house, and the buyer would see the finished article before he took it.

Father Sees Boat Drifting On Whitefish Lake

BANNOCKBURN, May 6. —(Staff)—The body of 26-year-old Ted Blatherwick of Bannockburn was recovered Sunday afternoon in Whitefish Lake, nine miles inside the southern boundary of Algonquin Park and 100 miles northeast of Peterborough.

Blatherwick started out in his boat about 11 p.m. Saturday to set some minnow traps. He is believed to have started his outboard motor, possibly injuring himself in the fall. Death was by drowning.

His overturned boat was seen floating out on the lake Sunday morning by his father, Lloyd Blatherwick, C.N.R. station agent at Bannockburn. Mr. Blatherwick Sr., notified provincial police at Whitney and the body was found about 2 p.m. Sunday afternoon, 60 feet from shore, in 20 feet of water.

Experienced Guide

Blatherwick was an experienced guide, having spent several summers conducting tourists around the lakes in that region of Algonquin Park. His father said he was an excellent swimmer and must have been injured or he could easily have made the short distance back to shore.

There will be no inquest.

The body was recovered by O.P.P. Constable Charles Baker of Whitney, assisted by O.P.P. Constables Lorne Maeck and Allen Leishman of Huntsville.

First Trip Back

Father and son were making their first trip back to the cabin this year. They had been looking forward to a full day of trout fishing Sunday.

Mr. Blatherwick did not suspect that anything was wrong until early Sunday when he realized that his son had not returned to the cabin during the night. He looked out on the lake and saw the overturned boat drifting about, 100 yards from shore. The motor, still attached, had not been started.

Besides his father and mother Ted Blatherwick leaves a brother Clayton, serving with the Canadian forces in Germany; and two sisters, Dorothy of Toronto and Sylvia of Bannockburn.

Begin Investigation

WASHINGTON, May 6.—(AP)—The House of Representatives labor committee today began a broad investigation of the government's wage stabilization board with special emphasis on its handling of the steel labor dispute. Charles E. Wilson, who quit as mobilization chief in protest against the administration's handling of the steel case, was called as the committee's first witness.

Que. Millionaire Jailed For Five Years

GRANBY, Que., May 6 (CP)—George Dubois, who tossed lavish parties and was known as the [illegible] was sentenced today to five years in penitentiary on five charges of obtaining $85,750 by false pretences.

Dubois was sentenced by Judge Patrick Delaney on five separate charges, involving amounts of $20,715, $43,750, $6,635, $13,500 and $1,150.

Dubois was charged with fleecing Adeodat Marquette, a 55-year-old Granby farmer, claiming he and his brother Maurice could arrange to get American automobiles for $1,400 without paying customs duty. Marquette financed the deal but said he never received any cars and none of his money was returned.

Dubois, clean-shaven and well dressed in a brown gabardine suit, bent his head when Judge Delaney said:

"I have no sympathy for you. This is not the first time you have appeared before the courts on such a charge. You have taken money dishonestly and spent it foolishly."

Pleaded Guilty

Dubois pleaded guilty to the charges last Tuesday. He had been waiting trial for three months since his original plea of innocent. He was arrested Jan. 21 by provincial police and was unable to meet cash bail of $10,000, subsequently lowered to $5,000.

Police said he went on an extended spending spree with the money obtained from Marquette.

Police said Dubois approached Marquette's son, Roger, and said if the son could sell four cars he would get one free.

The son was said to have gone to a brother-in-law and obtained $150 as a down-payment on a truck. But the truck was never received and the money never returned.

Marquette kept putting up money to finance Dubois' supposed car deals in the United States, with the hope also of getting his son-in-law's money back or a truck. At that time, something was suposed to have gone wrong with Dubois' arrangements.

Labor Heads Pleased At Report

Dealers See Period Of Prosperity Opened By Abbott

By The Canadian Press

Removal of consumer credit strictions was hailed today by retailers and manufacturers as a boost for business. Labor leaders, a Canadian Press survey showed, also praised the move, saying it would aid employment.

In an immediate aftermath of the lifting of the credit curbs, advertisers took newspaper space

The restrictions, when first imposed, demanded a minimum down-payment of 50 per cent on automobiles and a third down on such consumer goods as furniture and electric stoves. The maximum time to pay was 18 months.

Dealers Pleased

Finance Minister Abbott's suspension of the curbs Monday pleased dealers who had demanded such action in the face of decreasing sales.

"Best news in the automobile industry in a long time," said George H. Jackson, vice-president of the Ford Motor Company of Canada. "Restrictions, coupled with heavy sales and excise taxes, have imposed a heavy burden on the automobile purchaser, dealer and manufacturer."

"It's bound to increase auto buying among the new low-priced British cars," said Louis Michelin, managing director of Austin of Canada. "Sales should increase throughout the industry."

"We are overjoyed," said J. A. Pardie, president of the Canadian Radio and Appliance Dealers. "This is just what we've been after for months. This spells the end of the phoney trade-in. The public was confused; now they can buy again with confidence."

A spokesman for Kelvinator of Canada Limited at London, Ont., echoed his gratification.

Aid To Young People

"Hundreds of thousands of young people are buying their homes today," he said. "They need ranges, refrigerators, washing machines and the like, but

End Credit Curbs, Consumer Buying Now Freed

OTTAWA, May 6. (CP)—Restrictions on consumer credit buying ended in Canada today. Finance Minister Abbott Monday announced in the Commons the removal of the restrictions. A few minutes earlier it was disclosed that the cost-of-living index has dropped for the third consecutive month. The index during March declined by four-tenths of a point to 188.7 from 189.1, the Bureau of Statistics announced. Further reductions in prices of foods, clothing and home furnishings were credited for the decrease.

The index is based on 1935-39 prices equalling 100.

The March decline, following larger drops in January and February, brought the three-month decrease to 2.8 points from last

Effective Immediately

Suspension of credit curbs became effective today, and their removal was cheered by retailers and industry. Business spokesmen said they expect the move will bring an upsurge in sales.

Mr. Abbott told the Commons he believed conditions are such that the government can "safely" suspend credit curbs.

But he warned he would not hesitate to reimpose them immediately if required, and gave notice he will ask for renewal of credit legislation which would otherwise expire next July 31.

Credit regulations were first imposed in November, 1950, as a means of curbing civilian buying to aid the defence economy. Last January, when Mr. Abbott eased the restrictions, he promised he would make further cuts when he was convinced inflation was being beaten.

Since January, regulations have called for a minimum down-payment of 50 per cent of the purchase price for automobiles and one-third down on other consumer goods such as furniture, electric stoves and washing machines. The balance had to be paid in 18 months.

Expect Upswing

Automobile makers and dealers in particular are looking for an upswing in activity following the end of the curbs.

A main factor in the March decline of the cost-of living index was a drop in meat prices following the outbreak of foot-and-mouth disease and the U.S. ban on Canadian cattle and meat.

Almost all foods eased, except fresh pork, oranges and vegetables.

Car Smashes Into Train, One Man Killed

MARMORA, May 6 (ENS) — Donald Snider, 24, of Wagarville, was killed Monday when the car side of a northbound train two miles east of Marmora.

Snider was a passenger in a car driven by Bruce Wagar, of Parham, who suffered shock and multiple cuts in the crash. The car was eastbound on Highway 7 at 5:40 p.m. when the accident occurred. The train, a C.N.R. mixed freight and passenger, carried the car across the road and dashed it into a pond holding about a foot of water.

Snider was dead when he was taken from the car, and it is not known definitely whether the impact of the collision killed him or he drowned in the water. A post mortem being done today is expected to show the cause of death.

Taken To Hospital

Wagar was rushed to Belleville hospital shortly after Dr. H. G. Parkin of Marmora reached the scene. Snider's body was taken to a Marmora funeral home. The coroner, Dr. S. Beatty of Madoc, was also at the scene.

Engineer of the train was Harvey Brown of Frankford, fireman was Blake Cooke, Cannifton, and conductor was Dan Sullivan of Trenton. Corporal John Hatch of the O.P.P. investigated.

Plane Crashes In Norway; 11 Fatalities

OSLO, May 6 (AP).—A chartered Norwegian transport plane, bringing 25 sailors home from an Antarctic whaling expedition crashed and burned before dawn today in the rugged, wooded Telemark district, 150 miles southwest of Oslo.

Police reported 11 persons — nine passengers and two members of the crew—were killed and 10 others were injured, some seriously. A total of 29 was aboard.

The plane, operated by the Fred Olsen Charter Airline, left Amsterdam Monday night for Jarlsberg Airport, about 25 miles from Oslo.

It carried a crew of four and the 25 whalers from the 18,000-ton Antarctic Whaling Factory ship, Kosmos 3. The ship arrived in Rotterdam Sunday with a cargo of petroleum which it brought from the Persian Gulf after finishing the winter whaling season.

Crashed In Woods

The crash occurred in the dense Solberg woods a few miles outside the village of Drangedal.

Police said the plane had plowed through the trees and apparently caught fire soon after.

This was the second air crash to hit the Olsen Company in little more than a month. On April 2 another of the line's DC-3s crashed near Bordeaux, France, with a Swedish soccer team bound for Gothenburg, Sweden. No one was killed.

$100,000 Fire In Village

ST. ISIDORE, D'AUCKLAND, Que., May 6 (CP)—A fire spread uncontrolled for hours today and caused damage estimated at $100,000 in this village 35 miles from Sherbrooke, Que. No one was injured.

Flames broke out in a general store and spread to a barn, a garage and an adjoining home. Fanned by a high wind, they swept across the main street and slightly damaged a restaurant.

At one point, it was feared the village might be destroyed, but firemen from Sherbrooke and surrounding towns brought the outbreak under control.

The mayor's home, the church and several other buildings were slightly damaged.

Toronto Woman Stuck With 13-Yr.-Old Bail

TORONTO, May 6 (CP) — A Toronto woman who 13 years ago put up $3,000 for two men who jumped bail was told Monday that either she pay $1,000 and costs by Aug. 12 or the city will sell the house she put up as security.

"It's a holdup without a gun," Miss Rose Baird said last night. "If they had notified me even within three or four years I could have saved it . . . But to wait 13 years and then drop it in my lap. . ."

In 1939 Miss Baird put up the money for two men who jumped bail, and disappeared. More than a year later she traced them to Chicago and took the information to police. Frank Battaglia was arrested, brought back and sentenced. His companion, Frank Sciiany, was shot in Chicago.

Miss Baird said she heard nothing about the bail until a year ago when she received a letter from the city legal department. Monday she appeared in court to ask for relief from the bail.

Subdued Prisoners Return Quietly To Jail Cells

MONTREAL, May 6 (CP)—[illegible] officers, nearly half their inmates turned out to police station cells, went back to prison routine today while an official riot investigation gathered momentum. For the first time since Sunday's riot—and Monday's lesser outbreak that was choked off by tear gas—all prisoners at Bordeaux were locked in individual cells Monday night.

Their number was given as 327. The transfer of about 250 began early Monday. They were placed in cells in city and provincial stations downtown.

The top-level investigation was expected to begin with the arrival of Solicitor-General Rivard following conferences in Quebec with Premier Duplessis, who is attorney-general, and Finance Minister Gagnon.

Hold Conferences

These conferences followed detailed, telephoned reports on the rioting itself and on the situation at the jail, where unofficial estimates placed damage caused by prisoners as high as $400,000.

The investigation is expected to be focused on two subjects: quality of the food served and administration of the jail.

Protests over the food set off the Sunday riot but the Montreal Gazette in a front-page story today quoted a jail informant as saying the conduct of under-paid guards, who "connived with prisoners," was as much to blame for the rioting as poor food.

The informant said competent guards cannot be hired for $1,400 a year, and those now working in the jail are "half-starved and crooked" and allow prisoners to "run rackets."

A prisoner released Monday on expiration of his sentence, despite still-unsettled conditions at the jail, told The Canadian Press the prisoners want two things: better food and a new jail governor to replace Dr. Zenon Lesage.

Food Said Terrible

This prisoner said the food is "terrible, crummy." He told of "mush for breakfast, bread and a few pieces of sausage for dinner and not much better for supper."

The Sunday rioting broke out when "Chinese pie" was served. It's "a pie with dirty old potatoes, a little bit of meat and a couple of pieces of corn" and was served "every Sunday."

Dr. Lesage, asked Monday night if he had a statement for the public, said: "Never mind public opinion. It has already been in-

Planes Pound Sunchon Area

SEOUL, Korea, May 6 (AP). — Hundreds of Allied planes today bombed Sunchon, a North Korean rail junction, in a concentrated, day-long saturation attack.

"There'll really be a major revision of Red rail schedules tonight," a Fifth Air Force spokesman said.

The full strength of four fighter-bomber wings joined in the attack. Sabre jets guarded the area while the fighter-bombers roared out in repeated attacks on the vital railway link, 25 miles north of the North Korean capital, Pyongyang.

Allied planes followed the same plan used successfully last year in the heaviest bomb attack of the Korean War when 312 Allied planes hit airfields at Sinuiju on the Korean border.

The concentrated attack on heavily-defended Sunchon was preceded by round-the-clock raids on the major Communist railroad linking Sunchon with the Manchurian border. From Sunchon the rail lines fork to supply either end of the 155-mile front lines.

Buffalo Man Finally Freed

OTTAWA, May 6 (CP)—Walter Harris of Buffalo is going back to the United States. The tangle about his deportation has been straightened out.

Immigration officials said Monday Harris was held in Hamilton since March 18, the day his 15-day sentence for drunk driving ran out, until the United States agreed to take him back.

Harris wrote a letter to The Hamilton Spectator saying he was being held "indefinitely" because Canadian immigration authorities failed to deal properly with his case.

However, the immigration department said the United States didn't agree until April 29 to take

Labor Taking Early Lead In UK

LONDON, May 6 (AP) —Labor jumped to an early lead over Conservatives today in first inconclusive returns from country-wide municipal elections.

Labor leaders, made confident by victory in last month's county council elections, predicted another smashing political come-back for their anti-government forces.

[illegible] Conservative government already has lost its mandate to rule. The Conservatives, who have a slim majority in the House of Commons, say the Socialists are talking through their hats.

With less than one-tenth of the returns reported, Labor has scored net gains of 36 seats against net losses of 21 for the Conservatives, 13 for independents and two for the Liberals.

But the independents were maintaining a slim lead over Labor in total number of candidates elected. Conservative leaders were quick to point out that many independents favor Conservative programs.

Takes $400,000 To Play Market

PERTH AMBOY, N.J., May 6 (AP)—The First Bank and Trust Co. said Monday that a trusted vice-president had embezzled about $400,000 to try his luck on the stock market.

William C. Horley, the vice-president who is a Red Cross director and former chairman of the Community Chest fund, said he had been playing the market and had also made some large loans to poor risks.

He told an emergency meeting of the board of directors he could account for about $160,000 of the shortage which the bank said was fully covered by a bond.

Too Dazed

Horley, a tall, mild-mannered man, who lives in a modest home, said he was too dazed to remember any more or answer specific questions.

The directors said Horley was co-operating fully and they hoped of the loss.

Following the meeting, he was taken to magistrate's court for arraignment on charges of embezzling the money. He is 50, married, and has three children.

Horley's regular salary is $8,500 a year as vice-president of the bank and a member of the executive, loan, investment and trust committees.

Britain, France Opposing US Plan To "Test" Russia

LONDON, May 6 — (AP) —The United States, opposed by Britain and France, appeared ready today to drop its idea for the Western and Russian High Commissioners in Germany to hold a little Big Four" conference on possibilities of uniting Germany.

The American suggestion had been made at a meeting of British, United States and French officials drafting a reply to the second Russian note on Germany.

The thought behind it was to test whether Russia really wants free elections to unite the country or is mainly interested in staling western plans to bring West Germany into western defences.

French sourcese in Paris demurred, saying the High Commissioners could not accomplish anything and might bring on a final East- West break. Britain offered no official reaction but was cool to the idea and suggested unofficially that such a meeting might delay the scheduled May 20 signing of the proposed Western Peace contract with West Germany.

Informed diplomats said last night the U. S. still wants to test Soviet sincerity but now is willing to drop the idea of a four-power meeting and use of some other device.

In Paris, North Atlantic Treaty Organiaztion formally approved plans to give West Germany full guarantees of Western defence machinery after agreement is reached on the European army.

The idea was approved in principle at N. A. T. O. Lisbon meeting last February.

The protocol binds N. A. T. O. members to come to the support of any members of the European Defence Community in case of attack. France, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands, Luxembourg and West Germany are participating in E. D. C. Since all except West Germany are also members of N. A. T. O., and are already promised support in case of attack, the new N. A. T. O. guarantee will in effect apply only to Germany.

To go into effect the protocol will have to be ratified by the countries.

U.S. Airlines Cut Flights To Conserve Gasoline

DENVER, May 6 — (AP) — A major part of the United States oil industry ended its first strike-bound week today with government officials apparently in disagreement over the prospects for gasoline rationing.

Most seriously affected so far was air transport, both civilian and military. Motorists, however, were begining to feel the pinch in some areas.

An encouraging glimmer came from California where the independent union of petroleum workers settled with two companies.

In an interview in New Orleans James K. Knudson, administrator of the defence transportation administration, said:

"If the oil strike goes on a few more days, we may have to put some restrictions on civilian transportation."

Interior Secretary Oscar Chapman said the government is not planning national rationing of automobile gasoline, despite scattered shortages.

Chapman agreed with Bruce K. Brown, deputy administrator of the petroleum administration for defence, that it would take too long to set up a rationing program.

A 30-per-cent cut in gasoline for civil aviation purposes was ordered the P.A.D., effective today.

The U.S. Air Force earlier ordered a cut in training flights to conserve gasoline.

Airlines operating from the metropolitan airports of Idlewild and La Guardia in New York city ordered fuel-saving measures. These included cancellation of some flights, consolidations, rerouting of trans-Atlantic flights and elimination of unnecessary pilot training.

The fair, the country's annual "shop window" held to boost the export drive by attracting world buyers, particularly from Canada and the U.S. opened here Monday.

New Archbishop Long Years In Northland

TORONTO, May 6 — (CP) — The Rt. Rev. Robert John Renison, 76, who was elected Anglican Metropolitan of Ontario takes the title of Archbishop.

Bishop of the Northern Ontario Diocese of Moosonee since 1943, he will be enthroned as Metropolitan June 9 in Hamilton's Christ Church Cathedral.

As head of the Ecclesiastical Province of Ontario, he succeeds The Most Rev. John L. Lyons of Kingston, who resigned recently due to ill health.

His ecclesiastical province includes the dioceses of Toronto, Huron, Ontario, Algoma, Niagara, Ottawa and Moosonee.

In an interview after he was chosen at a gathering of Ontario Bishops, he said:

"I'm not ashamed to say I'm 76; I feel fit as a fiddle. I ascribe my fitness to my canoe trips in the north and snowshoeing in the wilds of Northern Ontario. Back in 1908 when they ran the Timaskaming and Northern Ontario Railway now the Ontario Northland Railway up from North Bay to James Bay, I walked south on my snowshoes and met them."

Born In Ireland

The new Metropolitan was born in Ireland's County Tipperary. He is the son of a Church of England clergyman who came to Canada in 1883 to do missionary work in Northern Ontario's Algoma diocese. He was educated at Trinity College School in Port Hope and at the University of Toronto and completed his theological studies at Wycliffe College here in 1898.

At 21, he went north as a missionary to James Bay, travelling much of the way by canoe. He remained in the north 12 years.

He returned south in 1912 to become rector of the Church of the Ascension in Hamilton, a position he held 15 years. He served during the First World War as chaplain of the 21st Battalion, a Kingston unit.

In 1927 he gecame rector of Vancouver's Christ Church Cathedral and two years later was named Dean of Westminster. Still later he became Bishop of Athabaska but after one year in that office he came to Toronto to take over the parish of St. Paul's when the late Canon H. J. Cody became president of the University of Toronto. He remained at St. Paul's 11 years until he was elected Bishop of Moosonee.

Back in the northern diocese, which includes all Ontario north of the Height of Land and from the sub-Arctic James Bay district west as far as Lake Nipigon, he took particular interest in the welfare of the Indians.

He married Elizabeth Bristol of Hamilton. The Renisons have two sons, Robert, who was in the R.C.A.F. and spent five years as a prisoner of war, and George of Toronto, and a grandson and two grand-daughters.

All Quiet

Late Monday night Provincial Police Inspector Norbert Labbe reported all quiet at the jail. He said he asked the men to go to their cells and they did so without trouble. They entered cells in sections of the jail that suffered little or no damage in the rioting.

The trouble that brought the first use of tear gas—and spraying of the prisoners with fire hoses—broke out in a yard between two wings of the jail.

First there was a small disturbance that was quickly snuffed out.

But a short time later the 250 prisoners in the yard began putting on a more serious demonstration. There was some stone-throwing and more protests over food.

About 15 police, both provincial and city, raced to the yard. They were joined by firemen, standing by as an emergency crew in the

The prisoners rushed towards a fence that separates the yards. Police then let loose three tear-gas bullets and firemen turned on the water. The prisoners fell back and ran for the cell block.

Sgt. Aggas' hunch proved right. When Fergie saw the car parked with the motor running, the temptation was too much to resist. It was a beautiful afternoon for a ride in the country so Fergie hopped in and drove off.

Last night, Patrol Sergeant Claire McGillen and O.P.P. Constable Ralph Tremills brought Fergie back to Peterborough from a farm two miles north east of Marmora.

Today in police court, Fergie quietly pleaded guilty to stealing the car. He was remanded one week for sentence.

Choir Sings As Police Raid Bar In Church

WINDSOR, May 6 (CP)—A police sergeant told Monday how he led a morality squad raid to the accompaniment of choir music.

When he led his men to a basement bar in the Serbian National Church Feb. 24, said Sgt. Gil Ouellette in magistrate's court, a choir was singing and sacred music was being played.

The officers passed through the nave of the church, where 400 persons were listening to the music, and entered a basement room which contained 10 persons, some drinking beer or whisky. On an improvised bar was a box containing money.

Driver Whizzes Past Signs Of School Patrol

"It takes only one careless motorist to kill one of the youngsters," Constable Don Mackay commented grimly Monday afternoon, after a car had whizzed through the Queen Mary School safety patrol at Weller St., and Monaghan Rd.

The patrol, trained by Constable Mackay who is in charge of setting up a city-wide system of school safety patrols in public and separate schools went into operation Friday noon at Queen Mary.

The youngsters are instructed to watch for motorists who fail to stop when the patrol raise their easily seen black and white stop signs to halt traffic so the children can cross in safety going to and from school across busy inter sections.

Took Number

This was the first motorist to disregard the patrol and patrol captain Wayne Haig, and lieutenant Ronald Wilson on duty at the time noted the licence number and jotted it down. The driver has been told to come into the police station, where he will be dealt with by Police Chief John Thompson.

Speeding on George St., is hampering the training of the Sacred Heart School Safety patrols who were being instructed by Constable Mackay at George and Westcott Sts., today.

Constable Mackey said that several cars were noted which were travelling so fast that it was difficult to get the youngsters across even with the safety patrols.

Lindsay Council To Ignore Parking Meters

LINDSAY, May 6 (ENS)— Following a drive by the local police to enforce the parking meter bylaw, town council introduced a motion Monday night making all councillors immune to the bylaw.

Mayor Charles Lamb argued in favor of the motion.

Town police will be told they are not to put parking tags on any vehicle bearing the words "official town of Lindsay". Reeve Dick Butler and Deputy Reeve A. E. Hick opposed the idea, both claiming that town councillors should pay the meters the same as any other taxpayer. "You are making a mistake" said Alderman Hick.

"This is only for official business said the mayor. "Any other time, I am sure you gentlemen will pay into the meters." "We don't have to use those signs" said Alderman Hick. "They use them in Peterborough," said the mayor.

An application to build a service station on the corner of Queen and St. Patrick Streets met with some opposition by Mayor Lamb and Alderman J. A. McQuarrie. Reeve Butler introduced the application and the mayor opposed it saying that every good corner lot in the town will soon have a service station on it. There are seven there now in the distance of one mile." Further discussion centred around a town planning system idea that the council has mentioned many times before.

Marble Deal Grudge Blamed For Fire

LONDON, Ont., May 6 (CP). — A "grudge over a marble deal" was his reason for breaking into a house and for starting a $200 fire in a hardware store last Saturday, a seven-year-old boy told today.

The boy—police said he is too young to be charged—said he was angry with the management of Regal Hardware, because he could not afford to make a deal for some high-class alleys they had.

He said he climbed through a ground-floor window of a home and stole some matches. From there, he said, he went to the rear of the hardware store and set the fire.

Started in a garbage tin, the fire ate through the corner of a storage shed behind the store and ignited tar paper rolls.

Urges More Trees

WINNIPEG—(CP)—This city has not enough trees, in the opinion of Graham Henderson, president of the Royal Institute of Architects. Visiting here on his way westward, the visitor said "there cannot be too many in a spacious city like this."

Final Touch

DEBDEN, Sask. — (CP)—Fire destroyed 40 acres of swathed grain valued at about $1,000 on the farm of Joseph Dumais. He had been forced to leave it in the fields all winter when bad weather halted harvesting last autumn.

Citizens To Get Chance To Voice Their Objections

Ontario Municipal Board is being asked by city council "to arrange for hearings of opposition to the city's intention to pave the section of Monaghan Road, from Braidwood Ave. to Riverside Drive, and Romaine St. from Park St. to Monaghan Road," as recommended in the report of the board of workers, submitted by the chairman, Ald. J. E. Gillespie, Monday night.

It also authorized City Clerk Outram to secure from the Municipal Board its approval of the paving program on streets to which no objections have been filed.

Railway Signal

Other clauses in the board of work report: "That the C.P.R. be authorized to proceed with application to the Board of Transport Commissioners for the installation of automatic signal protection at Monaghan Road crossing, and also to increase the speed of their trains within the city limits, as previously agreed upon."

"That the house at 220 Edinburgh Street which has been purchased by the city, be advertised for sale for razing, providing that it is established that this house cannot properly be used for civil defence exercises."

"That the City Engineer's report regarding the suggestion of John Dunford for a blinker light on snow plowing equipment be forwarded to Mr. Dunford, with a letter of thanks for his recommendation."

Lindsay To Plant Trees To Hide Town Dump

LINDSAY, May 6. (ENS)—At the suggestion of Ald. H. [illegible] Chinese elms along Highway 35 leading into town from Fenelon Falls.

The road borders the town dump for almost half a mile and the suggestion was put forth in order to hide the unsightly paper and rubbish which blows along the highway.

A long-range plan of council is to fill the dump in and turn the property over to the parks board to be beautified as a park. Ald. J. L. Baker reminded council of the idea and stated that it would not be long before the dump was filled and a park made there. However, it was thought that the Chinese elms would be acceptable to the park board too and the plan is to be arranged.

City Industries Welcome Norwegian Firm

More than 60 representatives of management of Peterborough's manufacturing companies extended a cordial and practical welcome to the city's new industry, Maur Engineering (Canada) Ltd., at its premises on Armour Road South, Monday afternoon.

"The response of so many of the executive leaders was most encouraging to us," said Mr. W. Myhre, head of the company. "The fact that they took time out of the middle of their day to visit us and spend altogether an hour and a half with us is greatly appreciated. They listened while we demonstrated nine types of our hand trucks and trailers, and more than that, we closed quite a number of sales. We also received inquiries about what we could do in facilitating transport within other factories of the city. It was very stimulating and friendly."

That comment by Mr. Myhre is a reflection of industrial Peterborough's goodwill toward a stranger coming into their midst. Maur Engineering is a branch of the parent company in Oslo, Norway.

As to the spirit of this city as it has so far been manifested to the infant industry, at least in its local arrival, Mr. Myhre said the attendance at the meeting and the welcoming atmosphere greatly exceeded his hopes.

"I may say that the invitation wass ent oht by Mayor Waddell, and we are very grateful to him for his interest and help and to all those who called to become acquainted with us."

The company's hand trucks and trailers are for industrial purposes, and have no place on the highways.

"The gentlemen who were here yesterday were not only interested and friendly, and willing to co-operate with us in getting started here, but they were also, I think, quick to see and appreciate the qualities and good features [illegible] product," Mr. Myhre remarked in the freedom of good humor from the introduction to Peterborough's industrial heads.

Cobourg P.U.C. Will Loan Men For Fires

COBOURG, May 6 — (ENS) — The question of the utilities commission permitting four of its employees to answer fire alarm calls while on duty, was up again at Monday night's utilities commission meeting.

By resolution of the commission some months ago it was decided to permit only one from the utilities staff to attend fires, but last week the fire chief and the fire water and light committee approached the commission to protest against the department being thus weakened because only one instead of the former four utilities employees were now allowed to answer fire alarms.

After considerable discussion, the commission, in reply to a letter from the fire chief and chairman of the fire, water and light committee, agreed to permit the three other men to attend fires but only until Sept. 30 and it was recommended that the fire department take on enough men to make it unnecessary to use more than one from the utilities staff.

The fire chief in his letter last night told the commission that it would not be possible to have three permanent men on the fire department this year. However, if the four from the utilities were allowed to answer fire alarms, they would not be sent out on fires in the country and when not needed on town fires, would be allowed to return to their utilities work.

"We saw how badly the whole department was needed at the collegiate fire last week and I think it is a good idea to let our four men go to fires until a permanent fire department staff has been engaged," said Commissioner Gren Thompson.

Commissioner Robert Love said that if the four were allowed to act on the fire department there was still no indication when the fire department would have a full staff and he said that the service of the men should be limited and that the fire department get busy at once training more men for fire fighting.

[illegible] pointed out that it was fortunate that the utilities had four men fighting the fire at the collegiate. Commissioner Maurice Booth said that if things had gone wrong at the fire and the school had burned down, the Commission would have taken some blame if they had not allowed all four of the utilities firemen to go to the fire. The Mayor replied that it could hardly be expected that blame would not have been attached to the Commission under the circumstances.

Some weeks ago the Commission was advised by the C.P.R. that there was $500 still owing to the company by the contractor who had laid the water main under the tracks at Victoria street and that since the town had guaranteed that the contract price would be paid, the town would have to make up the $500. A letter from the engineers who handled the work, said the town should go after the contractors and collect. The Commission took the view that the engineers should not have sanctioned the final payment while the contractor still owed the railway. A letter to the engineers, to that effect, will be sent out, the Commission decided.

Cost-of-Living Index Down Again

The cost-of-living index had declined again, for the third month in succession. It stood at 188.7 at the first of April, declining during March by four-tenths of a point from 189.1. Between February 1st and May 1st, therefore, the index has gone down 2.8 from the peak of 191.5. This should be good news, but it is being received with mixed feelings.

* * *

It is not astonishing that the noise was louder when the index was rising than it has been when it is falling. For one reason, people always make a bigger fuss when their pockets are being gouged than when costs are easing off. For another, they shout more when they are alarmed than when they are happy or contented. We wonder if people are really happy because the cost-of-living index is going down? They felt the pinch when it was rising; some are feeling a different kind of pinch now that it has been decreasing.

* * *

When prices were rising there seemed to be more jobs, steadier (and ever higher) pay, more money to spend, even though one spent it all. Profits seemed to be bigger, too, for anybody who had anything to sell—like the farmer. The reason that there is no jubilation today because the index has gone down is that people are disappointed that they cannot have the best of both worlds—big envelopes, big profits, maximum employment—and at the same time, cheaper prices. But the fact is that this world is not made in such a way as to provide both high wages, high profits and low costs. The reason is, of course, that to have low costs you cannot have big selling prices and high wages.

* * *

One of the principal items in the decrease has been the lower cost of food, particularly of meats. Cattle farmers have been hard hit (and the reason for the blow was primarily the uncertain marketing conditions caused by the outbreak of foot and mouth disease in the West and the consequent American embargoes). It is an important recognition of the relation of farm prices to the cost-of-living index that the cost of one item, beef, has been the principal reason that the index has gone down. By inference, therefore, the high price of beef (and profit made therefrom) was a principal item in the previous high index figures. In saying this, we do not say that farmers have been responsible for the high cost of living. Profits on beef by no means have gone entirely to the farmer who raises the calves. All sorts of middle men and middle prices (the cost of feed among them) contributed to the high price of beef. But now that it has gone down the farmer takes the chief loss. He is the one with the animals which he must continue to feed at high feed and farm labour costs, or sell for slaughter at today's depreciated prices.

* * *

The farmer may feel quite sorry for himself now: beef down, hay hardly worth the cost of baling it. But he must remember, too, that he has continued full employment, which many of his urban brethren have not had during the last four months. He may be working for smaller profits now, but many city people have not had work at all. Now that spring is here, the amount of employment is increasing. And the farmer, too, may take confidence. Hay is selling far too low now, but look at the price of

Prison Riots

The outbursts in a Montreal jail seem to us to be an echo of the rows in American prisons. We are not here dealing with alleged wrongs, injustices, bad food or other complaints of prisoners either in Montreal or in the States. The, may have had cause for complaint, they may not; that is a matter for penal authorities and private organizations interested in the welfare of jailbirds to discover. We are here concerned that the Montreal jail riots seem to have had their inspiration from the southern Michigan revolt (when the prisoners successfully held guards and officials as hostages, and extorted guarantees before they desisted from their mutiny), and other riots in other American prisons also seems to have stemmed from the Michigan affair.

A jail or prison is designed primarily to isolate the inmates from outer society, to protect society from them. What kind of isolation is it which allows them to read about prison riots elsewhere, to hear about them by radio, and thus to be incited to stage a riot in their own jail? Prisoners are being allowed too much commerce with the outside world for the outside world's good.

It is all very well to give prisoners earned privileges and to try to help them to get back to the ways of decent society (if ever they were in them). But when privileges or leniency allow them to read and hear the daily news about how a gang of jailbirds pulled off a bloody riot, and this news inflates them to emulate the crooks and thugs of other prisons, then solicitude for prisoners has gone too far. If a prisoner is not sufficiently isolated from society to be kept in safe ignorance of events like the Michigan prison riots, the prison or jail is not doing its primary job: to keep the inmates from molesting those who are not inmates.

Rowdily Home From Korea

A local infantry private, recently returned from Korea, was put in jail the other night, and in the morning the causing a public disturbance. The soldier said that seeing several natives of China working in a main street restaurant caused him to become rowdy in it. It was a thin excuse.

His public conduct was inexcusable. It was a disgrace to all Korean veterans. More especially, it was a disgrace to the flashes he wore. This soldier is a member of the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, a regiment with a distinguished history, a clean tradition, a proud record. The soldier disgraced all the men in the regiment who have gone before him in two world wars and who were with him in Korea.

The P.P.C.L.I. will tolerate lapses from sobriety and soldierly rectitude in exceptional circumstances off duty, but not in the public view and to the public annoyance. It did not, and should not now, put up with a public display which tarnishes its fair name. It should not allow in its ranks a man who does not know how to behave himself.

We expect that the police record of this soldier's misconduct will find its way to the Officer Commanding, P.P.C.L.I. We hope that forthwith the offending soldier will be sent to another unit. When a soldier puts up the flashes of a fine regiment he assumes obligations to it. If he smears the flashes, they ought to be removed.

Dutch Advice For Toronto

Farmers and others living on the Lake Ontario front south of Peterborough know what ravages the lake has been causing; the shore is being swallowed up rapidly, and every year a few more feet disappear. Yesterday reports from Owen Sound told of a "tidal wave" battering both sides of Bruce Peninsula; Lake Huron, it seems, is also a rampaging destroyer. But no erosion has affected the public so strongly as the flooding and gradual disintegration of Toronto's Island. One reason for the publicity about this is, of course, that the Island is important to Toronto and Torontonians. Another is that the press cries in have been giving battle to coastal waters which would wrest their land from them. The Dutch have found pretty successful and not expensive ways of defeating the ravaging waters. Dyke engineering in Holland. Would Toronto not be wise to take counsel from the Dutch, if they want to do more than wail about the Island and embarrass the Ottawa Government? There are many skilled Dutch hands now in Ontario who know the art of building and tending dykes. A few engineers could be brought over especially to give Toronto the benefit of their knowledge.

If they should advise putting a wall around Toronto it would be a physical fulfilment of Toronto's psychology, which the rest of us in Ontario might find amusing.

New Japanese Face

On April 28th Japan regained her sovereignty. There was a great deal of editorial speculation at the time about what the new independent Japan would be like. Relieved of occupational controls and the shining example of American democracy established by General MacArthur, his staff and successors, would Japan continue to be democratically minded, or revert to the old base ways of despotic government? Apparently few wondered whether, relieved of controls, the Japanese would swing left of American democracy instead of right of it.

Three days after regaining independence, on May 1st, the bloodiest, noisiest rioting since the war took place in Japan. Tens of thousands of pro-Communists and anti-Americans paraded, stormed and otherwise demonstrated. Of course it was May Day, the day the Reds all over the world have preempted for their demonstrations. But the fact remains that there were thousands of Japanese poised to hit back at the Americans, and to cuddle with the Reds .... The face of the new Japan has yet to be seen clearly.

New Tenants At The Palace

By CHARLES REID

(Ed. Note: Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh returned from Windsor and took up residence at Buckingham Palace yesterday. Thus begins a new chapter in the history of a mansion which has witnessed at least one major domestic upheaval since it became the headquarters of Britain's Royal line.)

A VANLOAD OR TWO of effects have gone over to the Palace from Queen Elizabeth's old home, Clarence House. A second-floor suite in the Palace has been set apart for the upbringing of Prince Charles and Princess Anne. Decorators have been seen staring from odd windows at various times during the past month; a bit of new paint is going on august walls which have harboured Royalty since 1761. A new internal telephone system has been installed, and other gadgets dear to the Duke of Edinburgh's heart.

◇ ◇ ◇

BUT BUCKINGHAM PALACE, a township in itself, with a police station, fire service and post office (1,500 letters on an ordinary day) of its own, is much too cumbersome to be transformed overnight, however young and energetic its new tenants. There are so many rooms and so many disputes as to what constitutes a room, as distinct from a vestibule or an annexe, that no one has ever been certain what the total is. The top estimate is 690, with forty charwomen, in addition to a regular domestic staff of two hundred or more, to keep them presentable. Twelve men are constantly cleaning the windows. They work on the principle of the Forth Bridge painters; having finished at one end they promptly start again at the other. Three times a week a man goes round winding up and resetting the three hundred clocks, most of them dating from George III's reign. (In the late George the Sixth's study there are ten clocks, five of them on his desk). For at least forty years every room has been photographed before spring cleaning, so that the staff may put the furniture back just as it was.

THE IMPLICATION is that Palace decor, as well as Palace routine, should be unvarying, like the hills. Certainly in the past it has required both perseverence and force of character to secure any major change. Victoria in 1840 it took him four years to reshape the administration after his own heart. Admittedly the problem which faced Albert is never likely to recur.

In 1840 the Palace was a domain of grubby anarchy abounding in oddities which might have been invented, if the man had then been writing, by W. S. Gilbert. It was the Lord Chamberlain's job to clean the inside of the windows. It was the job of the Office of Woods and Forests to clean the outsides. The Lord Steward found fuel and laid the fires. It was the Lord Chamberlain, or perhaps the Master of Horse—nobody could really be sure which—who lighted them. A similar absurdity governed lamps. One functionary provided them. Another cleaned and trimmed them.

◇ ◇ ◇

ALL MIGHT HAVE BEEN WELL if the various functionaries had had sound working arrangements. Actually they had nothing of the kind. As a result, the lamps smoked, the windows went dirty, and the Queen ate her meals in rooms with cold grates. The place swarmed with menials who, subject to no discipline, came on duty and went off as they pleased, drinking, smoking and performing what a contemporary memorandum darkly describes as "other irregularities". Some of the perquisites were fantastic. There was a rule that a candle once lighted should never be used again which meant a profitable trade for somebody in the remainders. Distinguished visitors to the Palace had to fend for themselves. With nobody to receive and pilot them, they wandered in endless corridors, lost and hopeless.

◇ ◇ ◇

NOT ALL the visitors were distinguished—or even invited. In 1838 a seventeen-year-old tailor's son named Jones walked into the Palace under the guise of a chimney sweep and stayed there at leisure, hiding by day and stealing food from the kitchens at night. On a second visit two years later, a page found him under a magnificent sofa in a room adjoining the Queen's bedroom. Climbing a garden wall he had walked through an open window and (so he claimed) spent three days in the Palace, during which time he "sat upon the Throne, saw the Queen, and heard the Princess Royal (then a fortnight old) squalling." These and related exploits earned Jones six months' prison, a good deal of publicity at the time and posthumous fame on the cinema screen.

◇ ◇ ◇

ALBERT COULD HAVE WISHED for no more striking proof of the casual and chaotic way in which the Palace was run. Yet when he set out to rationalise things there was a ... of opposition, not only in 1952. But without change the most solid of institutions tends to decay. Within the next decade or two both Palace and Castle will acquire a new air and atmosphere inside—and to some extent new personality.

their prestige was involved. Even the Prime Minister, Sir Robert Peel, felt uneasy. But Albert would not be shaken. In 1845 the Master of the Household was given new responsibility and complete authority over the Palace, together with a set of administrative rules which made sense. Albert had won the ...

◇ ◇ ◇

BUCKINGHAM PALACE is not the only domestic problem which faces a new ruler. There is also, among other Royal homes, the Castle. It may be taken for granted that during their Easter stay at Windsor the Queen and the Duke have considered ways and means of putting the stamp of their personal tastes upon the private apartments. But here again it is not likely that the reformer's broom will be needed as was the case in Albert's.

◇ ◇ ◇

ONE OF THE MYSTERIES which confronted Albert in 1840 was a weekly charge of thirty shilling for "the Red Room Wine." On going into the matter Albert found that under George III a guard had been mounted in a room with red hangings, a wine allowance of five shillings a day being granted to the officers. The guard had long since moved elsewhere. So had the red hangings. But the five shillings a day went on being paid. It was a sinecurist under-butler who pocketed the money. Albert caused the under-butler to be instructed that he must work for his pay or clear out.

Since the forties Household matters have been under increasingly businesslike scrutiny. The abuses of 1840 could hardly happen

THE GENERAL GETS AROUND

Keeping A Big City Clean

(NEW YORK TIMES)

MAYOR IMPELLITTERI will proclaim today the beginning of a prolonged new campaign for a cleaner New York City. The Sanitation Department promises to make this one of its toughest drives to educate—and prosecute, if necessary—the litterer of our streets and sidewalks. The department will attack on every front. It will tackle the janitor or superintendent who puts leaking or inadequate garbage cans on the sidewalk. It will summon to court the cr... wanton who ... ...m or a candy ... on the pavement. It will bear down on its own employees to quicken and make more efficient the department's operations.

There are about 8,000,000 people in this city, plus a few hundred thousand who come here to earn their living during the day, or to visit. Survey after survey and the casual observation any citizen can make any time have shown that the Sanitation Department is subject to censure on its own operations. We have criticized the department many times, and we do not minimize its shortcomings now. But let's be fair about this thing. The city can never be clean until we New Yorkers do our part too.

The Sanitation Department actually has on the streets, with a broom and can, some 1,210 men—all over the city, which has 5,964 miles of laid-out streets. Add to this 1,210 the men who are otherwise engaged in any way on keeping streets clean, the men driving flushers, the men riding power brooms, the litter patrol, and the total is 1,382 men. This means that one sanitation man has the hopeless task of following and picking up after 5,800 citizens.

The result is obvious: a condition of streets ... as, not just to the Sanitation Department, but to the whole city. The department is supposed to have 10,000 men, for garbage collection, street cleaning and the other duties falling to it. It is 1,000 short, because the city delays filling vacancies to save money. Vacations still further shorten this staff, by 680 at the moment. And of the 9,000 employees some 1,040 are on "limited" duty because of injury or other physical reasons.

The lesson is obvious. If the people of New York want a clean city they will have to pitch in and help. The department summoned 32,807 offenders to court in the calendar year 1951 for littering. But there were very few of us, probably, who wholly abstained from doing something or other to help make this a dirty city. This will not be a clean city until New Yorkers take pride in making it so.

Others Might Follow

(Financial Post)

Some day Canadians may erect a monument in honour of the city council of Portage La Prairie as saviours of the nation. Determined to protect the local bakers, that body recently raised the licence fee on out-of-town bread trucks from $100 to $300.

When that happened the provincial authorities finally stepped in. Licensing powers under the Manitoba Municipal Act are to be ended. No longer will cities and towns be permitted to create tight little local monopolies.

Other provinces might well follow this excellent lead. This municipal licensing business has gone far beyond the bounds of reason or common sense. We are simply restricting domestic trade, inviting excessive prices and inefficiency. And it is grossly unfair. Some of the provinces, some of the professions have tried—and successfully— to build up walls and create feudal preserves. There's all too much of this poisonous business.

South American Markets

(Vancouver Province)

That there is an opening there, experience has proven. In 14 years, our exports to the Latin American republics have grown from $17,000,000 to $208,000,000 and our imports from $16,000,000 to $273,000,000. There are over 130,000,000 people in Latin America. They have a market within easy reach of both our coasts and well worth cultivating.

Dutch Raising More Than Tulips

(Kitchener-Waterloo Record)

When Canadians hear about large families they immediately think they hail from Quebec, but recently there have been stories in the news telling about some large family groups that are coming from the Netherlands to settle in this country.

A short time ago a story appeared in The Record describing the interesting experiences of a Dutch family with 13 children settling near Mildmay in Bruce County.

Since then an even bigger family group arrived from Holland to take up their abode on a 40-acre farm in British Columbia. It comprises the parents, 17 children, an adopted son and a son-in-law. The father said he came to Canada because it is such a spacious country, adding: "With a family like mine you sure need space."

No doubt he will not be long in finding out that Canada has much more to offer than just space.

Bricks And Brains

(Toronto Saturday Night)

The other day we heard of a school district which had decided to build a school without a large assembly hall, a swimming pool and sundry other mid-twentieth-century features; not out of the money-grubbing economy, but because it thought it could get better value for the annual expenditure by putting it into better salaries for better teachers. This struck us as an extremely novel, if not wholly original idea, and we propose to watch that school district for the next forty years to see what kind of citizens come out of it. One of the elements of the new school building which was not cut down was the library; the voters felt that plenty of books easily accessible to students might

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God .... All things were made by him; and without him was not any thing made that was made. (John 1:1, 3.)

* * *

And God said, Let us make man in our image, after our likeness: and let them have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over the cattle, and over all the earth, and over every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth. So God created man in His own image, in the image of God created he him; male and female created he them. . . . And God saw every thing that he had made, and, behold, it was very good. (Gen. 1:26, 27, 31.)

* * *

Thus the heavens and the earth were finished, and all the host of them . . . But there went up a mist from the earth, and watered the whole face of the ground. And the Lord God formed man of the dust of the ... breath of life, and man became a living soul. (Gen. 2: 1, 6, 7.)

Unconsidered Trifles

A straightforward young woman married a sentimental young man. "My darling," the latter said, "surely I cannot be worthy of you?"

"Of course not," she answered, "but when a girl's been twenty-three for six years she would be silly to be too particular, wouldn't she?"

The new minister was enthusiastic about foreign missions, and one of his first tasks was to call upon parishioners and enlist their support. "I'm sorry," replied one wealthy farmer, "but it's no use asking me. I don't approve of foreign missions."

"But, surely," the minister persisted, "you know that we are commanded to feed the hungry."

"That may be, but can't we feed 'em on something cheaper than missionaries?"

A man who held the belief that after a youth had attained his majority he should be taught to fend for himself, gave his son $2,000 and told him that henceforth he would have to earn his own living. The young man did no work, but spent a riotous month or two abroad, then found himself almost penniless. His sole desire was to get home, so he decided to send a wire.

He found he had money sufficient to pay for only four words, so after considerable thought he telegraphed to his father: "Fatted calf for one."

Chatham Industry

(Windsor Star)

Chatham's booming industrialization is boosted along by announcement by Victory Mills Limited of plans to build a soybean solvent extraction plant and huge elevators. The purchase of a 83-acre tract of land provides ample room for additional expansion.

It is a natural industry for Chatham, the centre of the soybean area of Southwestern Ontario. It will be an asset to Chatham itself and also a great advantage to the soybean growers.

This project proves the general development of Canada is not limited to oil, iron ore and other minerals, or to the expansion of secondary industries. It applies also to one of Canada's oldest industries, agriculture. From a 180,000-bushel crop in 1941, soybean yield was increased to 4,367,000 bushels in 1951, and the end is not yet. Most of the beans are grown in the district the new plant will serve. Soybeans have become a tidy ... area.

Lindbergh, Hero Of First Non-Stop Flight Just 25 Years Ago Now Lives Almost Forgotten

By WADE JONES
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, — (NEA) — A balding, graying man in his fifties, he lives quietly now, almost forgotten, in the little town of Darien, Conn., with his wife and five children.

But he nurses as vivid a set of memories as ever a man was cursed or blessed with.

Twenty-five years ago this month he came out of the West with a big hope and a small airplane, and said he planned to fly the Atlantic Ocean non-stop from New York to Paris. It had never been done before.

But he did it. His name was Charles Augustus Lindbergh.

The lanky, curly-haired youngster of 25, already with the familiar crinkle-cornered eyes of the flyer, turned up at Curtiss Field, Long Island, on May 12, 1927, with a silver-nosed monoplane he called the Spirit of St. Louis.

Airplanes had just reached the point of development where a transatlantic flight was believed barely possible. The Frenchmen Nungesser and Coli had gone down at sea only that week in an attempt. Death and crack-ups had ended other ventuers.

At least two planes were all set to take off from New York when Lindbergh learned, on the night of May 19, that the storms over the Atlantic were breaking up.

The rest of the night he spent in hurried preparation. No sleep. With five sandwiches and five quarts of water, Lindbergh climbed into his plane at 7:40 the next morning. At 7:51 the plane, its single Wright Whirlwind engine developing only 200 horsepower, began trundling slowly and heavily down the muddy landing strip.

Loaded To Limit

It was loaded to the limit with fuel. No engine of that horsepower had ever lifted such a heavy load. The big job was the take-off, now underway. Already and Wooster—had failed to get off the ground.

Many in the crowd at Curtiss Field that May 20 morning sincerely doubted that Lindbergh would ever make it. Slowly, slowly the plane gained speed. It passed the point where Lindbergh could still stop it without cracking up.

Pilots in the crowd twisted and turned, trying hopefully to get the plane off the ground with their own body English, "Get the tail up, get the tail up," they urged, half aloud.

Finally the tail did come up, then the wheels lifted ever so slightly. Over a tractor by a 10-foot margin, over telephone wires by a scant 20 feet. But she was off and flying.

Some 12 hours later the Spirit of St. Louis, a tiny speck in the sky, was sighted on course and on schedule over Newfoundland. Then Lindbergh ran into storms. He had to turn at right angles, flying first north and then south, to dodge through the boiling clouds which meant big wind.

Some time in the lonesome darkness that night, Lindbergh ate a sandwich, the only one he had during the entire trip. Late the next day he sighted some specks to the south and far below. Fishing boats.

He circled low over one and yelled, "Which way's Ireland?" The astonished fisherman in the boat just looked, speechless.

But fishing boats meant land not far away, and in a few hours Lindbergh spotted the southern tip of Ireland.

Over Ireland, England, and the Channel. At the French coast he picked up the beacon lights of the London-Paris airway. They guided him into Paris' Le Bourget airfield, where his wheels touched down 33½ hours after they'd lifted from Curtiss Field.

A crowd of 100,000 [illegible] at the airport. They hauled him bodily from his plane and passed him along overhead hand-to-hand, rolling and twisting. It was one half-hour before his feet touched the ground.

Turned Down $2,500,000

The world went wild when Charles Augustus Lindbergh landed in Paris on May 21, 1927, the first man to fly the Atlantic nonstop.

Movie programs were interrupted to bring the news. The staid New York Times used an exclamation point in its headline, "Lindbergh Does It!" It ran six solid pages of text on the story.

Lindbergh and his plane came home triumphantly on a United States cruiser at the order of President Coolidge. His ticker-tape welcome was one New Yorkers will never forget.

Through it all, Lindbergh — now Lucky Lindy and the Lone Eagle—acted with complete modesty. He turned down more than $2,500,000 in movie and advertising offers.

Four years later the Lindberg name had again taken over the headlines in the nation's newspapers, but this time it was a story of tragedy. His 18-month-old child, Charles Augustus Lindbergh, Jr., was kidnapped, and three months later was found dead near the family's home at Hopewell, N.J.

For nearly four more years, until the kidnaper, Bruno Richard Hauptmann, was electrocuted for the crime at Trenton, N.J., on April 3, 1936, the story was top news.

In 1935 the Lindberghs went to England to get away from the terrible ordeal of the kidnaping. While he was there, Major Truman Smith, United States military attache at Berlin, invited him to Germany to take a look at the fast-growing German air force.

Field Marshal Goring, head of the Luftwaffe, was flattered by Lindbergh's presence and rolled out the plush welcome carpet. Lindbergh got a thorough look at the Luftwaffe, from the inside out.

His and Maj. Smith's report to Washington was a masterpiece of military intelligence and won Smith the Distinguished Service Medal.

Lindbergh then in 1936, began checking on the air forces of other countries, always working closely with U.S. ambassadors in the foreign capitals and reporting direct to Washington.

In 1939 he came back to U.S. and went on active duty as a colonel. But when war broke out in Europe, he became a civilian again. He was a leader in the [illegible] him so harshly that Lindbergh virtually he was being accused virtualy of treason. So he resigned his reserve commission.

After Pearl Harbor he offered his services to the War Department [illegible] resultant in B-24 bomber construction.

Later in World War II, Lindbergh went to the Pacific theatre and flew 50 combat missions as a fighter pilot, though he was then in his forties. He lived and worked like the rest of the pilots, nearly all youngsters, but he wore no insignia.

Since the war he has lived largely in retirement, emerging now and then to do some work with our Air Force units abroad.

The Spirit of St. Louis is now at the Smithsonian Institution in Washington as much in the public eye as Lindbergh is out of it. Many visitors ask questions about the plane than any other exhibit there.

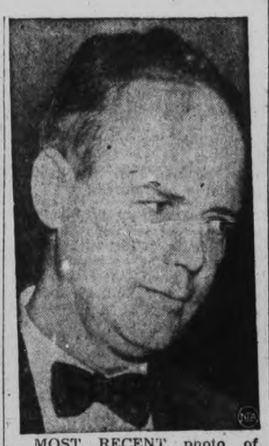
Once in awhile Lindbergh drops by to take a look at it. People who've spotted him there say his look is a little wistful.

HIGH FRIGITY

The severe cold of high altitudes is caused by the thinness of the atmosphere, which does not retain the sun's heat.

SPIRIT OF ST. LOUIS, in which Lindbergh winged his way to fame, now hangs in the air over visitors to the Smithsonian Institution in Washington. He drops in once in a while to have a look.

MOST FAMOUS PHOTO of Lindy—the "Lone Eagle"—is this one made by Frank Merta at Curtiss Field, Long Island, just before Lindbergh took off on his historic flight 25 years ago.



MOST RECENT pnoto of Lindbergh was made at aviation dinner in Washington in December, 1949.

Sailor Students Repaying Navy For Investment

OTTAWA, May 6 (CP) — The navy said Monday its investment in educating sailors to become officers is beginning to pay off.

Eight cadets who began as seamen and were sent to college at navy expense will graduate from universities across Canada shortly and will become sub-lieutenants the same day.

Another 23 young men selected from the lower decks are attending college under the same scheme to train officers for the technical branches.

The other forces are operating similar schemes.

Four of the navy cadets will graduate with electrical engineering degrees from the University of New Brunswick.

They are Cadets Lawrence Carr, Cornwall; George Allan Kastner, Morris, Man.; Charles George Le Roy Joundfey, Bridgewater, N.S., and Colin D. di Cenzo, Hamilton.

Cadet di Cenzo has been awarded an Athlone fellowship and has been granted permission to take postgraduate engineering training in England.

Other Graduates

Other graduates are Cadets Gerald William Blackburn, Halifax, who has been studying commerce at St. Mary's College, Halifax; Bruce Morgan Watson, Hamliton, engineering student at Queen's University; Keith Fiddy, Melville Sask., studying engineering at the University of Saskatchewan, and George Thomas Mainer, Victoria, engineering student at University of British Columbia.

The training is open to men who have at least nine months' satisfactory service in the navy, have the equivalent of senior matriculation and who possess qualities making them likely officer material. Students entered under this scheme are required to spend their summers in naval training or in industrial work related to their

BEGIN SEEDING—Following a warm, dry April Saskatchewan farmers have nearly completed the harvesting which was disrupted last fall by unseasonable weather and seeding has now become general in most districts. The spring season is at least two weeks ahead of the last two years. This 12-foot discer with seeding attachment can seed 160 acres in about 50 working hours. On many Saskatchewan farms it is usual to see these outfits working day and night.

Decide To Ask Solandt To Discuss Germ Warfare

OTTAWA, May 6 (CP).—The ever-swelling volume of secret material handled by Canadian embassies abroad is prompting new security steps beyond the current very stringent regulations the Commons committee on external affairs was told Monday.

The committee also learned that a bomb-proof basement will be built in Canada House, Canada's diplomatic headquarters in London.

Its members rejected suggestions that they should call James Endicott of Toronto to testify about his germ warfare statements in China. The rejection was unanimous and based mainly on the feeling that the publicity would only help Mr. Endicott, regardless of what he said.

It was suggested that Dr. O. M. Solandt, the Defence Department [illegible] a statement at his convenience. This will be discussed with him.

With H. O. Moran, assistant undersecretary for external affairs, on the stand, the committee continued its study of the department's estimates by ranging over a wide field.

Special Safes

Mr. Moran reported that 30 safes of the best type Canada can buy are being sent overseas to help protect the ever-increasing flow of secret material. It was felt that the material is not completely secure with the safes and padlocked filing cabinets now available, but no thefts of any consequence had been reported.

Security provisions now went to the extent of having some one stay behind to keep an eye on the char-woman when they clean up. Only Canadians were allowed to handle classified material.

Three special security guards were being sent to Paris for the new Canadian mission at Atlantic pact headquarters. They will provide a 24-hours-a-day guard.

Many Irritations

Mr. Moran said the departmental headquarters here encounters all sorts of irritations in having to make sure all papers are put away at night and in other security ways.

The committee was also told:

1. The visit of French President Auriol last year doubled the normal $20,000 cost of entertaining foreign dignitaries.
2. Europe still is the great international ground. Of 146 conferences attended by Canada in 1951, some 94 were held in Europe. Six were in Canada.
3. The doors Canada will contribute to U.N. headquarters will be made of a nickel alloy consisting mainly of bronze. A maple leaf will be part of the design.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

With the O.L.A. senior schedule opening in less than two weeks, playing coach Bob Thorpe of the Petes' Timbermen is hustling his charges through gutted-stick drills regularly now. Bob is starting his fourth year here. Learned the minor game in his home town of Port Dalhousie, then playing junior in St. Catharines. Stepped up to senior "A" competition with Brampton and also played in that company in Quebec and back with St. Kitts when they took the Mann Cup in 1944. He played a lot of amateur and pro hockey, giving up the professional class last year to settle down to work in Peterborough. Bob is a fine lacrosser and a popular chap with players and fans.

* * * * * *

They say a team is no better than the goalie—and that speaks well for the Timbermen again this year. They have the best one in the business in Lloyd (Moon) Wootton. Yeah, tops in Canada. Twice in the last two years his team took the coveted Mann Cup as Canadian senior champs, and twice he was voted the most valuable player in the series! You can't do much better than that, eh? Moon was O.L.A. first team all-star goalie last season, too. The big fellow hails from Owen Sound and he's only 25 years old now. Turned down offers to stay out in B.C. last autumn after the cup finals. Yes, the local lacrossers are plenty strong again in goal.

Hurrying Up Playoffs

The O.B.A. has finally wakened up to realize that ball fans don't want to see the sport when there's frost on the ground or when snow flies. This year, they've decided to hurry playoffs in all series and try to have them all over around the end of September or quite early in October. Other years have seen finals staged in November. Such series should be packing in the fans, but these late games didn't draw peanuts. Consequently, clubs faced with long trips lost money, as did the Ontario Association. It went in the hole last year. So, there'll be some changes made this season, and not before time. Even the World Series is held early in October.

* * * * * *

P.M.B.A. is in process of re-organization but surprisingly enough there hasn't been an entry yet from the large south-end section of the city. Hundreds of kids down there but no available coaches yet. Alex Sinclair, Fraser Wade and Arnold Olmstead are checking into this at present. East City will have peewee, bantam and juvenile teams, the north area has a bantam team in so far, and the westenders are lining up a peewee squad. But several more teams are needed, at least, to form a proper minor ball association. Several officers are being contacted in respect to naming a president and vice-president. Ab Dryland agreed to act as secretary, with Lloyd [illegible], Perry Saunders and Bill Lewis. More again.

* * * * * *

Five In Men's Loop

Entries were closed last night in the men's City Softball League with five entries: Lakefield, Lindsay, U.E.W., Revoy's and Red Sullivan's entry from Ashburnham. The five-team loop starts play May 22 with Revoy's vs. U.E.W., and Lindsay vs. East City. Tom Junkin is handling the Lakefield fellows, and we expect Haddy Eakins will pilot the Lindsay crew. Don't know for sure but expect George Hawkes is running Revoy's, and Buck Legrow will coach U.E.W. A big opening planned, and meantime umpires should apply in writing to John McPhee at 209 Murray St. Schedule drawn up shortly, with the next executive meeting slated for 7:30 p.m. May 12 in the "Y."

* * * * * *

P.M.L.A. re-organized last e'en with these officers: President, Ken Kingston; vice-prexy, Barney Dundas; secretary, Walt Murphy; treasurer, Keith Sedgwick; conveners, Walt Firth, bantam; Mac VanAllen, midget; and juvenile, Roy Renwick. Managers so far are: Frank Whatman, Wilf Heffernan, Hal Manning, Bill Post, Henry Jay and Ed Woodcock. Harry Wipper is chief coach again, with Bun Hill in charge of refs. A Lifesaver Day is planned. Loop will help any interested district spots promote minor lacrosse—write to Ken Kingston. Main thing now is for the boys from tadpole to juvenile—Wipper lines up peewees and tadpoles—to register at seven Thursday eve in the secondary bowl so that teams may be lined up. Everyone should be back on deck this Thursday.

Must Pare Down List

WINNIPEG, May 6 (CP)—Officials of the Olympic wrestling trials today scanned a 7-man entry list which it must pare down to manageable size for the final.

The wrestlers squirmed through three rounds of bouts in some classes and a fourth in the 14-entry middleweight class.

Under the complicated scoring system, it's hard to tell whether a man is "in" or "out," even if he loses a second or third round match.

A wrestler is eliminated when he receives five "bad" points. Any loss is three "bad" points. A man winning a decision receives one "bad" point. A win by a fall is scored "0."

By the end of four rounds, the populous middleweight ranks were down to the semi-finals.

Innie Gordon Nelson had a perfect zero to lead the four contestants remaining. Montreal's B. Hornblower was second with two points, while George Kusyi, of St. Catharines, is third with three points.

Another Montrealer, Harry Hudson, is hanging on the ropes with four "bad" points.

The featherweight competition was down to the semi-finals after three rounds. A[illegible] Montreal and Robert [illegible] of Toronto were tied for first place with no points.

Nick Mohammed, flashy Vancouver grappler, and Bob Langlois of Montreal, paced the welterweight class, each with a single point resulting from decisions. Four wrestlers in the class lost out.

Robb Resigns, Mystery To Ball Officials

CINCINNATI, May 6 —(AP)—'The mystery of the resignation of Umpire Scotty Robb" was the National League's "best seller" today.

Robb, a senior loop arbiter since 1947, sent league president Warren Giles a terse note Monday that he was quitting "as of today."

Neither he nor Giles offered any explanation but the gossip immediately went back to the night of April 22 when Robb and manager Eddie Stanky of the St. Louis Cards got into a ruckus in a game here because Robb had ordered Solly Hemus of the Cardinals out of a game.

They did some shoving around and Giles happened to be in Crosley Field to see it.

The next day Stanky was fined $50, Hemus $25 and Giles said Robb was "disciplined" and fined a sum "much greater than the combined fines of the players."

Everything seemed to be reasonably peaceful after that until Robb's sudden resignation Monday.

Statements No Help

As far as could be determined no major league baseball umpire ever quit his job during the season as abruptly as Robb.

Statements issued by both Giles and Robb Monday night did little to clear the mystery.

Giles said:

"Robb is a splendid gentleman and I told him we would like to have him continue as a member of the staff if he felt he could work efficiently. Since he feels there is an existing situation which prevents this, we accept his resignation."

Robb said:

"My resignation as a National League umpire speaks for itself. There is absolutely nothing more I will say. As far as I am concerned, the matter is a closed book."

[illegible] ment on the punishment that was given him as a result of the Stanky incident.

At. St. Louis, Stanky expressed regret over Robb's resignation and said "We were as close as a player and an umpire can get in baseball and the incident between us didn't affect that friendship."

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

The British Columbia Amateur Boxing Association said Monday at Vancouver it will sever connections with the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada.

The B.C. group has decided to try to set up a national boxing association separate from the A.A.U. Charlie Sanford, association president, said other provincial branches want to break away from the union.

Sanford said: "We have two complaints against the A.A.U. First, we don't think the A.A.U. should step in the take over the 'money' tournaments. Secondly, we don't like the A.A.U. interference."

Meantime, the Vancouver Sun in a sports page story said that three of the six selections for Canada's Olympic boxing team were "strictly for the Birds."

The Sun said neither Dennis White nor Tommy Sullivan of Montreal, manager-and-coach of [illegible] Olympic boxing team, ed to attend the trials in Vancouver. B. C. youths won four of 10 championships and placed one man on the Olympic team. Montreal won three and placed three on the squad.

The story said light middleweight Charles Chase of Montreal "didn't show a thing" in the trials and heavyweight Jim Saunders of Winnipeg "suffers more from overweight than boxing ability."

Middleweight champion Sugar Ray Robinson and Joey Maxim, light heavyweight titleholder, were finally matched Monday in a 15-round bout for Maxim's title June 23 at Yankee Stadium, New York City.

Pitchers Hal Hudson and John Hetki, big guns for Toronto in the International League last year, have been returned by St. Louis Browns. Hetki was bought outright and Hudson is on 24-hour option. The Leafs lost a .320 hitter centrefielder, Bob Balcena, in the shuffle. Balcena and Leaf second baseman Charlie Grant were sent to San Antonio, Texas.

A quarter-mile track suitable for holding Olympic trials will be built in the near future at the Canadian National Exhibition grounds in Toronto, directors decided Monday.

The first turf strike in the history of Chicago began Monday when the Horsemen's Benevolent and Protection Association, representing 250 owners, called the walkout in an effort to get a purse distribution of 50 per cent of the Sportsman's Park pari-mutuel take.

Hans Hermann Tackles Yukon Tonight At Brock

Hans Hermann, powerful German grappler will oppose Yukon Eric in the feature mat bout at the Brock tonight.

Hermann dropped a close decision to Yukon last week and claimed that his shoulders were not on the mat and Referee Bert Maxwell gave him a fast count. He says he will make short work of the chesty Alaskan tonight.

Eric is saying very little except that he will repeat last week's victory and in a much more convincing manner. He is one of the few matmen that has the strength and ability to clip the German.

Bill Stack, popular Oshawa star meets up with Wladslaw Talun in the semi-final. Stack will have his work cut out to register a win against the unpredictable 301-pound Pole.

Herb Larson and Ray Clarke are in the opening match of this classy card.

THE Calvert SPORTS COLUMN

by Elmer Ferguson

Another Kentucky Derby passes into history to be recorded into the colorless exactitude of mathematical equine annals, another winner is being glamorized as the most remarkable animal of the era, which is the custom and the routine procedure.

But how long will the glamor last? How soon will it be rubbed off? When, if ever, will the practical—and none in sport more so—horse folk remark scornfully: "How did THAT thing ever come to win the Derby?" Never, perhaps. This winner may move on to equal the greatness of some others who triumphed in the Run for the Roses.

But we recall a Derby winner who never had greatness before, and never afterward. His brief moment of glory came that May afternoon of 1933, when in the final 100 yards of the Churchill Downs stretch, two horses thundered towards the wire urged by their two frantic jockeys. One—and his glory too later faded off into sheer disgrace—was Donald Meade, riding Broker's Tip, next to the rail, executing one of the tricks that led to his disbarment. He had a grip on [illegible] saddle cloth [illegible] Tip's nose [illegible] there was a tremendous roar from the 35,000 Kentuckians present, for a Bradley horse had won the fourth Derby for his owner, and the winner's share of $48,925.

It was one of the most thrilling finishes in Derby history and one of the most talked about. The winner was a great horse that day as thousands sang his praises, and columns of print glorified his quality. But the sudden glory faded fast. When Broker's Tip won that Derby, he was a "[illegible]" had never won a race. He was the [illegible] have won the classic, the Canadian-owned Sir Barton having preceded him.

Sir Barton racing for the late Commander J. K. L. Ross went on to become a famous racer; but Broker's Tip went on to become a flop. One week after the Derby he raced Head Play and others in the Preakness, another $50,000 stake. Head Play won; but Broker's Top, the great horse of the week before, ran last.

In fact, he never won a race again. When retired to the breeding farm, he apparently was a failure there. And a few years later, the horse that won $48,000 that May afternoon, was sold for a mere $1,400 and completely disappeared from view.

Sic transit gloria.

Perhaps we're laying too much stress on the glories of a Derby which really isn't a Derby at all, in the truest sense of the word. It's a weak imitation of the daddy of all derbies, the English race, which is at a mile and a half, a quarter-mile longer than the American race. The Belmont Stakes is the nearest replica on this side of the Atlantic to the Epsom Downs race, being also at a mile and a half, for three year olds.

Indians Down Boston 4-2 As Senators Clip Browns

By JOE REICHLER, Associated Press Sports Writer

Can Cleveland's vaunted big four, rated the most formidable pitching staff in baseball, continue its iron man role? Will Bob Feller, Bob Lemon, Early Wynn and Mike Garcia, doing double duty, be able to finish strong, pitching at this workhouse pace? Time will tell, of course, but based on last year's results, the answer is no.

A year ago, the big four carried the light-hitting Indians all the way until mid-September. Starting and relieving, it finally broke down under the stretch run burden despite the 20 or more victories racked up by Feller, Wynn and Garcia.

The same four are working at a more killing pace this season. In 19 games, Feller, Lemon, Wynn and Garcia have started all but one. They've also been used in relief four times. Their over-all record is 10-6. Last year, none of the big four was summoned in relief until the 22nd game.

Slow To Start

Manager Al Lopez has been forced to use his big guns in relief because Lou Brissie, his No. 1 relief artist, has been slow getting started. The southpaw has pitched only 2½ innings thus far and has been whacked for six hits and six runs.

Lopez had to use Wynn in relief of Lemon Monday and the move paid off as the Indians came from behind to defeat the Boston Red Sox, 4-2, in 10 innings. Wynn, who started and was knocked out Sunday, yielded one run in three innings and was credited with his fourth victory against one defeat.

A 10th inning home run by Bobby Avila followed by successive triples by Al Rosen and Ray Boone, produced three Tribe runs, snapped a 1-1 deadlock and hung the season's first defeat on Mel Parnell. The victory boosted the second-place Indians to within one game of the American League-leading Red Sox.

It was Wynn's first relief assignment. Garcia had relieved twice and Lemon once. The Indians won all four games.

One-Sided Win

Righthander Frank Shea and outfielder Jackie Jensen, obtained from the New York Yankees Saturday, teamed up to lead the Washington Senators to a 13-1 victory over the skidding St. Louis Browns in the only night activity in the major leagues.

Shea surrendered one run before retiring in the eighth inning because of a cramped finger. Wilson rapped a double and two singles and drove in five runs to lead the Senators' attack against starter Ned Garver and two relievers.

New York's Giants maintained their slim half-game margin over the Brooklyn Dodgers in the National League, making use of their four hits to nip the Chicago Cubs, 3-2. Wes Westrum's two-run homer and Bobby Thomson's run-scoring triple, plus the brilliant relief pitching of Monte Kennedy, earned the Giants their seventh straight victory and 11th in their last 12 games. Kennedy yielded only one hit in 6½ innings.

Ralph Branca limited Pittsburgh to four hits as Andy Pafko and Gil Hodges paced the Dodgers to a 5-1 victory with home runs.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press

St. Louis Cardinals shunted outfielder Pepper Martin to Rochester of the International Baseball League 22 years ago today. The Cards took up his option the next season and Pepper ran wild in the 1931 World Series against Philadelphia Athletics, with 12 hits in 24 times at bat as St. Louis won the series four games to three.

Buffalo Bows To Springfield

By The Associated Press

It's tough on a pitcher to lose a no-hitter after seven innings, but it's even tougher to lose both the no-hitter and the ball game at the same time.

That's what happened Monday night to Lynn Lovenguth of the Buffalo Bisons.

For seven innings Lovenguth held Springfield without a hit. But his opposing moundsman, Bill Padget, held Buffalo scoreless, and the two teams were locked in a 0-0 tie entering the eighth inning.

Then Nels Burbrink, Springfield catcher, broke Lovenguth's spell with an infield single. Burbrink took second on a sacrifice and romped home with the game's [illegible] after two were out.

To make it even worse, Lovenguth, who gave up three hits altogether, struck out the side in the ninth, but Springfield's 1-0 edge stood up, anyway.

For Padgett it was his third win against one loss. It was Lovenguth's first setback. He has yet to win.

The only other game scheduled —Syracuse at Baltimore — was postponed because of wet grounds.

Commons Ends Debate On Government's Budget

OTTAWA, May 6. (CP)—The Commons has completed debate on the budget after defeating two motions of non-confidence in the government. The windup came with a closing-hour flourish Monday night when members voted 102 to 45 against a Progressive Conservative motion expressing non-confidence in the government's taxation policies.

The other non-confidence motion was proposed by the C.C.F. It was defeated 89 to 42 last Friday. It charged the budget ignored the wish of the house for removal of the four-per-cent floor on medical expenses deductible from taxable income.

Thus the Commons has given approval to the 1952-53 budget Finance Minister Abbott brought down April 8. The budget makes cuts in cigarette and luxury taxes and though it reduces income taxes, these cuts will be matched by the two-per-cent social security tax the government will begin collecting July 1 next.

Financial policy still will be debated in the House, however. Resolutions and bills giving effect to the tax changes proposed in the budget must be passed.

Housing Main Theme

Housing was the main theme of the final speakers in the budget debate, which has been going on sporadically since April 22.

David Croll (L., Toronto Spadina) set the theme early in the day when he warned that if private lending institutions didn't re-enter the mortgage field "on the double" the government must move in to provide money for house-building. And if the government moved in it wouldn't move out.

His plea for more housing was supported by Stanley Knowles (C.C.F., Winnipeg North Centre), Paul Hellyer (L., Toronto-Davenport) and W. J. Browne (P.C., St. John's West).

F. D. Shaw (S.C., Red Deer) said all the parliamentary talk about housing should have convinced Resources Minister Winters that the time had come to overhaul the National Housing Act.

Mr. Croll, a former Minister of Public Welfare, said there have been estimates that Ontario needs 450,000 more homes and that Canada needs another 700,000. There was a need for more rental housing, more mortgage money, lower down payments and for longer periods to repay loans.

Traditional Field

Mortgages were the traditional field of the private companies. But they were now using their funds to buy "chunks" of real estate and long-term leases on chain stores.

If they were more interested in clipping bond coupons and collecting rents, they were vacating a field the government would have no alternative but to enter. If the government did enter the mortgage field, it could make money available more cheaply than private institutions.

Mr. Knowles congratulated Mr. Croll and supported the appeal for more low-rental housing.

Mr. Hellyer said the National Housing Act loans were falling off because insurance and lending companies could get better interest rates elsewhere. Canada fought wars with three-per-cent money but the causes of wars with five-per-cent money and that did not seem sensible.

Mr. Browne urged government assistance for rural housing in Newfoundland, much of which was without modern conveniences.

Other speakers in Monday's debate included Clarie Gillis (C.C.F. Cape Breton South) who appealed for development of the Maritime steel industry to retain the diminishing market for coal, and Paul Dube (Ind. L., Restigouche-Madawaska) who urged increased old-age pensions and family allowances to meet cost-of-living increases.

RECORD CROP OF LOGS — Logs from Canada's vast pulpwood forest flow down the Gatineau river, near Ottawa, on their way to become part of Canada's chief export. This year's crop of more than 12,000,000 cords, on its way to the 130 pulp mills scattered across Canada, will be converted into pulp for paper, rayon, plastic, explosives and other products. Canada is the largest producer and exporter of newsprint and leading exporter of pulps. More than half of the world's newspaper pages are printed on Canadian newsprint. Fourth Annual Ballet Festival Opens Week-Long Peformances

TORONTO, May 6 — (CP). — The fourth Canadian Ballet Festival was well under way today amid a chorus of friendly cheers from the critics.

Four of the 12 companies here for the week-long festival put on performances Monday night, providing an engaging evening for a first-night audience, despite nervousness on the part of some young performers.

"Monday night's bill was both interesting in accomplishment and a pleasant promise of performances to come," said Rose Macdonald of The Telepram, after viewing the efforts of Winnipeg, Montreal, Ottawa and Halifax companies.

Said Jack Karr of the Toronto Daily Star: (They showed) "enthusiasm in work, vigor in individual performances, devotion to work in hand."

Herbert Whittaker of the Globe and Mail was most taken by the Winnipeg Ballet's presentation: He said:

"There were some interesting performers and some admirable work earlier in the evening from Ottawa, Halifax, and Montreal groups, but it took the Winnipeg Ballet's 'Shooting of Dan McGrew' to make the audience forget that they were attending a ballet festival and enjoy a handsome serving of showmanship.

Musical Comedy

"Robert Service's poem has been put into a sort of musical comedy ballet by Gweneth Lloyd, with Eric Wild remembering some old tunes of the '90s for its score. The result is bouncy, funny and burlesque, with Eva Von Genscy adding sex appeal to the evening as Lou."

However, "the ballet which showed off its dancers to best advantage .... was 'The Vision,' presented by Gotshalks Halifax brilliance—principally from Irene Ballet, with occasional bursts of Alpine, in its leading role...."

Mr. Whittaker called the Ottawa company "attractive" and said it paid the penalty of opening the non-competitive festival. It was obviously nervous. Montreal's "Mount Royal Fantasy," danced by the Elizabeth Leese Ballet, was "the most provocative" and supplid the best acting.

Miss Macdonald called "The Vision" the "most charming" and noteworthy because of the youth of the Halifax dancers. Despite a lack of opportunity to see professinal ballet, "they made a very pleasing impression indeed." With the other critics, she commented favorably on the striking bright red costumes of the Ottawa group.

The Star critic summed it up: "People on both sides of the footlights had a good time."

Solve Mystery Of Church Doors

VALLEJO, Calif., May 6 (AP). —The mystery of the church doors that would not stay locked was solved Monday. Police arrested an Air Force lieutenant who said he had lived for three weeks in the belfry of Vallejo's Seventh Day Adventist Church.

The officer who turned the bell tower into a penthouse—complete with radio, electric heater, food and blankets— was booked as Clarence B. Wigley, 23. Wigley faces court-martial for desertion.

The Rev. J. J. Dollinger said he had been hearing strange noises, "like somebody walking," from the belfry for months. The church was searched repeatedly, but not the belfry because it was "quite impossible that anyone could be living there."

Dollinger has found the church doors unlocked every morning, although he had carefully locked them each night.

Tough Diplomacy

OTTAWA, May 6 — (CP) — North Atlantic Treaty countries have adopted "tough" diplomatic tactics to meet the "completely unscrupulous" bargaining practices of Russia, External Affairs Minister Pearson said Monday night. He told the Ottawa Junior Board of Trade that NA.T.O. representatives have learned that Soviet diplomacy acts on the principle that "the end justifies the means, and bargaining means only the survival of the fittest."

Need To Watch Comparison Of Figures

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The tendency to compare current business conditions with record conditions is commented on by The Pipeline, publication of the Canadian Institute of Plumbing and Heating.

In an editorial, "What Is Normal After All?" it says, in part:

"Around the industry, in recent months, one hears a great deal of talk of business 'slumps' or 'fall off' or whatever. We wonder just what there is to all this talk—pessimistic at the best—and how much of it is influenced by a false point of view . . .

"It is all too easy, sometimes, to think only in the present, and make all comparisons from that standpoint. Sales are down so far this year, we say, because they were greater last year or the year before for the same period.

Queer Thinking

"But, instead, let's move back to a seat in 1950 or 1949. How were we doing then? Well, most of us were pretty happy about things, weren't we? We were feeling pretty proud and prosperous, because we had beaten the previous year's figures . . ..

"It's a queer brand of thinking that we are all inclined to consider a continued increase in sales of an increased-profit year as 'normal', but any reduction is 'below normal' and a step on the road to ruin.

"Worse still, because of this we sometimes get excited and do strange things in an effort to step up the volume . . .

"Wouldn't it make more sense if we just changed our perspective slightly? Let's consider 1951 as an unusually good year, but not necessarily a normal one.

"Let's think back to 1950. Most of us are doing as well as we did in 1950 and in 1950 we thought we were having a great year. Aren't we, then, having a great year in 1952? Of course we are, if we view this year's picture from the proper seat . . .

"In fairness, however, there is one angle of business to which we should give a careful look, before the comparison with 1950 can be a perfect parallel.

"Aside from the normal increase in cost of doing business today, maybe, just maybe, we have permitted our costs to be geared to a 1951 abnormal year. It is easy, when sales are on the upswing, to add a bit here and a bit there to overhead. Maybe a really careful appraisal of miscellaneous items of expense would show up a lot of corners which might be cut."

BOY BREAKS ARM

Ten-year old James Fairs, 332 Burnham St., fractured his right arm Monday night, when he fell off his bicycle. He was taken to Civic Hospital for treatment.

FLOWERS STOLEN FROM GRAVES

Someone is apparently stealing flowers placed on graves in Little Lake Cemetery. Saturday, a bouquet was left on a recent grave. Sunday, it had disappeared, and no trace of the flowers could be found.

LONDON BUSES

The three double-deck London buses which have been goodwill touring the United States, are likely to head for home through Ontario and Quebec. City council learned last night that their eastern itinerary will likely be through Peterborough.

WOMEN RECOVERING

Mrs. Jessie Alton and Mrs. Winnifred McIndoe, the two most seriously injured weekend motor accident victims are reported to be satisfactorily recovering from their injuries in St. Joseph's hospital. An emergency operation was performed on Mrs. McIndoe Sunday and she is reported to be slightly improved today.

BUSH FLOORS DRY

The smoke of several bush fires in the area of Bancroft was mentioned today by Arnold Deyell as evidence of the dry condition of the natural floor of the woods from lack of ample rain. Report of another fire farther north was also reported in the village where Mr. Deyell visited on business on Monday.

MAY 24 HOLIDAY

City council is not interfering with the national holiday of Saturday May 24. That was its expressed position last night in regard to a communication from the Chamber of Commerce that more than 75 per cent of the retail stores here wish to remain open on that day and to close on May 26. It was said that the practice of some of the large chain stores with multiple branches was to close on the statutory holidays, falling on Saturday, and to open on the Monday.

CITIFIED WHIP-POOR-WILL

For the past two weeks Mrs. Morley Powell of 661 Rubidge St., has watched a lone whip-poor-will dunking and drinking in her garden bird bath, sometimes early mornings or around suppertimes. This morning at 4:45, Mrs. Powell looked at her bedside clock, the bird gave out with his well-known call and kept it up for some time. These shy woods birds are very unusual in the crowded city.

Fore!

Two golfing enthusiasts were getting in a few early holes at the Kawartha Golf and Country Club. One golfer teed off, and took an energetic cut at the ball, then shaded his eyes against the late afternoon sun and looked westward, watching for it to land. After he held this stance for a few seconds, his companion tactfully drew his attention to the spot where the ball finally came to rest—at his feet.

2 City Boards Discuss Uniting Health Services

Once again the Board of Education and the Board of Health are going to discuss the subject of amalgamating their health services.

Dr. R. A. Kelly, Peterborough Medical Officer of Health, briefly outlined a plan to the Board of Education's health committee Monday night in which the Board of Health would take over medical and dental services in the public schools and P.C.V.S.

Renewal of the discussion of amalgamation was sparked by the resignation of Dr. Hiram Wright, the Board of Education's medical officer.

At present the Board of Health gives a nursing service and immunization service to the city separate schools.

Sought Several Years

For some years Dr. Kelly has been advocating an amalgamation of the health services in the city. Eventually he wants to see a county health unit established.

The cost of maintaining a city Board of Health and a separate health service for the Board of Education is way out of line, Dr. Kelly said. By amalgamation he estimated he could cut the cost of health services by at least 21 cents for each man, woman and child in Peterborough.

Estimates this year are $23,825 for the Board of Education's health committee and $47,524 for the Board of Health. Assuming the Peterborough population is 37,192, the statistics indicate that the per capita cost is $1.92.

Even after 21 cents have been lopped off and the per capita is down to $1.71—that figure is still well above comparable Ontario cities, said Dr. Kellly. Cost of health services in other cities is Oshawa $1.39, Guelph $1.14, St. Catharines $1.30, Sarnia $1.35 (Sarina and St. Catharines are in a health unit), Kitchener $1.43, and Kingston $1.42.

Once the system is working smoothly Dr. Kelly anticipates further cuts.

City Accepts Resignation Of N. Graham

Mayor Attempted To Persuade Alderman To Stay On Council

The resignation of Ald. Norman G. Graham from the city council was accepted by council Monday night.

Ald. Graham was not present. Neither did he attend the special meeting April 28. His last official appearance at the City Hall was Thursday afternoon April 24 when he presided at a meeting of the sanitation committee which is regarded as a subcommittee of the board of works. His letter of resignation was dated Saturday, April 26. It was a brief expression of his wish to retire from the council.

As to the finality of that decision, Mayor Waddell said he had discussed it thoroughly with Ald. Graham. "I did all in my power to convince him that he should complete his term. He feels that owing to pressure of business and some minor difficulty which he had run into, he wished to resign. I feel that he is sincere."

Had Enough

Ald. Graham told the Examiner Saturday morning, April 26: "I've just put my resignation in the mail. I've had enough of it." He said he was not satisfied with the manner in which J. E. Pierce, superintendent of sanitation, was conducting the sanitation department, which combines the collection and the disposal of garbage.

Ald. Graham said he had no intention of changing his mind. His words were: "I'm through. You should have heard what he said about the Examiner" . . . However, as no report of any "difficulty" had come to the council, nothing was said about the letter until its contents had reached considerable circulation. There was the possibility that reflection might bring an amendment of action, at least to resignation from the sub-committee.

Ald. A. B. Burrows endorsed the opinion of Mayor Waddell. He said he had tried to persuade Ald. Graham against resigning, and had conveyed to him the expressions of many citizens. "I regret it very much, but I know that he definitely feels that it must be final."

Ald. S. J. Black asked whether there was any explanation of Ald. Graham's decision, any causes whether imaginery or otherwise. "From what I have heard there seems to have been some difference in his department. If there is anything wrong, I think we should give him a chance to explain his position if he wishes to do so. That would be in fairness to us and to the people we represent. It would save any trouble when he is not here any more. I'd like to hoist his letter for a week or two. Right now, I don't know anything about his reason."

Ald Burrows: "I agree that if there is any difference, it should be aired. But, he has the right and privilege to resign at the date he said in his letter."

Would Be Read

Ald. T. D. Miller said if there was any report from the sanitation committee it would be read in the board of works.

Mayor Waddell suggested that Ald. Graham could be invited to the meeting of the whole council in committee next Monday night if he wished to attend and be heard in anything he might wish to say.

To Ald. Black, Mayor Waddell said it was proposed to Ald. Graham that he could restrict his resignation to the chairmanship of his committee, but his reply was that he wanted to resign from the council.

At the subsequent sitting of the finance committee last night with Ald. T. D. Miller presiding, Ald. H. T. Rehill was recommended for the chairmanship of the sanitation committee.

The vacancy in the council was mentioned, and City Clerk Outram informed the committee that the City of Peterborough special Act of 1910 provided that in the event of the resignation of a member before the expiration of the time for which he was elected "the council shall elect some duly qualified person."

That Act was brought up from the office downstairs, confirming the statement of Mr. Outram. It was quite general as to choice of person and as to time of appointment. It did not specify when a successor should be named.

The city's private bill turned up the answer to recently published opinion that council customarily appointed in such a vacancy the next person in the order of elec-

[illegible] ing been followed, or that it was customary.

It was said that when Mr. H. I. Bradburn resigned to contest the mayoralty which was won by Wm. G. Ovens, he was requested to accept the council's appointment for the second year of his two-year term, and that he acceded.

Which One?

One remark in the discussion was to the effect that Ald. Graham was fifth in the aldermanic standing in 1950, and next to him was Adam B. Sands.

The apparent implication was that if a sixth man was to be offered the vacancy it should be

Car Hits Tree Driver Suffers Broken Leg, Ribs

MADOC, May 6 (Staff)—Bertram Wickens, 35, of Crooksten, is in Belleville hospital today with a broken thigh and several broken ribs suffered Monday when his car left the road and crashed into a tree.

The accident happened just south of Madoc between Belleville and Madoc. Police believe the left front tire on Wickens' car blew out on the rough road, throwing the auto out of control.

Wickens was bound for Madoc in his 1937 car about 5:45 p.m. when the crash occurred. The wrecked auto was found by D. H. MacDonald, of Belleville, who was on his way home.

Dr. S. R. Beatty of Madoc treated Wickens, and O.P.P. Constable Arthur Bolyea of the Madoc detachment investigated.

Lumbermen Go To Conciliation

Next stage in the contract dispute between the production workers of the Peterborough Lumber Co. and management will be the setting up of a conciliation board.

Some 70 of the P-L employees, members of the composite Local 509, International Woodworkers of America (C.I.O.-C.C.L.) are asking for a drastic revision of their present contract which expired in April.

Contract demands include the following: a 25-cents-an-hour wage increase; reduction of the work week from 48 to 45 hours with no loss of take-home pay; three more statutory holidays with pay (at present there are six); the probationary period cut from 60 to 30 days; a union shop; two weeks' holidays after three years' service, three weeks after 15 years (at present it is two weeks after five years; and a union shop.

Deadlocked

Union officials said today that Monday they and the company met with Conciliation Officer James Hutcheson but they ended in deadlock.

Mr. Hutcheon said he would recommend setting up a conciliation board.

The starting rate is now 87½ cents an hour and the basic rate is 97½ cents. Union officials estimate that the average rate is [illegible] negotiations between the company and the union comes hard on the heels of a settlement reached between the other half of composite Local 509 and Timber Structures of Canada Ltd.

General Increase

Some 70 production workers at Timber Structures received a general wage increase of 10 cents an hour.

Other benefits in their two-year contract are an extra statutory holiday, making seven; an insurance scheme financed 50-50 by the company and the employees; an extra five cents an hour on the anniversary date of the contract and another paid statutory holiday on the anniversary date. The work week is 44 hours.

The starting rate at the Timber Structures is $1.15 an hour.

Members of the negotiating committee who have been conferring with the Peterborough Lumber Co. since March 20 are Albert Maskell, Fred Cook and Fred Blackburn. Charles Morton is the I.W.A. representative.

Labor Council Urges City To Delay Removing Houses

Peterborough and District Labour Council appealed to the city council Monday night not to proceed with the removal of the wartime houses in the Hatton subdivision at the west end of Charlotte St., "until there is some alternative accommodation in sight." The Labor protest, presented by Edmond S. Humphry, president, was accompanied by a similar but briefer petition from the tenants of Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, which manages the property for the Crown.

"We appreciate that the problem of housing is a national one, and would like, at this time, to express our willingness to support your council in any action it may deem necessary to take to bring about improvements," Mr. Humphry read.

"At the same time we wish to go on record that we deplore the council's action in ordering the houses on the Hatton property removed."

The block of 125 temporary houses was built during the war. In its agreement with Wartime Housing, the city stipulated that the houses were to be removed when the war ended. Council has requested Central Mortgage, successor of Wartime Housing, to have the houses removed by June, 1953. Preliminary to that clearance tenancies are to be terminated at Dec. 31 next.

Many Seek Homes

"At present we have dangerously large numbers of people who are unable to procure anything but terribly inadequate living accommodation. This condition it is now your intention to severely aggravate by throwing a further large number of people into competition for accommodation which is already sadly lacking," Mr. Humphry continued in his presentment.

"We are in agreement with your urge to beautify this city, but we cannot agree with the idea that the solution is to move a substantial group of our citizens over the city limits with no place to go, as was the case with one Fred Brant.

"In a letter to us Mr. Mayor, you refer to the fact that the council is representative of all the people of Peterborough. Yet, in this same letter, you state that your agreement with the Housing Corporation was made in deference to the requirements of a small group of residents of this city.

"These dwellings were brought into existence as a result of the demand of industry in a time of national emergency. We say that the demand and emergency still exists, and therefore, your council must not submit to the snobbish requirements of any group who have no housing problem to face.

No Consideration

"The policy in the past has been to destroy homes without any sort

[illegible] shelter. Two instances are very recent in the cases of Louis Street and the site for the City Hall. These were, for the most part, not very imposing dwellings, but they were, at least, shelter for a number of families.

"We cannot believe that the majority of Peterborough citizens will endorse the action of the removal of the dwellings in the Hatton subdivision, until there is some alternative accommodation in sight.

"We believe in homes, good homes, for the family. We believe that well housed families produce good citizens. We believe also that a well housed community will have less delinquency in all its stages.

"To aggravate the housing shortage will add a burden to the larger proportion of citizens if only because it will give encouragement to a group of landlords who will take advantage of such a situation and will continue to take advantage of the opportunity to extract exorbitant rents for totally inadequate accommodation.

"The dwellings in question are said to be substandard—they are of a similar type to large numbers of other homes in the city, therefore this ceases to be a legitimate reason for the city council's attitude."

Ask Help

Text of the second petition read by Mr. Humphrey on behalf of the tenants was: "We request that Peterborough city council take up the matter of the hardship imposed on us by the recent demand that we give up possession of our homes in December, 1952. We further request that the council intercede on our behalf with Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation to withhold the notices issued to us until such time as the council find a solution to our problem."

The number of signatures was 130. A few of the names were: Alfred E. Mills, James Huggins, Daniel P. Carroll, M. J. McCarthy, James Webb, Thomas Kay, G. J. Hewie, J. J. Rosebush, Robert D. Kent, Basil Williams.

The Labor group was the only delegation of the session. When the council later in general business took up their petition, Ald. T. D. Miller suggested that "the council not be asked to make a decision contrary to its former position, but that we have the opportunity to discuss this matter in committee of the whole."

That transferred consideration of the two communications until next Monday night.

Stuffed Ballot Boxes Alderman Charges

TORONTO, May 6 (CP) —Alderman Alan Grossman said Monday night that stuffed ballot boxes defeated the Progressive Conservative candidate in St. Paul riding here in the 1949 federal election.

He told a nomination meeting that he has no proof of the charge and added: "This time we are going to have plenty of scrutineers and enumerators."

The meeting chose Roland Michener as the Progressive Conservative candidate for the next federal election.

Mr. Grossman said: "The last election in St. Paul's was stolen . . . because of certain things which happened in certain parts of the riding, votes were stolen. We were not prepared. It won't happen again."

Merchants Doubtful Sales To Boom, But Welcome End Of Credit Restrictions

Only One Interviewed Optimistic, Expects Business To Triple Used Car Dealers Happy, "Right Season"

City merchants today greeted the end of consumer credit restrictions with cautious smiles. Only one of a group interviewed—new and used car dealers, furniture dealers and appliance dealers—predicted any large increase in sales; he felt sales might triple. Most others said there would probably be no really substantial increase, but they were pleased at the announcement. With a few exceptions, the picture is this for down payments: on new and late model used cars, the down payment will be one-third, with 18 to 24 months to pay; on furniture and appliances, 10 to 15 per cent, with 18 months to pay.

On older cars, larger down payments will be required by some firms (one said up to 40 per cent) and 18 months to pay.

The announcement of the end of the restrictions came almost simultaneously with Finance Minister Abbott's statement that the cost of living index had taken its third successive drop.

Used car dealers were happy; they felt the end of restrictions would help sales out a good deal. One said that "it comes at a good time. This is a good season for selling cars anyhow."

One appliance dealer said that for radio and television sets he would require a 15 per cent down payment, with 18 months to pay the balance. Other dealers said they would ask 10 per cent and give 18 months for the balance.

"I've seen that some Toronto furniture stores are advertising $5 down payments and 24 months for the balance," said a furniture dealer. "That is not good. With such a small down payment, the customer does not have an interest in what he buys.

Careless of Payments

"If it had to be repossessed, he could say to heck with it, and he wouldn't lose much. By keeping down payments up to 10 or 15 per cent, the customer has a large enough equity that he will want to keep up the payments."

Still, at least one Peterborough furniture store was advertising "make your one terms" on appliances.

One thing all dealers agreed on: The end of the credit curbs would help the people who found a large down payment in their way, as well as large monthly payments.

Although the dealer was free to set his own terms, he was still bound by the policies of finance companies who took over the financing of purchases on time. Exceptions were the large dealers, who either owned their own finance companies, or who were rich enough to take risks.

Firemen Name Man To Bargain For 1952 Salaries

Peterborough Fire Fighters' Association wrote the council on Monday night that they had appointed Charles Dubin of Toronto as their representative in the arbitration of salaries in their 1952 working agreement. It was referred to the meeting of the committee of the whole next Monday night.

Mayor Waddell remarked that apparently the action of the firemen closed the door to any further discussion directly with the council.

"From what I was told tonight," said Ald. A. B. Burrows, "I don't think it is closed. I think we should make a last attempt for an agreement by negotiation. It seems to me that before long we may have to throw over the cost of living bonus and get down to a basic salary. It has been said that we have adjusted salaries to some extent, and defeated our stand that we were not altering basic salaries this year.

Much Justice

"I believe the firemen are still in a mood to discuss such a thing. I'd like to see the council try to reach agreement on a basic salary adjustment for the firemen, maybe at $350 or $400. It would save arbitration, for one thing. I think there is a lot of justice in their request."

Ald. Burrows is chairman of the fire, water and light committee.

At one stage in discussions, the firemen proposed to abandon cost of living bonus if they and the council could agree on an increase in basic salary.

One of the comments on this topic was that the bonus worked both ways. If it advanced, the allowance to the men went up with it. On the other hand, if it declined, the bonus was reduced.

T.C.A. Watching Jet Efficiency

OTTAWA, May 6 (CP)—Trans-Canada Air Lines has not yet sufficient information on the efficiency of jet planes to warrant purchasing them, President G. R. McGregor Monday told the Commons special railway committee.

Meanwhile, he said, the T.C.A. has ordered five Lockheed super Constellations for delivery in 1953. These aircraft, for overseas use, can be converted to jet power.

President McGregor was reporting to the committee in its annual review of the operations of the government-owned airline during the last year. The members approved T.C.A.'s 1951 report and its 1952 budget.

WINNIPEG, May 6 (CP) — An estate of $126,549 was disposed of in the will of Henrietta Esther Jackson, retired civic employee, who died here recently. The will was filed today in surrogate court.

The will directed the trustees to set up a trust fund and pay the income to a niece, Henrietta Anna Watchorn of Merrickville, Ont. At her death, the estate will revert to a nephew, Arthur Morphy Watchorn of Merrickville.

The estate includes bank and other stocks worth $39,958, bonds $59,000 and cash $26,000.

Gross Profits Drop For Hudson's Bay Co.

WINNIPEG, May 6 — (CP) — Record sales but a drop in gross profits on trading due to higher taxes and increased operating expenses were reported by Sir Patrick Ashley Cooper, governor of the Hudson Bay Company, in his annual report and statement on accounts released Monday.

Sales totalled $183,000,000 compared with $160,000,000 at Jan. 31, 1951, while trading profit declined from $8,083,000 to $7, 292,000.

Ont. Municipal Act Obsolete–Jolliffe

TORONTO, May 6 (CP)—E. B. Jolliffe, Ontario C.C.F. leader, said Monday night the Ontario Municipal and Assessment Acts "are obsolete and antiquated."

In a speech over the Ontario network of the CBC in the provincial affairs series, he said the acts do not provide adequately for the needs of rapidly-growing municipalities.

Financial relationships between the province and local governments were "entirely unsatisfactory."

150,000-Mile Trip For Clerk

LONDON, May 6 (CP)—Don Marwick of Cochrane, who gave up a clerk's job four years ago to see the world, ended Monday a 150,000-mile hitch-hiking trip through Europe and the Middle East, but his wanderlust still is unsatisfied.

Marwick, 26, said his travels were not "particularly exciting," but they included a dangerous 60 seconds on the rim of an active volcano, a fortnight with a nomad Arab family and a hitch in Lapland driving reindeer.

"I got the travel bug when as a kid I had to spend a year in bed with illness," he said in an interview. "I began reading travel boks and they started my feet itching."

Since he left Northern Ontario, he has seen the United Kingdom, France, Italy, Spain, Portugal, Gibraltar, Tangier, French Morocco, Algieria, Tunisia, Austria, Germany, Switzerland, Belgium, Luxembourg, The Netherlands, Denmark, Finland, Norway, Sweden and Lapland.

NOW IN CANADA! the tire that earned the name LIFE-SAVER

B.F.Goodrich TUBELESS TIRE

PROTECTS AGAINST BLOWOUTS

CHANGE BLOWOUTS TO SLOWOUTS

Most blowouts start when you don't know it. You bang into a curb or a hole and bruise the cords inside your tire. As the tire flexes a break occurs in the casing and the tube is forced into the gap. Here the tube is pinched and rubbed by the tire's flexing until suddenly, miles or perhaps days later, when you don't expect it, the tire blows out.

But with the B. F. Goodrich Tubeless Tire there is no tube to blow out. The air-retaining lining is actually a part of the tire itself. If damage does occur it can only cause pinhole leaks in the lining. Instead of a dangerous blowout all you get is a "slow-out." In tests where it was deliberately cut and weakened, the B. F. Goodrich Tubeless Tire lost air so slowly it allowed up to eight miles to make a safe, easy stop.

TESTED AND PERFECTED—For fifty years, ever since B. F. Goodrich built tires for the first automobile manufactured on this continent, tire engineers have dreamed of a pneumatic tire that would need no inner tube. During World War II, B. F. Goodrich Research made such a tire possible. The principle was developed and used on military vehicles under gruelling combat conditions.

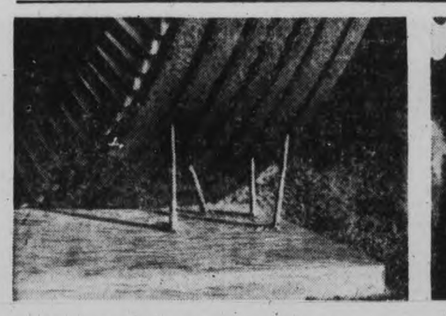
Following the War, the Tubeless Tire was modified and improved for use on automobiles. In 1946 the perfected tire was tested on police cars and taxi fleets where punishment is heavy, It was a complete success . . . a dream come true . . . the B. F. Goodrich Tubeless Tire that protects against all three driving hazards—blowouts, punctures, and dangerous skids.

PROVEN ON THE ROAD—The B. F. Goodrich Tubeless Tire has now been used for over four years in the United States by thousands of motorists. Their enthusiastic acceptance and exceptional mileage reports are your best guarantee that this is the finest tire you can buy today.

Here at last is the protection and the freedom from tire trouble that every Canadian motorist wants.

The B. F. Goodrich Tubeless Tire fits your present rims. No special fittings are needed. The scientifically designed tire bead with rim-seal ridges forms an air-tight pressure lock against the rim. It can't come off . . . doesn't lose air.

See this revolutionary tire right now at your own neighbourhood B. F. Goodrich dealers.



PROTECTS AGAINST PUNCTURES

Can you picture what would happen to your tires if you drove over spikes like those illustrated above? This dramatic test proves conclusively that with B. F. Goodrich Tubeless Tires such hazards will never cause you a moment's delay.

Here's why—a layer of special sealant rubber under the tread sticks to any puncturing object and prevents air from escaping. When the object is removed, the puncture seals itself instantly and permanently without any loss of air. You continue to drive as if the tire had never been punctured.

Inconvenience and expense are eliminated.

PROTECTS AGAINST DANGEROUS SKIDS

The B. F. Goodrich Tubeless Tire has an amazing new tread with thousands of flexible rubber "grip blocks"... spaced 16 to the inch. These tiny blocks grip the road like a tank tread. In wet weather their flexible action wipes the road dry for safe, sure traction . . . so dry you can actually light a match on the tire track.

Comparison tests with conventional tires show that this Life-Saver tread has up to 100% greater traction on ice and up to 40% greater on wet pavement. And, what's more, the flexible action of this new tread increases tire life 10% to 15%.

Former Hit Still Popular In Revival

By MARK BARRON

NEW YORK, May 6—(AP)—This being a season of revivals of former hits on Broadway, another arrived Monday night at the Ziegfeld Theatre and it is pleasant to report that the musical "Of Thee I Sing" still has the same charm that it had when first presented in 1932.

It being a story about Washington politics, only a few slight changes were necessary to make certain events more timely.

When "Of Thee I Sing" was first produced in 1932, it had William Gaxton as president and Victor Moore as vice-president. In Monday night's version there is a new administration with Jack Carson, recruited from the movies, as president, and Paul Hartman, as the frustrated Alexander Throttlebottom, the anonymous vice-president. They are worthy successors to Gaxton and Moore who were so hilarious in the original version of this musical.

Well Received

Carson, a native of Carman, Man., making his Broadway debut, was well received.

Brooks Atkinson of The Times said that as "Mr. Wintergreen, Mr. Carson could hardly be better—rangy, effortless, personable, plausibly sincere."

Walter F. Kerr, Herald-Tribune critic, said Carson gave a "robust, workmanlike performance."

A refreshing, delightful musical, "Of Thee I Sing" is as effervescent as it was when it was a hit on Broadway 20 years ago. With Carson, Hartman, Lenore Lonergan and Betty Oakes now playing the leading roles, the musical has enchantment with them singing such George and Ira Gershwin tunes as "The Illegitimate Daughter" and "Love Is Sweeping the Country."

200 FIREMEN and police were called to Montreal's Bordeau jail recently when the inmates started rioting to protest against the "lousy" food. The riot, which involved most of the prison's 500 inmates, caused damages estimated at $400,000 through smoke and water damage resulting from fires started in the prison chapel. Before the milling prisoners, shown in the above photo, could be returned to their cells, had looted the kitchen and canteen of cigarettes, cigars and candy, and passed them out to the rest of the inmates, and the firemen who were called in to fight the fires. Provincial police are still searching the prison for 100 butcher knives which were taken from the kitchen by the rioters.

Mexico History Outlined By J. A. Dewart

Mexico, past and present, was the theme of an address and colored slides presented by J. A. Dewart at the Rotary luncheon meeting Monday.

Mr. Dewart outlined the history of Mexico in phases—the Toltec, Maya and Aztec civilizations, the Spanish conquest, Mexican independence, revolutions, French conquest, constitutional government.

The speaker explained that the population is growing tremendously today. A great deal of interest is being shown in this country, especially by the United States and the American influence is felt throughout Mexico.

Following his address, Mr. Dewart showed colored slides. These included pictures taken in Mexico City and surrounding district and some of the thriving tourist centres in the country.

The speaker was introduced by T. J. Carley and thanked by Charles Cummer.

President S. J. Black presented perfect attendance pins to the following: Bill Hamilton, eight years; Les Turner, three years; Gordon McGavin and S. J. Black, one year.

The following guests and visiting Rotarians were introduced by the Rev. Ivan C. Morgan of Murray St. Baptist Church: Bill Myhre, G. I. Upsel, Al Adams, Bill Birnie, Gordon Diplock, all of Peterborough; Bill Armour, Toronto; Doug Kimpton, Montreal; Ken Best, Woodstock; John Fisher, Rittman, Ohio; Lin Richardson, Mimico.

Blame Team Manager For Church Decrease

TORONTO, May 6 (CP)—The session of Leaside United Church Monday accused baseball team managers of using pressure to compel young athletes to practice Sunday mornings, thereby keeping them away from church.

The Leaside protest, however, did not find unanimous support among Toronto's ministers. Several said they noted little decrease in attendance since the season for sports practice had begun. They attributed what little decrease there was to "spring fever."

St. Louis Newspaper Wins Fifth Pulitzer Prize

NEW YORK, May 6 (AP)—The St. Louis Post-Dispatch's exposure of corruption in the Internal Revenue Department Monday won that newspaper its fifth Pulitzer Prize. No other newspaper ever won that many.

The 1952 Pulitzer award for fiction went to Herman Wouk's novel of the wartime navy, The Caine Mutiny, while Joseph Kramm's The Shrike won the stage drama award.

Joseph Kramm, who wrote the prize-winning play, is 44, an actor and director. He has written nine plays, but this was the first only one produced.

The Shrike, depicts a sensitive man, with a wife who seeks to hold and control the remnants of his life, even if she drives him to lunacy. The action is set in a city hospital.

Prizes Doubled

The Pulitzer Prizes for journalism to individuals were doubled for the first time this year, being worth $1,000 apiece. Awards in the fields of arts and letters remained at $500 apiece. Newspapers won a gold plaque.

The Post-Dispatch, published by the founder of the awards, the late Joseph Pulitzer, won previous prizes in 1937, 1941, 1948 and 1950.

It was cited again this year for disinterested and meritorious public service in the exposure of "shocking evidence of political immorality."

Other Pulitzer awards announced by Columbia trustees on recommendation of the advisory board of Columbia's Graduate School of Journalism were:

Local reporting—George de Carvalho of the San Francisco Chronicle, for stories of a ransom racket extorting money from Chinese in America who had relations in Red China.

National reporting—Anthony Leviero of The New York Times, for an exclusive report on talks between President Truman and Gen. Macarthur at Wake Island during their 1950 conference. Leviero's exclusive was published April 21, 1951.

International reporting—John M. Hightower of the Associated Press "for the sustained quality of his coverage of international affairs during the year."

Editorial writing — Louis La Cross of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat for his editorial entitled The Low State of Public Morals. It echoed the deep concern of the average American over the West Point cheating scandals, the basketball fixing, the exposures of government corruption and the Kefauver Senate Crime Committee hearings.

Cartoons—Fred L. Packer of the New York Mirror, for his cartoon "Your editors ought to have more sense than to print what I say." It shows an irate President Truman pointing his finger at the Washington newspaper corps.

News photography—John Robinson and Donultang of the Des Moines Register and Tribune. Their sequences of six photos was taken at a Drake-Oklahoma A. & M. football game in which negro player Johnny Bright's jaw was broken.

History—Oscar Handlin's The Uprooted, the epic story of the migrations that made America a great new world. Handlin is associate professor of history of Harvard University.

Honor War Dead In Holland

BERGEN OP ZOOM, The Netherlands, May 6 (Reuters)—Diplomats from east and west, including Russia, gathered at the Canadian military cemetery Monday to pay tribute to me nof the Dominion who died during the liberation of Holland in the Second World War.

The occasion was the seventh annual Canadian memorial service.

Pierre Dupuy, Canadian ambassador, paid tribute to the Canadians' "comrades-in-arms from other countries who served under Canadian command and whose national flags now are flying near the cross of sacrifice."

Dupuy said it was his last memorial service here, since he is leaving for Rome later this month. He thanked the Dutch government, army and civilian population for their care of the graves.

A message from Lt.-Gen. Guy Simonds, chief of the Canadian general staff, was read by Brigadier R. W. Monzel. It congratulated the Dutch people on "the indomitable spirit which sustained them during the war years and is still with them and being reflected in their reconstruction work."

C. Staf, Netherlands defence minister, recalled that today was his country's official liberation day, and said the war had formed close ties between Canada and Holland.

St. Jos. Graduating Class Entertained By Alumnae

Graduates of St. Joseph's School of Nursing paid honor to the class of 16 young women who will graduate from the institution this week by having them as special guests at their annual Alumnae dinner, Monday evening.

They provided the graduates-to-be also with a timely address delivered by Dr. T. E. Currier who has been the class lecturer in psychiatry. This speaker appreciated the decision facing these nurses on completion of their course—"What will we do?"

He outlined numerous decisions that could be made, starting with marriage and the practice of their profession on families of their own and continuing with hospital staff and doctor's office positions, airline hostesses, specializing with post graduate study. University courses to equip for teaching, industrial and public health nursing and finally concentrating at length on the special field of neurological nursing.

Dr. Currier expressed the opinion that psychiatry is over the "flurry" now and beginning to settle in its place in the field of medicine. He point out that the hospitals for the emotionally upset are no longer "asylums" and no longer staffed by "strong arms" but by doctors, nurses and trained attendants.

He said the 14 Provincial mental hospitals in Ontario are superior to any in the other provinces and comparable with top line hospitals in United States and that they are achieving a very worthwhile piece of work. They are strategically placed according to density of population and the average population in each is around 1,200, he stated.

The young nurses were told that these hospitals offer staff openings for graduates of general hospitals in teaching and supervisory positions. "There are springing up also psychiatric hospitals with a general hospital flavor, for the sort of patients you have seen during your training," Dr. Currier told them.

He suggested the possibility of going further in this work with courses and training in psychiatric nursing. "Highly intriguing research is going on in United States where there are almost as many doctors as patients in the hospitals. The ideal psychiatric set-up has been reached in a Hospital for Better Living where the permanent staff of doctors is half as large as the patient quota but with part-time assistants the number of doctors is twice as many as the patients." the doctor advised.

In thanking Dr. Currier for his advice Miss Veronica O'Leary declared "We as nurses find psychiatry a very interesting and challenging subject." He was introduced by Miss Hope Zawadski.

A toast to the graduating nurses was proposed by Mrs. M. J. Rundle and the class president Miss Marguerite Lamey from Hastings made the reply.

The other members of the class are Misses Rita Chapman, Bertille Fanning, Patricia Jackson and Betty Schiarizza of Peterborough, Gwendolyn Chatterton of Orono, Joan Connolly of Lindsay, Mary Costello of Ennismore, Monica English and Jean Walsh of Indian River, Helen Hendricks of Old Chelsea, Que., Kathryn Naud of Smiths Falls, Anne McGee, Kirkfield, Anne Stoklosar of Madoc, Veronica Sheridan of Perth and Margaret Tunney of Grafton.

Gifts of sacred pictures from Reverend Mother Anita and thermometer sets from the St. Joseph's Hospital Ladies' Auxiliary were presented to each graduate by Mrs. B. Monaghan, president of the Auxiliary.

A gift to Miss Chatterton who was chosen by her classmates as having the best school spirit was presented by instructress Miss M. McCarthy.

Pleasing entertainment for the dinner guests was provided by soloist Mrs. Phyllis Collis and by Mr. Kevin Leahy, violinist, and Mrs. Leahy, piano accompanist.

Table decorations were carried out in blue and white flowers, streamers and candles for the school colors.

Alumnae president Miss Adaline Bradamore was chairman.

While Mr. E. Boland opened the evening with prayer.

The report from the convention by Mrs. J. Paquette.

Covered all the data that she could get.

Although our first visit from Father W. McDonald we had, he needed "no introduction" as Sister Borgia said.

The master mind without scruples, very dangerous can be.

But controlled by "Christian Education," it was different said he.

Entertainment provided by Mrs. Moore and her class. No old-time dancers, this crowd could surpass.

Kenny Smith calling off, the applause they did bring.

As they all took a partner and gave her a swing.

Then came the roll call. It was a surprise to me.

How grades seven and eight kept up with grade three.

For nomination next season Mr. F. Whaley made an attempt.

Few names were accepted as far as he went.

Concluding the meeting the people all met

In the kindergarten where a very dainty table was set.

"Your refreshments were lovely," you might hear everyone say.

DOROTHY DIX

Father Should Not Give Up Daughter To Runaway Wife

DEAR MISS DIX: I wrote you several weeks ago, but have never seen my problem in the paper. Will you please answer it now? We have two daughters, one married and the other 8 years old. The younger child has spent most of her life in boarding school. My wife never wanted to stay home and care for the child; she always wanted to work. I could only see my daughter every other week end as that was the rule of the school.

For the past year my wife hasn't been satisfied with anything I've done for her, though I spent a lot of money on new furniture and for things around the house. A few months ago she packed up and left me, going to her aunt in California. I have sent her money, but she writes that she doesn't love me any more.

Now she wants me to send our daughter to her in June. My older daughter is against my doing so, and so, naturally, am I. My little daughter doesn't want to go either. My wife refuses to tell me how long she intends to be away, and has even suggested that I get a divorce if I want one. I still love her so, of course, a divorce is out of the question.

SMITTY

ANSWER: I'm sorry you had no answer to your first letter, but since it is impoosible to use in this column all the mail I receive, many readers are bound to be disappointed. However, had you included your name and address in either the first or second letters, your problem could have been answered by personal letter.

You will be making a big mistake if you let your wife have her way about your young daughter. Since the child is happy with you and her sister, and the mother's instability is no indication that she can give the youngster care, keep your child.

She'll Get Over It

Let your wife get over her temperament in her own way. When she realizes how completely she has cut herself off from her family, she'll be glad to come home and settle down. Women of middle age are prone to all sorts of eccentricities, and a patient, understanding family is their only salvation. Your wife's desertion indicates an aberration that really was foretold in her growing restlessness and dissatisfaction with home conditions. Perhaps her aunt will see that she gets adequate medical care, which will probably go a long way in restoring her balance.

No 8-year-old girl should be sent to bording school except in case of grave emergency; certainly the mother's unwillingness to care for her doesn't come under that heading. When, and if, your wife returns, try to keep the child at home. Her presence will be good for the whole family, as well as giving her a more normal life.

Don't nag your wife about coming home. In your letters, accept her continued absence as a matter of course. She'll soon realize that her place is with you and the children.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: My mother and father have been divorced for five years. I'm living with my father now, and he tells me I should hate my mother. I love them both. Should I stop caring for my mother?

MAYBELLE S.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You are in the unfortunate position of most children with divorced parents. Your loyalties are being divided against your will with both parents pulling in opposite directions. If you love your mother don't try to change. Whatever caused the divorce, it was a problem between your parents and they are most unfair to upset your emotions in an effort to spite each other.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Against his parents' wishes, my husband and I were married a few months ago. As I was a divorcee with two children, they were sure I wasn't the proper wife for him. Now they are making my life miserable. They demand that I go to work to support my children, insist that my husband shouldn't adopt them, and are generally troublesome in their letters to us. My husband has gotten to the point where he won't read their mail. We are both 27, and very much in love. Should we leave this town and try to begin afresh somewhere else?

ANNABELLE

ANSWER: Under the circumstances, your in-laws were bound to be prejudiced against the marrigae. The only way you can show that they are wrong about you is to prove otherwise by making your marriage successful. This course takes time, but is the only way to make stubborn, stupid people realize they are wrong. If you can leave town without hurting business, or interfering with your own family life, do so. Distance works wonders.

Norwood Plans Service, May Bazaar

NORWOOD, May 6 (ENS). — The Norwood United Church Women's Missionary Society held their May meeting in the Sunday school room Thursday afternoon with Mrs. John Starke in charge.

The afternoon and evening auxiliaries were invited to attend a service in Hastings United Church on May 13 when the Rev. W. H. Tonge, of Lakefield, will give an address. Final arrangements were made for the bazaar tea and baking sale to be held May 10 in the basement of the church.

Mrs. Percy Allen took charge of the devotional period and Mrs. John Gardner led in prayer. Mrs. David Nixon sang a solo with guitar accompaniment. The topic from the study book was "Life Is a Trust." Scripture readings and a love story without words were given by Miss M. A. Carter, Mrs. David Nixon, Mrs. George Gardner, Mrs. Alfred McMillan and Mrs. Maitland Kirk.

Sentence prayers were given by four members of the group. During the program four questions were asked: (1) What is a Christian Community? to which Mrs. Rork Ferguson replied; (2) Discuss the duties of a Christian steward as a citizen? which was given by Mrs. George Gardner; (3) What privileges of Christian stewardship were disregarded by the rich young fool? which was answered by Mrs. Alfred McMillan; (4) Show how one is more blest in giving than receiving? taken by Mrs. Maitland Kirk.

HAS DRINKING HABIT — Although five years old, Smokey, pet cat of Janice Legacy, of Woodstock, still likes to drink from the bottle. When he was only a few weeks old, Smokey was taught to drink this way and now he grips the bottle in his paws and won't let go until it is drained.

Bear Cub Pet Last Straw, Housewife

WINNIPEG—(CP)—Lots of women enjoy having pets around the house, besides the husband and the children. But one Winnipeg housewife has had all the family pets that she wants.

Instead of the children having a dog follow them home, this housewife's brother trotted in with a bear cub. J. H. Morphy, who had previously looked after a number of pets including a mink and a deer, found the cub was just too much. The cub, "Smoky," had his paw in every corner of the Morphy household by sundown and continued his antics through the night.

First he pulled the plug out of the baby's bathinette, while the baby was in it. Mrs. Morphy found herself with one hand holding the baby and the other trying to stop the deluge.

Then there was the telephone episode. Smoky ran for the phone whenever it rang. He would climb into the telephone desk drawer looking for the sound, then on to the stand itself for a closer examination of the phone. Mrs. Morphy got there in the nick of time on one occasion to rescue a large earthenware vase.

The nights were disturbed by various bearlike yelps, crashes and growls. Smoky liked to be on top of everything; chairs, tables, mantels and doorways.

Like all babies, Smoky quietened down when it was his turn for the bottle. Mrs. Morphy, of course, had to fix the bottles.

"I thought Neil-Jon (the baby) was a lot of work until I ran into this youngster," said Mrs. Morphy. She finally decided there was one baby too many, so Smoky took up new residence in a pet shop.

What's Right?

You are in the middle of housecleaning when unexpected guests drop by.

WRONG— Say: "I'm sorry I can't ask you in, but the house is all torn up."

RIGHT—Explain that you are in the middle of housecleaning, buy say somethink like: "I'm glad you stopped by. Now I can take a few minutes off." Seeing how busy you are, the guests probably won't stay but a few minutes.

Guild Names Members To Re-decorate Hall

MARMORA, May 6 (ENS). — The May meeting of St. Paul's Ladies Guild was held Thursday evening at the rectory with Mrs. D. B. Robertson presiding.

A lengthy discussion ensued on the desired additions and improvements to the parish hall. The following were appointed to meet the Men's Committee appointed to look into the matter, Mesdames D. B. Robertson, W. D. Lavender, J. Pearse and C. Cronkright.

Mrs. R. G. Winters invited the Guild to her home for the June meeting. Mrs. Robertson closed the meeting with prayer following which the committee for the month served refreshments.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Tossed Chef's Garden, Epicure's Salad

How many cooks know how to make a tossed salad the most popular of all salads? Some folks chop them so fine that the individual ingredients lose all of their character. Others cut them so coarse you sometimes are stranded with a man-size piece of onion in your teeth.

What should be sliced? What should be shredded? What is best in chunks? What gives it crispness? What colour contrasts are most attractive? What is indispendsable to its composite flavour? What dressing has universal popularity?

I sound as if I think I know don't I? I only know what I like and what I observe produces a "licked-clean" salad bowl.

Emem's Tossed Salad

We are making this particular salad for four choosy eaters who have eaten salads in the best of company and know.

One-half head of well-dried Iceberg lettuce cut into ¾ or 1-inch cubes with a stainless steel knife; wafer thin 2 or 3-inch long shreds from a Spanish or other mild onion—using about ⅛ of the onion (or cut tiny rings from the bulb of green onions); ⅛ inch thick crescents from a green pepper—using about ¼ of the pepper; whole wafer thin slices from ⅛ of a cucumber; about 10 tips from sprigs of watercress; 4 thinly sliced radishes; 1 small firm tomato cut into sixths lengthwise and each of these into thirds crosswise; about ½ or 1 cup hair-like shreds of new green cabbage; ¼ clove of garlic chopped to a pulp (OR wipe the wooden bowl with the cut side of the clove of garlic); if available, about 3 or 4 leaves of curly endive pulled apart into bite-size pieces; Additions I like are 1 thinly-sliced hard-cooked egg OR 2 anchovy fillets broken small OR about 2 teaspoons anchovy paste dotted on. (This latter variation is thanks to a charming lady who lives in Calgary.)

These have to be "tossed" so collect them in a bowl large enough to permit it. Twenty minutes—no longer—should be your starting-time for preparing this, for vitamins pop out all over the place if this is allowed to stand. Sprinkle over as much or as little as the law or your figure allows of following French Dressing (which is a repeat); toss with 2 forks until salad ingredients are coated.

Non-Separating French Dressing

In a cold bowl mix together 1 cold egg, 1/3 cup cider or spirit or tarragon vinegar, 1 tablespoon paprika (that's right—1 tablespoon), 1½ teaspoons salt, shake of red pepper, 1 thin slice garlic clove, 3 tablespoons sugar, and beat for 3 minutes. Slowly begin to add 1 cup cold salad or olive oil—½ teaspoon at a time at first until emulsion (thickening) begins, then start adding by teaspoons, beating like mad between additions, until all oil is used.

Onions and garlic you know, don't mix with love, unless taken in double harness, so beware of dates with best boy or girl friends on tossed salad nights. I should know—I'm told often enough by the two young people who are still doggedly trying to raise me.

To give the salad a rakish look for special occasions insert a few little standing-up thin crescents of ripe avocado pear.

If you like this salad stuff let me know and I'll give you some more favorites. On second thought I'll give them to you anyway—I'm a self-appointed missionary for food-for-health.

Ald. Burrows said he did not know whether Ald. Graham had re[illegible] would probably be the expectation of labor that one of their members should get the appointment.

Discussion was discursive, but the council's scope was clear: "any duly qualified person."

Some one suggested that possibly Max J. Swanston might be willing to return with his experience for the remaining eight months of Ald. Graham's term.

For the information of the committee, City Clerk Outram said that if the Municipal Act were in effect here the vacancy should require a new election.

"Let's think it over for a week or so," Ald. J. E. Gillespie said.

Ald. J. A. Dewart commented that the responsibility of Mayor Waddell as head of the council was recognized, and that he give thought to the matter, consult some persons if he wished, and bring a report to the committee of the whole.

The discussion of the vacancy ended on that suggestion.

Arested Monday on a charge of stealing a pair of boots and a chair from the armouries where he is employed as assistant janitor, Frank Scully, 38, 468 Stewart St., was remanded until May 12 when he appeared in police court today.

Bail was fixed at $1,000 and Scully did not enter a plea or elect how he wished to be tried.

Scully is charged with stealing the boots and chair, valued at more than $25, belonging to the 50th Heavy Anti Aircraft Regiment here, between April 1 and May 6.

Declare Gamblers' Tax Unconstitutional In US

PHILADELPHIA, May 6 (AP)—A six-month-old federal law requiring gamblers to buy a $50 tax stamp was declared unconstitutional today by district Judge George A. Welsh.

Welsh ruled the law was a police measure enacted by Congress under the guise of a tax bill.

The decision was handed down on an appeal by Joseph Kahriger, 36, one of seven men facing trial on charges of failing to buy the stamp.

In dismissing the action against Kahriger, Welsh said he was not ruling on another section of the act which requires gamblers to pay a 10-per-cent tax on their earnings.

Mrs. Jos. Sanderson

OMEMEE, May 6 (ENS)—The funeral of Mrs. Joseph Sanderson, a resident of Emily township for 62 years, was held Monday afternoon at her home, 2½ miles north of Omemee.

Mrs. Sanderson, the former Sarah Bloxom, was born in Cavan township in 1866, a daughter of the late Richard Bloxom and Sarah McBrien. She came to Emily township as a bride in 1890. Her husband died in 1925. She was the last of a family of eight, five brothers and two sisters having predeceased her. She leaves one, Harry at home and one daughter, Mrs. Stephen McConnell (Cora) of Emily township. Another daughter, Mrs. Everett Jones (Etta) died 14 years ago. She also leaves seven grandchildren, and five great grandchildren.

The funeral service was conducted by the Rev. V. E. R. Zufelt of Trinity United Church, Omemee, of which Mrs. Sanderson was a member. The pallbearers were: Reginald McConnell and Albert O'Neill of Emily township, Roger McQuade and Bill Sanderson of Peterborough, Bill Keyworth of Toronto and Norman Waldick of Hamilton. Red Cross Work Greater In '51 Reports Today Show

TORONTO, May 6 — Work accomplished by Canadian women in the Red Cross workrooms across the country was substantially greater than in 1950, Miss Orian Warwick, chairman, national Women's Work committee, reported today at the annual meeting of the Society's Central Council.

"It is encouraging to note this increase in output in spite of the fact that purchased articles represented a smaller portion of the whole," Miss Warwick said.

Distribution of clothing and material was widespread throughout the world, Miss Warwick said noting that supplies were sent to Turkish nationals expelled from Bulgaria, Greek refugees, Czechoslovak refugees in Paris, members of the French Resistance now in a tubercular sanitorium and flood victims in Italy. Twenty-two cases of clothing were also sent to Korea.

Women's work groups made a total of 345,000 articles of clothing, quilts, hospital and surgical supplies, plus nearly two million surgical dressings. Goods for civilian relief in other countries were shipped to the value of $166,756.

Dr. J. T. Phair, chairman, National Junior Red Cross committee, reported members to be 961,540 in 33,367 branches which represents a gain of 40,530 members and 2,431 branches.

Juniors, who work for health, good citizenship and international friendship, raised $142,563 for their Handicapped and Crippled Children's Funds during the year and a total of 1,849 cases were treated. Gifts of clothing, medical supplies and other help to the value of $62,894 were sent to less fortunate children in other lands.

Under the Newfoundland dental program, which was begun in June of last year, 1,006 children were examined, 2,060 teeth extracted, 800 filled and 359 children restored to complete dental health. Juniors of Newfoundland, Ontario, Quebec and British Columbia, supported the project.

Some 35,000 hours of volunteer service in their communities were given by women trained in Red Cross home nursing classes during 1951, Miss Florence H. M. Emory, newly appointed chairman of the national nursing committee, reported to Council.

"There was a notable increase in home nursing activities, 7,778 women having received instruction in the home care of the sick by 728 volunteer nurse instructors," she said.

A braille edition of the Red Cross Home Nursing Manual was completed by the Canadian National Institute for the Blind and Red Cross. Members from these home nursing classes have given hundreds of hours of service in assisting in Blood Transfusion centres.

Approximately 18,000 individuals made use of the Sickroom Supply Loan Service during 1951 which operates in 500 communities in Canada.

A selected number of Red Cross nurses in Canada have been trained in the nursing aspects of ABC warfare and are prepared to give other nurses basic information in this civil defence program.

2 City Boards

ed by the Board of Health, trustees of the Board of Education have asked for assurance that the general health service can come up to the standard now maintained in the public schools and P.C.V.S.

Dr. Kelly said he could assure the trustees that they would get health services up to the standard laid down by the Ontario Department of Health. And he would do it for less money.

However, under this amalgamation plan, children would no longer have their teeth fixed without charge.

"You would cut out all treatment"? asked W. B. Gordon.

"Yes," replied Dr. Kelly. "We would do just preventive work."

The emphasis would shift to the pre-school service: a careful dental examination would be given the child and an education campaign started, aimed at both parent and child.

The three physical examinations now taken by children would be reduced to two: one pre-school and the other in the elementary grades. The immunization program would be taken over by the Board of Health, and Dr. Kelly said there would be a thorough check on "special medical cases".

To operate at $1.71 per capita, Dr. Kelly proposes the replacement of the three Board of Education nurses, and the part-time dental assistant, with one fully-qualified public health nurse. This would bring his Board of Health staff up to one supervisor of nurses and eight public health nurses.

Duplication

At present, said Dr. Kelly, there is duplication in which nurses from both services visit one home—even the same child at different phases of his life.

If two public health nurses were required the cost would be $1.81 per capita.

Amalgamation has been a perennial subject. Last September Dr. Kelly was asked to draw up an estimate of the costs involved in amalgamation, excluding consideration of the county health unit or any of the suburban schools.

This fell by the wayside when the Board of Health were moved into their new quarters in the city hall. Facilities were considered inadequate for extension of the Board's services; so the matter went no further.

The trustees discussed the matter briefly. They seemed reluctant to eliminate the clinical treatment of children with bad teeth.

"It has prevented many children from becoming dental cripples," said K. S. Wightman, superintendent of schools.

There was one suggestion that the Board of Education should retain its dental service and amalgamate its medical service only.

"That sounds like a very good solution to the problem," said Mrs. Blake Bell, chairman of the committee.

The upshot of the meeting was that the committee, after hearing Dr. Kelly, decided to recommend to the Board that they meet with the Board of Health to discuss amalgamation.

Urges Britain Consider Canada Big Market

LONDON, May 6 (Reuters) — Richard Butler, Britain's treasury chief, told industrialists here Monday night he hoped they would learn to think of Canada as one of Britain's "great markets of the future."

"Hitherto, we have sometimes failed to secure orders for capital goods (in Canada) simply because our delivery dates were too long," he said, adding restrictions on home consumption should improve this situation.

Butler spoke at a dinner opening the British Industries Fair and stressed Britain must seek foreign markets for several years to come.

Miracle Grass To Aid Golf Duffers

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.

NEW YORK, May 6—(AP)—Hey, Joe Duffer.

How'd you like to play golf on a fairway so tough that you can't take a divot out of it and so smooth that every shot is from a "brassie lie?"

If you should be strong enough to chop a divot out of it—and most ordinary golfers haven't that much power—just let it lie. The mowers will chop it up for fertilizer and new grass will grow better from the roots than if you painfully press the divot back into place.

You don't have to water the stuff, either, unless you live in a very dry climate, and it is resistant to heat, disease and insects.

Eventually (not for several years) you can have the same grass growing in your own back yard. Boy, imagine that. You can practise iron shots all day long without leaving a mark. And you can trim it short and smooth enough for a putting green.

This miracle grass was described Monday by Dr. Fred Grau, head of the United States Golf Association Green Section as he announced plans for opening a new West coast regional office at which still further experiments in turf development will be carried on.

Hasn't Name Yet

It doesn't even have a name yet and seed is so scarce it isn't likely you'll be able to buy it for a few years. The green section experts now are describing it as "combination grass" because they're approaching the same results with several different combinations of grass varieties.

The "combination" now being used is Zoysia, an oriental turf grass which grows in Japan, Korea and Manchuria, and Merion blue grass; another rather new development. When they're grown together, the Zoysia spreads its roots underground, the blue grass mingles with it, literally choking out weeds and pesty crab grass. One variety flourishes in the hot summer months, the other in the cooler spring and fall. Together they provide a smooth, tough cushion of turf the year around.

Horse Fractures Leg At Dufferin

TORONTO, May 6 (CP)—Filigal, three-year-old filly, fractured a leg Mcnday during the third race at Dufferin Park and had to be destroyed. Two jockeys were also injured.

It was the second fatal accident at Dufferin in two days' racing. Play At was injured in a pile-up Saturady and had to be destroyed.

Lyle Stewart, apprentice jockey for the John Stuart stable, was aboard Filigal when he was thrown during the post parade and suffered a fractured jaw. Tommy Fico, who rode Filigal in the race, suffered vertebra fractures when she went down as the field headed into the stretch.

Just before the race Kenneth Ness entered a $1,600 claim for Stuart's Filigal and she became his property during the seven-furlong sprint.

The stewards Monday barred jockey Tommy Barker from riding at Dufferin during the present meet. He was aboard Black Susan, which crowded the field causing Saturday's spill.

Reibel Voted Best Rookie

NEW YORK, May 6 (AP). — A player who came into the American Hockey League for a tryout during the past season is the circuit's outstanding rookie of 1951-52.

Earl Reibel of Indianapolis Capitals was chosen by the coaches of the nine league teams to receive the Dudley (Red) Garrett Memorial Trophy and the $300 league bonus that goes with it. The award was announced through league headquarters today.

Reibel, who had less than a full season of previous professional experience, was not on the Caps' training camp roster last fall and the club planned to send him out for further experience. The 21-year-old rookie centre from Kitchener impressed coaeh Ott Heller by his hustle and was rewarded with an Indianapolis contract. After failing to score in his first 13 games, he began to click and scored 33 goals and 34 assists for seventh place in the final league scoring list.

Reibel collected 23 of a possible 45 points in the voting on a 5-3-1 basis. Tied for second were Bob Hassard and Gordie Hannigan, both of Pittsburgh, with nine points each.

Others who figured in the balloting were Stan Long, Buffalo, 8 points; Frank Sullivan, Pittsburgh 7; Bill Wylie, Cincinnati, Bob Armstrong, Hershey, and Leo Labine, Hershey, 5 each; Bob Chrystal, Cleveland, 4; Glenn Hall, Indianapolis, 3, and Cal Stearns, Cleveland, Eddie Mazur, Buffalo, and Jerry Toppazzini, Hershey, one each.

Sees More Newsprint For Europe In 1953

GENEVA, May 6 — (Reuters)—Increased production of newsprint will mean greater supplies for Europe during the next year, the timber division of the United Nations Economic Commission for Europe announced today.

Division director Egon Glessinger said Canada and Finland especially have invested large sums to expand their pulpwood industries because of Europe's post-war shortages.

These and lesser developments in other countries have put the pulpwood trade in a fairly strong position in the long term view, he told reporters.

Finland has devoted $10,000,000 to expanding the industry.

The E. C. S. S. timber committee Monday ended its ninth session delegates attended from the 16 European countries and the United States. Canada and Egypt sent observers.

Two Pakistan Engineers Inspect Trent Canal

Two Pakistan engineers are spending this week in Peterborough inspecting the operation and installations of the Trent Canal System. Bakhtyer Husain, and P. B. A. Salim of Karachi, assistant directors of the Pakistan Central Engineering Authority are in Canada to examine our interior navigation systems.

The Pakistan government agency they represent is similar to the St. Lawrence Seaway Authority established recently by Transport Minister Lionel Chevrier to build the St. Lawrence Seaway and Power Project.

Purpose of their visit to Canada is to learn all they can about our inland waterways that would be useful in developing the interior of Pakistan drained by the Ganes and Brahmaputra rivers.

Cut Off From Port

Division of the country into Pakistan and India cut off East Pakistan from its chief supply port of Calcutta and the Pakistan government is planning on developing an interior navigation system in the Ganges Brahmaputra delta area.

Both men have been in Ottawa since November. While there, they visited the Rideau Canal and they have been to Halifax viewing harbor installations there and also were keenly interested in river and canal navigation on the St. Lawrence.

Both the Ganges and Brahmaputra empty into the Bay of Bengal and they learned much of value from observing the way lighted buoys are used to guide ships in and out of Halifax harbor and on the St. Lawrence, Mr. Husain said.

More Modern

The Rideau canal being rather "ancient and used primarily for tourist traffic," said Mr. Husain was not of as much interest to them as the Trent Canal System which is "much more modern," and they hope to be able to learn a good deal from officials in charge here that will be of use to them when they return to Pakistan.

Mr. Husain and Mr. Salim are being shown around by Thomas J. Ryan, Superintending Engineer and James McGrath, Mechanical Superintendent. After they complete their inspection of the Trent system, they will next go to Welland.

Two Belmont Couples Charged With Selling

Bootlegging charges against two Belmont township men and their wives were read in police court today.

William Radcliffe, Arthur Peters and his wife Nell of R.R. 2, Havelock, all pleaded not guilty to keeping liquor for sale. Mrs. Isobel Radcliffe charged with the same offence stated in a letter why she was unable to be present today, Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw said.

All four charges were adjourned until May 13 at the request of W. J. Arthur Fair who is defending all the parties.

500 City Employees Reporting "Sick"

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y., May 6 (AP) About 500 of 660 hourly-paid employees of this city reported "sick" today. They had been seeking a 15-cents-hourly wage increase.

A survey of various city departments showed that only one garbage truck was operating, serving the city's hospitals.

Journalists Plan Form Federation

BRUSSELS, May 6 (AP)—Delegates from journalist unions in 17 non-Communist countries, including Canada, met here today to form a free International Federation of Journalists.

The federation will replace the International Organization of Journalists, which fell into Communist hands and was abandoned by non-Reds in 1949.

Besides Canada, the countries represented are Britain, the United States, France, West Germany, Belgium, Denmark, Japan, Norway, the Netherlands, Sweden, Switzerland, Cuba, Austria, the Saar, Greece and Mexico.

The Canadian and Japanese delegates were admitted with no voting power. The Canadians represent a Catholic French-speaking union organized in Quebec and not considered representative of the whole country. The Japanese group includes non-journalistic press workers.

The Canadians are Roger Champoux of La Presse and Dostaler O'Leary of La Patrie, both Montreal French-language newspapers. They represent Le Syndicat Des Journalistes De Montreal which is affiliated with the Canadian Catholic Confederation of Labor.

Harry Martin, president of the American Newspaper Guild (C.I.O.), was elected general secretary of the new federation.

Centres Counting Damage By Tidal Wave

OWEN SOUND, May 6 — (CP) —The "tidal" wave of mysterious origin which rolled up from Lake Huron and Georgian Bay Monday raised water levels as much as five feet and caused widespread damage. Lakeside communities today were still counting the losses.

Water from the Pottawatami river here backed up from the river's mouth on Georgian Bay and ran inshore 400 feet to a hosiery factory.

At Stokes Bay on the western side of Bruce Peninsula, the wave destroyed a bridge over the Stokes river, lifting the bridge from its foundations.

A 20-ton fishing boat in the harbor was heaved onto wharf pilings. Smaller craft were deposited as far as 2½ blocks inshore.

A large cottage at Stokes Bay owned by George Vaughan of St. Thomas floated off its foundations and settled on the highway. Stokes Bay post office was flooded and damage done to other buildings along the shore.

Farther south, at Goderich, water rose 18 inches over the harbor pier, up to the level of engines in cars parked on the pier. Harbor craft again were deposited on high land.

Raced Over Beach.

Along Lake Huron's southeastern shore similar occurrences were reported. At Kettle Point, northeast of Sarnia the water line suddenly raced yards in over the beach.

At Ipperwash park, rollers pounded up to the level of the new road, covered park lawns and bit chunks out of the eroded shoreline.

Across Lake Huron at Harbor Beach, Mich., the United States coast guard reported boats dashed against piers and smashed.

The coast guard reported a fluctuation in the lake level of five feet within an hour.

At Sarnia, the crest of the wave spilled out of Lake Huron and into the St. Clair river.

Homes were flooded at Frog Point in the village of Courtright, where the river level reached an all-time high.

At Toronto, a weather bureau official said an extreme change in air pressure associated with a heavy thunder storm in the lake area probably had something to do with it.

Such waves on large fresh-water lakes or land-locked bodies of water are called sieches and are often attributed to sudden changes in barometric pressure.

Council Members Say Thorold Clean-up Lags

ST. CATHARINES, May 6 (CP) City council members said Monday night that nearby Thorold is delaying the clean-up of the Old Welland canal.

Thorold will have to sign an agreement with this city for use of the Port Weller trunk sewer to divert sewage out of the canal until after it is cleaned and deepened.

The matter came up for discussion after council received a letter from the Niagara District Trades and Labor Council urging immediate action.

One council member said he understood Thorold was prepared to go ahead with the project and perhaps did not realize it was holding up the cleaning.

Weedy Lindsay Water

Cool, Clear H_2O, With Reservations

LINDSAY, May 6 — (ENS) — Superintendent Robert Reynolds of the town water works accepted congratulations with reservations at a meeting of the town water board Monday.

Mayor Charles Lamb had congratulated the superintendent on the fine condition of the Lindsay water. The mayor told the board that it was good water now, "always cool and crystal clear and testing A-1."

"It's all right now," said Mr. Reynolds, "but it may get a weedy taste in the summer time. It's just that our present plant isn't capable of handling the water it has to throughout the summer months. The plant is antiquated. It's had its time and something has to be done. We can keep it clear but the weedy taste may recur. It's just that we're plugging too much through the plant and it wasn't built to do the job.

"I think we could build a new plant ourselves instead of hiring high-priced help to do it for us. We could build it in pieces".

Commissioner D. N. Sinclair stated that he thought the commission could handle their own building "in pieces". "This board has confidence in the superintendent", said chairman of the board Lewis Gordon. "In anything he does, the board will stand behind him to the hilt."

This brought up a discussion about the condition of the new sewage disposal plant. The plant said to cost $150,000 at the outset is now up to approximately $235,000 and is not in running [illegible] partial operation last fall for a few weeks but froze on December 11 and two pumps burned out. Engineer Redfern told council that the pumps would be repaired but council stated that they would not accept anything but new pumps. As yet, the new pumps have not been installed and Mayor Lamb told the Board that Mr. Redfern had been contacted many times about the condition of the new plant but he (Redfern) apparently did not feel inclined to do anything about it. "If the new pumps don't arrive soon there is one man who is going to make a personal trip to see Mr. Redfern" said the mayor. "We aren't going to wait all summer for those pumps. We have lost confidence in Mr. Redfern", he concluded.

New Lines

A petition for service on the west end of Pottinger Street was presented and the board will install them this month. It was mentioned that the new services coupled into a four-inch main serving a wartime housing settlement and provides better fire protection for them since now, five hydrants were on the small main.

At the end of the Second World War he was repatriated to Australia and had command of the Army' work in the city of Tasmania and West Australia. On Wednesday evening Lt. Col. Stranks will tell the story of their internment in China and in the afternoon, Mrs. Stranks will address the Home League at the Chamberlain St. Citadel.

St. Paul's Presents Distinguished Concert

The conjunction of three stars Monday evening in St. Paul's church produced a notable church anniversary concert. The stellar persons were Doris Dunlop, mezzo-soprano; Gwen Craw, pianist and junior choir leader, and Christopher Gledhill, organist of the church and director of the senior choir under whose auspices the program was given. The choir itself sang six numbers. It was a distinguished church concert.

Doris Dunlop established the quality of the concert in her first number, the second group on the program. Hers is a gracefully alluring concert stage presence and a beautiful, true and disciplined middle soprano voice. She is an artist. Her singing of the older Scarlatti's aria 'Gia il sole dal Gange', of Handel, of the modern Thompson ('Velvet Shoes') and of Arthur Bliss (the fanciful 'The Buckle'), showed the range of her repertoire and her artistry. Beautiful singing (a remarkable pianissimo), superior artistry. Since Mrs. Dunlop makes her home in Cobourg when she is not giving concerts in Canada and the U.S., we hope to hear more of her voice in Peterborough.

Noteable Junior Choir

Midway through the concert the nave lights were dimmed and in processional from the vestibule came two by two in surplices or white shirt waists (depending on the sex of the wearer) not fewer than 70 youngsters. (My count may be wrong; I became goggle-eyed.) They mounted the choir loft, overflowed it, and sang charmingly, distinctly (their diction was excellent) and musicianlly three songs and an encore which was an amusing version of Old King Cole. This was St. Paul's Junior Choir, trained and conducted with assured finish by Gwen Craw. It was a triumph for the youthful choir and for its director.

Mrs. Craw's contribution of the evening was extended to the second half of the program when she and Christopher Gledhill played at piano and organ the overture to the Handel pastoral 'Acis and Galatea', an arrangement of Liszt's 'Valse Oublies', the second movement of the famous Grieg pianoforte concerto in A-minor, and a bouncing encore, a Newcastle folk dance. The two players were in excellent tempo and rhythmic rapport. The piano solo work in the Grieg concerto by Mrs. Craw was outstanding, and Mr. Gledhill's cunning stringed registrations for the Liszt waltz were astonishingly effective.

Gledhill Versatility

Christopher Gledhill demonstrated his musical versatility in half a dozen different ways, and his superior ability at the organ time and again—as accompanist for Mrs. Dunlop (particularly remarkable in her song 'At the cry of the first bird' by Guion), as solo performer; he played a lively rondo by John Bull and the concert organist's standard Bach showpiece, the great toccata and fugue in D-minor; as substitute for a symphony orchestra in the piano-organ section of the program; and as pace and mood setter in his senior choir accompaniments.

Mr. Gledhill is complete master of the massive St. Paul's organ I doubt that it has ever been played as well as on Monday evening. The John Bull rondo was a special demonstration of Mr. [illegible] technical skill, his ability to arrange and use the many voices of the organ, and particularly to make the instrument lively, rhythmic and even subtle.

Bach Cantata

The concert began with the singing of Bach's church cantata number 112, 'The Lord is my Shepherd'. This cantata consists of an opening chorus, a closing chorale, and three difficult pieces for special voices — a contralto aria taken by Mrs. A. Spencley, a bass arioso, taken by George Coleman, and an inspired soprano-tenor voicing of a duet, done by Mrs. Bruce Munro and William Perry. It is a difficult work for the solo voices. The distinction of the preformance Monday evening was that it was the first time that the work had been done in Peterborough. During the closing chorale the organ nobly exalted the singing.

The choir was most successful and free in the second part of the program, the group of two: a simple secular song by di Lasso 'Take my heart', and a vigorous, rollicking 'Song of the Vikings' by Faning. The first was unaccompanied, the second was accompanied at the piano by Gwen Craw. In both Mr. Gledhill gave his attention to directing the choir.

Pomp

Such a program is always difficult to end. This was, I think, well if conservatively concluded on pompous notes—two choruses. The first was Healey Willan's patriotic school song 'We sing a song of Canada', and Hayden's 'The Heavens are telling' from 'The Creation'. In this last the choir effectively followed the accompaniment.

St. Paul's choir and Mr. Gledhill are to be highly complimented on a first-rate program—T.J.A.

Tanker Files Suit

BOSTON, May 6 (AP).—The owners of a 10,000-ton tanker on Monday brought suit for $10,000 against the owners of a fishing boat as the result of a collision in Boston harbor last November in which 16 fishermen lost their lives. The suit was brought by the Texas Co., owners of the tanker Ventura, against R. O'Brien & Co., owners of the Boston trawler Lynn. The oil company claims the collision was caused by negligence of owners and operators of the Lynn.

Community Fund $456 Short Of 1952 Target

The 1952 Peterborough Red Cross and Community Fund campaign is only $456 short of its $85,000 objective.

Chairman of the Campaign Committee Alex Elliott, said today that $84,544 had been collected to date and collections are continuing to come in.

"We know that some people were away or were overlooked during the campaign and we would be very grateful if these people would send their contributions to the fund office," he said.

"If there is co-operation in this respect, we will have no trouble making the objective."

The fund office is in the Bradburn Building, George St.

The campaign chairman paid special tribute to Woodrow Roberts, co-chairman with Ford M. Warren of the Retail Division of the campaign.

First Time

"This is the first time in the 12 years the community campaign fund has been operating that the retail division has made its objective and Mr. Roberts has been largely responsible for its success.

"This year the retail division's objective was $17,000 and $17,041 was collected. Last year $15,803 was collected.

"When the active campaign closed, and the retail division had collected under $15,000, Mr. Roberts made a great sacrifice of his own time and personally canvassed establishments in his divisions which had not donated.

"He was greatly responsible for the success of the retail division."

Mr. Elliott also paid special tribute to the Women's Division which collected $7,226 this year. This division's objective was $5,000.

All but one of the four divisions collected more this year than in the 1951 campaign. Following are the 1952 and 1951 division totals and the 1952 objectives.

Retail: objective, $17,000, 1952, $17,041, 1951, $15,803; Industrial, objective, $38,000, 1952, $36,150, 1951, $35,341; Special Names, objective, $25,000, 1952, $23,480, 1951 $24,525; Women's Division, objective $5,000, 1952 $7,226, 1951 $6,828; Penny-a-Day Drive, 1952 $644, 1951 $533.

Movie Publicity Too Extreme Actor Declares

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYW[illegible] May 6 —(AP)— Ricardo [illegible] thinks he knows what's wrong with Hollywood's glamor, and he's altering his career accordingly.

"There have been two extremes in movie publicity," the wily Latin cited. "On one side are the sinful stars, whose scandals make big headlines. On the other side are the homey stars, who are built up to be 'just like the boy or girl next door.'

"I think both extremes are bad for Hollywood. There is nothing exciting about sin; it is ugly and offensive to decent people. But it is also bad to make movie stars seem normal; they aren't normal or else they wouldn't be movie stars."

Monalban confessed that he had been placed in the "boy next door" category. He and his family were the subjects of countless home layouts in the movie magazine. Finally, his wife declared, "I'm getting tired of seeing my face."

"That's when I decided to soft-pedal the family angle," he remarked.

Montalban will go in for beefcake—male cheesecake.

His first opportunity came in a prizefight picture. He strips to the waist while working in the fields for "Letter to the President". And he's currently training to appear as a trapeze artist in a future film.

Montalban has been at M-G-M for seven years and is now in his best position for screen vehicles. He said he hasn't been impatient about the slow build-up of his career.

"At any other studio, I would have been zoomed up long before now," he remarked. "But I also might have been on the way down."

Edmonton Shivering Under Snowfall

EDMONTON, May 6 (CP). — The weatherman laid a white blanket of snow over the Edmonton district early Monday, and the Weather Office reported 1½ inches had fallen in nearly four hours.

The snowfall was caused by a cold front moving in from the Pacific Coast which sent the temperature down to an overnight low of 30 degrees. The cold front is moving slowly eastward toward Saskatchewan.

Horse Killed During Pileup

TORONTO, May 6 — (CP). — Play At, a horse owned by Mrs. D. L. MacLachlan, was killed during a pileup in the feature race at Dufferin Park Saturday. The race was won by Maiden's Ted.

Two other horses, Corwynt and Music, were involved in the spill. All three riders, Tony Lacata, Emil Roy and Dick Buisson dismounted. Licata, on Play At, was unhurt, but Buisson suffered minor injuries. Music did not go down, but was caught in tight quarters, forcing Roy to get off.

Corwynt went down when Black Susan, making her first start and ridden by Tommy Barker, came over sharply leaving the back stretch. Play At tumbled over Corwynt, suffering internal injuries and a fractured shoulder which caused death almost instantly.

Millbrook News

There have been a number of changes in Millbrook's main street recently. The large residence, occupied by Northey's Beauty salon, said to be one of the oldest in Millbrook has had the red brick surface covered with light-colored stucco, and the wide verandah across the front has been torn down to be replaced by a smaller porch. Across the road the Cathcart garage purchased recently from Fred Smith has had the gas pumps moved from the street into the place left vacant by the removal of the Smith residence. A new section has been added to the building at the side behind the pumps and the front of the garage has been placed on a slant instead of straight across, so cars can drive around a semi-circle when purchasing gas. The whole building has been covered with cement and extensive changes are being made in the interior also.

Last week a new 5c to $1.00 store opened in the building formerly occupied by J. O. Medd's groceteria. It has been freshly painted red.

The operetta, "The Sunbonnet Girl," which has been presented 6 times, three in Millbrook, once in Centreville and once in Bethany was given in Havelock last Friday night. It is to be presented in Norwood on Thursday of this week and in Lakefield on Friday. It is put on by the members of St. Andrew's United Church choir.

The young people of St. James Church, Peterborough, are putting on their play "Have a Heart" under the auspices of the south group of St. Andrew's W.A. on Monday evening. Wilma Hubbeard, a former Millbrook girl, is in the cast. The presentation will be in the town hall.

Mrs. T. Payton and Mrs. Roy Farrow were appointed to be responsible for further work towards the beautifying of the little cemetery on Highway 28, between Peterborough and Lakefield. This work was begun last fall and with the co-operation of the county council considerable has been done towards the cleaning up and beautifuying of this spot.

A paper on agriculture, prepared by Mrs. R. Farrow, was read by Mrs. Payton, in the absence of Mrs. Farrow.

Committeees appointed were: visiting, Mrs. W. James Charlton, Mrs. Charles Stenner, Miss Clara Kidd and Mrs. Charles Bickell; education, Mrs. A. Hunter; Canadian industries, Mrs. E. These two institutes correspond during the year and exchange ideas. The cake was made possible by each English member contributing something from her already small food allowance, and the gesture was much appreciated by their Canadian friends. Miss Kidd was assisted in serving by Mrs. W. J. Charlton, Mrs. W. Abbott. and Mrs. Bruce Garbutt.

TONS OF BALED PAPER and other scrap material went up in flames in the Lawrence Salvage Co. building with a total loss of $45,000 Tuesday night at Erskine Ave. and McKellar Sts. $45,000 Fire Destroys Warehouse

Smoke Very Heavy But No One Hurt; Former Dixie Mills

Fire of undetermined origin late Tuesday night destroyed the three-storey cement block warehouse and hundreds of tons of baled paper and other scrap material, the property of Lawrence Salvage Co., on the northeast corner of Erskine Ave. and McKellar Sts. The loss is estimated at $45,000—$29,000 on the building and another $16,000 on the contents.

Nobody was injured and though the smoke at times was heavy, no firemen were overcome.

The warehouse is the old Dixie Mills. It was built by Harold Keats some years ago as a feed mill. Lawrence Salvage Co. have had the property for the last nine months.

Second Serious Fire

It is the second serious fire in Peterborough in less than a week, and the fifth in less than a year.

Last Wednesday a cattle barn was destroyed in the exhibition grounds, together with more than 200 boats and more than 1,000 laminated wood rafters—the total loss estimated at $88,000.

Hundreds of people in the southend converged on the McKellar-Erskine intersection shortly after 9 p.m. Tuesday when a thick cloud of black smoke began to drift across the sky and the flames from the burning building started a glow that could be seen out on the Chemong Road.

Co-owners Arthur Harvey and Clarence LaVack estimated their loss at $45,000.

This included nearly 60 tons of corrugated, baled cardboard, worth $1,500; baled newspapers, worth $1,600; baled kraft paper, worth $500; baled rags, worth $1,000; and $3,000 worth of cleaned, non-ferrous metals—copper, bronze, brass, zinc and lead.

Collected By Scouts

There was about 160 tons of baled newspapers inside the building and another 210 tons lying around loose outside—most of it collected by Boy Scouts in their drive to raise funds.

Newspapers are valued at $10 a ton.

Mr. Harvey of the LaVack and Harvey Metal Co., Toronto (Lawrence Salvage Co. is a Peterborough subsidiary), said two valuable presses were also destroyed in the warehouse fire. They were a $500 small metal press and a large $3,600 paper press. Three hundred

2 Bailey Bridges

HAMILTON, May 7. (CP) — Two Bailey bridges may soon span the Burlington Canal, H. B. Black, secretary of the Burlington Beach Commission, said today. We have reason to believe that two Bailey bridges will be erected at the canal as soon as the steel from the wrecked Bascule Bridge can be removed," he said.

New Violence Feared, Unless Reforms

VANCOUVER, May 7 (CP) — The consultative committee on Doukhobors warned today that violence may break out afresh in southeastern British Columbia unless reforms in the Doukhobor colonies are undertaken immediately.

The warning came in a 340-page report made public by the 12-member committee as rumblings of new unrest arose from Sons of Freedom Doukhobor settlements in the West Kootenays. In recent weeks, there have been scattered cases of arson.

The committee established by the provincial government and drawn largely from the University of British Columbia, studied the Doukhobor problem for 18 months. Its report advances 40 recommendations designed to break down gently the hostility of the Doukhobor sect to Canadian life.

The committee recommended that the fanatical Sons of Freedom sect—numbering about 2,000 of some 10,000 Doukhobors in B.C.—be resettled in another country, providing their conflicts would be lessened and health and economic factors would be satisfactory in that nation. (To date, some 12 countries have refused to accept the Doukhobors.)

Would Relocate

Failing this, the Sons should be relocated in another part of the province if a site suitable in soil, climate and employment opportunities could be found. No definite site was suggested.

If no new site could be found, the Sons should be assisted to rehabilitate in the areas they now occupy.

Other main recommendations of the committee:

1. Establishment by the Provincial Government of a permanent commission on Doukhobor affairs, the consultative committee to be continued as an advisory body.

2. A program of selling lands and buildings to the present occupants be started immediately. The original Doukhobor community in B.C., founded in 1908 and known as the Christian community of Universal Brotherhood, owned its own lands but went bankrupt in 1938. The lands were taken over by the provincial government and now are held in trust by the Land Settlement Board.)

3. The Doukhobor form of marriage be recognized under the Marriage Act of B.C. (The Doukhobors have no clergymen and parents perform the wedding ceremony. Children born of these marriages are illegitimate under B.C. law.)

4. The franchise for Doukhobors. (Doukhobors now may not vote in provincial or federal elections.)

5. The section of the Criminal Code dealing with nude parading be repealed. (Hundreds of Sons of Freedom in past years have been sentenced to two years in jail for nude parading.) A nude demonstration of three or more persons could be brought under the section of the Criminal Code [illegible].

Won't Give In On Issue Eden Declares

Expect Canada Will Support Stand of Allies

LONDON, May 7. (CP)—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden told the House of Commons today that the United Nations' command in Korea "will, as always" be ready to carry on armstice talks.

But, he added in a statement on the progress of the talks, it must be clearly understood the U.N. will not agree to repatriate prisoners against their will.

"There is no concession we can make on this issue," Eden said. "There is no other outstanding point. Therefore, I hope more humane counsels will prevail on the Communist side."

Eden outlined the U.N. offer for return of some 70,000 prisoners willing to go back across Communist lines. In return, the Communists would give back to the U.N. about 12,000 prisoners. The Communists want all prisoners of war returned, even if it is against their will.

"The Communist negotiators have not accepted this offer," said Eden.

Counter-Proposal

"They have instead put forward a counter-proposal in which the nomination of the Soviet Union as a neutral nation (to a truce supervisory group) is withdrawn.

"But at the same time they have continued to reject the right of prisoners of war to decline repatriation after an armistice.

"This, of course, is an essential point of principle on which the U.N. command are not prepared to compromise."

Earlier today the foreign office said Britain had approved in advance Gen. Matthew Ridgway's statement on the deadlock in the armistice talks.

In Ottawa, is was said External Affairs Minsiter Pearson is expected to issue a statement within 24 hours giving Canada's support to a United Nations policy of allowing Communist prisoners in Korea to refuse to be repatriated to their homelands.

The government has decided to commit itself to the policy that the United Nations should not force Communist prisoners to go home if they don't want to.

A few weeks ago Canada pointed out to the United States that such a policy would be contrary to the Geneva Convention.

Officials explained today that Ottawa's suggestion to Washington about the Geneva Convention was not a statement of policy but simply a reminder of fact.

Say Frost Rejects Plan To Curb Hospital Boards

TORONTO, May 7. (CP)—Premier Frost indicated today there is little likelihood of a hospital commission being set up to control general hospitals in Ontario, as recommended by the Ontario Health Survey committee in a report released Tuesday. The committee found inefficiencies and what it called "firetrap" conditions in some general hospitals and said that local boards of trustees do not have enough power over their medical staffs to ensure the best possible treatment for patients.

Mr. Frost said general hospitals are operated by private boards, religious orders and municipalities. Interference by the government would be strongly resented.

Prepaid Plan

At nearby Pickering, provincial Liberal leader Walter Thomson, said Tuesday night the committee's report should have recommended a prepaid hospital plan "to benefit those who need hospital care most but who cannot afford it."

"To father a plan which is not founded upon basic hospital care for everyone who needs it is comparable to constructing a house on sand."

U.S. Officials Call Truce Proposal Fair

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON, May 7 (AP) — United States officials today described "fair" and "final" the package proposal for an armistice made to the Communists in Korea.

The Deputy Secretary for Defence; William C. Foster, called it final saying it has the approval of hte United Nations allies and that there will be no further concessions.

But in talking to reporters, Foster said this stand is not an "ultimatum." While the United States considers the offer final, Foster said, it is "perfectly willing" to discuss the details with the Communists.

Foster was asked what the alternative would be if the Communists rejected the proposal.

Number Of Alternatives

He replied that a "number of alternatives are available," but that "the course of events would affect which ones would be used."

He was asked if a naval blockade of the China coast was one alternative. Foster answered that "naval blockades of course, have been discussed."

He said, in reply to another question, that proposals for attacking the Chinese mainland have been "one of many things discussed at various levels," but there has been "no final decision" of what could be done.

Earlier, Dean Acheson, U.S. secretary of state, told a press conference:

"It is plain, in my judgment, that the proposals made by General Ridgway are fair and reasonable proposals, and that anyone who wished to bring about a truce in Korea would accept those proposals."

Acheson spoke after secret sessions between U.N. and Red negotiators at Panmumjom wound up in disagreement, casting doubt over the whole future of the negotiations.

Reveal How Reds Fake Germ Warfare

By FRANK ROBERTSON

Special to The Peterborough Examiner.

HONG KONG, May 7.—The thoroughness of Chinese Communist propaganda methods is being illustrated by a series of faked air raids over Chinese cities, designed to give credibility to Communist germ warfare charges.

Details of one such raid on the North China port city of Tsingtao have been revealed by former foreign residents who have now reached Hong Kong. The incident occurred last March 15. Other cities and towns are said to have been "raided" since then.

The Tsingtao raid lasted from 9 p.m. to 11 p.m. and during that time the city was completely blacked out and every gun in the vicinity was fired continuously and indiscriminately. At dawn next morning thousands of students and soldiers, equipped with fly swatters, chopsticks for picking up dead insects and glass containers, scoured the city gathering the germ-carrying insects the Communists claimed had been scattered from American planes the previous evening.

Ford Workers May Strike

WINDSOR, May 7—(CP)—Office workers at the Ford Company of Canada may strike to back wage demands, Joseph B. Kennedy, president of Local 240, United Auto Workers (C.I.O.-C.C.L.) said today.

At a membership meeting Tuesday night, 89.3 per cent of the membership voted in a secret ballot to give the negotiating committee power to call a legal strike, he said. Some 800 of 900 members of the local attended the meeting.

The negotiating committee would decide when and if strike action would be taken.

The union is asking a $43.30 salary increase on a monthly basis of $191.56. It would be retroactive to Aug. 1—the date on which last contract was due to expire. Under Ontario Labor law the contract is still in force.

Ford officials were reported Tuesday night to be removing documents from company offices. During the 12-day December strike of Ford production workers, they were hampered by lack of records.

See New Atomic Flash In Streets Of Los Angeles

LAS VEGAS, Nev., May 7. (AP)—An atomic blast, touched off from a tower at the Yucca Flat test area, brilliantly lighted up the pre-dawn sky today. Scores of persons on rooftops and lawns saw the light flash white across the cloudy sky and then dim to a ruddy hue. Buildings in this resort city, 75 miles from the test area, became plainly visible for a moment as though from "white sunlight."

The flash, occurring at 5:15 a.m. PDT (8:15 a.m. EDT) appeared as a "quick blink" in Los Angeles, 250 miles away.

An atomic cloud became visible above the mountains between here and Yucca Flat, but it disappeared quickly.

There were no apparent effects from the blast here. No shock was felt and there was no sound.

Atomic Energy Commission aides had warned residents of St. George, Utah, 125 miles north of here, and of Caliente, Nev., 165 miles north-east, to be prepared for a shock from the A-blast.

To Make Comparisons

A.E.C. scientists expected to make vital comparisons between this test and the first five held at the Nevada site in early 1951. All of those shots were in the dark. Since then all explosions have come at dawn or later.

Promote General Juin To Marshal Of France

PARIS, May 7 (Reuters). — Gen. Alphonse Juin, 63, allied land force commander in central Europe, today was promoted to Marshal of France, the highest honor France can bestow on her military men.

One of the group of French Generals who fought in North Africa in the Second World War, he now is France's only living Marshal.

The Council of Ministers said in an announcement that they had posthumously conferred the same rank on Gen. Philippe Leclerc de Hauteeloque, who helped lead liberating armies into Paris in the war. He died in an air crash in 1947.

Labor Continues Strong Gains

LONDON, May 7 (AP)—British Socialists have scored strong gains in the opening phase of small town and rural council elections that last through Saturday.

Conservative headquarters conceded they were losing ground in [illegible] just as they did in last month's county council elections when Labor scored a landslide in London and made big gains in other large centres.

The Socialists lost the general election last October after six years in power. They contend the local elections show the Tories already have lost the country's confidence and should submit to a new national election.

There is no official centralized reporting of returns in this week's elections, but reports gathered by both the major political parties showed a strong trend to Labor.

Labor claimed a net gain of 90 seats. The Conservatives said the Socialists, of 1,204 seats decided, had won a net of only 68. The Conservatives admitted net losses of 49 seats they held and recorded 19 more losses among independents who usually side with the Conservatives. A total of 8,612 seats are being filled.

2 Young Princes Forget Royal Dignity Cowboy Exhibit Treasure Trove, Play Indians

LONDON, May 7—(AP) — The call of the wild west clashed with the royal dignity of two young Princes Tuesday—and the lure of cowboy land won easily.

It happened at the British Industries Fair. Prince William, 11, and Prince Richard, 7, sons of the Duke and Duchess of Gloucester, were accompanying their parents and the Queen on a tour of inspection.

They tagged along politely while their elders made polite comments until they got to a stand bearing boy-sized cowboy and Indian paraphernalia. A crisis developed at once.

William and Richard broke ranks and made a quick dive into the knives, guns, chaps and tomahawks presided over by Charles Penn, a Californian.

"They picked up some of the cowboy models, grabbed the rubber tomahawks and were just about to have a real good fight," Penn related.

Then the Duchess darted into the western wilds after them. She reconverted the boys into prim and dignified Princes again.

But on the way out, the Duchess took no chances. She edged both of them well out of reach of the tomahawks and stuff.

Taft Delegates Sweeping Ohio

WASHINGTON, May 7 —(CP)— Delegates pledged to support Senator Robert Taft for the Republican presidential nomination were winning in almost every section of Ohio as vote-counting in the state's primary continued today.

Returns from one-third of Ohio's 10,312 precincts showed eight Taft delegates unopposed and 46 others leading in contested races. Ohio sends 56 delegates to the Republican nomination convention in Chicago in July.

The Ohio Senator called it a "landslide victory over Eisenhower and Stassen," and said it put him "far out in front" in the race for delegate support.

A slate of candidates backing former Governor Harold Stassen of Minnesota and two candidates who said they favored Gen. Dwight Eisenhower were running behind the Taft supporters.

Taft claimed his Ohio victory would give him 401 Republican convention votes compared with Eisenhower's 271.

Ottawa Official Found Dead

WEYBURN, Sask., May 7 (CP) —Dr. L. Moore, 36-year-old federal health of animals branch veterinarian, was found dead in his hotel room Tuesday.

Dr. F. C. Eaglesham, Weyburn coroner, ordered an inquest and a post mortem examination. The inquest was adjourned indefinitely.

Dr. Moore was in charge of the foot-and-mouth disease eradication program here. He was born at Guelph.

Dr. Fran Mulhern, a Washington official here observing the eradication program, discovered Dr. Moore's body.

Dr. Moore had been transferred to his post at Weyburn only a few days ago.

He attended school in Guelph, graduated from the Ontario Veterinary College in 1939. He joined the federal agriculture department as a veterinarian in January, 1940.

$5,000,000 Loot

WASHINGTON, May 7 (AP) — Goods worth more than $5,000,000 have been stolen from the U.S. army in Korea and much of the pilfered supplies have gone into the Korean black market, the Senate preparednes subcommitte disclosed Tuesday.

The watchdog group made public a memorandum received from the army, which stated:

Goods valued at $5,114,420 were stolen between Jan. 1 of last year and Feb. 9 of this year.

Korean authorities "have frequently been apathetic toward American attempts to abolish the black market."

2 Girl Stowaways Arrested On Return

SCRAMENTO, Calif., May 7 (AP)—Two girls who took a stowaway ride aboard a B29 from McClellan air force base to Guam arrived back in California today and were arrested.

They were turned over to civil authorities, charged with illegally entering and hiding in a U.S. aircraft with the intention of travelling. The maximum penalty is a year in jail or a $1,000 fine.

The girls, Jeri McDaniel, 26, of Walnut Grove, Calif., and Maxine Allen, 23, of Tacoma, Wash., also lost their McClellan field jobs and face a bill of $250 each from the government for transportation.

Arraigned before U.S. Commissioner Adellia C. McCabe, the girls were released without having to post bail pending a preliminary hearing Thursday.

60 Suffer Burn Injuries

WALLACEBURG, May 7 (CP) —Damage estimated at $300,000 was caused Tuesday when fire swept through a storage warehouse at the Dominion Glass Company plant here.

Fire Chief Frank Hearn said today he will ask the Ontario Fire Marshal's office to investigate.

Herman Foster of St. John Ambulance Brigade said some 60 persons, including firemen and residents of nearby homes which were threatened by the blaze, were treated for burns.

Local firemen aided by trucks and men from Chatham, 18 miles south of here, fought the blaze for four hours.

Russians Working Fast

Long Range Atomic [illegible] Possible In 2 Years

WASHINGTON, May 7 (AP)—Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg told U.S. Senators today that within two years Soviet Russia "will possess the means of launching against this country a long-range atomic attack."

"Unless effectively opposed and countered, this attack could neutralize our own ability to retaliate and at the same time could seriously cripple certain key centres of the industrial productivity upon which we depend for ultimate victory in war," the general said.

The Air Force commander joined other pentagon top brass and civilian secretaries in protesting slashes in defence spending during the next fiscal year, starting July 1.

Vandenberg's statement said that, while the U.S. has been "stretching out and whittling down our air power," the Soviet Union has been building up and expanding her combat air forces.

By 1954, "control of the air, with all that implies, will then be within the grasp of the Soviet Union."

Vandenberg said the cuts in defence spending would delay delivery of about 3,000 modern aircraft between next Jan. 1 and the middle of 1954 "when according to all reasonable estimates this nation will arrive at a point of grave danger."

Vandenberg entered hospital today for surgery and as a result his vice-chief of staff, Gen. Nathan Twining, arranged to read the statement to the Senate appropriations sub-committee.

Expert Has Solution

Could Lo[illegible] Housing Costs If Building Methods Better

OTTAWA, May 7 (CP). — The government's No. 1 housing expert today said housing costs could be lowered by improved building techniques. But, he said, building techniques haven't progressed much since the pyramids were built.

D. B. Mansur, president of Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, told the Commons Commerce Committee that every country in the world feels the need for improvements in building techniques. He would like to see something done in Canada about it.

Replying to a question from Gordon Fraser (P.C.-Peterborough West), Mr. Mansur said the reason such low-cost housing projects as Levittown on Long Island outside New York were possible was skilled purchasing, efficient organization and a quota system for construction gangs.

Canada had a fair comparison with the Long Island project in Montreal's Champlain Village which was a proportionally larger development in 1949 and 1950.

He said in reply to a question from James Sinclair (L-Coast-Capilano) that Levittown had no worries about trunk sewers because huge open pits held the run-off from septic tanks. That would be frowned on in most places in Canada.

Homes of 800 square feet with no basement in the Long Island development cost about $7,900. A similar home with a basement in Canada costs between $6,800 and $7,000. From the outside, the Long Island homes looked much better than they were inside.

Expect Ontario To Set Ceiling Rate On Hospitals

TORONTO, May 7.—A province-wide ceiling rate for public ward beds will shortly be put into effect, Health Minister Mackinnon Phillips announced Tuesday. While the exact figure has not yet been established, he said it would be about $7 per day. The Ontario Health Survey Committee report which Dr. Phillips released Tuesday, showed that average costs per patient per day had increased from 76 cents in 1901, to $8.31 in 1949. During the same period, patients per thousand population treated each year increased from 15 to 114.

The committee explained that both patient and physician have come to depend increasingly on hospital service. Doctors prefer hospitals because facilities are better and because there is a shortage of suitably trained personnel for home care. Limitation in many hospitalization insurance schemes to payment only when patients are in hospitals also adds to the number who seek hospital space, the report said.

Watch Over-Charging

The committee recommended that measures be taken to ensure that patients in public general hospitals are not being over-charged for extra services, in view of rapidly increasing revenues reported from this source.

Total revenue from extras beyond the actual room rates increased from $5,765,000 in 1946, to more than $11,000,000 in 1949. Operating rooms, laboratories, radiology and dispensary services made up the greatest part of the total. Charges to private and semi-private patients, accounted for more than half of the total. Telephones alone added $44,000.

Dr. Phillips said that the province-wide ceiling, when applied, will deal solely with room rates.

More than 20,000 new hospital beds by 1954 throughout the province were advocated in the report.

The committee surveyed the hospital situation in 1948 and 1949, and recommended 10,249 additional general hospital beds, 4,619 replacements of obsolete beds, and 5,138 new chronic and convalescent beds.

Health department officials estimate, that 10,455 beds have been built since 1948, are under construction or are planned. This figure includes 9,417 new active treatment beds, less 1,604 obsolete beds abandoned, as well as 2,902 new cronic or convalescent treatment beds, less 260 obsolete beds abandoned.

The committee saw a need for 2,336 new beds in the Toronto metropolitan area, and the replacement of 731 obsolete beds. Health department estimates show 2,523 new beds in this area and the abandonment of 339 obsolete beds.

Need 500 Beds Year

To keep pace with the estimated increase in population, the committee considered that an additional 500 beds per year would be needed. The increase is caused by numerous factors, but a principal one is the number of babies now born in hospitals. Only 2 per cent of all children were born in hospitals in 1901, but by 1949, the percentage had increased to 86. The figure is shortly expected to be 90 per cent.

Increased specialization in medicine and surgery also demand more beds.

"The present average stay of fewer than 10 days in public hospitals is a result of more active diagnostic and treatment programs, but it is also directly related to the insistent demand for hospital accommodation," the report said.

"Hospital administration and medical staff have co-operated in encouraging discharge at the earliest possible moment. As more hospital beds are provided, this intensive pressure for discharge will lessen and a somewhat longer average length of stay may be expected." The average length of stay in 1901 was 25 days.

Health Minister Mackinnon Phillips' suggestion that Ontario may set a ceiling of about $7 on charges for public-ward accommodation was described by hospital authorities as a practical effort to hold such charges to a level within reach of the average patient.

Dr. Phillips stressed that the overall ceiling would be established on the bed charge; no ceiling would be placed on the extra charges. Such extra charges, hospital officials said, were based on cost only.

At present, the provincial government allows general hospitals a grant of $1.41 per day toward each public ward. At most Toronto hospitals, the present charges per bed range from $5 to $6; elsewhere however, charges have risen as high as $9.

Factors contributing to such rises have included unionization of staff at higher wage rates, rising food and other costs, and the tendency to shrink public wards from 48 or 50 beds to as few as four beds.

The effect of a ceiling would be to establish a level at which a hospital bed would still be established as a public-ward bed. If a hospital charged a basic bed rate above the ceiling level, it could not qualify for the provincial $1.41 grant on that bed. As long as charges did not exceed the ceiling, it could receive the grant.

"Without commenting on the rightness of the proposed $7 ceiling," said A. J. Swanson, of the executive of the Ontario Hospital Association, "it would appear that the minister has studied costs, sought a level which covers average operating costs plus his grant. He felt that rates should not be increased beyond that figure. Cost of providing extra services has been increasing steadily, but no hospital unnecessarily adds such services because they are being provided at cost and it offers no gain."

Recluse Found Dead In Shack Near Minden

LINDSAY, May 7 (ENS)—Sixty-four-year-old Ernest Hopkins, who lived in a shack near the village of Minden, was found dead Sunday afternoon by Floyd Miller. Hopkins was a bachelor and Mr. Miller has been in the habit of calling on him at regular intervals. Death was due to coronory thrombosis. No inquest will be held.

Vessel Sinks, Freighter Saves Two Survivors

HALIFAX, May 7 (CP).—Two survivors of an Atlantic storm that sank their fishing vessel and took the life of a companion, arrived here today aboard the freighter Birmingham City.

Eugene, 32, and Calvin Roy, 22, were picked up Tuesday about 35 miles off Liverpool, N. S., rowing in a dory after their 38-foot vessel Millie T. was swamped. Leonard Roy, 15, died of exposure and was buried at sea.

The men were cousins.

An R.C.A.F. Canso from Greenwood, N. S., went searching for the men when the sturdy Cape Island-style boat failed to return to Liverpool Monday night.

It spotted the dory but was unable to land in the rough sea. The searchers lost sight of them once while seeking altitude to sight surface vessels in the area.

Sent To Rescue

FO. James Haugh of Vancouver, pilot of the aircraft, said, "She was a dirty gray and blended perfectly with the Atlantic."

Another hour of peering into the waves and the dory was again sighted. The Canso climbed to 2,000 feet, saw the Birmingham, en route to Halifax from Boston, and directed her to the area.

A P. A. system aboard the aircraft, known as a "Ground Hailer" was put into rescue use for the first time in Canada.

After finding the men, the plane swooped low over the dory and instructed them to raise their oars if they were in trouble. They did.

The searchers were also unable to contact the freighter by radio and Don Richardson of North Bay, the Canso's radio officer, hailed her through the loud speaker and told the ship's captain to turn his ship 10 miles due east. Half an hour later the Birmingham threw a Jacob's ladder to the fishermen and they clambered on board.

No Third Bite Magistrate Tells Lawyer

"After making the same statement twice Mr. Fair, you can't expect to have a third bite at the apple," Magistrate W. R. Philp told W. J. Arthur Fair when a drunk driving case came to a confused conclusion in police court today.

The Magistrate convicted James McAdams of Apsley of drunk driving and sentenced him to seven days in jail, twice, once after Mr. Fair had stated twice he was not calling any defence. Then after Mr. Fair strenuously objected he was talking the matter over with the accused, Magistrate Philp withdrew the conviction and dismissed Mr. Fair's motion for dismissal.

Mr. Fair consulted a courtroom spectator for a few seconds and informed the Magistrate he would not enter any defence.

Filing Appeal

The Magistrate then repeated the conviction and seven day sentence. Mr. Fair said he was filing an appeal on the decision immediately.

O.P.P. Constable Bert Howden said he arrested McAdams on April 20, after he had investigated an accident on Highway 28, four miles north of Apsley. The car was in the ditch and he said McAdams was standing by the car and was under the influence of liquor. "He was unsteady on his feet, had considerable difficulty in walking and smelled strongly of liquor," Constable Howden said. He also had difficulty with his speech and was some time locating his driver's licence, the constable added.

Former Lakefield Police Chief Garnet Samis testified that when McAdams was transferred from constable's cruiser to one driven by O.P.P. Constable Wally Mohns south of Burleigh Falls, McAdams had to be assisted out of one cruiser and into another.

Needed Air

He kept mumbling and did not seem to know what was going on, Mr. Samis said. "I had not been feeling well that day and the smell of liquor was so strong I rolled the car window down," he added.

Mr. Fair then argued that even though McAdams was alleged to have told constable Howden he was driving the car, the crown had not established when the car went into the ditch, and therefore the charge should be dismissed. He said the court should accept McAdams' story to constable Howden that another car forced him into the ditch. "If he goes in the box and says I wasn't intoxicated, we have the same old story," said Mr. Fair.

The ease ended with Magistrate Philp commenting that "after this, I will take statements of counsel as made."

4 Boys Die In Cave-In

Chicken Thief Shot, Haunts District

A chicken thief was trapped at 425 Rogers St., just before noon today and shot through the head with a .22 bullet.

The shooting has roused the ire of Ashburnham residents as far north as Hunter St. Several homeowners are complaining about the incident and although there is an unpleasant odor in the vicinity at present, it is expected that the whole thing will blow over shortly.

Constable Ed Niziol tried to shoot the prowler earlier in the morning. He had to give up the pursuit however, when his quarry who has been harassing Mrs. Robert Cheel's chickens escaped under the chicken house in the backyard.

The escape proved only temporary, the SKUNK was discovered caught in a trap set by Mr. Cheel.

Squatter

A neighbour, Frank Biddle loaded his .22 rifle and one bullet wrote finish to operation skunk. The marauder has been terrorizing the Cheel's for some time now with his meanderings in their backyard. Monday, he began toting straw and sticks through their garden and indicated he was taking up housekeeping under the chicken house.

To both the Cheel's and the chickens the newcomer was a decidedly unwelcome interloper and Mr. Cheel planted the trap Monday evening while the skunk was busy elsewhere.

Mr. Biddle escaped the full force of the animal's defence mechanism. He managed to pull the skunk out from under the shed and other than the "perfumed air," which Mr. Biddle says "will soon blow away," Mrs. Cheel's chickens and the neighbours have nothing more to worry about.

On the evidence available, it is easy enough to dismiss the raid as an elaborate fake, but the impression it must have made on the minds of the residents of Tsingtao can scarcely be over-estimated.

Done By Sections

For one thing, it was noted that the city was blacked out by sections. In outlying areas this process was begun more than one hour before the raid was supposed to have begun.

The appearance at first light next morning of thousands of students and soldiers all similarly equipped with fly swatters, chopsticks and containers also points strongly to prior planning. This could hardly have been organized on such a scale during the night.

The appearance of newspapers on the streets a few hours after power was restored, carrying detailed accounts of the raid, also indicates that it did not come as a surprise.

Foreigners who were in the city at the time pointed out that the guns were not aimed, but simply fired indiscriminately. Searchlights were turned on, but were not manipulated.

Not Required

One foreigner, a missionary whose church hall had been used every Saturday night by the Communists for party meetings, had been told that morning that his building would not be required the night the raid took place.

The sanitation squads, needless to say, found plenty of flies and other insects, since it was early spring.

[illegible] that the germ [illegible] campaign was prompted by serious epidemics in North China and Manchuria has been supported to some extent by the appearance in Canton of large signs warning that any persons travelling to the north must produce innoculation certificates.

dollars worth of batteries were also ruined.

He said the company had recently spent $850 on re-wiring the warehouse and laying secure foundations for the heavy presses. Miscellaneous tools, winches, etc., were valued at nearly $700.

There was a personal loss as well. Charles Watson, the company's Peterborough manager, had stored his furniture, blankets, linen, and other household valuables on the top floor of the warehouse until such time as he could get proper housing accommodation for his wife and two children. The flames devoured these possessions and Mr. Watson puts his loss at $1,400.

Will Build Again

"There was no insurance on the contents," said Mr. Harvey, "but the building was insured to its full value of $29,000"

"We are going to build again," he said, "we'll have to do so if we want to remain in business."

Mr. Harvey said the fire struck at an inopportune time. The company had been accumulating scrap materials for the past five or six months and were waiting for the half-load restrictions to be lifted before they began to empty their warehouse. That explains why there was so much baled paper, cardboard and other materials on hand, he said.

Mr. LaVack, the other co-owner had been in the building about 6 p.m. Tuesday night and was informed of the blaze when he reached Toronto some three hours later.

Happened Quickly

Norman Hawkins, who was looking after the property, said he left the building to get a pail of oil for the oil stove, shortly before 9 p.m. Everything was in order then. When he returned shortly after 9 p.m. the inside of the warehouse was aglow with flames, and when he opened the front door the flames "gushed out", barring his entrance.

About the same time Bud Andrews, who lives across the road on Erskine Ave., noticed smoke and flames as he was working in his garden. He promptly turned in the alarm.

Fire Chief George Smith said at noon today that he was still investigating the cause of the fire.

Firemen received the alarm at 9:08 p.m. Tuesday and when they got to the scene the whole interior of the cement block building was aflame. They used four lines of hose in an effort to put it out but the flames had too great a hold.

A full shift of firemen remained at the scene until 4:30 a.m. today. At press time—17 hours after the fire broke out—firemen were still pouring water on the tons of soggy newsprint that continued to smoulder.

Both the west and south walls were still standing at press time and part of the east wall. However, the building is considered a total loss.

Industrials Push Higher On Exchange

TORONTO, May 7 (CP) —Industrials pushed a bit higher today in early afternoon stock market dealings but other sections made little headway.

Industrial dealings shrank to selected leading issues and few oils or golds attracted speculative interest. Volume for the first three hours was 1,903,000 shares.

Papers posted fractional advances to form industrials' strongest section. Constructions, refining oils and foods also drew firm support but textiles and retail stores slipped.

Dr. Alvin C. Graves, test director, says a darkness explosion is This is important from the standpoint of scientific measurements.

Several of the 1951 pre-dawn easier to record photographically. shots broke windows and cracked plaster in Las Vegas, 75 miles away. Some were seen in Los Angeles and San Francisco.

No troops were involved in this test, the army said. Another group of 1,500 soldiers is being prepared, however, for an atomic manoeuvre some time next week.

The explosion was the fifth in the spring series, the 17th at the proving grounds here and the 29th atomic blast, unofficially, by the United States.

No Livestock Moved In England

New Ban Ordered As F-M Outbreak Appears In Jersey

LONDON, May 7. (CP)— A ban on the movement of livestock was extended throughout all of England and Wales Tuesday as the government stepped up its campaign against the spread of foot-and-mouth disease, described by Agriculture Minister Sir Thomas Dugdale as a "growing menace."

Jersey, the Channel-island home of the famous pedigreed milk cows, was declared a restricted area when it was found the wild-spreading disease had infected livestock there. The government isued orders that dogs found running loose should be shot on sight. Their paws can carry foot-and-mouth disease. Another precaution will be to disinfect potato pickers as they step ashore this weekend from France.

Agriculture Minister Dugdale described the government ban as a "holding action." Previously movement of herds of cattle or other cloven-hoofed animals could not be moved without permission in 37,500 square miles of farmland —about half the area of England and Wales. Yesterday's action extends this restriction to the whole of the two countries.

Worst In 28 Years

While Dugdale told pig-breeders this action doesn't mean the disease is "rife in all districts covered," Britain nevertheless is in the midst of the worst outbreak of the disease in 28 years.

Up to midnight Monday 28, 169 animals had been destroyed in the fight to stamp out the disease. Total livestock population of the British Isles is about 10,500,000 cattle, 20,000,000 sheep and almost 4,000,000 pigs.

Except on rare occasions, the disease is not communicable to human beings. Its effect on livestock is to leave animals lean and bony and sharply reduce milk production of cows.

Britain is aided in the fight to rid itself of the disease because it is an island. But less fortunate is continental Europe where it has spread to epidemic proportions.

$1,000 Equipment Loot For Thieves

LINDSAY, May 7 (ENS) —Daring thieves drove a vehicle up to a snack bar in Carnarvon on Sunday night and robbed the place of approximately $1,000 in equipment. Russell's Snack Bar, a combination snack bar and garage owned and operated by Sinclair Russell, was entered sometime between late Sunday night and Monday morning.

The theft was discovered by the owner, when he went to the building Monday morning. The front door was jimmied and the equipment was taken away in some sort of vehicle.

An impressive list of equipment was taken: a meat slicer, a cash register, coffee makers, food mixers, dishes, cutlery, toasters and a soup kitchen. Mr. Russell has been in business in Carnavon for about four years. He is a married man with a family and had been working hard for an opening day next week which will necessarily have to be postponed.

He and his family live in a house about 150 feet from the store but state that they heard no sound of the thieves. Constables Al Edwards and Al Hardy of the Minden OPP investigated.

Vacant Plants Attract Firms

Vacant factory space is a primary attraction to many industries seeking to locate in this province, City Clerk Outram commented in a special report to the council Monday night.

Some time ago, Ald. T. D. Miller intimated that he was trying to interest some citizens in building that kind of accommodation, especialy for small manufacturing concerns hoping to establish themselves.

Mr. Outram wrote: "It is interesting to note that in obtaining this industry, Peterborough was contending with most enterprising competition from other centres in Ontario, and particularly in the province of Quebec. Again, it should be noted that the fact that arrangements were successfully completed for the occupation of an available building was the chief factor which aided in locating the company (Maur Engineering) here.

"Too much importance cannot be attached to the necessity of having suitable buildings available for occupation of new industries in Peterborough, if the city is to succeed in its efforts to locate suitable new industries here in the coming months. Every effort should be made to further a program of the erection of such buildings which may be rented on a lease basis, with the option of purchase."

Mr. Outram's preface to those comments was: "As members of the council have probably noted from the press, a Norwegian company to be known as Maur Engineering (Canada) Ltd., has located premises on Armour Road, on property owned and formerly occupied by the Shell Oil Company.

"This company with Mr. William Myhre as president and general manager has a good record of performance in Norway in the manufacture and sale of all types of hand trucks and motor trailers. The company proposes to energetically enter the Canadian market, and as quickly as possible to manufacture its products in Peterborough.
